Hunt For Illegal Aliens To Go On, Agent Declares

by WANDALYN RICE

Immigration agents will continue raids on the industrial area of Elk Grove Village and surrounding communities in their search for illegal aliens, according to Robert Germain, deputy district director for the U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service.

"We will be back, but we don't want to say when we're coming," Germain said yesterday. A Wednesday afternoon raid resulted in the arrest of 37 persons in Centex Industrial Park.

Ten more persons were arrested later Wednesday night in DuPage County south of Elk Grove Village, he said. Seven women who were picked up were released on their own recognizance and the men were to be sent back to Mexico by bus last night, he said.

The women all had children and other family members in the area. Germain said, and will be given the opportunity to return to their native lands voluntarily. None of the men arrested had families in the area, he said.

GERMAIN REPEATED his statement that seven employees of Field Container Corp., 1500 Nicholas Blvd., were picked up in the raid, although company officials deny it.

"We took three from the plant and the rest were picked up on the street on the way to work," Germain said.

Phillip Cooper, financial vice president for the firm, said only one illegal alien was taken from the plant and added that two others might have been picked up on the street.

"They came into our plant and interrogated 10 or 12 of our people and they took two from the plant, but they sent one back because he was a citizen," Cooper said.

Germain said agents entered some other plants in the industrial park, which he did not name, and received "good cooperation" but added that officials at Field have not been cooperative with the service.

"Field will not let us look at their employee records. Other companies let us examine their records. Generally, companies are cooperative because they do not want aliens there," he said.

GERMAIN SAID his agents try to make most of their arrests on the street because "we don't like to go into plants and disrupt their operations."

Cooper said his company has not supplied records because "what would that prove except that they have Spanish-sounding names?" he said. "They want us to harass our people who are here legally."

Cooper added that the company does not knowingly employ illegals and checks Social Security cards, which can be obtained without proof of citizenship.

"The government has the power to stop these people at the Social Security offices, but they don't," Cooper said. "They are trying to put the burden on the companies and we don't have the way to prove citizenship."

Field, which manufactures cardboard boxes, employs about 250 persons, about 70 or 80 of whom are of Mexican or Puerto Rican descent, Cooper said.

No law prevents companies from employing illegal aliens.

THE COOKIES ARE freshly baked every day for students using the cafeteria at Elk Grove High School. Twenty workers prepare the lunches for nearly 2,200 students each day. See story on page 3.

Horse-Drawn Carriage For EGHS Queen

The queen's carriage will be drawn by a team of horses in the Elk Grove High School homecoming parade today.

The parade is scheduled to start at 2:30 p.m., right after coronation ceremonies at the high school. Besides the queen's carriage, the parade will include the marching band, pom pom squad and club cars.

The equestrian club will have three horses in the parade and the ecology club will drive a truck loaded with newspapers to be recycled, George Ergang, public relations director, said.

The parade will start at the back parking lot of the school, proceed on Elk Grove Boulevard to Ridge Avenue, Ridge to Laurel Street, Laurel to Charing Cross Road, and Charing Cross back to the high school at Arlington Heights Road and Elk Grove Boulevard.

The annual bonfire was to come off as scheduled last night despite a mischievous act by one student who started the fire prematurely yesterday afternoon.

The student set fire to the cardboard boxes stacked up behind the school, and village firemen had to be called to extinguish the blaze. More cardboard was to have been collected for another bon fire last night.

THE QUEEN was to be selected by a vote of the student body yesterday from among five candidates. The senior girls who are running for queen are Madeline Austin, Sue Romano, Susan Jackson, Karen Presinger and Maria Ciulla.

Friday night the Elk Grove Grenadiers will play Conant High School in the homecoming football game. Junior varsity games will begin at 6 p.m. The varsity game will follow.

A win against Conant will wrap up the south division championship of the Mid-Suburban Conference for the Grenadiers. The undefeated team needs to win one of the next two games for the championship.

An informal dance will follow the football game Friday night. Saturday a semi-formal dance will be held from 8 to 11 p.m. at the school.

Vincent Price Here To Visit McDonald's

Actor Vincent Price was in Elk Grove Village area last week to receive an honorary degree from a local school.

The degree: A doctor of hamburgerology.

The institution: McDonald's Hamburger University.

Professor Douglas Moreland of the national restaurants chain's "university" at 2010 E. Higgins Rd., made the presentation.

The firm honored Price, also a gourmet cook and art connoisseur, after his 9-year-old son commented that despite all the gourmet French food he had eaten, his dad couldn't wait to go to McDonald's, according to a university spokesman.

Set Recycling Of Glass, Newspapers

Glass and newspapers will be collected for recycling this weekend in Elk Grove Village.

The first monthly recycling drive will be sponsored Saturday and Sunday by the Jaycees and Junior Woman's Club. Glass containers and newspapers may be dropped off between 9 a.m. and 6 p.m. Saturday and between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. Sunday at the municipal building, 901 Wellington Ave.

Glass containers should be separated by color. Windows, mirrors, windshield, tableware and returnable bottles will not be accepted.

In addition, newspapers should be bundled with string. No magazines will be accepted. Glass will be sent to the nearest glass container factory. The Pioneer Paper Co. will pick up the newspapers for recycling.

Lower Lake Level Not A Threat

Lake Cosman Fish Not In Danger

Fish in Lake Cosman are not in danger of dying this winter because of the lower lake level, according to a spokesman for Centex Corp., owner of the lake located north of Blesterfield Road in Elk Grove Village.

The lake has catfish, bass, perch, and croppies which, according to local residents, are fed by children in the area.

Robert Calkins, Centex real estate manager, said the lake level is down 18 inches but that the fish would not be endangered by the winter freeze.

He said at normal level the lake has depths of 15 to 18 feet and that the lower level this year should not make any difference.

Robert Quinn, a member of the board of directors of the Elk Grove Estates Townhouse Association, has charged that many fish will die this winter.

"I FEEL there will be a substantial winter kill because of the low level of the lake," he said. "There is not enough water to sustain fish life."

Tom Hamilton, a village plan commission member and a director of the North Cook County Soil and Water Conservation District, said as long as 10 feet of water does not freeze, the fish will be all right. He based his comment on conversations with wildlife experts.

Hamilton said this has been a "tremendously dry year" but added the lake is doing well under the conditions. He added the district's conservationist helped plan the lake when it was built.

The lake occupies 35 acres and is spring-fed.

While Quinn said he had not consulted with conservationists, he nevertheless felt the fish will be in jeopardy this winter.

"THERE HAVE been some dead fish along the shore," he said, adding the lake level was "down two feet if not more."

Calkins said "To my knowledge fish have not been dying."

A spokesman at the National Weather Service said 1971 has been a "dry year in comparison to last year." As of Oct. 26, he said there has been 22 inches of rain this year while last year for the same period there were 39 inches of rain.

Quinn has also charged that the lake is a stagnant body of water with no flow.

Calkins responded by saying there is a lake flow caused by the wind, "just like any other lake."

SOME RESIDENTS of Elk Grove Estates, the area north of Blesterfield Road and west of Arlington Heights Road, have pledged funds to construct a well at the 35-acre lake to keep the level up.

Hamilton said he does not favor a well to feed the lake because it would add to the drain on the underground water tables from which village wells draw water for residents.

It's 'Pop Warner Football Day' Sunday

Elk Grove Boys Football Inc. will observe Pop Warner Football Day on Sunday with 225 boys participating in four hours of football activity at the Elk Grove High School field.

The program will begin at 12:30 p.m. with an exhibition scrimmage between Queen of the Rosary School and the Elk Grove traveling pee wee teams.

At 1 p.m. the Elk Grove widget team meets Park Ridge in a contest that may decide the division championship. Following league victories over Bliss Park, Hanover Park, Oak Park, and Bensenville with only one loss to Addison, the Elk Grove widgets will try to even the score as they face an undefeated Park Ridge team.

The traveling juniors from Elk Grove will face the Park Ridge junior team at 3:30 p.m.

The community teams will scrimmage during the half times and between the featured games.

The Packers will oppose the Rams; the Bears will face the Jets; the 49ers will meet the Eagles; and the Chiefs will play the Packers in controlled scrimmages.

Adding to the festivities of the afternoon will be the crowning of Miss Pop Warner prior to the junior game. She will be selected from the 12 junior cheerleaders.

Refreshments will be available throughout the afternoon. Proceeds will benefit Elk Grove Boys Football.

This Morning In Brief

The Nation

President Nixon had decided on his two nominees for the Supreme Court despite reports that the American Bar Association's judiciary committee pronounced the two unqualified to serve. The President announced on nationwide radio and television that he has selected Hershel H. Friday and Judge Mildred L. Lillie. Friday, 49, is a prominent municipal bond lawyer from Little Rock, Ark. Mrs. Lillie, 56, is judge of the California District Court of Appeals in Los Angeles. Both are Democrats.

Charles (Tex) Watson was sentenced to death in the gas chamber for the Sharon Tate-Leno LaBianca murders, making the sentence unanimous for the Charles Manson "family" members tried for the seven bloody slayings. Manson, 25, was refused a possible penalty of life imprisonment by the same jury of six men and six women that had convicted him of first degree murder and rejected his plea of innocent by reason of insanity.

The State

A Chicago-to-Peoria commuter airliner carrying at least 14 passengers and two crew members crashed when it hit a power line on an approach run to the Greater Peoria Airport. There were no survivors. A list of dead has not been released, according to the Federal Aviation Administration.

A workmen's compensation package providing increases in most areas of nearly 20 per cent but falling well below the levels sought by Democrats, has cleared the Illinois House.

Young men in Illinois have lost the chance to marry at 18 without their parents' consent. The Illinois House upheld Gov. Ogilvie's veto of a bill that gave 18-year-old men the same right that women have to wed at 18 without parental approval.

The World

A Hungarian correspondent reported from Peking that Chinese leaders are discussing political problems, and particularly Vietnam, with presidential advisor Henry A. Kissinger. The writer said Kissinger and Premier Chou-En-lai talked not only about "technical details" of President Nixon's forthcoming visit to Red China, but also the "political questions" connected with it.

Pablo Neruda, loved and admired as a poet but controversial as a Marxist politician and diplomat, won the 1971 Nobel literature prize.

Egyptian Vice President Hussein Shafat said that 800,000 Egyptian troops stand ready to embark on a "battle of destiny" by the end of the year to liberate Arab territories occupied by Israel.

The War

Another group of GIs refused to go on patrol last week in Vietnam — the same thing the men they were sent to replace did — until the defense commander explained why the patrol was necessary, the soldiers involved said. In action near Saigon, Communist gunners shelled the Tay Ninh airfield, killing at least four persons and destroying seven U.S. trucks. The Communists also attacked U.S. Fire Base Pace with rocket and heavy weapons fire.

The Market

Stocks attempted a late-session recovery but the rally fell short and the market closed lower for the seventh straight session. The Dow Jones Average slipped 0.80 to 854.85. Of the 1,679 issues traded, declines topped advances, 744-609, on the New York Stock Exchange. Volume was 14.9 million shares, down from 16.3 million the day before. Corning Glass lost another 4½ points after slipping 14 the day before.

Opposition From Chicago And North Western Ry.

NIPC Approves Interim Transit Plan

by TOM WELLMAN
The Northeastern Illinois Plan Commission (NIPC) yesterday approved the Chicago Area Transportation Study (CATS) interim plan, despite opposition from the Chicago and North Western Ry.

Approval of the long discussed plan came at NIPC's annual meeting, held to review the group's progress.
Only two of the 13 commissioners present — Robert Olsen of McHenry County and Earle Harrison of Lake County voted to oppose the plan.

The CATS plan, first presented to NIPC in March, outlines a rail, bus and automobile transportation system for the eight county Chicago area.
Before the vote was taken, the commission heard a letter from Hal Lenseke, director of passenger services for the C&NW, opposing the project.

Lenseke asserted the proposal was not even a plan and that it had not gained the support of the CATS council of mayors.
Garr Jones, CATS executive director, countered that CATS had not sought support from the council, but had used it as a vehicle for seeking support from other regional groups.

The plan includes the qualification, first suggested last month by NIPC deputy director Matthew Rockwell. The qualification is that the plan not include a specific sight recommendation for a third Chicago airport.

The qualifications state that three airport locations — in the lake, southwest of Chicago and in Indiana — are "realistic possibilities." However, until more data is available, there will be no site recommendations.

The CATS plan has drawn fire from the C&NW who have charged it does not include a list of capital improvement priorities, scheduling plans and a balance between mass transit and auto facilities.

In other action, the NIPC commissioners elected Fred Dumke, mayor of Oak Lawn, as president. He replaces Lee Burke of LaGrange.

Hospital Cost Must Be Cut: Haughton

by DOUG RAY
Dr. James G. Haughton, who has been under criticism by members of the medical staff at Cook County Hospital where he is executive director, told an assembly of hospital administrators from throughout Illinois yesterday that health care costs are increasing "to the point the public is resisting."

struggle between administrators and physicians at the county hospital, spoke at the 46th annual meeting of the Illinois Hospital Association at the Arlington Park Towers hotel.
He told hospital administrators that the escalating cost of delivering health care to the consumer must be changed.
He suggested that health care costs might be reduced if hospitals stop using "skilled, highly paid personnel" to perform the tasks of technicians. "We still use nurses to hand operating instruments to doctors," Haughton said. He said technicians could be trained to perform duties in the operating room as well as other technical duties which are now performed by highly paid specialists.

tal is a health factory where efficient management is necessary."

"A Hospital is a business and just because you aren't supposed to show a profit doesn't mean you have to show a loss."

He also warned the hospital officials that there must be changes in local health care centers. "If not, we are in for turbulence and revolution."

He said people in the community should "be made a part of health care." Community residents should be included on the hospital board of directors so the directors can "learn more of the problems of patients," Haughton said.

He predicted that government will place stringent controls on the hospital industry unless hospital administrators find an efficient way to function.
"We must find a way for full utilization of personnel," Haughton said. "A hospi-

Today is Friday, Oct. 22nd, the 295th day of 1971.

The moon is between its new phase and first quarter.

The morning star is Saturn.

The evening stars are Mercury, Venus, Mars and Jupiter.

Those born on this day are under the sign of Libra.

Hungarian composer Franz Liszt was born Oct. 22, 1811.

On this day in history:

In 1836 Gen. Sam Houston was sworn in as the first president of the Republic of Texas.

In 1883 the Metropolitan Opera House in New York City celebrated its grand opening with a performance of "Faust."

In 1962 President John F. Kennedy announced an arms blockade of Cuba after Soviet missiles were discovered on the Communist island.

In 1968 the Apollo 7 astronauts splashed down after an 11-day earth orbital flight.

A THOUGHT for today: German poet Rainer Maria Rilke said, "A good marriage is that in which each appoints the other guardian of his solitude."

Dr. Malcolm MacCoun

Dr. Malcolm D. MacCoun of Arlington Heights will participate in a special panel discussion on shared hospital services as part of today's final session of the Illinois Hospital Association meeting at the Arlington Park Towers.

MacCoun, president of the Northwest Community Hospital in Arlington Heights, will discuss sharing professional staff, consultants and services with other hospitals. Included in the panel discussion are hospital administrators from Fairfield, East St. Louis and Pinckneyville.

More than 1,000 persons have registered for the two-day convention of the Illinois Hospital Association, a nonprofit organization of 300 Illinois hospitals. The association acts as a coordinator for hospitals in their interaction with public groups and governmental health agencies.

Eleanor Lindberg And Her Cafeteria Crew

They Bake With Loving Care — For A 'Family' Of 2,200

by WANDALYN RICE

Faculty members and students at Elk Grove High School sometimes tease Eleanor Lindberg about her cooking, but they keep coming back for more.

Mrs. Lindberg, the school's cafeteria supervisor, and her 20 assistants bake rolls and cakes and prepare lunches for 2,200 of the school's 2,500 students each day.

"Amazingly, I don't get many complaints," the short, motherly woman said. "I know people usually complain about cafeterias, but it doesn't have to be bad. All my girls have cooked at home and it's no different. It's just in larger amounts."

Mrs. Lindberg and the rest of the staff work with federal surplus commodities and other foods purchased by High School Dist. 214. They receive menus and recipes from the central district administration.

The best sellers in the cafeteria are pizza, cheeseburgers, macaroni and cheese, chili, spaghetti and a pizza casserole.

"The kids like anything they can hold in their hand and anything that's spicy," she said.

STUDENTS HAVE a choice of buying a "Type A" lunch, for which the district receives federal reimbursement, or buy-

Missing 'Headache' Leads To Another

On Wednesday, builder Don Paul had a "headache." On Thursday he didn't and that gave him another one.

Thieves took about $500 worth of construction materials and equipment, including a 200-pound "headache" ball, from the Salt Creek Bridge building site on Rte. 62 in Rolling Meadows early Wednesday morning.

Paul, the construction foreman, said the thieves stole the large iron ball and hook, which is used on cranes, a 3-horsepower motor and parts from another motor, and about 100 two-by-fours.

The theft was discovered yesterday morning when the site was opened for the day's work. Paul said the equipment had been chained down, but that that didn't stop the thieves.

The equipment belongs to the Schless Construction Co., Batavia. The company is building the Salt Creek Bridge.

Chief Lewis Case of the Rolling Meadows police department said yesterday afternoon that none of the property had been recovered and no arrests had been made.

ing items a la carte and paying more. Many of the students prefer to pay more.

"It has helped the kids' feelings to let them buy a la carte," Mrs. Lindberg said. "We have to please the children and we have explained that it does cost more."

In the shiny, well-equipped high school kitchen the cooks prepare salads and main courses every day, bake rolls and hamburger buns nearly every day, and fix desserts like cream puffs and cakes.

"We try to cook ahead as much as possible, but some things have to be made right before its served," Mrs. Lindberg said. She likes to see pizza on the menu often because the students like it. "But," she said, "that is one of the more troublesome things to cook."

"We have to make the crust, spread the sauce and grind all the cheese. It can't be cooked ahead because it has to be kept very hot, so of course it is more work. It isn't bad for us but some of the bigger high schools have more trouble," she said.

ABOUT TWO WEEKS ago a milkshake machine was installed at the high school after Mrs. Lindberg explained to students that the machine would not stay if it resulted in cleanup problems.

Some members of the administration hesitated to install the machine, she said, but since it has been in, "the kids have been wonderful about keeping things clean. If you appeal to young people they almost always cooperate."

She knows many of the students by sight and some by name, she said, and "I feed them so they like me."

One boy — her "cranberry boy" — who especially likes the cranberry muffins the cafeteria serves, recently asked her for the recipe so he could take it home and try it.

When he came back he told her she should publish all the recipes, "this is the best food around," he told her.

Elk Horn

Industry Still On The Outside

by TOM JACHIMIEC

Elk Grove Village can be likened to two separate communities when considering industry and residential developments, with Tonne Road and the Commonwealth Edison Co. high power lines the dividing lines.

Most of the retail establishments are mixed with the residential community in the various shopping centers, but industry remains excluded — out there on the east side of the village.

If you don't work in the industrial park then you probably don't have much occasion to go through it or know what firms are responsible for 50 to 60 per cent of the tax base.

There should be a way to let residents become more familiar with the industrial park. The Elk Grove Village Chamber of Industry and Commerce thought of one a couple of years ago but it didn't get off the ground.

The thought then was to hold a trade fair at Elk Grove High School.

It was a good idea and still is. It's expensive but worth it. It gives residents the opportunity to see what's going on.

With an industrial sector of 500 or more in Elk Grove Village, a trade fair is overdue.

BENSENVILLE has had one for nine years. Elmhurst is having one next month at the new O'Hareport Hotel in Northlake. It will be called "Elmhurst Expo."

Frieda Milstreich of the Bensenville Chamber of Commerce and Industry agrees that it's a lot of work to put on one of these extravaganzas but that they are well worth it. More than 1800 persons attended the two-day affair in the Bensenville VFW this week, she said.

Only a few industries participate in Bensenville, a small town, but many retail, civic and municipal bodies do also. There were 37 booths.

Elmhurst is planning 101 booths at its affair Nov. 6-7. It's the first time around for Elmhurst but surely not the last.

And Elk Grove Village, which has more industry than either town? Let's hope there's one soon.

THE ELK GROVE Village Housing Commission is in need of two persons to serve on the commission. The job has no financial rewards but plenty of controversy. If you've got time and an interest in the development of the community with regard to low and moderate-income housing, apply to Charles Zettick, village president, 901 Wellington Ave.

AL KRASNOW, exalted ruler of the local Elks Club, reports the organization has $700 worth of bingo equipment packed away. The Elks are anticipating a change of heart by the state to allow them to play bingo. You'll recall that under the law legalizing bingo, a club had to be in existence five years in order to get a license. The local Elks have been around 2½ years but the Elks on a national level have been in existence 103 years.

DONALD QUINN of the Elk Grove Estates townhouses differs with last week's column, which said that the quadplexes north of Biesterfeld Road were a form of low and moderate-income housing. "That's not the issue at all," said Quinn. The residents have charged the developer told them more $30,000-$40,000 townhouses would be built instead of cheaper quadplexes.

Veterans Day Mass Slated

Veterans' Day in Elk Grove Village will be observed with a mass at 11 a.m. Sunday at Queen of the Rosary Catholic Church.

Members of the Elk Grove Village VFW Post 9284 and its auxiliary will participate in the mass, as will the honor guard of the Albert Cardinal Meyer Council, Knights of Columbus.

Members of the VFW auxiliary also will present a program to students at Grove Junior High School for sixth graders today.

Veterans' Day has been moved from the traditional Nov. 11 to Monday, Oct. 25, in a move by Congress to provide more three-day weekends. The national headquarters of the VFW and the American Legion have asked that the traditional date, which commemorated the armistice ending World War I, be restored.

The Elk Grove VFW, however, is asking residents to observe the new date, past post commander Joseph Surdyski said. "My personal feeling is that the important thing is that some day is set aside to honor our veterans."

Low-Cost Housing Project Defended

The head of a not-for-profit development corporation seeking to build moderate-income housing in Arlington Heights defended his corporation's project in a speech Tuesday in Prospect Heights.

Salvatore Ferrera, executive director of the Metropolitan Housing Development Corp. of Chicago, said there is need for moderate-income housing in the Northwest suburban area. He contended the group's proposed site for moderate-income townhouses in Arlington Heights is a good one.

The proposal to build moderate-income housing on land adjacent to St. Viator High School was rejected by the Arlington Heights Village Board, 6-1. The proposal had called for the construction of 190 units including 100 one-bedroom and 48 two-bedroom units. The remaining units would be of the three and four-bedroom variety.

Ferrera explained that the Arlington Heights project, called Lincoln Green, "was designed for families where the head of the household is working, but in a lower paying job. Industrial and hospital workers, possibly even teachers and various municipal and government workers — that's who this program is aimed at."

FERRERA SAID, "The need for moderate-income housing is here. We look on this as a service to the community." He pointed out that a great deal of industry has moved to the suburbs and brought with it a labor force that needs the type of housing his corporation builds. He said that for lack of such housing in this area, industrial workers have to travel long distances to their jobs. This, he said, results in an undue amount of employee turnover.

Answering the question, "Why should we care about them?" he pointed out that "these people make a contribution to the community."

Ferrera said the Arlington Heights Viator site was especially good for the project because it was relatively close to the village's downtown shopping district and transportation facilities. He pointed out that a site such as the Viator land was more suited to a moderate-income project than unincorporated land (such as that in Prospect Heights) because it was close to transportation and shopping facilities.

School District To Join In Hiring Of Lobbyist

The High School Dist. 214 School Board has voted to join with a North Shore high school district cooperative in hiring a lobbyist to represent local districts in the Illinois Legislature this year.

The cooperative, called the "Education Research and Development Association" (ED-RED), has already hired William Henkel at a salary of $24,000. Henkel is a former legislative representative of the county education office.

With the addition of Dist. 214, ED-RED will include 13 districts and represent about one sixth of the legislation strength of the state. The group will also represent 30 representative districts and one third of the student population in Illinois.

High School Dist. 211 has also been asked to join the ED-RED cooperative. The high school board is expected to vote on the matter Thursday. If Dist. 211 joins, all of the elementary school districts in the Northwest Education Cooperative (NEC) will be represented indirectly in ED-RED.

EARLIER THIS month the 10 NEC districts voted to recommend that the two high school districts join ED-RED. Elementary school district in NEC include: 15, 21, 23, 25, 26, 54, 57 and 59.

Representatives of districts 211 and 214 attended an organizational meeting of ED-RED last week. At the meeting, which was closed to the press, Henkel discussed his role. According to Dist. 214 Supt. Edward Gilbert, "it was proposed that a council be formed with a representative from each of the member districts. This council would have immediate contact with Henkel. The council representatives would report Henkel's activities to their districts. And the representatives would convey their districts' concerns to Henkel."

Gilbert proposed that the NEC legislative action committee serve as a sounding board for the local ED-RED council representatives. A question was raised by the Dist. 214 board concerning the NEC elementary districts influence Jack Costello, board president, said "we should have the ultimate say on the position our representative will take, or else the elementary districts should share the cost of Henkel's salary. Hopefully our interests will not be in conflict with the interests of the other NEC districts."

Each high school district will represent only one vote on the 14 member council. Henkel will develop educational proposals following the consensus of the council. He may also work against legislation deemed hazardous by the council.

House OKs Equal Rights Amendment

by BOB LAHEY

A proposed amendment to the U. S. Constitution guaranteeing equal rights for men and women was approved last week by the House of Representatives, which also passed the Consumer Protection Act of 1971.

In the Senate, only one record vote developed during the week, when that house approved a law for an elected mayor and city council in the District of Columbia.

Following is a summary of the voting records and other activities of Illinois' two senators, Republican Charles H. Percy and Democrat Adlai E. Stevenson III, and Northwest suburban congressman Harold R. Collier, R-10th, Philip M. Crane, R-13th, and Robert McClory, R-12th.

MEASURES SPONSORED

Crane, a bill to limit U. S. financial contributions to the United Nations to an amount directly proportionate to the population of the U. S. as related to the total population of all the member states of the U. N.

MEASURES CO-SPONSORED

Crane, a bill to require the National Railroad Passenger Corporation to provide free or reduced-rate transportation to retired railroad employees and their dependents on the same basis that such transportation was available to such employees on the date of enactment of the Rail Passenger Service Act of 1970.

Crane, a resolution expressing the sense of Congress to place before the United Nations General Assembly the issue of the dual right of all persons to emigrate from and return to one's country.

Percy, a bill to sponsor a program of pollution control in river basins and waterways of the U. S. through comprehensive planning and financial assistance to municipalities and regional associations for construction of water treatment facilities.

QUORUM CALLS

Senate, none.
House, four, with Crane and McClory present for all. Rep. Collier was granted a leave of absence during the week, due to a death in his family.

YES-NO VOTES

Bill to provide for an elected mayor and city council for the District of Columbia, passed 64-3.

Absent: Percy, Stevenson.

An amendment stating that rights referred to in the proposed constitutional amendment on equal rights for men and women refers to the rights of both citizens and non-citizens of the U. S., rejected 254-104.

Absent: Collier, Crane, McClory.

Amendment to constitutional amendment to retain congressional authority to exempt women from the draft, rejected 265-87.

Absent: Collier, Crane, McClory.

Resolution proposing a constitutional amendment declaring equal rights for men and women, passed 354-23.

Absent: Collier, Crane, McClory.

Consumer Protection Act of 1971, passed 344-44.

Absent: Collier, Crane, McClory.

Amendment to broaden Consumer Protection Agency's authority to represent consumers in proceedings of other federal agencies and to give it other expanded powers, rejected, 218-160.

Absent: Collier, Crane, McClory.

Substitute to above amendment to limit Consumer Protection Agency intervention in proceedings of court and other federal agencies to advisory status, rejected 240-140.

Absent: Collier, Crane, McClory.

North's bid of three clubs after his Stayman two-club was a slam try in his system. South accepted because of his sound no-trump opening and North continued to the heart slam.

South won the diamond lead, drew trumps and went after clubs. If clubs had broken he would have been able to discard dummy's third diamond and play for seven, but clubs didn't break.

Undaunted, South played dummy's ace and nine of diamonds and West was on lead.

West had discarded a spade on the third round of clubs and now had what appeared to be a hopeless choice between leading away from the king of spades or leading his last diamond to give South a ruff and discard.

It looked like a hopeless choice but after deliberation, West saw that it couldn't hurt him. South was going to make the trumps separately no matter what happened so the ruff and discard wouldn't do South a bit of good. West led his last diamond. South ruffed in dummy and could find no better discard than his last club. Then he lost the spade finesse and his contract.

It was a fine slam contract. It lost because clubs failed to break the spade finesse was wrong and West put up a genius defense.

100 Students In Area For 'Congress'

About 100 students from 12 Chicago-area high schools will meet at Arlington High School this weekend for the 1971 student congress.

Attending will be representatives from: Arlington High School, Evanston Township High School, Highland Park High School, Hinckley-Big Rock High School, Holy Trinity High School, John Hersey High School, Lake Forest High School, Maine Township High School West, New Trier East High School, New Trier West High School, Oak Park and River Forest High School and St. Ignace College Prep.

The student congress, which will run Friday and Saturday, is a mock legislative session during which the students form political parties and debate legislative proposals.

FIFTY-SIX pieces of proposed "legislation" will be discussed in the fields of foreign affairs, state and local government, welfare and economics.

Included in the area of foreign affairs are mock bills to withdraw American troops from West Germany, intervene in the Northern Ireland conflict, sever ties with South Africa, restrict the activities of the Central Intelligence Agency, and extend prosecution in cases of war atrocities.

State and local issues include: The elimination of political influence from horse racing, prison reform and the breakup of racial concentration in housing.

The public welfare sessions will deal with the legalization of marijuana, the prohibition of wiretaps and the abolition of the draft.

In economics, students will discuss uniform funding of schools, discontinuation of foreign aid and the use of wage-price controls, among other topics.

The congress is sponsored by the Arlington High School chapter of the National Forensic League.

Sessions will be held Friday evening from 7 to 9:30 and Saturday from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. in the school's Bristol Theater. The public is invited to attend.

RELAXED TROTTERS. Freddie Neal (left) and Leon Hillard will be with the Harlem Globetrotters Sunday tipoff is set for 7 p.m. evening in the Prospect High School gym. The event is sponsored by the American Cancer Society, and the Students failing at Harper College in Palatine are going to be given a second chance before they are expelled.

Failures Get 2nd Chance

In the past, failing students were notified via a computer that they were no longer enrolled at Harper College.

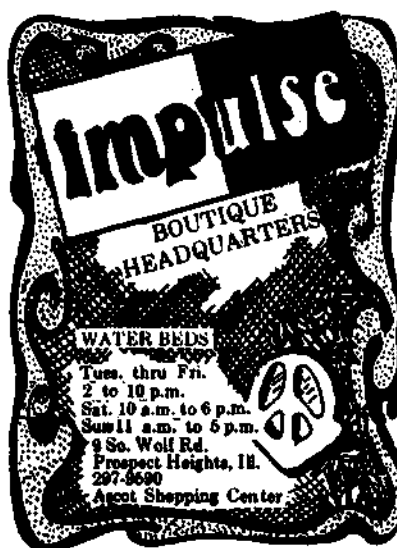

Last week, the Harper Board of Trustees voted to place failing students on probation before they are dismissed.

The college determines which students are failing by comparing their grade point to their credit hours. For example, if a student taking 12 credit hours during his first semester earns only a .91 grade point average, he is failing.

Guerin Fischer, vice president of student affairs, recommended the policy change saying, "our intent is not to be liberal but to be consistent with community college philosophy." Fischer surveyed other colleges in the area and discovered that "they all allowed a student to go on probation at least once before dismissal."

"A student shouldn't be dismissed without having access to a counselor or a teacher first," added Fischer.

Dear Dr. Lamb — What makes blood appear in the stools? I had a real good X-ray of my colon and stomach and ever since then when my bowels move there is some blood in the stools, bright red. My doctor says it's a nervous stomach. The reason I had this X-ray was because I had had a pain on my left side but no blood in the stools then, just some mucus.

Dear Reader — Your doctor was probably trying to tell you that nervous tension was affecting your digestive tract or your colon to cause your difficulty. An irritated colon can cause bleeding. This isn't too surprising since there are so many blood vessels in the wall of the intestine.

Bright red blood usually means that the blood is from the colon or rectum. Blood from higher points, from an ulcer near the stomach for example, will be partially digested or black.

Hemorrhoids or piles are a common source of bleeding. The internal type, just inside the muscular sphincter ring can bleed without other symptoms. This area is not seen on a colon X-ray and must be examined directly with a small scope in the rectum.

Examination of the rectum by finger or scope is necessary to find disease in that area, including cancer, that will be missed by X-ray. A large number of cancer of the bowels are revealed by finger examinations. This prompts me to advise anyone that if this doctor doesn't do a rectal examination what he needs is a new doctor.

After an X-ray, the barium material used may be hard to expel. The rocky material can irritate the rectum and if hemorrhoids are already present this can cause bleeding. This is a good reason for special care of the bowels after such an examination.

Dear Dr. Lamb — I am a 14-year-old girl. My veins really show a lot in my arms and legs and they are getting worse. On each of my arms one sticks out on the top side. I am afraid this might wreck my future. I'm not that skinny, I'm 5 feet 1 and weigh 96 pounds. Will they go away or show forever?

My grandma says I work too hard. I cut grass, clean the house, dishes, pull weeds and am very active in sports.

Dear Reader — It is probably just one of your physical characteristics. As you gain weight as you mature they may disappear. A few medical conditions cause enlarged veins from pressure. You can do a simple test. Let your hand hang down to your side and watch the veins pop out. Now hold up the back of your hand just in front of your nose. If the veins collapse you probably do not have any increased pressure that would be medically important.

Harper College May Call For Tax Hike

by BETSY BROOKER

Harper College may have to call for a tax hike next year to offset state aid cuts, according to William Mann, vice president of business affairs.

The drop in state funds will probably push the Palatine community college into debt by next spring, Mann said. He proposed a tuition increase and a tax anticipation warrant sale (borrowing on next year's taxes) as short term solutions.

"But," Mann added, "the college will have to increase taxes to really solve the problem." The Harper Board of Trustees has discussed holding a tax-hike referendum, but has taken no definite action. The college's last tax-hike referendum, held in March, 1970, was defeated by a 2-to-1 vote.

A last ditch effort in the Legislature to override Gov. Richard Ogilvie's veto of a proposed state aid hike failed Wednesday. Last spring the Legislature passed a bill that would have raised the level of state aid at Harper from $15.50 per credit hour to $19. But Ogilvie vetoed the bill in July. Rep. Eugene Chapman (D-3rd) introduced four motions to override the veto last week, but they were defeated by what she termed a "straight party-line vote."

BEFORE OGILVIE vetoed the state aid bill, Harper College slated an increase in state funds in its 1971-72 budget. The veto put the budget back about $464,000.

Mann protested the governor's action, pointing out that the "state made a commitment to provide 50 per cent of the Illinois junior colleges' operating costs (Illinois Public Junior College Act of 1965)." Mann estimated that the drop in state aid combined with rising costs will mean the state's contribution to the college will be reduced from 35 per cent to 30 per cent.

"Cuts in state aid are particularly drastic for community colleges because we rely so heavily on government funds," added Mann. "For every dollar on the taxpayers' bills, we only collect about $0.02."

The problem is compounded by the fact that the college's "charge-back" money is decreasing. Charge backs are tuition charged to districts or colleges in which a student lives when specific college programs are not available to that student in his local college or district.

DON STANSBURY, director of admissions, estimates that charge backs have dropped 40 per cent from last year. Last year Harper received $900,000 in charge back money, primarily from Oakton College.

To offset the loss of charge back money and state aid, the Harper Board of Trustees voted at the end of last summer to raise tuition from $10 per semester hour to $12. However, the tuition hike was curtailed by the wage-price freeze. The trustees are now waiting for government guidelines on phase two of the freeze.

When the impact of the money shortage hits next spring, Mann said the college will probably have to sell tax anticipation warrants to cover expenses. "The only problem with that, though, is we only get $1.2 million from the local tax levy. We can sell warrants for 75 per cent of the levy, which would give us $800,000. That isn't a lot of money to count on year after year."

In order to cover a cumulative money loss, Mann said the college has to increase taxes. "We are heading for a serious situation. We need a referendum. As our regular source of revenue is being drained away, we have to replace it with something."

Link Ruling To Campaign-Funds

U S Congressman Philip M. Crane, R-13th, has attached an amendment to pending campaign-spending legislation which would prohibit the use of compulsory union dues for political purposes. The amendment was approved recently by the Committee on House Administration and sent to the floor of the U. S. House of Representatives.

Crane testified before the committee that an estimated $60 million was contributed by unions to the 1968 presidential campaign of Hubert H. Humphrey, while public opinion surveys showed that 44 per cent of union members and their families opposed Humphrey.

"In other words," Crane told the committee, "nearly one half of that $60 million came from Americans who opposed the candidate on whom their money was spent."

The amendment approved by the committee did not include a proposal by Crane that would also prohibit the use of dues to support voter-registration drives.

Crane said the Senate Finance Committee found in a 1968 investigation that voter-registration drives are usually motivated by attempts to influence the outcome of elections and he said he may attempt to further amend the campaign-spending bill on the floor of the House.

JOHN COSTE, retiring secretary-treasurer of Cook County Council of Governments (COG), was honored Wednesday with a certificate of appreciation at a COG luncheon meeting. Coste is Arlington Heights' assistant village manager.

A 'Master Plan' Of Penal Reform

There's a need today for a blue-ribbon federal or state commission — appointed by President Richard Nixon or Governor Richard Ogilvie — to study prison reform.

There is a crying need for such a full and thorough study in the wake of the Attica tragedy and growing unrest in the prisons of Illinois and other states.

In Illinois, despite the progressive record of Peter Bensinger, head of the Department of Corrections, there has been some post-Attica unrest, and that supports the call for a study.

Attica, however, has not reached the status required in modern calamities — such as the deaths at Kent State, the Dallas assassination and the 1967 urban rioting — to have brought forth a Presidential appointed commission.

There is a real danger that the message of Attica will be forgotten by those in power, and that the 40 plus deaths in that New York State prison will not become engrained in our national psyche.

However, Attica does stand as a symbol of a long-forgotten, long-ignored dilemma in American society, that of the pitiful state of our prison system. We as members of an increasingly affluent American society have probably never been inside a prison or jail, much less served time. We have little or no identity with the problems of the prisoners and guards behind bars.

Perhaps it would be better if we all "served time" to understand those problems a bit better. Such an experience is especially recommended for those law officials that must deal directly with persons heading into prison.

At any rate, a commission is the best comprehensive method of studying our prison system. We are a bit wary about commissions, as the last three prominent ones — the Kerner, Warren and Scranton commissions — produced few measurable achievements.

However, let us try again. Let us bring together the top penologists, the psychiatrists and social workers, the prison guards and the prisoners, and public officials, especially state legislators. All of these men, in one way or another, are authorities on prison conditions.

Allow all viewpoints on prison conditions to be heard. Allow prisoners and prison guards to describe what it is like to live in a prison or county jail. Allow the professionals, after listening to the testimony of those inside the walls, to present their views on where change is needed.

Then, allow the blue ribbon commission to develop a master plan for reform in prisons. Let the members of the commission, however, bear in mind that most change must be pushed through a reluctant legislature or Congress.

The role of such a commission should not be limited to writing legislation. The commission should have two other functions; it should draw up broader guidelines for reform outside of legislative channels and should inform the public fully about its ideas on reform.

Broader guidelines, for example, might include provisions to allow adults to serve as probation officers for juveniles, a system which has had some success on an experimental basis in Denver.

Also, the public needs to know all it can about the conditions in prisons and jails in this country. Therefore, the commission has a responsibility to inform the public as fully as possible about its findings and recommendations on changing prison conditions.

The piecemeal legislative proposals which will come in the wake of the Attica disaster will do a portion of the job of improving prison life. However, only if a commission can direct the spotlight of public attention towards wholesale prison reform. That reform can't come soon enough, judging from what happened last month at Attica.

Now, The Robot Cow

Farmers, who still haven't quite accepted the fact that artificial butter is here to stay, are faced with a new challenge — an artificial cow no less.

An Englishman has invented a contraption of plastic tubes and angle irons, with huge jaws fed by a conveyor belt and a centrifuge for a stomach, according to a National Geographic news bulletin.

The jaws munch on grass, clover or waste cabbage leaves. Then the centrifuge spin-separates the fiber from the liquid, which is treated with chemicals and electric currents to eliminate mineral discolorations.

The resulting clear, bland juice is fortified with vegetable oils, sugar and other additives, then is homogenized and pasteurized.

It's claimed that the machine can transform one ton of fodder a day into 180 gallons of "leaf protein milk." This exceeds by far the average of less than three gallons a day credited to America's 12,509,000 dairy cows last year.

Will leaf protein milk do to the cow what oleomargarine did to the butter churn?

At this early date, there is oddly no way to tell.

Waiting For The Next Eruption?

'Education Establishment'

The school board of District 59 has just had a meeting which took up the subject of "Achievement Testing." This is an annual necessity which they approach with the same noisy disclaimers as a salesman trying to explain to his Sales Manager why he has again failed to meet his quota. You might think that District 59 would have some good results to report since they spend more per pupil than any adjoining district, (thanks to the Elk Grove industrial tax base) and the fact that their pupils come from homes with cultural advantages far above the average.

Long before the results were revealed, it was possible to tell that once again District 59 had spent a lot, but could show little for it. The first clue was in the agenda for the meeting wherein Dr. Erviti held forth at length on the unreliability of tests in general, and the marked propensity of the American public to reach the wrong interpretation. Among other things, he regrets that most of the public likes winners and improvement. This kind of prejudice disqualifies one for reading a District 59 Achievement report.

Dr. Erviti withheld the printed results from those at the meeting until he could recap the entire glossary of booby traps in test interpretation. He went on and on, like the Ancient Mariner with a compulsion to explain himself. It became apparent he didn't think Achievement

Testing was worth anything, but no, he now introduced his resident Doctor in charge of testing. Apparently, testing might be worthwhile if you hired a Doctor to put in charge of it; everyone knows Doctors of Education are not cheap.

The learned Doctor of Testing spoke at length, warning of his specialty, speaking of the peculiarities of averages and medians. The entire thrust of his speech was that you couldn't trust testing worth a darn. The cat was out of the bag, the results weren't going to be much; and they were not. Our schools fared a little worse than last year compared to the national sample, and despite our area's advantages, were only slightly above the average that contains others from rural, poor or ghetto areas.

The question was asked by our group why the testing was in different form from last year's so that you couldn't compare the various schools in the district, and particularly why were the results of "Queen of Rosary" not shown. Dr. Erviti said they had never been tested, nor could any of his professionals nor any of the board remember that they were in last year's results. When it was pointed out to him that the test results for "Queen of Rosary" (tested because of the shared time program) were far better than the results for District 59, Dr. Erviti replied that he, "didn't know that Mr. Roeser wasn't lying."

How can it be that none of these men remember these results showing the poor performance of District 59 compared to a school that spends far less, and has far larger classes. District 59 published the results last year, many people have copies. I have one, and am offering reprints to anyone interested. Why is it that Doctor Erviti and his rubber stamp board insult citizens who have factual complaints, and will not answer to the point? Is this district worth its high cost? I think not.

It is apparent that the nationwide Coleman report was not wrong; you don't get good education just by spending more, by having small class size, or by having novel programs. District 59 happens to have a model convenient for examination that has none of these things that 59 has in abundance. But they are cursed with that peculiar penchant of the Education Establishment that pretends interest in the welfare of children, but produces little except high salaries for administrators.

Reporter's Objectivity Challenged

I have always been under the impression that, to be a good reporter, one must have an objective point of view. In reading the Buffalo Grove Herald, one wonders where your reporter, Craig Gaare, learned his craft. Three times in the last two weeks, he has, in my opinion, fallen far short of what I would call good reporting. All three instances concern the proposed incinerator in Arlington Heights.

In the first instance, on October 4, 1971, he wrote an article wherein he interviewed Mrs. Phyllis Rose about the work done by the Sub Committee on Environment of the Buffalo Grove Alliance. Mrs. Rose gave him some sketchy information, but suggested he contact the two ladies most familiar with the Sub Committee's work. This, he did not do.

Then, on October 6, 1971, he reported the meeting at which the Subcommittee made its recommendations to the Buffalo Grove Village Board. At least twice your reporter misrepresented the facts. The audience was not "Noisy and disruptive." The Board did not take a "wait and see" attitude. It accepted all four recommendations of the Subcommittee. Was reporter Gaare at the meeting?

Mr. Gaare's vain attempt at sick humor in the October 11, 1971, issue demeans your otherwise fine newspaper. He equates an incinerator that could well pollute the air with noxious gases, nauseating odors, and unbearable noise with moderate income housing. I'm sure the citizens of both Buffalo Grove and Arlington Heights would have no problem with the latter. Mr. Gaare seems to be the one with the problem.

Buffalo Grove does not have to solve a disposal problem. The incinerator in question is being proposed by Arlington Heights.

I deeply resent Mr. Gaare's implied suggestion that we residents of Buffalo Grove and Arlington Heights would be pleased to see the pollutants fall on moderate income homes, rather than on ours. I have always been taught, and I still believe, that all men deserve equal respect and consideration. To imply otherwise, as does this article, is an insult to me and to all decent citizens of both our villages.

If Mr. Gaare must report on such important issues as the proposed incinerator, would you please inform him of his need for objectivity and his need to report the facts as they occur.

He would also be well-advised to leave the humor to the humorists. Sarcasm is one thing; insult is another.

No League Position

In your article Monday, Oct. 11 on the Clergy Support of Low and Moderate Income Housing you mentioned the League of Women Voters of Des Plaines. I wish to clarify that our League has not taken an official position on the proposals of the Concerned Metropolitan Citizens Committee or of any other group.

At present we are involved in a survey to help our community be aware of the needs along these lines. The League, however, has taken a position in favor of low and moderate income housing but we have not endorsed the CMCC proposals or those of any other group.

Recycling Drop Off

I was wondering if you could tell me if a third recycling drop off is going to be opened in Arlington Heights and if it is, where it is going to be located.

We live in the central part of Arlington Heights and I am in charge of saving the glass and cans in our family. My dad doesn't really mind driving four miles north or south to drop them off, but I'm sure a lot of other people do. I think they would be encouraged to bring in their glass and cans if they had a place close by.

Oppose Nixon Trip To China

Only in the last few months have I been exposed to any historical background in regard to the Communist takeover of mainland China. This was due to my own lack of interest. But now, with Mr. Nixon planning to make a state visit to a country that has waged war against us for 20 years; I feel a need for insight.

I have learned that the American Federation of Labor investigation committee found that tens of millions of Chinese have been murdered by the Red Gang. That the Red Guard Youth Gangs have killed and mutilated thousands of their own. That American fighting men were shot in the back of their heads, with hands tied behind them, and dumped into mass graves. I hope Mr. Nixon will keep this in mind on his planned trip or better yet NOT GO.

Talented Columnists

I love reading the Paddock Publications and occasionally, but very rarely, if I am real busy, I don't get a chance to read the Mount Prospect Herald... but never, and I mean NEVER do I miss reading the editorial page on Tuesday and Thursday when Dorothy Meyer and Brad Brekke write their columns. None of the Chicago papers have writers who can compare with them. They are so talented. I love Brad's human interest stories, and Dorothy's humor starts my day off just right.

Building Inspectors

An open letter to the building commissioner of Arlington Heights.

In regard to the recent court action firing builder James De Vuono for violations of the building code, one question comes to mind: Where was the building inspector when the house was being built? If the violations are evident now, they surely existed during construction and should have been corrected then. Perhaps the inspector wasn't doing the job he was paid to do or was incompetent.

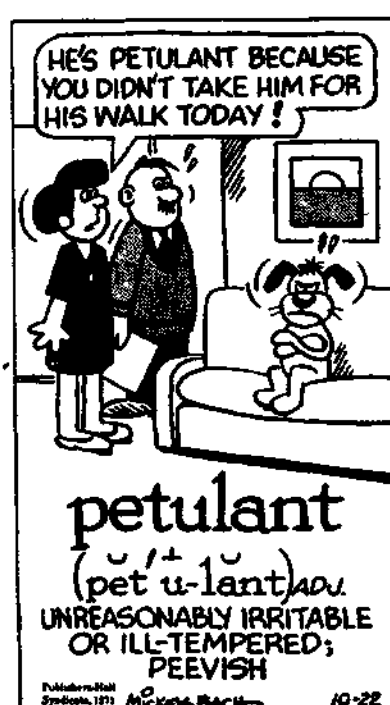

I personally feel that building inspectors should be licensed and bonded and held personally responsible for oversights or incompetence or fraud. As a building tradesman who has worked on various federal projects, I know of some inspectors who are now guests of the government in various prisons for not doing their jobs right.

Word-A-Day

Business Today

by DEAN C. MILLER

NEW YORK (UPI) — In years past, because of low wages and the temper of the times, high school teachers and college professors "moonlighted" at other jobs to maintain an enjoyable standard of living.

Today, with operating and other costs soaring, the educational institutions themselves resort to academic moonlighting to beat economic pressures.

Many institutions, especially private colleges, go into business for themselves to keep open the doors to the halls of learning. Their traditional sources, state and federal aid to education, have been cut drastically. Enrollments generally are down. Private donors, squeezed by the recession, have not been as generous lately.

Meantime, construction and operating costs have risen sharply. The imbalance has put many institutions in a financial squeeze.

EVEN IF THE government and private sponsors were more generous, it's possible that college officials would rather be independent of them. So they're adopting a "support yourself" philosophy more and more.

Sharvy G. Umbeck, president of Knox College, Galesburg, is a leading advocate of "God bless the child who has his own." He suggests that colleges, where possible, develop outside business interests to augment traditional revenues.

Umbeck acts as well as talks. Knox College has investments in:

—A harness racing track, Aurora Downs, in East Aurora.

—An Indian trading post in Utah.

—Four federal housing projects and several luxury apartment complexes in the Chicago area.

—A resort hotel in Utah.

—Cattle ranches in Wyoming and Illinois.

"Such investments, made through small private gifts and federal loans, should produce enough income by 1980 to keep us operational," said Umbeck.

THE KNOX College president conceded that traditional income — student fees, alumni gifts, government grants and endowments — are desperately needed. "But they alone are not sufficient to keep us alive," said Umbeck. "If we look beyond our noses, into the business world, we can make enough money to stay solvent."

None of the Knox enterprises is a tax-exempt operation. Each competes head to head with private industries.

Other colleges and universities have gone a similar route.

Many universities have extensive stock portfolios and real estate holdings. Columbia University owns the land on which Rockefeller Center stands. Rice University owns the grounds of Yankee Stadium, New York. Northwestern has extensive land holdings in Evanston. Williams College, Mass., owns dry goods stores and a restaurant in its community.

Mount Prospect Banks Lead In Total Assets

Two Mount Prospect banks posted the greatest total assets in today's listing of annual financial statements elsewhere in the Herald. A total of 17 Northwest suburban banks is represented in the reports.

The Mount Prospect State Bank led with total assets of $97,216,440.75. Deposits at the bank reached $50,348,081.36. The First National Bank of Mount Prospect reported total assets at $49,097,538.25. Its total deposits were $39,726,003.61 at the close of business on Sept. 30.

The total assets and total deposits of other banks were:

Northwest Trust and Savings Bank (in Arlington Heights), $9,512,855.27 and $8,019,534.88.

Suburban National Bank of Palatine, $4,388,992.21 and $3,641,945.18.

Personal Finance

Local Taxes To Bite Deeper

Your longer-range planning of family finances can take into account one forecast that would seem to be, unfortunately, about 100 per cent accurate.

With few exceptions, America's wage earners will find state and local income taxes taking increasingly bigger bites.

Citing a record amount of new or increased taxes levied by the state legislatures thus far in 1971, the Tax Foundation notes that the changes "accelerate the trend toward heavier reliance on personal income taxes."

Two more states will, from now on, begin levying income taxes. Eight states have raised their tax rates this year, and several have widened their tax bases.

THE TAX Foundation, a private, non-profit organization says its survey indicates new or increased state taxes will hit an all-time high this year. To date, in 27 states, the tax hikes total about $3.3 billion — and about half of the increase will be produced by personal income taxes.

This trend could make investing in tax-exempt "municipal" bonds something to be considered by family investors. Generally, they've been advantageous only to those in above-average tax brackets.

But the interest on bonds of your own state or local revenue-raising agencies usually is exempt from both federal and state income taxes — and the double exemption can make the bonds interesting to taxpayers in somewhat lower brackets.

Each person will have to do his own arithmetic to see whether the lower yields of "municipals" are more than offset by tax savings.

"OPERATION IDENTIFICATION" — which appears to have put a crimp in burglars' styles in many sections of the country — has now spread to more than half the states. You might want to see whether it has spread to yours.

Developed by a southern California police chief seven or eight years ago, "Op I.D." has a double virtue — a record of significantly reducing home burglaries in many communities . . . and not costing you anything.

It works on the principle that burglars find it difficult, if not impossible, to dispose of stolen valuables that are indelibly marked with the owner's identification. The most effective identifying mark, it was found, was a driver's license number.

Engraved on radios, cameras, bicycles, TV sets and similar items, it makes the merchandise too hot to handle. Fences won't chance it, and thieves know the odds on their conviction skyrocket if such identifiable items are found in their possession. Valuables have been recovered, in many cases, because thieves simply dumped them.

"OP I.D." is sponsored by state chapters of the National Association of Insurance Agents. In sponsoring states, any independent agent or broker who's participating will lend you, free, an electric engraving kit, and give you a supply of stickers to let the burglars know that yours is an "op i.d." house.

It works best, of course, when there's widespread participation in a community. The burglars then avoid it, and theft rates have dropped, in some instances, dramatically.

If you can't get information about "Op I.D." from a local independent agent, write the Consumers Insurance Information Bureau, 120 Broadway, New York, N.Y. 10005.

Mills Tells Pitfalls In New Game Plan

by LEA TONKIN

Pledging his support of President Nixon and his efforts to achieve a balanced economy, U. S. Rep. Wilbur Mills, D-Ark., also offered criticism of the administration's new economic game plan in a speech given yesterday in Chicago.

Mills addressed 1,000 persons at the 53rd annual meeting of the state Chamber of Commerce in the Conrad Hilton Hotel. As chairman of the powerful House Ways and Means Committee, Mills is a key figure in the success of Nixon's new economic program.

"Throughout the summer, there was increasing statistical evidence that the President's original economic program had failed. The economy barely reacted to it, if at all," Mills said.

"Action was not only called for, it was demanded. Finally, in August, the President revealed his long-awaited game plan. Perhaps the waiting game will be over."

Mills said members of Congress who had called for action commended the President for recognizing the need to alter the course of the economy on Aug. 15.

He noted that on Oct. 6, less than 28 days after the committee on ways and means began public hearings on the economy, the House overwhelmingly passed the Revenue Act of 1971 incorporating major elements of the Nixon program.

MILLS NOTED differences between the bill passed by the House and that requested by the President. "On Aug. 15 the President had called for an investment tax credit of 10 per cent on purchases of new machinery and equipment over the next 12 months, and for a credit of 5 per cent on purchases made thereafter. Mills said this would fall far short of the President's basic objectives, to create jobs and to improve productivity and competitive ability of American industry.

Mills noted that the purchase of capital equipment and machinery is critical in meeting unemployment problems. There are approximately 5½ million persons out of work in the United States, said Mills.

Mills said a better means of solving the unemployment problem is the measure passed by the House.

"Our bill restores the investment credit at a single seven per cent level and four per cent in the case of certain regulated utilities," Mills said. To encourage the improvement of many small businesses that are unable to purchase new equipment, the bill in contrast to the President's proposal, applies this tax credit to purchases of both new and used equipment.

The House bill does adopt the President's proposal to repeal the seven per cent excise tax on automobiles effective Aug. 15 of this year.

MILLS SAID these provisions will increase the production and sale of U.S.

products "but that is only one segment of our over-all problem," Mills said. "These proposals simply would not work without a balanced incentive to consumer spending. The House bill supplies this balance through expanded individual income tax relief amounting to $4.6 billion in 1971 and 1972."

He concluded that although the President must accept ultimate responsibility for economic policy, he is pledged to support the President in securing sound and balanced growth in the economy.

The Congress will provide economic and fiscal tools for a thriving economy, he said.

The Amazing Kreshkin

A Man Who Doesn't Want To Be Limited

THOUGHT-READING and suggestion, integral parts of Kreskin's performances, take a great deal of concentration by both Kreskin and his audience.

by DOROTHY OLIVER

I first got to know Kreskin in my pre-work days when nothing short of a tornado alert could tear me away from my favorite afternoon television program, "The Mike Douglas Show." Kreskin was the tall, thin, frequent guest who was introduced with superlative adjectives and bounded on stage with a mile-a-minute demonstration of thought-reading, telepathy and ESP.

He was fascinating to watch — but that was television. You may want to believe what you're seeing but you won't swear to it.

In person Kreskin leaves no doubt that he is legitimate. When he appeared in front of the Town Hall audience last spring he thought-read Social Security numbers, dates, events, names and numbers. The audience loved him for his humor, honesty and incredible mental abilities.

LAST WEEK THIS Kreskin fan sat across the table from him at the Black Ram Restaurant in Des Plaines. Our interview was sandwiched in between appearances at Marshall Fields stores, (including the one at Woodfield), television and radio appearances. Kreskin was in town to promote and explain "Kreskin's Krystal" which he created and which is being distributed to major department stores by the 3M Company.

There sat the former George Kresge of West Caldwell, N.J., whose interest in the field began at 5, who read the entire psychology department of the adult branch of his hometown library by the age of 10, was performing as a magician and hypnotist by the age of 11, developed his ESP powers with the children's game of "Hot and Cold," holds an A.B. degree in psychology and reads 7,000 words a minute.

KRESKIN (HIS LEGAL name since the age of 18) has described himself as a conservative in an extravagant field. He firmly denies the existence of a hypnotic trance (and has offered $20,000 to anyone who can scientifically prove such a trance does exist), arguing that a hypnotized person is fully awake and aware of what is happening. He attributes hypnotic "tricks" to the power of suggestion and substantiates his belief by including it in his performance.

Those that claim to be reincarnated, more likely have genetic memory and telepathy, according to Kreskin. A psychic receiving vibrations from an object is probably receiving telepathic messages from its owner, he feels.

Kreskin prefers to call himself hypersensitive or hypernormal rather than psychic. His thought-reading does not happen automatically and is never used socially.

"I learned a good lesson when I was a senior in high school. I was using ESP all the time, experimenting with my friends. When the phone would ring I'd pick it up and say, 'Hi, John' and then there'd be this dead silence on the other end of the phone. Within a half a year my friends were becoming up-tight.

"I REALIZED THAT this was not a desirable relationship. It was not an equal way to communicate with people. I can play a game of pinochle with my friends and they will never give it a second thought that I might be using ESP."

On rare occasions Kreskin will receive others' thoughts automatically. Generally the conditions are controlled, and the other person is cooperating when he uses telepathy. He practices with people, practices meditation and rehearses experiments mentally to "keep toned."

His performance is fast-paced ("I have a high metabolic rate. I eat five meals a day and don't gain a pound"), humorous and casual. But Kreskin takes his work and his field very seriously.

"Too many people in this field believe God is dead and they've taken his place. I believe that these abilities are extremely natural forces. God gave us these abilities. I treat it casually because I don't want to talk down to my audience."

"RIGHT NOW ESP is being studied out of the laboratory. It has gone through stages. At first it was treated reportorially, then it was tested in the laboratory. People react differently in a laboratory situation. Now it is being taken out."

"ESP is studied not because of what it can do for mankind but rather because it is a part of man and we don't know enough about it. It can't be taught yet, but if people have it you can make them aware of it."

Kreskin's Krystal is designed to do just that. He describes it as a "scientific curiosity," devoid of hocus-pocus, the supernatural or the occult. It consists of a crystal base and a ball on the end of a gold chain.

The ball swings like a pendulum over the base and by swinging back and forth answers "yes," swinging sideways answers "no" and by swinging in a circle answers "I don't know" or "I don't want to answer." Kreskin emphasized that the Krystal does not foretell the future, solve problems or diagnose illness. Instead it is designed as a technique to help people develop their thought process, concentration, ability to meditate and as a test for ESP.

KRESKIN'S STRONG background in psychology played a part in developing the Krystal and is used extensively in his work. "It has helped me to sophisticate the field. It is a great foundation as long as it doesn't limit me. I often feel that education can be a limiting thing if a person allows it. One of the blessings I had as a teen was that I didn't know there was a limit. I would grow and experiment."

Kreskin has placed no limits on his future either. He has television, radio and personal appearance bookings for the next 54 weeks. He is currently filming his own Syndicated television show, "The Amazing World of Kreskin," which will be released in March. Someday he hopes to have a family, write and get into new areas of his field, but he never intends to stop performing.

"I like people," he said with a smile. "I couldn't stand the pressure and the time involved if I didn't love my work."

Film Star Glad He Switched

Glenn Ford Happy In TV

by DICK KLEINER

HOLLYWOOD—(NEA)—The men who run the TV networks are no dummies, even though sometimes it may look that way. There's method in their murky programming.

They know, for example, just who watches — "demographics" is what they call the science of measuring the type of audience they get. And demographics these days indicates that there are a lot of older folks glued to the millions of living room theaters.

Perry Lafferty of CBS once told me that, given a choice between Dustin Hoffman and Glenn Ford as a series star, he wouldn't hesitate — he'd sign up Ford, because the bulk of the audience would rather see him.

So he went out and did just that. Now Glenn Ford is starring in "Cade's County" and it looks like Lafferty knew what he was doing — "Cade's County" smells like a hit.

LIKE MANY other top movie names, Ford turned down many TV bids before he actually succumbed.

"I could kick myself," Ford says, "that I didn't do this three years ago. I'm having fun."

He says when he finally made the decision to try TV, they gave him a choice of three formats — a doctor, a lawyer or a western sheriff. He took the last.

"I didn't want to spend my whole working day in a hospital," he says, "and, as for the lawyer show, there were too many long speeches."

Ford is famous around Hollywood, and always has been, for cutting his own dialogue. He believes that most movies are too talky, and he has a rule of thumb — no speeches over four lines.

"I'm still cutting my speeches down," he says. "The four-line maximum still holds. And I've been giving a lot of my speeches to other actors."

AN OFT-REPEATED story around town is that Ford — as well as the other movie-into-TV actors, such as James Garner, James Stewart and Rod Taylor — have made the move because of lack of movie work. Ford says that isn't true, as far as he is concerned.

"I decided to do a TV show now," he says, "because I was tired of hotel rooms. I could be working in features right now — but in Yugoslavia or Mexico or somewhere. I've been traveling almost steadily since '57, and I'm tired."

GLENN FORD

"With this, I'm only 10 minutes away from home."

He says that TV is "where the action is today." And he isn't particularly worried about whether or not he makes it — although, obviously, he'd rather it was a success than a failure.

"But if it fails," he says, "I can't see it hurting me any more than some of the miserable pictures I've done."

SAM CADE, the county sheriff he plays on the series, is, he says, a composite of all the western characters he's ever done.

"When I said I'd do it," he says, "they ran off all my westerns, and took a bit from each."

He says he hasn't been surprised at anything he's found in TV shooting, except for one over-all bit of amazement — that it can be done as well as it has been done in the time they have.

"We have a great crew," he says. "With this crew, we could do a full-length feature in one-third the usual time."

Another surprise, he says, is that everything "is first class." The show has handsome sets and costumes and top-line guest stars. But, when you dig a little, that isn't so surprising after all.

"Cade's County" is 20th Century-Fox's big one, and they are rumored to be spending more on it than on all the studio's other TV shows ("Room 222," "Nanny and the Professor" and "Arnie") combined.

(Newspaper Enterprise Assn.)

CONJURING, TELEPATHY, magic, subconscious sensitivity and suggestion are mixed with humor during a Kreskin concert. Hyperactive and energetic, Kreskin puts on a fast-paced show, sometimes losing up to two pounds during a performance.

Donald O'Connor

Chicago-Born Actor 'Comes Home'

by GENIE CAMPBELL

You could say Donald O'Connor was born in a trunk, he entered show business at such an early age.

O'Connor made his stage debut at the age of five days when his father, a vaudeville performer, carried him out on stage and introduced him to the audience. As soon as Donald could walk, he joined the family act.

"Each of us kids made $25 a week for performing," said the comedian who opened in "The Seven Year Itch" at Arlington Park Theatre this week. "In vaudeville it was profitable to have children."

For O'Connor, who was born on the northwest side of Chicago, playing in Arlington Heights is almost like coming home.

"ACTUALLY HOME was just where the kids were born," he softly laughed. "While in vaudeville, our headquarters were New York, Chicago or Los Angeles. I consider my real hometown Danville, Ill., because that is where my Dad's brother settled. Do you know I have only one cousin that has left there?"

Formerly a circus acrobat, Father O'Connor entered vaudeville when the circus started dying out. Donald, the youngest of the children, joined the act with his three brothers and three sisters in a routine consisting of singing, dancing, comedy and acrobatics, all groundwork for O'Connor's later career.

Except for his mother who, he said, "is still swinging in California," O'Connor is the only one left of the act, his sisters and brothers all having passed away.

The versatile comedian-actor, who has made well over 100 films, was first discovered by Paramount Pictures while doing a benefit in Los Angeles. He was signed for the role of Bing Crosby's kid brother in "Sing You Sinners," a movie which led to a term contract.

"IN ONE YEAR I made 13 pictures," said O'Connor. "I was four feet nine inches when I made 'Sing You Sinners' and they wanted to get as much out of me while I still looked like a kid."

"The same thing happened at 17 when I was the Elvis Presley of my day. They made as many pictures as they could before I went into the service."

Of his favorites he lists the comedy series of "Francis," the talking mule, which O'Connor labels "unusual unique pictures." He also mentioned "Call Me Madam" in which he starred with Ethel Merman, "Singing in the Rain" and "of course, all my big musicals," he added.

O'Connor, who has now participated in about every form of show business, said of his career, "I like to do anything in the business as long as I don't have to stay with it too long. I like to go on... but of course, there is nothing like a live audience."

O'CONNOR PRESENTLY spends a lot of time with Golden Products with which he is affiliated, a company that sells directly to the consumer and that is both nationally and internationally located.

"We make biodegradable, non-pollutant non-toxic cleansing agents for home and industry," he said. "We also make such items as shoe polish, car waxes and we are even beginning a line of custom-made bras."

To relax O'Connor plays golf or writes.

"When it's called for, I write a bit of the material I use in my nightclub acts," he said. "The other things I write are for therapy," he continued. "Short stories and plays I just put away in a trunk. That way I don't have to worry about the reviewers."

DONALD O'CONNOR

THOUGH QUITE cordial throughout the interview, O'Connor intermittently looked as though his mind was wandering... around the hotel and back into the theater. "People ask me if I feel O.K. I'm only thinking," he said, "and I haven't yet seen a person who smiles while he thinks, have you?"

With only a week of solid rehearsing before opening each production, the pace at Arlington Park is fast and furious. And this is the first time O'Connor has done "The Seven Year Itch."

"I'm used to fast changes and playing different characters," he said. "That's why I'm going to enjoy this role."

Because of his appearance at Arlington O'Connor was forced to turn down an invitation by President Nixon to perform.

"I feel pretty smug," he brightened. "It's not every day you can turn down the President."

Entr'acte

The Northwest Choralettes will choose this year's performance costume from designs created by the advanced fashion design class at Harper College.

The 25 members of the class have been invited to participate in a contest sponsored by the Choralettes, a 50-voice women's singing group from the Northwest Suburban YMCA in Des Plaines.

"Choralettes come in all ages, shapes and sizes and we are searching for a performance costume that will express the personality of the group," said Choralette director Pat Ferguson.

Each contestant will submit sketches of a basic dress with varied, appropriate accessories. A panel of judges made up of Choralettes will select the winning design. A cash award will be presented to the winner after the choice has been named sometime next month.

All contestants are sophomore fashion design majors who will graduate from Harper College in June with an associate degree in applied science.

"Jane of All Trades" is an apt title for Barbara Ashby of Schaumburg, leading lady in "Period of Adjustment," the second production of the Schaumburg Festival Theatre to be presented next weekend and the first weekend in November.

Although Barbara is one of the newest members of the theater group, she has already worked on props, costumes, publicity, set construction and ticket sales for the approaching production.

Barbara is a graduate of Goodman Theatre where she performed in "Dylan," "Skin of Our Teeth," "Winter's Tale" and "Winnie the Pooh." She has also appeared at the Tenthous Theatre in Highland Park and Melody Top in Hinsdale.

REHEARSALS ARE currently underway for the series of children's musical shows which Music On Stage will present at Woodfield for four consecutive weekends beginning Nov. 26.

Winifred B. Seibert is currently exhibiting in the Art Corner of the Des Plaines National Bank through this month.

The Park Ridge artist has worked with acrylics and watercolors, but prefers painting with oils and uses both brush and palette knife to create the effects she desires.

In November, a collection of three-dimensional collages will be displayed in the Art Corner by Shelly Rosenthal of Skokie.

Night Out

Jazz Performers To Stage 'Jamf Session' At Mill Run

Jazz performers are putting it all together in an earthy, gutsy, blues-drenched performance called "the jam session" at the MILL RUN THEATRE beginning next Tuesday and continuing through Sunday, Oct. 31.

Appearing in the show are Sarah Vaughn, Joe Williams, Eddie Harris, Les McCann and Jimmy Smith.

Ticket information, 298-2170. Bus transportation from Chicago is also available. Reservations, 298-2170.

"STATUS QUO VADIS," is still packing them in at the IVANHOE THEATRE. The Donald Driver comedy has again been extended and will now continue through Nov. 28.

What started out as a seven-week run was extended to 10 and now 14 weeks. The seventh week which ended Sunday, Oct. 10, broke all box office records at the Ivanhoe. It marks the largest single week's gross in the theater's five and a half year history. Ticket information, 248-6800 or GR 2-2771.

SECOND CITY premiere's its 42nd revue, "cum grano salis" Thursday, Oct. 28. The show is a cultural survival kit, giving clues to dealing with today's world.

"Cum Grano Salis" will deal humorously with topics ranging from President Nixon's forthcoming visits to China and Russia to an in-depth probe of the Treaty of Brest-Litovsk, with side trips that include learning how to tell if you are a male chauvinist, the continuing chapters of "The Guiding Light" and a little lecture on salvation through perversion. Tickets, 337-3992.

TEX BENEKE and his big band will play for a one-nighter Saturday, Oct. 30, in the Jimmy Durante Room of the ARRLINGTON PARK TOWERS. A champagne dinner package is being offered along with the show.

THE TRILOGY is now performing in the Tack Room show lounge in the ARRLINGTON PARK TOWERS. The trio opened their engagement on Monday.

Tex Beneke

THE MOODY BIBLE INSTITUTE OF CHICAGO will present a "festival of praise" at Chicago's 4,000 seat Auditorium Theatre 70 E. Congress, tomorrow evening beginning at 8 o'clock. The free admission concert commemorates the 85th anniversary of the Moody Bible Institute.

The program will feature classical and contemporary music by the Moody Chorale, the Men's Glee Club, the Women's Glee Club and Handbell Choir among other ensembles.

THE FOUR FRESHMEN will appear in concert for one night only this Sunday at the Chicago Marriott Motor Hotel in Chicago. Reservations are being handled on a first-come, first-served basis.

Singer HELEN O'CONNELL opens in the Blue Max of the REGENCY HYATT HOUSE this Monday and will perform nightly, except Sunday, through Nov. 13.

DARLENE BRENNER and CHUCK CALZARETTA are currently entertaining guests at the CORNER CUPBOARD RESTAURANT in Barrington. Miss Brenner is a former Miss Hoffman Estates.

by GEORGE SIMENON

Harcourt Brace Jovanovich, $5.50

Step aside, Agatha. Bye Bye, Erle. So long, John Dickson. The Master is back. Simenon has written more books than all of Miss Christie, Stanley Gardner and Mr. Carr. And, unlike them, Simenon is considered by critics to rank with the world's greatest living writers.

The reputation is once more polished up in this episode in the fictional career of Superintendent Jules Maigret.

The pipe-smoking, Calvados-fancying Paris detective in this book moves through streets, crowds, types and plot familiar to his fans. There is a murder similar to one in Maigret in Montmartre. There is a beside-the-point cops-and-robbers episode of art thieves.

There is the killer who phones Maigret and the climax when the detective comes home to his wife saying the killer is in the parlor: they have been chatting about the disappearance of truck drivers' restaurants.

All the familiarity is unimportant. Plot and whodunit are not the attraction of Simenon's Maigret books. The very familiarity is as comforting to Simenon addicts as a favorite pair of old shoes, an aged pet dog, or an old girl friend. The attraction of Simenon is the marvelous storytelling, the brilliant, brief sketching of characters, places and atmosphere.

"THE VIEW FROM CHIVO," BY H. ALLEN SMITH.

Trident Press, $6.95

The View From Chivo is the second sequel to Smith's immensely popular novel, "Rhubarb," the story of the cat that inherited millions.

It deals with Rhubarb's son, who had his name legally changed from Tiger to Rhubarb as his sire's heir.

"The View From Chivo" is typically H. Allen Smith — madcap, zany and often outrageously hilarious.

The latest Rhubarb book has no real plot, just a collection of vignettes centered on Rhubarb and his vast empire and the people who run it for him.

The story line may be muddled, but the "View from Chivo" is none the less funny. As a humorist, Smith is tops.

Patricia E. Davis (UPI)

"A FRAGILE BARK" BY JOSEPH BENANTE.

Simon and Schuster, $6.95

Since the author left the priesthood after seven years, it might be observed that this novel holds up a mirror to the Roman Catholic Church, reflecting much of its inner turmoil and torment.

It also may be assumed that the book holds up a mirror to the author, revealing much of what forced him out of the priesthood.

But beyond that, the book is an often funny account of Father Robert Regalo's year at St. Lucy's parish, his dealings with the Rt. Rev. Msgr. McQuade and his alleged sister, how rotund Father Merricomb schemes against them, and the forces at play in the parish.

St. Lucy's is by no means an isolated example of a parish. Benante knows parish life firsthand and his book capsulized it all too well.

What happens doesn't blunt his enthusiasm or idealism, but it forces him to leave the priesthood and seek his goals elsewhere.

He is riddled internally by the hypocrisy and incompetence, by the corruption and venality, albeit overstated by McQuade.

Interspersed with comic episodes are Benante's inner thoughts, as voiced by Father Regalo.

There are heavy theological overtones, but Benante also has blended in a hefty dose of Catch 22 humor, diabolical, Machiavellian and rib-tickling.

CRUDE EARLY LAMPS that burned oil, usually fish, whale or olive, provided light for most of history.

Whenever a large room filled with ladies is still as a midnight snowfall, except for an occasional appreciative "ooh" and "ah," you know there's something interesting going on. And so there was, at the Arlington Heights library recently, when Mrs. Gordon Copeland, author and lecturer, spoke and showed her collection of lamps and other lighting devices, dating from pre-Christian earthenware pans to the gaudy and flower bedecked kerosene globes made famous by the 1939 movie, "Gone With the Wind."

The occasion was a combined meeting of four local Quaker chapters, the Go-deys, the Miami Confederacy, the Americana Hunters and the Prairie Violets. (Quakers, in case you haven't heard, are antiques study clubs which are springing up quicker than you can say "Grannie's Attic.")

Mrs. Copeland began her lecture with a quotation of blind Milton, in which he referred to light as "the prime work of God," and she pointed out that for thousands of years, with the setting of the sun, man was committed to almost total darkness, with only open fires, crude oil basins and candles. Then, in one incredible century, discoveries in the use of gas, kerosene and, finally, electricity have truly lightened the world. She looks forward to the time when our present means of illumination may be considered antique and primitive, with walls and ceilings of glowing light.

CANDLES. SHE EXPLAINED, are not the ancient lights one may have thought, since they date from only 500 A.D. For thousands of years before candles, the simple basin of clay or metal, with variations, using a twisted bit of rag for a wick was used. Fuel was whatever was most abundant — fish, olive or whale oil generally. Our own colonists used a type of this lamp called a "Betty," and sometimes a rush light, which was simply a clamp to hold an oil soaked green rush frond. Benjamin Franklin may have been responsible for the next giant step forward — the erect standard light, first of pewter, then later of fine glass from the Sandwich and other eastern glass houses.

A bow of appreciation is due a French inventor, Argand, who, in the late 1700s, invented the burner and chimney which intensified the feeble flame. As the whaling industry declined and with the discovery of kerosene from the first oil drillings, lamps evolved into objects of beauty and decoration, as well as utility. Lovely glass peg lamps were inserted into existing candlesticks, although Mrs. Copeland explained that any marble and brass standard which holds a glass font could rightly be called a peg lamp. The well known Rochester lamp of bulbous shape, made of brass or nickel, lit the homes of rural America until fairly recently. They are advertised in my 1925 Sears catalog for $1.77.

NOT STRICTLY a lamp, but a candle with holder and glass shade, was the "Fairy Lamp," also called a "Burglar's Horror," which purported to rout prowlers with its faint gleam!

Many of Mrs. Copeland's examples are in the miniature category. One of her first INVENTION OF the burner and the chimney made for better lighting and added beauty to lamps as well. "Early Lighting" is the current study topic for Quakers antiques study groups.

was a miniature "Sweetheart" lamp, given by her husband. Other interesting sidelights to lighting were descriptions of twisted paper "spills," which were used before matches; bayberries for candle making; and an antique candle mold, a family heirloom.

Quakers, madly taking notes for their current study topic, "Early Lighting," asked questions and were allowed to examine the collection.

Lighting devices are what might be called a universal collecting category, since so much can be learned from them; early man and his ways of coping with a dark and hostile environment; the industries of oil, metalworking and glass-making; and the artistry of craftsmanship. Mrs. Copeland's lecture was most "enlightening."

Kid's Korner

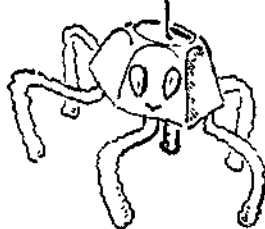

SPOOKY SPIDER

by Marilyn Hollman

Hang some spooky spiders around your house this Halloween! You'll need an empty egg carton, pipe cleaners, a black or brown felt tipped marker or tempera paint, thread and white glue.

Cut one cup from an egg carton. Trim edges so they are even. Poke two small holes in the bottom of the cup. Tie one end of a long piece of thread through the holes. Paint the outside of the egg cup. Bend a pipe cleaner into a U shape and glue the bottom of the U to the bottom of the inside of the cup. Repeat with three more pipe cleaners. Let the glue dry.

For eyes, glue two unpopped popcorn kernels or two small yellow paper circles on. Bend the legs any way you want. Now your spider is ready to scare everyone from his hanging place.

DPTG To Stage Williams' Festival Theatre Sponsors 'Sweet Bird Of Youth' One-Act Playwriting Contest

"Sweet Bird of Youth," a Tennessee Williams drama, will be presented as the second play of Des Plaines Theatre Guild's present season.

The play will be staged at the Guild Playhouse in Des Plaines for three weekends beginning Nov. 5.

Williams in "Sweet Bird of Youth" pours out his pity and understanding of people residing in the South who are key-noted by corruption. The action of the play centers around the moral and physical decadence of a handsome young man named Chance Wayne whose ambitions have always been beyond his capacities.

TOM VENTRIS is directing the play. Jim Tuversen of Buffalo Grove and Judy Herbst of Park Ridge star as the disintegrating youth and the tarnished movie star. Arlington Heights resident Larry Mayer will take the role of the political boss spewing race prejudice, and John Marquette of Des Plaines will appear as his son.

The role of the political boss's daughter is being played by Lana Hansen of Wood Dale; his mistress by Jackie Tuversen of Buffalo Grove. Jean Kay of Prospect Heights will be the sentimental sister and Marshall Kievit of Des Plaines will play the heckler who harasses the political boss and is finally beaten up for his trouble.

Others in the cast include Brenda Renbarger of Des Plaines, Jim Beddia of Buffalo Grove, Hank Vandenberg of Wheeling and Pat Gallagher of Arlington Heights.

The Schaumburg Festival Theatre will sponsor a one-act playwriting contest from Nov. 1 to Jan. 1, 1972.

The contest, designed to encourage the art of playwriting and find original material to be produced by the theater group, is open to all area residents, young people and adults.

The first place prize is $50. The play taking first place will be produced during the present season.

The second place play will capture $30 and be staged the following season.

Both a third place of $15 and a fourth place of $10 will also be awarded.

SCRIPTS MUST be original and submitted in a typed form containing all stage directions, character descriptions, proposed set design with wardrobe and prop lists.

Scripts must not have been previously produced by any amateur or professional group, and must carry no copyright or other legal binder. Only one entry is permitted per person.

Winners will be notified by mail on or before April 1, 1972. In case of a tie for first place, prize money will be divided equally among the winners and both plays will be produced.

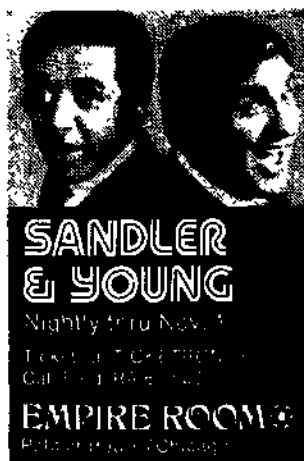

All scripts will remain the property of the Schaumburg Festival Theatre and cannot be returned.

Plays should be confined to no more than an hour and half staging time.

Applications for the contest are available through 894-2380 or Schaumburg Festival Theatre, 308 Cloverdale Lane, Schaumburg 60172.

Shakespeare Workshop Planned

A Shakespeare Workshop will be sponsored by the Schaumburg Festival Theatre, 7:30 to 10:30 p.m., Nov. 2, 9, 11, 23 and 30 at the Schaumburg Township Library, 32 W. Library Lane, Schaumburg.

The workshop is designed to acquaint persons with the playwright and his works and to offer practical training in the Shakespearean language.

Full-time participants in the workshop will be cast in the Festival Theatre's Shakespearean production to be presented in February. Selection of the specific play to be presented will be determined by the number and talent of those participating.

Michael Wouds, who received his theatrical training in London, England, where he appeared in several Shakespearean revues, will do the directing.

Registration for the workshop will be held at the library Nov. 2, 7 to 7:30 p.m. Registration fees are $3 for non-members and $1 for members. All persons participating in the workshop are asked to bring their own copy of "The Complete Works of William Shakespeare."

Additional information is available through 894-2182.

College A Test

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (UPI) — Parents of college freshmen can help the students by letting them know they can stumble — change career plans or get a bad grade — without losing face, advises Arthur S. Goldberg, associate dean of the University of Rochester's College of Arts and Sciences.

"Fears of parental anger and disappointment are very real," according to Goldberg. "Students perceive the college experience as a test of their worth as human beings, and fear that any stumbling or sign of indecision suggests they are not worth very much."

New Novel By Philip Roth Raps Nixon Leadership

NEW YORK (UPI) — A new novel by Philip Roth about a U. S. President called Trick E. Dixon, a thinly disguised reference to Richard M. Nixon, will be published Nov. 2 by Random House.

The new book by Roth, 38, author of the best-seller, "Portnoy's Complaint," is called "Our Gang, Starring Tricky and His Friends."

According to the publishing firm, the central character of the book promises the complete withdrawal of Vietnamese from Vietnam in 1972, invades Denmark because of its pro-pornography stand, meets with advisors dressed in football uniforms in an underground locker room at the White House, condones the poisoning of demonstrating boy scouts and institutes a program under which sentencing for crimes is immediate.

THE NOVEL ENDS with the assassinated president in hell campaigning on the basis of his evil record on earth to replace the devil.

Random House in a promotional statement called the book a "stinging and uproarious vision of national leadership speaking the sort of debased language that, according to George Orwell, is 'designed to make lies sound truthful and murder respectable, and to give an appearance of solidity to pure wind.'"

Roth is known for his novels and short stories and last year was elected to the National Institute of Arts and Letters, the honor society established by Congress.

Why You Age

What influences aging: "Only genetic factors and assaults by the environment," says Kathleen J. Halberg, recreation consultant for Indiana State Board of Health. "Aging starts the day you're born and retirement days are just one stage in the continuum."

The human body reaches its maximum degree of efficiency during the early 20s. After this, there is a gradual loss of speed, strength, endurance and coordination. (UPI).

The Home Line

by Dorothy Ritz

Dear Dorothy: I received some no-stick Teflon cookware as a wedding present 18 months ago. It sticks now and I can't even fry eggs in the skillet. The Teflon in the bottom of the large saucepan is changing color. Can these coatings turn "bad"? — Mrs. Joyce Maurer.

No, you can't say "bad," even though a buildup of stains can lead to a loss of the non-stick properties of Teflon. All appliances need occasional attention in the way of good cleaning. Put a mixture of 2 tbsp baking soda, ½ cup household bleach and 1 cup of water in each of the pans and let boil for 5 to 10 minutes. After this, wash thoroughly, rinse and dry. Then wipe the skillet out with salad oil before using again.

Dear Dorothy: I read with interest the report that said dogs could be allergic to those three-month flea collars. Our poodle began having what the vet thought were epileptic fits. Since he wanted to know how often she had the spells, I began marking the calendar. It finally dawned on me that each time tied in with a new collar and lasted for three or four days, then never recurred until the next collar. On our own, we quit using the collars and to this day, three years later, she has not had a single spell. That's really being allergic. — Mrs. D. W. Wollesen.

Dear Dorothy: Have always wanted an electric warming tray but the thought never became reality until recently. I've been nursing my new baby on demand. No sooner did someone bring up my lunch then the baby decided it was feeding time. As you know, even a toasted cheese sandwich isn't appetizing when it's cold. The electric warmer kept whatever was brought — for lunch or dinner — at the exact temperature it was when brought to me. A luxury, yes, but inexpensive enough to enjoy without qualms. — Mrs. John Mathews.

Pink And Blue Wedding

The matron of honor was in blue, the bridesmaids in pink, for the Sept. 11 wedding of J. Michael Daykin and Arlene Frances Witkowski, Arlene, daughter of the Henry Witkowskis of Melbourne, Fla., and Michael, son of the Richard B. Daykins, 210 Milton Lane, Hoffman Estates, both studied at the University of Tampa where they are now making their home.

A '67 graduate of Conant High School, Michael is employed by a motor inn in the Florida city.

Our Lady of Lourdes Catholic Church, Melbourne, was the scene of the double ring service for which Arlene chose a white satin Empire gown with chapel train. The gown was trimmed with lace at the bodice, the neckline and at the cuffs of the long, bishop sleeves. Her mantilla was also embroidered in the lace. A cascade of daisies and pink roses completed her bridal ensemble.

MRS. DAVID Penoyer, Gainesville, Fla., sister of the bride, was the honor attendant; another sister, Miss Gail Witkowski and a sister-in-law, Mrs. Karl Witkowski, both of Melbourne, and the groom's sister, Joni Daykin, Hoffman Estates, were bridesmaids.

Newlyweds In Carbondale

Mr. and Mrs. Stephan Shawhan

Newlyweds Maureen Mitchell and Stephan Shawhan are making their home in Carbondale where both are students at Southern Illinois University. Daughter of the Charles Mitchell, 1425 Emerson, Mount Prospect, Maureen is a graduate of Wheeling High School. Her fiancé, a senior at Southern, is a graduate of Prospect High School and the son of the Robert Shawhans, 532 S. Prindle, Arlington Heights.

Their wedding took place Sept. 11 in First United Methodist Church of Arlington Heights. The 5:30 o'clock double ring service was followed by a reception for 150 guests at the VFW Hall in Des Plaines.

Maureen chose a white silk gown with lace overlay for her marriage. The Empire gown was fashioned with sheer sleeves and a train. A gardenia cap held her fingertip veil and she carried white Sweetheart roses with a garland of red roses.

PATRICIA MITCHELL was her sister's maid of honor, and bridesmaids were the groom's sister, Maureen Shawhan, Arlington Heights and Gail Wise of Mount Prospect. All wore orange chiffon gowns with high necklines and ruffled bodices trimmed in white. They carried nosegays of orange fuchs and woodroses with orange and brown ribbons.

Mrs. Mitchell chose an ensemble of soft green and Mrs. Shawhan one in orange chiffon.

Thomas G. Blomquist of Mount Prospect, a fraternity brother of the groom, was best man, and ushers were Bruce Hintz, a cousin from Des Plaines, and Larry Leeman of Mount Prospect.

The couple honeymooned five days at the Wagon Wheel in Rockton.

PULLING FASHIONS from Santa's pack are Mrs. Thomas Munson, Mrs. W. R. Mottweiler and Mrs. Daniel Pelletiere, models for Alpha Omicron Pi's annual benefit bridge luncheon-fashion show. "Twas Two Months Before Christmas" will be held Tuesday in Community Presbyterian Church, Mount Prospect, and will also feature a bazaar of holiday and handmade gift items.

For A Jam-Packed Afternoon

With Santa peering around the corner, "Twas Two Months Before Christmas," a bridge luncheon with fashion show and bazaar of holiday and handmade gift items will be held Tuesday Sponsored by the Northwest Suburban alumnae of Alpha Omicron Pi the afternoon party will be held at the Community Presbyterian Church, Mount Prospect, beginning at 12:30. Fashions from Marge's Apparel, Arlington Heights, will be modeled informally following luncheon; cards will be played between fashions.

Mrs. Ted Schaefer, Arlington Heights, is directing the fashion show. Autumn wreaths and handmade candles on the tables have been designed by Mrs. Warren Potter, Palatine. Mrs. Leon Henson and Mrs. Matthew Meisterheim, Des Plaines, are in charge of the bazaar.

The party is open to the public and tickets at $3 and reservations are available by calling 825-3282. Proceeds will benefit the National Arthritis Foundation, Illinois Children's Hospital School and local philanthropies.

Bagful Of Bargains At Half-Price Sale

A bagful of bargains for only $1 will be among the sale items Saturday at the half price rummage sponsored by Project HELP, Inc. The sale, to be held from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. at 105 Wilshire Lane, Wheeling will include items left over from the first sale which was nearly rained out.

Toys, games, clothes and a surprise clearance from 5 to 6 p.m. are to be included in the sale.

Proceeds will help finance the Hotline in Wheeling, Buffalo Grove and Prospect Heights which is manned by volunteers. Hotline includes an emergency telephone number for persons seeking help with medical, social, emotional or related problems.

DRA-PER-IES

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:
A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Three Teams In Commanding Positions

'Complete Tossup' In Mid-Suburban Harrier Meet

by LARRY EVERHART

"It's a complete tossup... it will just be a matter of positioning... whoever is fired up the most on that particular day will win... it will be so close that you could run the race over the next day and have a completely different finish."

These comments from Ron Menely, the most successful cross country coach in Mid-Suburban League history to date, sum up what is in store in tomorrow's conference meet on Glenbard North's course at Sunset Hills in Lombard.

Horse handicappers or Jimmy the Greek would go nuts trying to quote odds on this one. They'd probably end up setting equal odds on Palatine, Forest View and Fremd.

It is these three teams which at this moment stand deadlocked at the top of the MSL heap in records of dual league meets. All three are 10-1. Fremd beat Forest View 20-35, Forest View beat Palatine 20-36 and last Tuesday Palatine caused total confusion in the whole outlook with a 23-33 triumph over Fremd.

It was the Vikings' first dual loss after 41 wins dating back to 1968. So this season offers a refreshing change for Viking opponents. For once, the outcome is in doubt and Fremd isn't a clear-cut favorite.

Three other teams besides the leading trio also have outside shots. Hersey, Arlington and Elk Grove all have outstanding individuals and could be surprises.

The best runners on each of the top three squads are logical co-favorites for No. 1 individual honors. They are Brian Barnett of Palatine, Mark Nugent of Fremd and Scott McGovney of Forest View. Another boy on a par with them is Arnold Jackson of Schaumburg, who finished first in nine of 11 MSL duals.

Others to watch with a shot at first place are Jamie Olson of Fremd, Fred Miller and Mark Johnson of Palatine, Brian Powell and Damian Archbold of Elk Grove, Rick Wise of Forest View, Frank Walworth of Hersey and Tom Jarm of Arlington.

Menely talks of the tremendous improvement in competition in the MSL. "This year the league probably has four of the top 15 teams in the state, based on times and competition," he says.

Unlike past years when Fremd had one superstar who stood above all the rest — like Dan Pittenger the last two years — the Vikings stress balance and close packing this year. Olson was No. 1 man most of the season but Nugent has improved the most and was Fremd's top man in the last four outings.

Fremd has been ranked high all year but Palatine and Forest View have been sleepers. The Pirates have made great improvement lately in their times and the Falcons are enjoying easily the greatest cross country season in their history with a 23-1 overall record. Menely feels these teams are underrated and should be ranked near the top in Illinois as well.

Hersey and Arlington, both 7-4 in the MSL, have top individual threats in Walworth and Jarm. Walworth has been the winner in five of 11 MSL duals and second in five others. Jarm had six consecutive firsts to his credit in the middle of the schedule. If teammate Scott Barnett had not been injured with a pulled leg muscle several meets ago, the Cards would be even tougher.

Elk Grove has a great one-two punch. Powell has seven firsts and four seconds in his 11 MSL meets and each time he was second, teammate Archbold was the winner. Of Powell, coach Gerry Woulard says, "He's consistently the best runner we've ever had at Elk Grove. He and Damian can run with anyone when they're on."

Sunset Knolls, site of the proceedings tomorrow morning, has a fast, rolling course with several loops that has seen some fine times recorded this year. As Menely commented, "The weather should be no factor, whether there's freezing rain or if it's 80 degrees and sunny. The caliber of competition is too tough for the weather to make any difference."

The varsity and sophomore races will be 2.75 miles long and the freshmen course an even two miles.

The past few conference meets have been no more than exercise for Fremd to prepare for later meets. The Vikings are usually conceded first place before the starting gun sounds while the others scarp for also-ran positions.

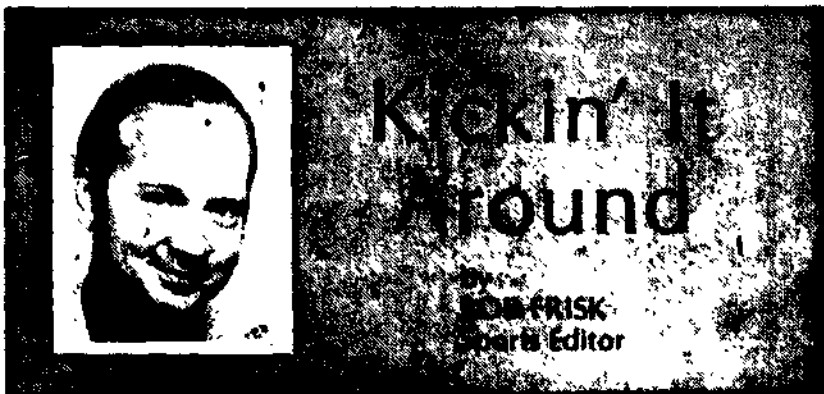

To understate the case, the thinking is a whole lot different this year. As Menely puts it, "It isn't that we're any worse. It's just that the rest of the league is a lot better."

Final standings will be half-dependent on above dual-meet records and half-dependent on Saturday's conference meet at Sunset Knolls in Lombard. For meet results, call 394-1700 after noon.

Kickin' It Around

By Bob Frisk Sports Editor

IT WOULD HAVE been easy just to quit chasing the dream, to put the glove and bat and hopes away and admit defeat, however painful that defeat.

That would have been the easy way, bringing an end to so many frustrating experiences, so many peaks and valleys in a sports career filled with misfortune.

The easy way has never been the Tom Epperly way.

If he's wanted something, he's gone after it with fierce determination. He may not have reached every goal, but he always gave it his best effort. A battler, a fiery competitor. That's Tom Epperly. That's his way.

Epperly, a St. Viator High School product, has always wanted to be a major league baseball player. Many youngsters have this ambition, but many obviously dismiss the idea early in life.

Epperly has been vigorously pursuing his dream.

It hasn't been easy. He's known his share of bitter disappointments. He knows what it's like to sit on the bench when you have confidence in your ability

"I felt this had to be the year or I would have had to seriously think about just forgetting baseball," Tom says. "I only have two quarters left to graduate, and I would like to get involved in coaching."

Epperly had high hopes when the June phase of the professional draft approached. He had shaken off injuries and two seasons of sitting on the Minnesota bench to earn a regular spot in the Gopher outfit. He hit .356 to lead Minnesota and finish sixth in the Big Ten.

He had not even made the spring training trip to Texas. "They didn't seem to have any confidence in me," Tom recalls, "but then one of their outfielders had problems and I got a chance. I hit one out in the first game, was platooned for awhile, and then played the last five games as a regular."

"Epperly may be the sleeper when it comes to a future in professional baseball," said his college coach Dick Siebert in May. "That kid has been confronted with one problem after another to get where he is in college baseball."

Epperly waited for the June draft. Montreal had expressed some interest during his closing surge with Minnesota, and Tom thought he would be picked up by some team.

"It was a big disappointment when nobody took me," he said. "I still think it was my age, and then I wasn't quite sure what to do. I ended up playing in a collegiate league in Minneapolis. That was a break because normally they don't let many seniors play."

Epperly had a big summer with 11 homers and a .340 average in 30 league games, and he also found time to play 50 games with a city team. He was encouraged. He decided to chase his dream to a tryout camp with the Minnesota Twins — and hope.

The Twins liked what they saw. There were 300 players in the camp. They only signed four.

Tom Epperly has his chance. He doesn't want to fumble it now.

"This instructional league has been great," he says. "I've been hitting around .300 so can't complain about that, and the defense hasn't been a problem in the outfield. I'm definitely encouraged, and they spend a lot of time working with you here. We've played about 17 league games already."

"There are three coaches for all phases of the game, and I get about 100-200 swings a day. My biggest problem is mental concentration at the plate, trying to hit the good pitch, trying not to be too anxious."

It's not only the rookies who are using this Florida Instructional League as a way to improve their skills.

"Even Johnny Bench is down here working on his hitting," says Epperly. "And Cincinnati has Don Gullett pitching."

Tom Epperly has been knocking on the professional baseball door for many years. He just wanted that chance to show what he could do.

He thought he'd knock once more in August and see what happened.

The door opened.

10 Years Ago...

Prospect's 18-game winning streak in varsity football came to an end... Proviso West blocked a punt in the first quarter and converted it into a touch-down and added seven more points in the final period for a stunning 13-0 victory.

Don Skinner scored two touchdowns, one on a 52-yard pass interception, and Andy Merutka rushed for 110 yards in 20 carries as Palatine rocked Crystal Lake,

BARNETT BARGES THROUGH. Ace Palatine runner Brian Barnett crosses the finish line in second place with a 13:53 time that broke an old course record Tuesday on the Union 76 Oil grounds. The old record was 13:58 set only last week by Fremd's Mark Nugent (behind Barnett) who was one second off that mark. Barnett paced Palatine to a 23-33 victory, Fremd's first dual loss in 41 meets since 1968, which tied the Pirates with Fremd and Forest View for first place (all with 10-1 records) going into tomorrow's conference meet. (Photo by Bob Strawn)

Mid-Suburban Football Report

Every Week Is A Crucial One Now

by HERALD SPORTS STAFF

As Chicago Cub public address announcer Pat Pieper might say, "Have your pencils and Richter Scales ready for the starting lineups for tonight's ball games."

With five games on tap this weekend in the Mid-Suburban League, a sharp pencil with a big eraser is a necessity in trying to figure out who has the edge in the torrid three-team dogfight in the North while a potential tremor could very easily develop should Elk Grove whip Conant and thus clinch the South Division title.

Both Hersey and Arlington must post victories at Fremd and Palatine, respectively, if the dramatic North Division hopes to continue to wage its mad scramble. Wheeling, for all practical purposes, has the night off as it engages New Trier West in a non-conference halfback Terry Stenger, who showed he can do just about everything. He passed for one score, caught a long bomb to set up another, scored on a 72-yard dash and gained 106 yards against the Saxons.

The other big weapon the Cougars have is Stenger's running mate George Swegles, whose blinding speed makes him a threat from anywhere on the field. He was one of the fastest sprinters in the conference in track last spring.

CONANT AT ELK GROVE

Things are not rosy at the Conant camp, according to coach Ralph Losee, despite the team's first win of the season last Saturday, 21-8 at Schaumburg. "Terrible" is the word coach Ralph Losee uses to describe practices this week. Asked if injuries were a problem, he said, "No, I wish we had that as an excuse. The kids are just acting like the season's over because they won a ball game."

"I just hope we don't play like that Friday. If we do we'll get blown off the field."

Even if Losee is being overly pessimistic, Elk Grove may very well give the Cougars their toughest test of the season. The 4-1 Grenadiers, looking better each week, were highly impressive in their one-point edging of Forest View.

Conant will likely start the same lineup as last week. Elk Grove will have to be wary of the aerials of quarterback Mike Attkocatis, who threw well against Schaumburg.

Palatine quarterback Jim Stauner, third ranking passer in the Mid-Suburban, will at-victory over visiting Arlington tonight in one of the featured attractions on the weekend schedule.

APPLAUDS ORIOLE SETBACK

Dear Sirs:
I feel the Baltimore Orioles' loss in the World Series was the sweetest justice I've seen in sports in a long time. It couldn't have happened to a more deserving bunch.

The Orioles are strictly bush-league off the field so it is only right that they were dethroned as champions. They are a bunch of crybabies when they lose, especially Frank Robinson and manager Earl Weaver. Last summer Robinson had the gall to criticize the managing of Chuck Tanner, in my opinion the best manager in baseball. Then he was so impudent as to say he was better than Roberto Clemente, who is one of the all-time greats of baseball and has a new sports car to show it. I wonder what Robinson would give for that car or, better yet, for Clemente's arm and his batting average in the Series.

Whenever the Birds lose, they first start taking it out on the other team with their fists, then have a million excuses about umpiring, the field, ball park, etc. Weaver was all wet when he said his team was the greatest he ever saw (including the old Yankees).

COLTS' ATTITUDE "CHILDISH"

Dear Sirs:
I read in a national publication this week that the Baltimore Colts were cheering the news that the Orioles had lost the World Series when they heard the final score in their dressing room after their game with the New York Giants.

The Colts, it seemed, had this petty jealousy and wanted to be the only World Champion team in the city.

Have you ever heard of anything so childish? It sounds to me like the Colts have an inferiority complex. I always thought that athletes from the same city pulled for each other and showed civic pride, but I guess I was wrong. The Colts should be as gentlemanly and mature-thinking as the White Sox, many of whom in past years have publicly pulled for the Cubs to do well.

A KARRAS BACKER

Dear Sirs:
I must take exception to Dennis Lake's opinion that the Alex Karras show (before the ABC Monday Night football game every week), in his words, "stinks."

To me, the show is not "haphazard and unrehearsed," but well-planned and entertaining. I also feel Bill Frink and

Olympic Team Help A Skater In Bid For

Bob Haensch of Mount Prospect is training for the United States Olympic speed skating trials.

The trials will be held in late December.

In their bids to make the United States team, many of the top speed skaters in the country will be training in Europe in November against top-flight competition under Olympic conditions.

Haensch would need a sponsorship or financial help to make this important training trip.

Mrs. Bernita Hellerich of Mount Prospect is interested in helping this young skater in his bid for the United States team and is attempting to raise money.

Anyone interested in helping the 17-year-old skater should contact Mrs. Hellerich at 382-4978 or Al Fairchild at 259-1751.

Time is running out. Any help would be appreciated — now!

BLEAK OUTLOOK FOR BEARS

Dear Sirs:

Oh, well, the Bears' victories were enjoyable while they lasted. The party is over now for two reasons: Bobby Douglass is going to play quarterback and the rest of the schedule is a meatgrinder.

I am serious in saying that the Bears might not win another game. Look who they play: in order — Detroit, Dallas, Green Bay, Washington, Detroit again, Miami, Denver, Green Bay again and Minnesota.

I feel sorry for Bear fans but even sorer for Douglass.

He'll be lucky to come out of this alive.

A RAY OF HOPE

Dear Sirs:

Rejoice, Bulls fans! The Bulls finally seem to have gotten a center with extraordinary ability — something they have needed ever since the team was formed.

Clifford Ray played such a great defensive game against the Baltimore Bullets (Oct. 8) that he reminded me of the way Bill Russell used to intimidate opposing shooters and the way Kareem Jabbar (who?) does now for the Milwaukee Bucks.

Tom Boerwinkle and Jim Fox did okay last year but Ray, only a rookie, will be far better for years to come.

Harper Wins CC Pair For Perfect Dual Year

Harper College's cross country team has been an unexpected pleasure this season for Coach Bob Nolan. His rebuilding year may bring an outright title in the Skyway Conference.

The Hawks polished off their final two league opponents—22-35 over Waubesa and 15-44 over Amundsen — to complete a perfect SC record (7-0) and also an unbeaten overall dual season (12-0), both firsts for Nolan at Harper.

Pat Dunning was the top Hawk finisher with a second place time of 21:51 over the Waubesa campus course near Aurora. He was followed by Steve Feutz (21:53), Frank Savage (22:00), John Geary (23:00), Dave Wittenburg (23:21) and John Weidner (24:30).

Nolan was very pleased with the team's showing, especially Weidner who "cut off a minute over the last time (Sept. 23) we ran Waubesa."

"They're really a good group," continued Nolan. "We haven't performed very well in the invitationals but maybe we can correct that in the meets coming up."

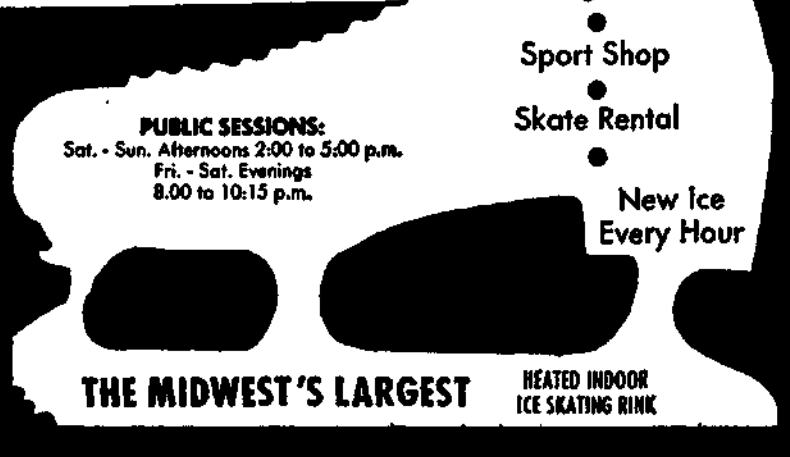

Harper will compete at the DuPage Invitational on Saturday in Glen Ellyn. The following Friday is the Region IV meet and on Nov. 5 is the SC showdown. Harper leads the league.

President Edward Shea has announced plans for the two general sessions. The Saluki gymnasts, members of Southern Illinois University's nationally ranked gymnastic team will highlight the first general session on Thursday night, Nov. 18. At the second general session Dr. Fay Biles, Director of the PEPI Project (Physical Education Public Information) will be the keynote speaker. All members of the Association are urged to attend the 1971 State Convention.

Definition Of A Rule

Attention, wrestlers. The Illinois High School Association has defined Rule 3, Section 2e of the wrestling rules. When they talk about hair trimmed and well groomed, they now mean:

"The hair in the back shall not extend below the top of an ordinary shirt collar, and on the sides the hair shall not extend over the ears."

See your barbers!

Milton Richman

BALTIMORE (UPI) — Earl Weaver is a believer. He believes completely in his Baltimore Orioles and no power on earth can get him to believe otherwise.

The Pittsburgh Pirates beat his Orioles and he acknowledges that's all right, but that's all he acknowledges.

"In my mind I still have the best team in baseball," he says. "Next year we're gonna prove we might be the greatest team of all time by winning 100 games for the fourth year in a row."

Curiously, Earl Weaver felt pretty much the same way two years ago after the New York Mets knocked over his Orioles in the World Series. He said the Orioles would be back and they were.

He didn't pout over the outcome then and he isn't now. He doesn't really have any time for that.

The Baltimore manager went out to the ballpark again rather early Monday and cleaned out his locker in preparation for the trip to Tokyo with the rest of the team.

Then he went and had his hair cut by his favorite local barber.

Nobody hugged him about the events of the past 10 days.

"I didn't meet too many people and those I did meet were very considerate," he says. "All they did was greet me and ask me how I felt. Nobody asked me what happened."

Earl Weaver appreciated that.

He also appreciated what happened to him when he finally got home from the ballpark Sunday after the Pirates had knocked the props and the world title from under his Orioles.

Most of the neighborhood children were gathered in front of his house and when they saw him coming they began cheering and applauding. Several homemade signs said, "We're still No. 1."

Earl Weaver doesn't think he's an overly emotional man, but when he saw those kids waiting for him and listened to them cheering him, tears formed in the corners of his eyes. What the kids did touched him.

"I guess I got a little misty," he says. Weaver didn't throw a single baseball or swing a bat once during the World Series but he worked as hard as anyone involved in it. The only person who can possibly know how much energy he expended is Danny Murtaugh because as calm as he looked over on the other side, he was going through the same thing as Weaver.

The Baltimore manager did the best he could to relax when he arrived home following Sunday's seventh game loss but it was difficult. He still couldn't unwind.

Later in the evening John Steadman, the sports editor of the Baltimore News American, paid him a visit, more as a neighbor than a newsmen, and the Baltimore manager appreciated that, too.

Weaver was hoarse when he got home Sunday night. He was hoarse from bawling and from all the tension he had been under. The tension became so much that he threw up once in the clubhouse and again when he got back home.

Earl Weaver, in his own way, has as much pride or not more than Roberto Clemente.

If it bothered him at all that Ralph Houk of the Yankees was named American League Manager of the Year last season even though he led his club to a pennant and a world championship, he never showed it.

"The writers were absolutely right," Weaver told all those who tried sympathizing with him. "Ralph Houk is an excellent manager and thoroughly deserved the honor."

That may be, but nobody deserves this year's award more than Earl Weaver. He's two jumps ahead of everybody else and don't buy all that debris about how anyone could manage the Orioles and win. It isn't true and nothing proved it more than the World Series.

At Beverly Lanes

Gutwein has built up a big 11-point bulge in first place in the Parkway Bowling League at Beverly Lanes after a 7-0 blanking of second-place Mills. Dick LaNasa was high with 579, including a big 225 second game. Otto Heimann continued to boost his average with a 561 series after a 210 start. Wally Joern began the night with a 200 on the way to a 560 mark. Glenn Quade scored 559 and Earl Williams 541 with a 209 game. Leon Schroeder recorded a 211 game.

Touchdown City

The worst defense in NFL history belonged to the 1966 New York Giants. In 14 games, the Giants yielded 501 points.

St. Viator Can't Afford Letdown Against Chargers

by JIM COOK

St. Viator head coach Jim Lyne may run out of playing games one at a time, but certainly not out of glory.

It's the oldest formula in the book, but its proven highly successful for the first-year mentor who will be guiding his undefeated Lions in a clash with St. Joseph tonight at Forest View.

A Suburban Catholic Conference championship is still in the dream stages at St. Viator, who has romped to a 3-0 record. There are still some rough roads and hills to climb and neither Lyne nor his Lions dare look past any opponent — especially St. Joe.

The Chargers' offense was potent enough to clip Marian Central, 15-14, completely blow Bishop McNamara off the field, 40-0 and out-hit Carmel, 26-20 in their first three games of the season.

Joe's has been blanked in its last two outings and is hungry to regain its powerful scoring touch. "I thought we did a pretty good job against Notre Dame last week, but our offense didn't produce and we lost (5-0)." Charger coach Don Heldmann said.

The Lions, on the other hand, have been fruitful in sticking points on the board as evidenced by the fact that tailback Joe Bombicino will enter this week's play as the conference's leading scorer with 48 points on eight touchdowns.

"We've seen them play three times," Heldmann said, "and we've been very impressed with Mr. Bombicino. He certainly has a lot of natural ability."

Lyne, of course, is happy with the rapid turn of events, but admits that there is always room for improvement. "We're still looking for better execution and harder hitting. I'd have to agree that we looked a little tired in the first half against (St.) Francis, but the kids just decided to hit in that second half and we were all right."

Charger quarterback Mike Tyrrell, the league's third-leading scorer with 29 points, caught Lyne's attention. "He's a big boy that can scramble and really throw the ball. We look for them to put the ball in the air on a few occasions, but generally, I think they like to stay on the ground."

Lyne will be going with his regular lineup of Mark Ameel and Ralph Kell at ends, Andy Mischuda and Mike Bucaro at tackles, Tim Browning and Kevin Kelly at guards and Ralph Bosch at center. Stan Bobowski will call signals with Joe Bombicino at tailback, Tim O'Connell at fullback and Tom Chapman at flanker back.

A victory tonight will give the Lions four straight triumphs with three left to play — one at a time!

Mustang Roundup Slated Tonight

It will be Mustang Roundup time at Rolling Meadows tonight when Wheeling High School's junior varsity team comes to do battle with the newest school in the Mid-Suburban League.

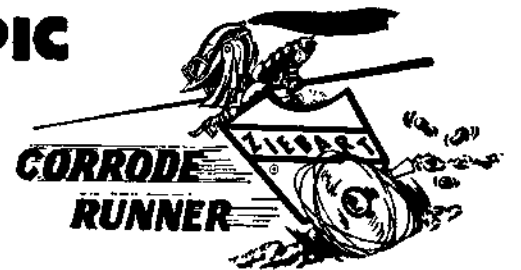

The game, labeled a homecoming without a queen, will begin at 8 p.m.

Angelo Barro, the Mustangs' head coach, calls the Wildcats of Coach Wayne Selvig "plenty tough" and "one of the biggest that we will have played."

Rolling Meadows is 3-2 and Wheeling is 2-3 on the season.

Asked what Conant needs to do to win, Losee said: "Mainly we must get mentally prepared. Then we've got to stop their running game. They rely heavily on it, anyway why not, when they usually gain about 300 yards that way."

He added that he was "very impressed with their quarterback (Jeff Stewart), their fullback (Jim Leopardo), and their line, which opens up some nice holes."

For the record, Stewart rushed 15 times for 115 yards and three touchdowns while Leopardo, the Grenadier workhorse, carried 2 times for 72 yards as Elk Grove rolled up over 300 yards on the ground for the second straight week.

"We've got about five backs that are basically interchangeable as far as ability," Elk Grove coach Don Schnake said. "We've been running pretty well and moving the ball."

Despite what should be an added incentive in the form of a Grenadier homecoming, Schnake, who likes to distinguish between realism and optimism, was quick to add, "This thing isn't over by a long shot." It's not difficult to support his reasoning.

Elk Grove has never had a winning football season since the school's inhe's ready to reap a harvest — like a conference championship?

FREMD AT HERSEY
Along the corridors and out on campus at Hersey High School talk has already begun generating on the third phase of the notorious Arlington-Hersey-Wheeling rivalry, the Wildcat-Huskie battle which will help wind up divisional play in the MSL this fall.

There's no question this will be a game of great importance. And all suppositions and theories about the outcome of the loop's race in the North won't be completely answered until this duel is resolved.

As far as the Huskies are concerned, though, any hypothesis about the pennant chase is an incomplete one — in fact an unworthy one — if it doesn't begin with Fremd.

The Vikings right now lie smack dab in the middle of Hersey's detoured road to the crown. True, the Vikings are 0-3 against MSL competition and winless in two division tries. True, Fremd is the lowest ranking team in either division on the offensive and defensive team statistics lists.

But at the same time it is also a fact that the Huskies have never beaten the Vikings in a varsity football contest.

No one is more aware of Fremd's position than Hersey mentor Jos Gliwa. "Sure, we know the division race is still a tight one and that there's a good chance it will go right down to the wire in our game with Wheeling, but we've got a tough obstacle directly in our way. Our shot at Wheeling won't be worth a box of popcorn unless we get by Fremd."

And for the time being Gliwa isn't even looking at statistics. "Figures don't mean a lot against a team like this. They're opportunists. We know exactly what they're gonna do. They stick to a basic philosophy. They run right at you. They throw a lot of defense at you and they wait. They wait for you to make the mistake."

That sort of a game plan by Fremd nearly got the best of Wheeling last week. The Vikings waited and sure enough the 'Cats made their mistake. It was on a Wheeling field goal attempt and it boomeranged into an 82-yard Viking score.

Fortunately for the Wildcats it came early enough for them to rectify.

"We're not going to allow for that kind of fortune," Gliwa noted. "I've mentioned before that our philosophy is to attack on defense as well as offense... to maintain an aggressive role. This is especially important against a team like Fremd. You just don't want to let them get into the driver's seat."

The Huskies figure to enter this contest with a sound contingent at any rate. "Last week you couldn't move in the training room and we were holding our breath," the mentor chided. "But I saw our trainer Don Von Ebers sneak off early one day this week. That's got to be a good sign."

The biggest concern of Fremd coach Al Ratcliff is "our inability to sustain offense for a period of time" — even though he feels his Vikings are making progress in this regard.

Controlling the ball, Ratcliff says, is what Fremd must do in order to hope to pull an upset. "We have no breakaway backs, but we still will have to have the patience to get the yards gradually."

Of Hersey, the Viking boss remarked, "They're an aggressive, physical team with real good overall size. They haven't scored a whole lot but that doesn't mean their offense isn't effective. It controls the ball a lot, which helps their defense by giving it plenty of rest. That's just what we've got to try to do."

Ratcliff remembers his team upsetting Hersey 15-14 last year and figures the Huskies will have revenge on their minds. He adds, "They'll also probably be remembering their game against Arlington last week (a heartbreaking 14-12 loss). That will have them mad and they'll be trying to take it out on us."

A low-scoring game that could be decided by a break or two seems likely. With their stout defenses, those two teams yield yardage only slowly and grudgingly.

ARLINGTON AT PALATINE
If you talk to Arlington head coach Bob Walker, Palatine sounds like the team to beat in the MSL's North Division.

"Palatine is a team I rated very highly at the beginning of the season," says

Walther of the Coach Arv Horstedt's 2-2-1 club. "Sometimes it's just a matter of breaks or a few points."

The Pirates had quite a few of both last week in disposing of state-ranked Rockford Guilford, 21-6. They seem to have come along a little later in the season than some experts predicted, and ception in 1966. This year, though, the Grenadiers are not only assured of an overall winner, but are a cinch to rewrite their school record book from cover to cover.

Schnake also likes to take first things first. "These guys (Conant) aren't gonna roll over and play dead for us. We know they like to hammer off tackle and when we saw them against Schaumburg, they moved the ball pretty well. That kid Swegles is got a heck of a lot of speed back there and Stenger is also exceptional."

Practice has been rough in the Grenadier camp this week. "It's been so darn hot and it hasn't rained in so long that the fields are all dried out and rock-hard," Schnake said. "I hope we get a break pretty quick."

Schnake is used to long dry spells, although he despises He's been playing the waiting game for three years now and

by AL REZNIK

The Widget Falcons clinched their league title and the Pee Wee Packers and Lions moved a step closer to division crowns last Saturday in football action sponsored by the Hoffman Estates Athletic Association.

Jim Moon's Falcons, the only undefeated, unscored-upon team in Hoffman Estates boys' football, methodically rolled to a 21-0 triumph over the Giants. That moved the Black and Red's record to 5-0 and a three-game edge with one game to play.

In the Pee Wee league, the Packers, coached by Dan Rooney, rolled to their sixth straight victory and a two-game lead in their division with two weeks of play left. Final score was Packers 25, Colts 0.

And in the other Pee Wee division, Al Reznik's Lions bounced back from their only loss of the season to trounce division runnerup Chargers 18-0. The Lions lead the loop by a game and a half with two to play.

Victories by the Packers over the Vikings this week and the Lions over the Rams will wrap up division titles for the teams and set up a rematch in the championship game on Nov. 6.

From the second play of the game, when scatback Marty Pugh burst 45 yards for a touchdown, there was little doubt that the Falcons would roll to another victory.

Pugh, who led the Falcons' devastating ground game with 90 yards, scored another touchdown in the second period, this one from nine yards out. A Chris Moon-to-Mike Curran 18-yard pass gave the winners their final TD, and Curran accounted for two more points via a safety.

The lone extra point of the day was made on a run by Fernando Carabella.

The Falcons gained 218 yards during the afternoon, with Mike Daley joining Pugh as a work-horse runner with 50 yards gained. The Giants, meanwhile, were held to a net gain of five yards.

Credit for yeomen work on offense goes to linemen Tom Hillman and Bill Schenk, both of whom did some key blocking.

Leading the way on defense were Tom Durkin with two fumble recoveries, a recovery each by Daley and Don Lawrence, and Steve Hillman, with a pass interception. Paul Leonard also was credited with some outstanding defensive work.

Like the Falcons, the Packers scored early — and often.

The Pack took the opening kickoff and marched right down the field to a TD, scored by Dion Rooney. The Colts, hampered all afternoon by fumbles, bobbled the following kickoff, Packer Dean Stone recovering. Just three plays later, Chris Myers ran in for a six-pointer.

Another fumble and a pass interception provided turnovers which led to the Packers' final two touchdowns. The third score came in the first period on a 24-yard reverse run by Casey Moore. The final six-pointer came in the second period, a 21-yard scamper by Ken Anderson.

The Packers then filled the field with reserves and, as Coach Rooney said, "We tried nine times to get our 46-pound mini-back Andy Conway a touchdown but each time the Colt defense dug in and held."

Rooney also reported his "Fearsome Foursome" of Conway, Ross Aseron, Doug Anderson and Bill Hillman, the heaviest of whom is 52 pounds, turned in an outstanding effort. Other game standouts for the winners were Phil Grajek, Steve Conway, Dave Farr, Bill Gill, Kurt Semrick and Steve York.

Lions' Coach Reznik credited his squad with "their best all-around effort" of the year as they had all the better of it in the decisive 18-0 win over the Chargers. The Lions unveiled a pin-point passing attack in, as Reznik said, "the game we had to win," and with a hard-running ground game, turned what figured to be a close contest into a lopsided victory.

The Lions made two offensive changes during the week preceding the game — and both paid off handsomely. Mitch Reznik, normally the team's quarterback, turned up at left halfback, and Chris Curran, the team's left half, switched to the signal-calling spot. From there, the Lions unleashed a keenly-executed ground and air game, Curran pitching a pair of touchdown passes and Reznik leading the rushers with 42 yards. In all, the Lions rushed for 101 yards Satisfaction.

Probably the single most important reason why a wise car buyer selects one dealership over all the others.

Like satisfaction in knowing that a large, professional service organization is ready to help you, now! Not "maybe next Thursday."

Or, like the satisfaction you get in being treated as a valued customer by people who are genuinely interested in keeping you as a friend.

The Elk Grove-Forest View slugfest last weekend turned out to be just as heated a battle as it was billed to be. And the verdict proved just as narrow as predicted by the Herald Consensus.

The result also turned out to be the undoing of half the Herald staff, who had pegged the Falcons to win, and it cost Dauntless Dan one of those rare weeks of perfect prognostication.

Old Dauntless didn't have to be discouraged by the end result though. His 10-of-11 mark coupled with a wretched 6-for-11 effort by the leading member of our peerless alignment — Fearless Fred — shot Dan into the top position.

Dauntless is currently hitting the correct outcomes at a torrid 75 per cent clip.

This weekend just about everybody could show an improvement on their record. Barring upsets, the only cliff-hangers are the Notre Dame-Holy Cross and Glenbard North-Schaumburg disputes along with possibly the Palatine-Arlington and Forest View-Prospect matches where possibly the favorites figure to be down after hard fought rivalries last week.

Wheeling Plays Outside League

by KEITH REINHARD

The Central Suburban league and its football representatives haven't exactly been Wheeling's cup of tea over the years.

The Wildcats roll out the regal carpet for New Trier West Saturday evening as their turn comes up to break away momentarily from Mid-Suburban league action. The Cowboys are the seventh member of what is now the CSL to do battle with the 'Cats on the gridiron since 1964.

Wheeling does not have a winning record against any of them.

It might be pointed out that the Wildcats played several of these outfits ... Glenbrook North and South, Deerfield and Maine West when they also were members of the MSL back in its formative years. Wheeling came into the circuit in '64 as a three-class school and got hammered by everyone for a good while so it isn't really distressing that their lifetime mark against CSL foes is a rather puny 2-15.

At any rate Jack Liljeberg's club has a tailor-made situation to kick away at that lopsided ledger. Last year's Central Suburban champs, NTW has slumped off this fall to an 8-4 mark in conference play while yielding nearly 25 points per game.

They'll also be playing their first night game ever.

Cowboy coach Bob Naughton is not really discouraged over the turn of events this season. "We have only three kids back from last year's team and were playing a lot of juniors this season. Eight of 11 youngsters on both our offensive and defensive units are underclassmen. We just have to go along with them while they're gaining experience."

Naughton also pointed out that in four contests his team has really had only one long sustained drive against them end up in the scoring column. "We seem to play good defense about 90 per cent of the time ... and then the roof caves in on us."

That would seem to be just what Liljeberg and company are looking for since their specialty is breaking off the big gainer. The 'Cat helmetsman is skeptical however. "Remember this team opened with a whopping victory over Fremd and we had a little difficulty holding in the Vikings. New Trier has had their troubles but I think they can be dangerous. We don't plan on taking them lightly in any case."

and picked up another 117 yards on nine pass completions, all by Curran, in 15 attempts.

Fullback Dick Dean added another 38 yards to the Lions ground attack and scored his first touchdown of the year on an 11 yard off-tackle burst, while end Steve Eljer worked the end-around twice for 15 yards.

Three of Curran's completions went to right end Bob Nykaza, one a 15-yard six-pointer, three more went to Reznik, a pair went to Eljer, and the other completion, the picture-play of the day, gave the Lions their opening score. It came on a beautifully executed fly-pattern pass to halfback Hugh Hannon, good for 37 yards.

Lions' defensive coach Tim Hannon called the defensive effort "superb;" it held the Chargers to 27 rushing yards in 39 tries and two yards in the air. Scott "Bozo" Dust led the way for the Lions with 13 solo tackles and seven assists. Middle guard Ray Hagen added nine tackles and three assists, while safety Reznik accounted for six and six. Offensive linemen turning in solid efforts were Bill Zrelak, Scott Crutchfield, and Chris Haerter.

The Chargers face the Saints this week.

Dick Russo's Saints won their second game of the season in convincing style, drubbing the Rams, 19-6. En route, the Saints rushed for 135 yards, while holding the Eisenhower Rams to 52 net yards, 27 of them on the ground, 25 in the air on a last-quarter touchdown pass.

Quarterback Carver Cavish accounted for two of the Saints' touchdowns, both on two-yard sneaks — and both came after long, sustained Saints marches. After the second TD, halfback Ricky Russo plowed over for an extra point. The Saints final six points came in the third period, on a 15-yard burst by Jim Murphy.

The Rams' TD came late in the final quarter on a pass from Dave Circle to John Zahillelska.

Coach Russo cited middle linebacker Len Murphy for outstanding play; he racked up six unassisted tackles and helped on two others.

In the other Pee Wee game, the Bears and Vikings locked horns in a fierce defensive game, with the Bears squeaking through to a 7-0 victory.

The first half was played mostly inside the Bears' 30-yard line, with the Vikings threatening to score on three different occasions. Twice the tough Bears defense held, the third time the Vikes fumbled inside the one-yard line.

Hero again this week for the Bears was razzle-dazzle halfback Bret Mueller. This time, midway in the third period, he turned left end on a fake punt and tight-rope down the sideline for a 65-yard touchdown scamper. Steve Bregant cracked off tackle for the extra point.

Defensive standouts for the winners, according to Coach Frank Vlasaty, were John Wecker, Steve Bregant, Terry McCoy, and defensive ends Gary Kemnitz and John Connell. Special praise was given John Wecker for some outstanding punting.

Vikes Coach Dennis Curtin singled out Craig Solvie for some fine offensive play, and defensive work from George Theron, Chris Holman, Kevin Becker and Jeff Lassen.

The Bears face the Colts this Saturday. Back in the Widget division, the Browns, keyed by Kim Pye and a ball-hawking secondary, kept the Chiefs from scoring until the offense took over and eventually ground out two touchdowns and a 14-0 victory.

The win gave the Browns a 2-3 record, the same as the Chiefs, who now have lost three straight.

After a scoreless, defensive first half, Browns quarterback Brian Eld followed an 11-yard completion to Ray Powell by sending Powell bursting into the end zone on the next play.

The Browns scored a safety when Jim Pye trapped the Chiefs punter in the end zone; then, with four minutes to play, Dan Kaley dashed 44 yards to paydirt.

Leading the Chiefs in defeat was hard-hitting Tom O'Neil.

way his outside linebackers have failed to shut off the opposition. Flanking Mike Prafke, an outstanding middle linebacker tonight will be two of three outside men — Bill Welton, Greg Waitland or Jim Locascio.

Besides Prafke, doing a tremendous job on defense is Dave Kubik, according to Walther.

"If you can believe it," says Walther, "Kubik made 24 tackles in this last ball game. He's really something."

Arlington, now 4-1, will be looking to improve its offensive balance this week. Terry Ormsbee, a potential all-state quarterback, only passed for 40 yards against Hersey while the running game accounted for 114. Although Ormsbee has a fine arm, he hasn't had a truly big passing night this season. The Pirate secondary could receive its toughest test yet if this senior signalcaller is on.

Herstedt is fully aware of this, saying Ormsbee's passing is what he is most worried about. He adds, "They have two flurrunning threats too in Welton and (Steve) Frankovic. They're explosive yet consistent from game to game."

Palatine came closest of any team to upsetting last year's undefeated, awe-some Cardinals. The Pirates, heavy under-dogs, lost that one 18-14 after taking a 14-6 lead into the last quarter.

Herstedt says, "That game is still very much on our minds" and feels it will be a good motivating force.

The coach saw marked improvement in last week's win, saying, "Our fundamentals were better." But he added, "We need to put together four good quarters instead of two. We'd like a better first half. We didn't take advantage of all their (Rockford's) mistakes and missed two good scoring opportunities."

"But the fumbles they made were not just luck. We forced them by really sticking the ball carriers. Our defense should be commended for a real hard-hitting game." He singled out defensive back Steve Garoutte, linebacker Bill Faul, end Mark Kelling and Craig Rad-dats, who he described as "steady."

Herstedt concluded by saying, "We're still hungry. We had a bad start in the league and need a league win. We're too good to be 0-2 (in the MSL)."

FOREST VIEW AT PROSPECT

"We're just honest with them and telling them that, in our opinion, Conant could very well knock them (Elk Grove) off," says Forest View head coach Paul Jordan in explaining how he and his coaching staff are attempting to get the Falcons "up" after the 23-22 loss to the Grenadiers.

"I just told them, 'You know we could still have a good season, the best season Forest View ever had — 7-1.' The best season so far has been 6-2. We feel like our kids are good kids and they'll have a lot of pride."

With that, the Falcons must take on a very dangerous Prospect team that is celebrating homecoming and fresh from a very impressive 21-12 romp over Glen-bard North. Both teams are tied for second place with 2-1 records in the South Division of the MSL. Another loss by either team would take away any chances of finishing in first place, should the Grenadiers falter.

The Knights must stop Mike "The Mighty Mite" Pryor. The conference's lead-ing rusher (586 yards) needs just one yard to smash the overall single season rushing record of 650 yards by Pat Dun-nigan in 1965. Pryor, a 5-8, 160 tailback, did the job against the Grove with 118 yards and is averaging 131.6 over the first five games. If he keeps up this pace, he could have a shot at all-state honors.

"I saw them play the first game against Barrington and our scouts saw them against Glenbard North and we were pretty impressed," said Jordan. "It will be a tough one for us. One of their offensive tackles (Bruce Brower) is the best they've seen this year."

Brower also drew the praise of his own coach Don Williams after the Glenbard rout. "We ran 34 running plays against Glenbard and 21 went to Brower's side. Tite scored twice and Spaccapan once through the holes in his position. He just likes to hit everyone and we feel he's the best we've seen so far."

The Knights are also clinging to the faint hope that Elk Grove fizzles in both of its final two games. "This game is very important for us," Williams said. "We need it not only to keep the pressure on Elk Grove, but we feel that we still have a chance to play Arlington in the playoffs. They'll always be our natural rivals."

Prospect will have to turn the trick without the services of center Bob Hor-wath, who was operated on Monday to remove a cyst on his elbow and to re-pair a ruptured tendon, or tight end Rob Zimmanck who tore ligaments in his leg. Both blue-chip starters are out for the rest of the season.

The signal-calling spot is also a prob-lem for Williams. He's left the quar-terback position up for grabs for the second straight week, unable to decide on either Jim Johannesen, Tom Gattas or soph-omore Paul Obuchowski.

"We've certainly seen a lot of Pryor, (Don) Divito and (Dave) Schneider to know they have to be reckoned with. Forest View likes to go off-tackle on you. If you let them run on you, they don't have to pass, which I think they don't like to do anyway," Williams said.

"We've just played what has to be con-sidered our best ball game this year," Williams said. "We're going to need an even better one against Forest View."

world on fire in their inaugural cam-paign, losing their first five contests. But who would know better about growing pains than the Panthers, who dropped 11 in a row when they first went into oper-ation and went no less than 17 games — over two full seasons — before recording their first genuine victory.

Bob Ferguson's crew will not be look-ing for sympathy Saturday, however, when GBN comes to town. They'll be looking for a victory. And the Saxon coach feels this could be the best oppor-tunity his club has had yet this season to achieve that wish.

"They're a pretty big team but I think we've got an excellent chance of beating them," Ferguson commented. "I'm con-fident our defense will hold them in pretty well and I believe we can both run and pass on them. Getting the ball across the goal line might be a different story . . . we've had our difficulties . . . but the kids should be just about due to break loose a little bit offensively."

Actually, Schaumburg will almost have to break loose Saturday if they want to escape the cellar bowl game at the end of the season which will pit the last place team in the south division of the MSL against the jayvee unit from Rolling Meadows.

After Glenbard, the Saxons will have an awfully tough test on their hands with circuit leading Elk Grove. A setback this weekend could conceivably have Schaumburg still in quest of win number one going into the playoffs.

The Panthers meanwhile, while not un-sympathetic, have every reason to wish Schaumburg's losing streak be extended at least one more week. And GBN helms-man Don Elmore likes his team's chances, too.

"We should be as ready as we've been all season. We've had more than our share of injuries this fall and this week is the first when the whole team's been ready to go."

Last week the Panthers played without the services of their number one running back Mike Gazzola and standout lineman Larry Lubbs. Both are expected to start this Saturday and several others on the injury list will also be suiting up.

In fact about the only Panther not playing will be quarterback Dave Law-ler, who's been out the entire season. When he pulled up lame before the season opened, however, Elmore brought in Daryl Feltes, a tackle converted to full-back who now rates as the biggest, youngest signal caller in the league at 6-2 and 280 pounds.

Feltes, who is just a sophomore, will be matching wits with another youngster in Dave Hill, Schaumburg's own soph field general. Thus Saturday's match could provide a lot of unexpected hap-penings on both sides.

As Elmore put it, "They're basically a good team but they make mistakes and we're hoping to take advantage of them."

Bob Ferguson couldn't have said it any better.

A Volkswagen guarantee doesn't have to guarantee a Volkswagen.

Any used car that's tough enough to pass VW's 16-point inspection deserves a VW guarantee. No matter how big it is.

You see, a VW guarantee isn't a 50/50 deal, but our full 100% guarantee to repair or replace all major mechanical working parts* for 30 days or 1000 miles. Whichever comes first.

So before we guarantee a big used car, we make sure it's as tough as our little car.

Here are some big cars who are tough enough:

Familiar Story; Harper Tackles A Ranked College

by PAUL LOGAN
Triton College lost its football opener to Marshalltown (12-7), an Iowa team ranked in the national top 20 poll. Then the Warriors were tied by another Iowa school ranked No. 3 — Elsworth (16-16).

Since that tough start Jim Harkema's team has had three straight lopsided victories. Harkema should be charged with a felony because of the massacres, according to Harper College head coach John Eliasik.

"He's murdered everybody else," says Eliasik with much respect. "He's got the best material of any one Junior college team that I've ever seen."

The loaded Warriors, ranked in the top 20 for the first time this week, will invade Harper's home field — Fremd High School's stadium — Saturday night at 7:30. The Hawks, 1-4 on the year, will be facing the third team that has been ranked in the national poll this year.

The River Grove based school has clubbed Prairie State 33-0, Thornton 42-0 and Rock Valley 28-7. Offensively speaking, the Warriors are led by Mike Thorn and Walter Debbs, both averaging 100 yards or better a game. When told that Debbs should be starting his first game since an injury two games before, Eliasik had this to say:

"He's unreal. God is really smiling down on me. He's a helluva runner. Put those two guys in the backfield and they've got something going for him."

The Warriors are averaging close to 250 yards rushing and about 50 passing a game. Meanwhile, the defense has been holding the competition to under 100 yards total offense.

"We'll be bigger than Harper but that will be the first team we've played other than Prairie State that's been smaller than us," says Harkema, who also considers his team the best in the state. "No doubt about it. We feel we are. But we've got to continue to prove it."

Triton didn't play the tough schedule in its opening season (1970) as Harper is doing this year and chalked up a very respectable 4-3-1 mark. Harkema praised Harper for its solid showing despite a 1-4 record.

"They're a very respectable team for a first year squad. Although they're small on defense, they're very quick. I feel we've really got to play well to beat them."

Eliasik analyzed the magical formula for the big upset:

"In the games I've seen them play, when an opponent makes a mistake they almost immediately capitalize on it. I think we could give them a good game if we don't give them easy points."

Harkema is concerned with the Harper triple option — an offense his team hasn't seen so far this year. Keying the option is quarterback Ken Leonard, improving all the time according to Eliasik, and halfback Rich Posinger, who paced the Hawk attack last week with 53 rushing and 55 receiving yards.

Packers Keep Rolling In Midget Grid Action

by DICK WEAVER

A beautiful Indian summer day and football at its finest — a perfect combination, and just what the Mount Prospect Midget Football Association fans were served up Sunday at Lions Park.

SENIOR DIVISION

The ever-improving Lions blanked the Bears 13-0 as QB Gary Raedy figured in all of his team's scoring with two aerials to end Dan Kunkle for a 30 yard TD and a point after, and an eight yard TD sweep.

The defeated but game Bears were led by Eric Bauer, who blocked well for the runs of Rick Lewis and the passes of Lou Citro. Jeff Lauer made tackles all over the field as Dave Wall blocked a punt and Eric Larson recovered two fumbles.

The powerful Packers kept rolling with a 14-0 victory over the Colts. Halfback Tim Davies scored the first touchdown off tackle on a beautifully faked handoff from QB Jim O'Rourke. End Jim O'Brien scored the clincher on a pass play in the second quarter.

The Giants stayed in title contention with a 24-12 triumph over a spirited Cardinal eleven. Jarrin' Jim Vartanian tallied twice on a ten yard sweep and an 80 yard pass play. QB Gary Wright got outstanding pass blocking from center Phil Bono on scoring strikes to ends Steve Coskey and Mike Oldenburg.

Cardinal quarterback Jim Petran lofted a 25 yard pass to flanker Greg Gatto for the first score, and cornerback Tim Dooley recovered a fumble in the end zone for the second six pointer.

JUNIOR DIVISION

The Vikings came from behind to down the 49ers 12-6 as guards Chip Brunner and Tim Doyle provided the fierce blocking up front on halfback Mike Jennings' three yard scoring clincher in the third period. Earlier, center Jack White had recovered a fumble in the end zone to tie the score.

An inspired 49er squad put a real scare in the Vikings with QB Chip Crooks scoring on a one yard sneak in the second period. The 49er offensive team, which was led by Bob Cantieri, Bob Lopotko and John Kriescher was down on the opponents' one yard line as the game ended.

Hard running Jeff Rozwood scored seven points on a three yard plunge and a point after as the Chiefs beat the Rams 13-6. Fullback Tom Smith scored the deciding TD on a 12 yard run for Head Coach Tony Falduto's charges.

Fullback Luke Hardt tallied the lone TD for the inspired but hard-luck Rams.

Fullback Tim Hardt tallied the lone TD for the inspired but hard-luck Rams.

Fullback Tim Gosch sprinted for over 100 yards as the Browns edged the Jets 6-0. Gosch recorded the only points of the game with his second period scamper.

The Redskins recorded their first win with an 18-6 victory over the Raiders

Matt DeKoatz scored on a 42 yard run and threw a 25 yard strike to end Jeff Gibson. QB Steve Ford tallied on a six yard run behind the blocking of Tom Brothers, Mike Skoog and Brad Hiller. DeKoatz had a halfmark day with 133 yards total offense.

Head Coach George Kruty's Raider squad scored on a 40 yard fake punt pass from Ed Hendron to Doug Shattuck.

The charging Cowboys nipped the Falcons 13-12 as Glen Wilke and Geoff McBride scored on plunges in the first half. End Mike Frushour converted the all important PAT. Mike Laterno intercepted three passes and middle guard John Touhy prevented both extra points by the opponents.

The Falcons struck with force in the second half with scores by center Howie Doan on a ten yard punt recovery and end Dave Marofsky on a 38 yard pass reception from Bill Bufton.

The Steelers were victimized by head coach Ed Fandel's flying Eagles, 26-6. QB Bill Miller scored 12 points on runs of 47 and 55 yards. Joe Pusatira and Jeff Patterson each added a TD and a PAT. Steeler tailback Jeff Martinski's 58 yard aerial to Tim Dixon set up Dennis Robbins' scoring plunge in the second period.

BANTAM DIVISION

Rich "Quicksilver" Kooler ripped off over 100 yards to lead the terrorizing Tigers to a 12-0 triumph over a stubborn Wolverine team, on two TD aerial missiles via Keith "Dead Eye" Davis for 35 and 28 yards.

Spartan back Bob Slowinski scored on the last play of the game to tie the Hawkeys 6-6. Pat Ruane intercepted a pass to set up the TD. Scotty Wright scampered for a third quarter Hawks touchdown on a 28 yard sprint. He also helped crunching Curt Calas spearhead the tough defensive unit.

The "cream of the Bantam Division" Boismakers out-duelled the Illini 18-7. Chuck Arredia went into the end zone on a 20 yard sweep. Mike Burd found paydirt on a two yard plunge and Bruce Jacobs tallied on (would you believe) a 50 yard quarterback sneak.

Steve Santostafano scored all seven of the Illini points on the ground.

Halfback Jim Brady scored twice behind the devastating blocks of Tom Murphy and Hugh Wade as the boomun' Badgers chalked up their first win 19-9 over the Wildcats. A Jim Nugebauer to Bill Dooley 42 yard TD pass iced the cake, with Adam Grosch converting.

Scoring for the never-say-die Wildcat eleven were Mike DiPatta on a TD pass from Jim Grier and Bob Cherwin and Jerry Morin who tackled an enemy ball carrier in the end zone for a safety.

The vastly improved Bruins beat the Buckeyes 13-6. Backs Steven Anderskow and Steve Frank swept the end for six pointers, and Mark Lee added the 13th point.

Linebacker Steve Fandel scooped up a fumble and ran it back 15 yards for the Buckeyes' only score.

The title threatening Gophers shut out the Hoosiers 38-0. Tony Falduto racked up 13 points on two TD runs and a point after. Dan Dowejko tallied a TD and a PAT on the ground and Matt O'Callaghan found the double stripe on a one yard plunge. Tim Maloney was all over the field as he returned a kickoff for a score, recorded a safety and added two conversions.

Hoffman Titans, Lancers Post Triumphs

The Titans and Lancers of the Hoffman Estates Boys Club both won their games played Sunday at Bloomingdale against the Bears Widgeot and Junior teams.

The Titans romped to a 28-6 victory in the first game, taking command early in the game when Scott Schaffer sneaked over for the first score from the one-yard line. The second touchdown came when Dan Kaufman went between end and tackle and dashed six yards into the end zone. Bloomingdale then came up with its only score, surprising the Titans on a 7-yard quarterback sneak.

The second half was all Titans. Early in the third quarter, Kaufman again drove over left guard for his second score and Schaffer scored the extra point. Bill Bartuch accounted for the final TD with Mark Burish getting the final point on a pass from Schaffer. Head coach Ed Cyrler and assistants Doc Markgraf, Bob Hill, Tony Stompanato and Bob Miskolc saw that the entire Titan team got in some action during the rest of the game. Terry Somphias, though not scoring, gained valuable yardage throughout the game as did Tim O'Toole. The coaches named Mike Rellie, John Kerr, Scott Miller, Steve Cyrler, Dale McCullough, Jack Welsh and Mark Barisch as standouts on offense.

In the second game, the Boys Club Lancers played their most exciting game of the season in a contest marred by penalties but won by the Hoffman Estates team, 13-12.

Wayne Jackson was in fine form, passing for two touchdowns and one extra point which proved decisive. He completed eight of 11 passes for 148 yards. The TD throws were caught by Bill DiPuma and Steve Stompanato. Jackson hit DiPuma for four receptions for 73 yards and Frank Gurecki for two catches for 50 yards.

The Lancers' defense held the Bears to 140 yards and staged three rousing goal-line stands. Joe Parille and Tom Kotovsky recovered fumbles and Rick Lindow intercepted a pass.

The victory gave the Lancers a 2-2-1 record.

Next week the two Hoffman teams will travel to Hanover Park. The following week will be the third annual Bowl game between the villages of Schaumburg and Hoffman Estates when the Titans and Lancers meet the Widgeot and Junior Mavericks at Conant High School's field. Two trophies will be at stake.

Normally this game is a featured highlight after the regular season but this year will be the first time the teams will meet in league play.

At Beverly

Bette Hennessey of the Mustangs had a 518 scratch series and a 605 with handicap to lead the Mustangs in the Elks Ladies Auxiliary Bowling League at Beverly Lanes. The Mustangs are tied with three other teams for second behind the league leading Chargers. Tied with the Mustangs are the Roadrunners, Dusters and Cougars. Scoring 200 games with handicap were Bette Hennessey (228), Evelyn Miles (225), Connie Zordon (219), Alice Froula (216), Evelyn Wilkins (216), Rita Plunkett (211), Claire Mae Miller (209), Betty McKinley (207), Joyce Stade (206), Bev Smith (203), Pat Ramieri (202) and Pat Greener (201).

Colt Defense Rings Bell

The World Champion Baltimore Colts boasted one of the tightest defensive units in the league, yet even champs have their troubles. On Oct. 18, Ed Bell of the New York Jets caught 12 passes for 151 yards against the Colts to register the best NFL performance of the season.

At Striking Lanes

A husband-and-wife team currently have the highest averages in the Randwood Mixed Bowling League. Helen Zylstra leads the women with a 146 average and Gene Zylstra is atop the men's list with a 187 standard. Helen was also the hottest women's scratch bowler in recent action with a 478 series and 178 game, while best handicap scores for the ladies were Gloria Hayner's 633 and Alice Zeller's 237. In the men's department, top scratch scores were Walt Munn's 522 series and Ed Ridgeway's 234 game. Leading handicap totals were Don Lee's 646 series and Ridgeway's 272 game.

At Rolling Meadows

Marvette Ballou, bowling for the Venus team, came up with an outstanding 589 series after games of 227, 196, and 161 in the Thors Thunderbusts League at Rolling Meadows Bowl. Nancy Nelson also for Venus, rolled a 474 series while carrying a 115 average into the action. Bobbie Thomas rolled a 518 with a 211 high game. Grete Miles had a 501 and Peggy Jackson a 189 game. Team high series went to Venus with 1943 and the same squad had high game of 665.

Big Red Rusher

NEW YORK (UPI) — Ed Maruaro of Cornell was the 1970 major college rushing champion with an average of 158.3 yards a game for 1,425 yards in nine games.

RETAIL PRO

who's Got What It Takes
If you've got it, we'll give you the break you've been seeking: the chance to be the sparkplug of our national dealer advertising program, working for an old firm with exciting new ideas in the franchise dealership scene.

What it takes is 2-3 years hard-goods advertising experience. The vision to plan. The ability to organize. The creativity to write. The communications skills to deal with top management, graphic arts suppliers and fellow workers.

If you've got it, put it down on paper and send it, along with salary requirements, to:

MR. RONALD J. HOPLEY

OPPORTUNITY!

We are a sound and expanding company that specializes in Super-Market floor maintenance and sanitation. Would you like to exchange some hard work and common sense for an opportunity to grow with the most outstanding company in this field. As we grow we need new people. All of our management positions are filled by those who have actually started by cleaning Super-Market floors. We pay well and provide excellent fringe benefits for our employees. We have immediate openings in ELK GROVE, DES PLAINES and ARLINGTON HTS. No experience is necessary, in fact we prefer to train people in our unique program. We require people who are completely dependable, who have reliable transportation and who are bondable. Our work is almost completely night work. Most of our openings are for full time employees, however, we do have a few openings for part time employees.

For a personal interview Please Call Mr. M. A. Paulson 359-4850, between 5 & 8 p.m. At No Other Time, Please

JAY ALLEN

It all went off like clockwork

If any producers of upcoming awards shows are looking for the format to use insuring a comfortable pace and viewer interest, they should take a look at the recent NBC Country Music Awards Show telecast live from Nashville.

The Sunday night program earlier this month was a perfect example of what can be accomplished, if the master of ceremonies, performers and award presenters get together. Add to this a consistency in spot advertisements, such as those produced by Kraft Foods (who bought the entire C&W program), and an awards show can be downright interesting.

Tennessee Ernie Ford

Tennessee Ernie Ford displayed a "get on with the program" approach to the show, and didn't mess around with a lot of small talk so evident in some awards shows. The end result was a fast-moving, colorful and very interesting musical evening. Even if you weren't a real country-western fan.

* * * * *

Kraft, by the way, has been announced as the sole sponsor of a musical-variety salute to the "days before Christmas" to be hosted by songster Perry Como in December.

The program, tentatively titled by NBC programmers as "Perry Como and his 16 Shopping Days Until Christmas," is set to be broadcast in the 7-8 p.m. time slot in Chicagoland on Thursday, Dec. 9.

This is the time of the year, between early November and the after-Christmas period, for a wealth of television specials. Most are well worthwhile, and it's a wise idea to scan your TV TIME for various announcements of such specials.

* * * * *

What used to be called "First Tuesday" won't be anymore, if for no better reason than it will not be telecast on that day from now on. Starting Oct. 22, a switch to Friday nights, the NBC news and public affairs program will be seen on the Fourth Friday of each subsequent month.

Garrick Utley

Tabbed "Chronolog," the program will continue to be hosted by newsman Garrick Utley, who warned viewers not to "go looking in a dictionary for 'chronolog,' because it's a new word, and our program will have a new look."

zok.

* * * * *

If you don't like violence on TV, by all means don't watch "Roller Derby," aired on Sunday evenings on Chicago's WFLD-TV, Channel 32.

The syndicated show—which usually originates out of the San Francisco or Los Angeles area—is a classic case of how a "fun-filled" sports show is disguised and is really a slug-'em, and hit-'em, and bite-'em free-for-all.

It seems rather ironic, almost hypocritical, that those who scream for less violence on situation-drama type programs don't say a thing about "Roller Derby." This game makes action on the football field (yes, even with men like Super Crunch Dick Butkus) look like a tea party for 10-year-olds.

ON THE COVER: Brandon Cruz stars as Eddie in the ABC Television Network's comedy series, "The Courtship of Eddie's Father," which began its third season.

Could you please tell me how old Elizabeth Montgomery of BEWITCHED is and where I can write to her?

—U.N.
Arlington Heights

ANSWER:

Miss Montgomery is 38. Write to her in care of ABC, 1330 Avenue of the Americas, New York, N.Y. 10019.

I am a horror fan. I would like to know what happened to the old horror flicks like "King Kong," "Frankenstein," "Godzilla," etc.

—Mark Olsson
Arlington Heights

ANSWER:

They're still around, although now they are being shown more in horror film festivals than on television. If you mean why don't they make 'em like that any more, the answer is: who knows?

This is the second time I've written to you. HERE'S LUCY is one of my favorite programs. I would like to know how many series she's made.

Also, whatever happened to Desi Arnaz? How old is he? How old is Lucille Ball? How old are her children?

IS William Frawley dead? What happened to Vivian Vance?

—I.D.
Arlington Heights

ANSWER:

Lucille Ball has really made only two series, although her latest run on CBS has seen a number of format changes in the show, including the introduction of her children and the departure of Vivian Vance, among others.

Miss Ball was 60 years old this year. Her former husband Desi Arnaz, is 54. Their two children, Lucie and Desi, Jr., are 20 and 18.

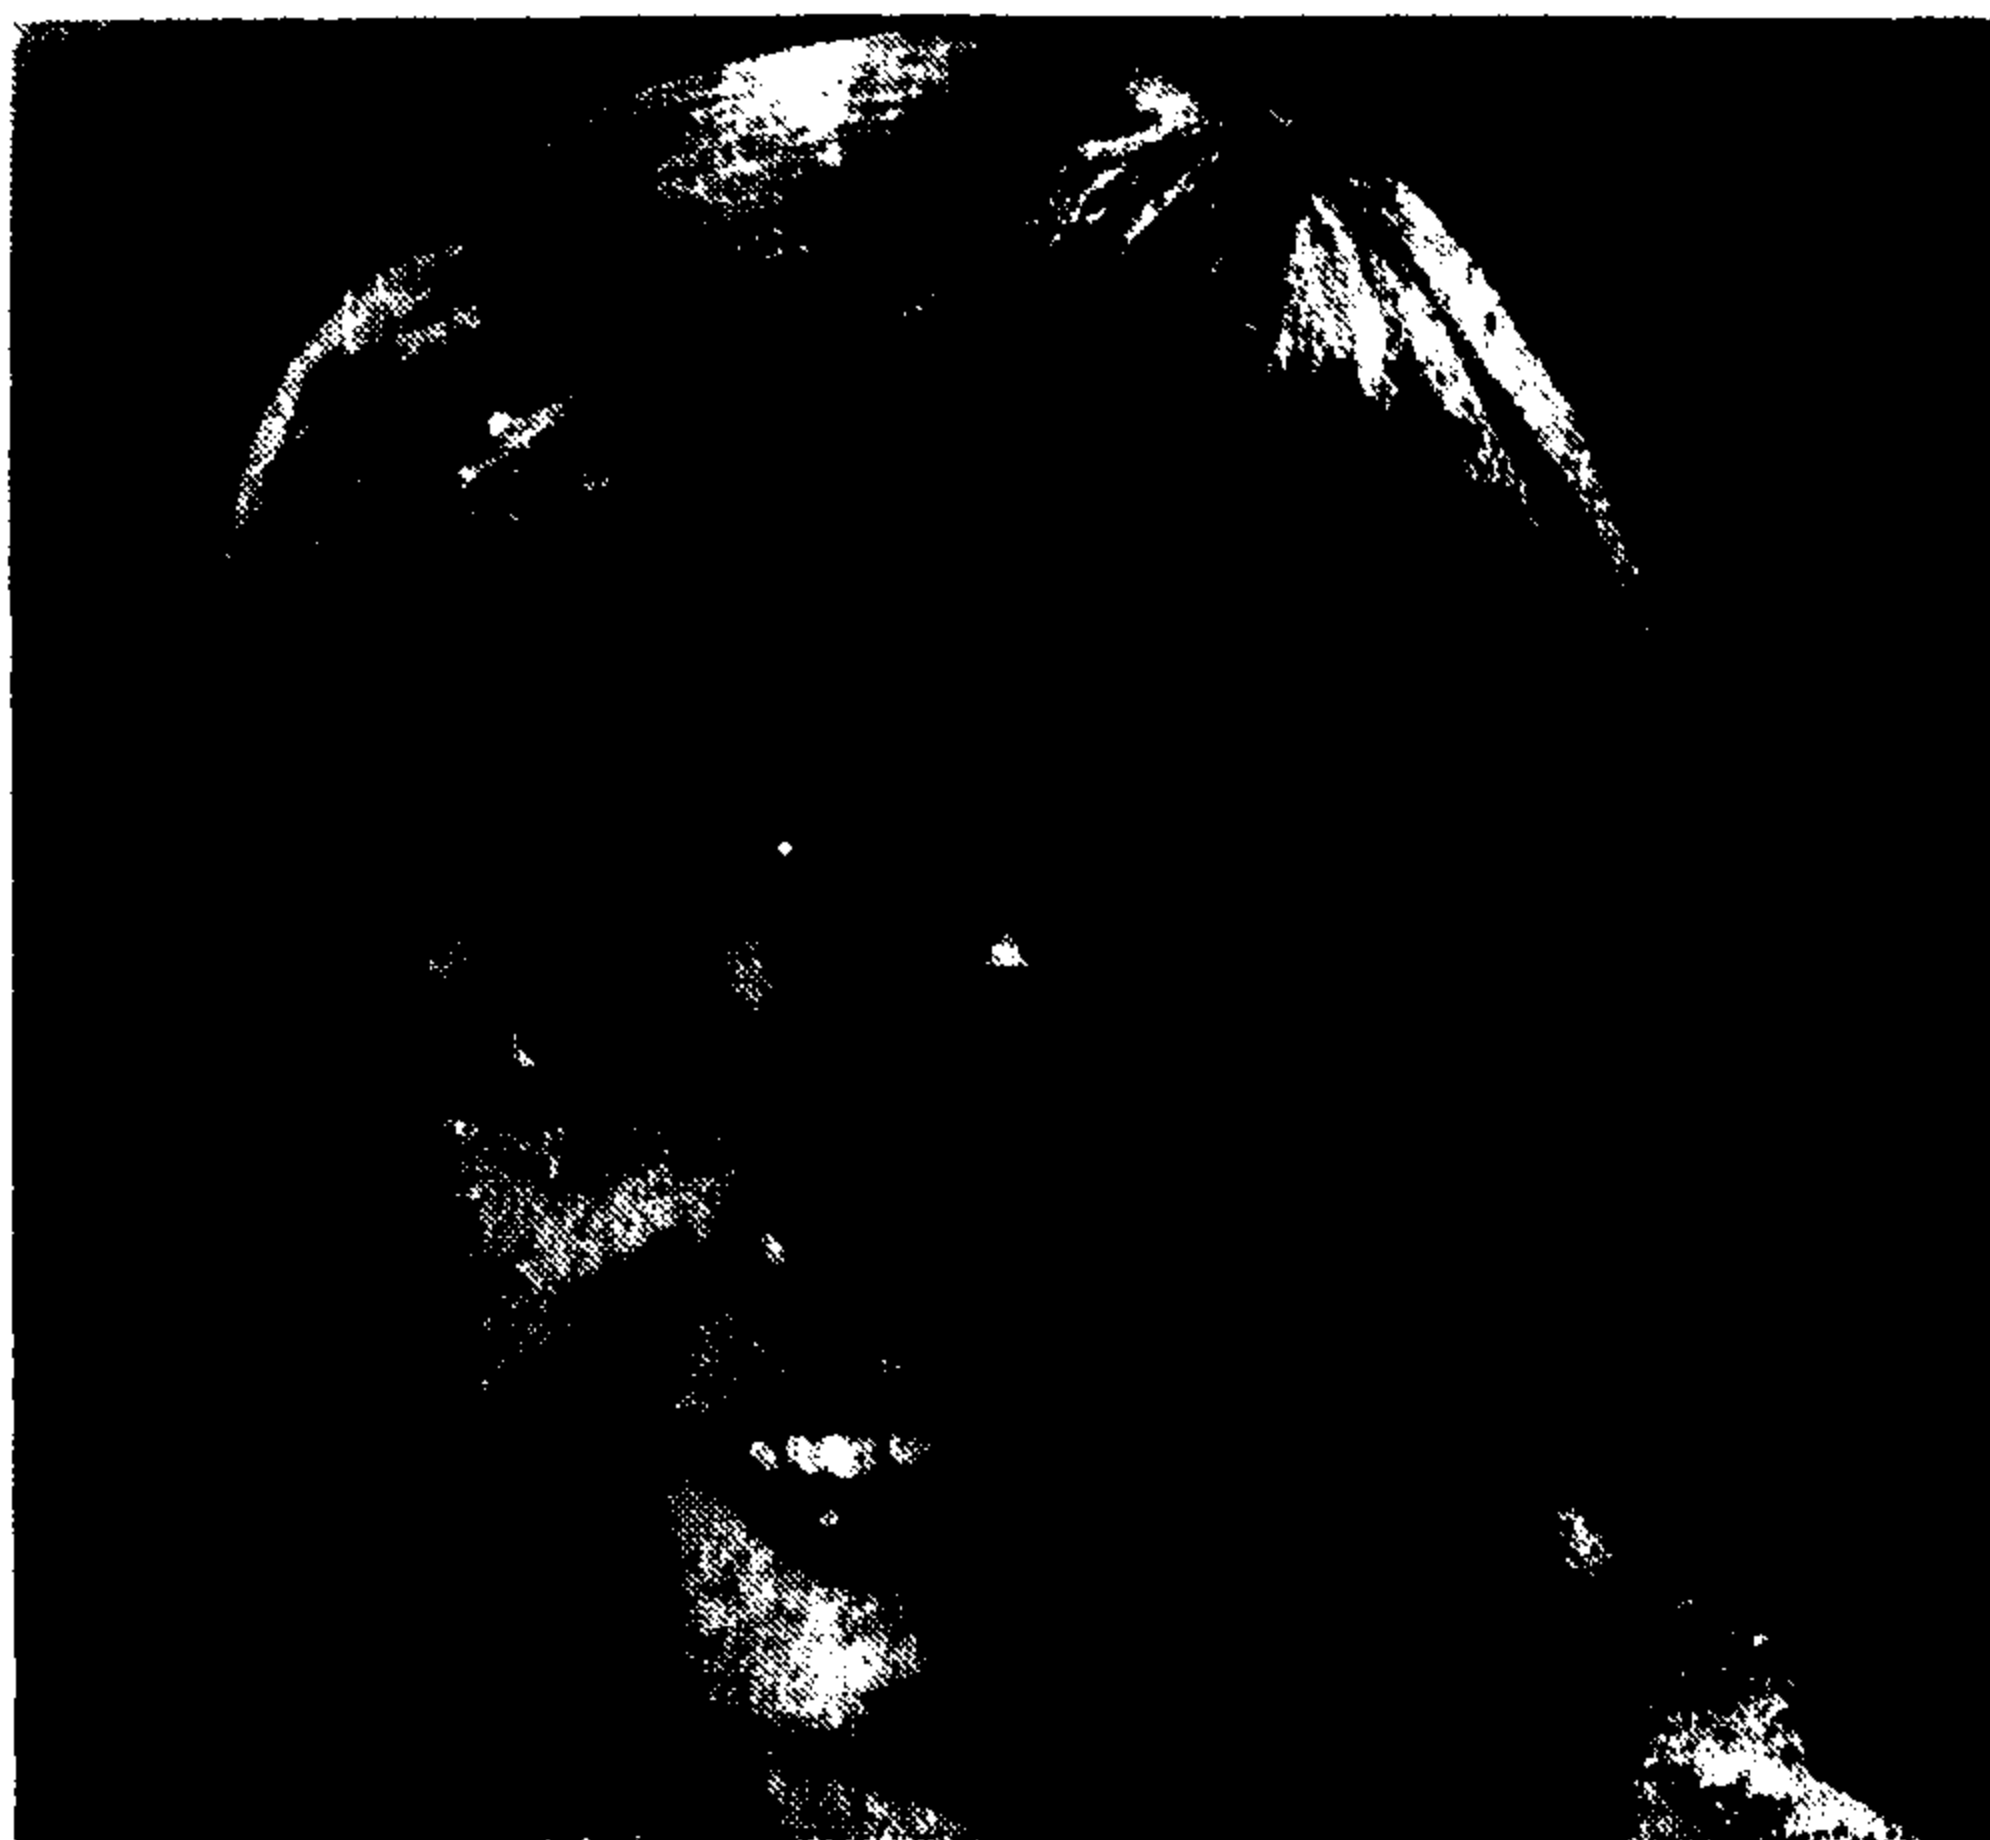

William Frawley died in 1966 at the age of 73, while he was co-starring in MY THREE SONS. Miss Vance, who is retired from show business, is 59.

How old is Linda Evans who starred in THE BIG VALLEY? Will she be back on any new shows?

—D.T.A.
Arlington Heights

ANSWER:

Miss Evans is 27. She is now working in films and says she doubts if she will return to television. Her latest film is

John Derek's "Wildflowers."

I would like to ask you the age of Florence Henderson of THE BRADY BUNCH.

—G.C.
Palatine

ANSWER:

Miss Henderson is 37.

How old is John Wayne? I saw him in "Big Jake" and he is certainly getting up in his years.

V.C.
Mount Prospect

ANSWER:

May we all age as well as Wayne, who is now 64.

Is Dick Van Dyke married? If so, does he have any children? How old are his children? What is his wife's name?

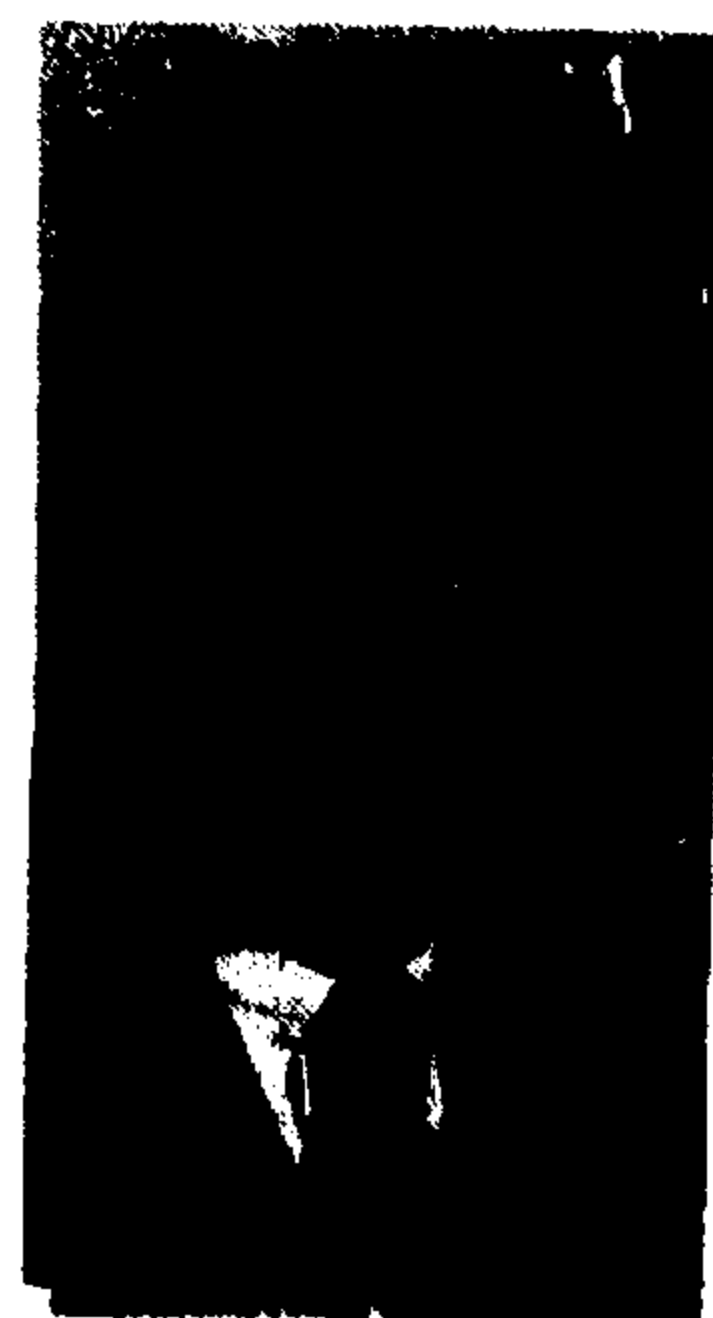

—David Richards
Rolling Meadows

ANSWER:

Van Dyke and his wife, Marge, have four children: Chris, 21, Barry, 20, Stacy, 16, and Carrie Beth, 9.

Can you please tell me where I can write to Jimmy Stewart? How old is he?

—Laura Greene
Arlington Heights

ANSWER:

Write to Stewart in care of NBC, 330 W. Alameda Ave., Burbank, California. He is 63 years old.

Could you please tell me the name of the boy who plays on the show NANNY AND THE PROFESSOR? Where could I write to him?—Denise Niloff Hoffman Estates

ANSWER:

There are two boys on the program—David Doremus, who plays Hal, and Trent Lehman, who plays Butch. You can write to either one in care of ABC, 1330 Avenue of the Americas, New York, N.Y. 10019.

FRIDAY

8:30-*½ "The Great Man's Lady" 7
(B&W '32) Barbara Stanwyck, Brian Donlevy, Joel McCrea. Two young people brave the West to build a dream. Nothing great. Until 10:30 a.m.

10:30-*½ "The Mystery of Edwin Drood" 9
(1935) Claude Rains, David Manners, Heather Angel. Three men die violently for the love of one girl; it all leads to the formation of a mob calling for justice. It's no mystery as far as I'm concerned. Until 12:00 noon.

3:30-*½ "The Last Time I Saw Paris" 2
(B&W '61) Starring Elizabeth Taylor, Van Johnson, Walter Pidgeon. Young Americans in post-war Paris experience the break-up of a happy marriage and the tragedy of a woman cynical over a lost life. Dull, dull. Until 5:30 p.m.

½ "The Mark of the Hawk" 7
(1958) Sidney Poitier, Juan Hernandez, John McIntire, Latha Kitt, Helen Horton. African elected to the legislative council, seeks equality for his people by peaceful means, but his pleas are brushed off. Unusual! Until 5:30 p.m.

8:30- "Goodbye Raggedy Ann" 2
(1971) Starring Mia Farrow, Hal Holbrook. A young actress is driven to the brink of suicide by her struggle for survival in Hollywood. ... "shoe button eyes, painted on mouth." Until 10:00 p.m.

10:30-*½ "The Testament of Dr. Mabuse" 32
(B&W '61 German, dubbed) Stars Gert Frobe, Vian Dyon,

Wolfgang Preiss. Inspector Lohman is about to leave on his long delayed vacation when his office phones to advise him that a masked gang had cleverly seized a large shipment of gold.

 "House of the Black Death" 2
(1965) Stars Lon Chaney, John Carradine, Tom Drake. A disciple of Black Magic holds a group of people captive in an old house. Could've been scarier. Until 2:00 a.m.

12:10-*½ "Koroshi" 2
Starring Patrick McGeehan, Toko Tana. Agent John Drake must solve the murder of a Japanese agent and prevent the assassination of a U.N. mediator.
12:45-*½ "Swamp Water" 9

Three Firemen Request Formal Grievance Plan

Requests for a formal grievance procedure were brought to Hoffman Estates Fire Protection District trustees Wednesday night by three firemen who said Chief Carl Selke refused to grant them an interview.

The complaints were brought by two officers in the fledgling firemen's union, Local 2061, International Fire Fighters Association, AFL-CIO, and a member of the union. Spokesman for the group was Richard Cordova, president of the local, with him were Richard Williamson, vice president, and Robert Scholl, union member. All three are firemen first class.

Chief Selke opened board consideration of the men's grievances when he said he had received two memorandums from the men. The first requested an interview with him to discuss the status of firemen first class.

"I ignored these people. I've got nothing to discuss with them," said the chief about the first memo.

FOUR DAYS LATER, Oct. 18, the men sent their union memo, this time asking to be placed on the board of trustees' agenda.

Cordova asked the trustees how they viewed the qualifications of himself and the other two men. "Are we qualified for first class, although we should be because we are being paid for it?" he asked, explaining that on Oct. 14 and 15 the lieutenant in command of Fire Station 1 left the firehouse and put a probationary fireman in charge of first class firemen during his absence.

Such action was against the rules of the department, said Cordova, claiming that men with seniority are supposed to be next in command to lieutenants.

"According to the rules, a probationary fireman is not to even question a fireman first class. I can't understand his telling us what to do," said Cordova.

"If I'm not qualified for the position I hold, I wish someone would tell me," he said.

THE BOARD SUGGESTED chain of command should be determined by the chief, and was not a matter of board concern. This deputy and his lieutenants, Cordova then said board chairman Mark Dick had told the men "anytime there's a problem you'll sit down with us. What are we supposed to do if nobody wants to sit down with us?"

Board Atty. Francis E. Kelly suggested the board draw up regulations for grievance procedures. "The procedure should be laid out more clearly," he said.

Another question raised by Cordova and Scholl, dealt with efficiency reports they believed were being written on them. Chief Selke said no such reports were being written out. Board members commented when an employee was due for a promotion or wage hike the chief made an oral report, but they never received written reports on the men. Scholl asked if the board still kept a list of men eligible for promotion to lieutenant, and was told the latest list was out of date.

Review Stalls Decision In Carlson Case

Cook County Circuit Court Judge Edward Egan's approval of joining a reinstatement suit with an administrative review in the case of David L. Carlson, dismissed Hoffman Estates fireman, means a decision in the case will be delayed until at least mid-November.

Carlson's attorney, Gilbert A. Cornfield, filed for the administrative review Wednesday. Hoffman Estates Fire Protection District attorney Francis E. Kelly was given approximately 30 days to answer Cornfield's filing. On receiving Kelly's answer, Judge Egan is to study the history of a state law dealing with fire protection districts to determine if legislators intended its application to all paid firemen.

In an administrative review, a judge is asked to examine transcripts of a hearing to determine if it was properly conducted. Cornfield is asking for a review of the Sept. 10 hearing granted to Carlson by the fire district trustees concerning his dismissal from the department.

Kelly and Cornfield both appeared before Judge Egan Tuesday about the reinstatement suit, which sought to have Carlson placed again in his old job, with back pay from July 16. He was dismissed for alleged insubordination. Judge Egan Wednesday informed the attorneys he was combining that matter with the review request.

The question at issue is whether the statute applies to fire districts operated by boards of trustees, as is Hoffman Estates' district, as well as those run by boards of commissioners. If Judge Egan determines that it does apply, he then will review the Sept. 10 hearing, and could either reaffirm or overturn the board's decision to uphold Carlson's discharge.

PAPA MILLER'S clenched fist doesn't seem to bring the family any closer together, as Conant High School student Joel Gluck, and Patti Sander, portraying his wife, seek a solution to the generation gap and try to figure out their son Richard, played by Tom Doretti. The family scene is part of the "Ah Wilderness," three act comedy production at the high school, Higgins and Plum Grove Roads in Hoffman Estates at 8 p.m. Saturday.

Continue Search For Illegal Aliens

by WANDALYN RICE

Immigration agents will continue raids on the industrial area of Elk Grove Village and surrounding communities in their search for illegal aliens, according to Robert Germain, deputy district director for the U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service.

"We will be back, but we don't want to say when we're coming," Germain said yesterday. A Wednesday afternoon raid resulted in the arrest of 37 persons in Centex Industrial Park.

Ten more persons were arrested later Wednesday night in DuPage County south of Elk Grove Village, he said. Seven women who were picked up were released on their own recognizance and the men were to be sent back to Mexico by bus last night, he said.

The women all had children and other family members in the area, Germain said, and will be given the opportunity to return to their native lands voluntarily. None of the men arrested had families in the area, he said.

GERMAIN REPEATED his statement that seven employees of Field Container Corp., 1500 Nicholas Blvd., were picked up in the raid, although company officials deny it.

"We took three from the plant and the rest were picked up on the street on the way to work," Germain said.

Phillip Cooper, financial vice president for the firm, said only one illegal alien was taken from the plant and added that two others might have been picked up on the street.

"They came into our plant and interrogated 10 or 12 of our people and they took two from the plant, but they sent one back because he was a citizen," Cooper said.

Germain said agents entered some other plants in the industrial park, which he did not name, and received "good cooperation" but added that officials at Field have not been cooperative with the service.

"Field will not let us look at their employee records. Other companies let us examine their records. Generally, companies are cooperative because they do not want aliens there," he said.

GERMAIN SAID his agents try to make most of their arrests on the street because "we don't like to go into plants and disrupt their operations."

Cooper said his company has not supplied records because "what would that prove except that they have Spanish-sounding names?" he said. "They want us to harass our people who are here legally."

Cooper added that the company does not knowingly employ illegals and checks Social Security cards, which can be obtained without proof of citizenship.

"The government has the power to stop these people at the Social Security offices, but they don't," Cooper said. "They are trying to put the burden on the companies and we don't have the way to prove citizenship."

Field, which manufactures cardboard boxes, employs about 250 persons, about 70 or 80 of whom are of Mexican or Puerto Rican descent, Cooper said.

No law prevents companies from employing illegal aliens.

Approve Work On Blackhawk Ball Field

Blackhawk Park improvements, $1,000 for incidental park master plan expenses, steel doors to curb vandalism, and rejection of a theater guild proposal were among the items dealt with this week by the Hoffman Estates Park District commissioners.

Park officials voted to start work for improvements to the ball field area next to Blackhawk School, Illinois Boulevard and Schaumburg Road in Hoffman Estates.

Their action came after discussion with Ed Rush, Hoffman Estates Athletic Association representative to the park district. The HEAA representative attends park district meetings monthly for liaison purposes.

Rush was told of problems where HEAA participants park cars on grass areas during athletic events. The biggest problem is at Hillcrest School, 201 Hillcrest Blvd., Hoffman Estates, said Park Director Anne Schuerings.

Mrs. Schuerings also received an allowance of up to $1,000 for the expenses involved with the district's new master plan to be publicized soon.

"THE MONEY is for mailing expenses, extra help to run off fact sheets and other incidentals," said Mrs. Schuerings, adding she doesn't expect to spend the entire allotment.

The master plan will be completed soon for public hearings in the next few months. A referendum is expected from the park district early next summer. It will be proposed from the master plan, and revised after the hearings.

The problem of vandalism at the Highland Park and Pinger Park warming houses in Hoffman Estates are being handled through the installation of steel doors, said Mrs. Schuerings.

Steel places on the exterior of the Pinger Park warming house door has proven effective against vandals, she added, and the best type door for the Highland Park facility is being investigated.

THE PARK commissioners turned down the Hoffman Estates Theater Guild's request that a permanent stage be built at district's recreation building, 650 W. Higgins Rd.

When the building was designed, architects planned for a multi-purpose facility and installation of a permanent stage is not in keeping with the design. It would restrict the number of uses for which the building could be used, Mrs. Schuerings said.

Vision, Hearing Test For Children Today

A vision and hearing test for children of the Edwin Aldrin School, 617 Boxwood Dr., Schaumburg, will take place today.

Mothers willing to assist the nurse in the testing are asked to contact Shirley Le Beau, PTA chairman for the health, safety and juvenile protection committee, at 894-6232.

Children who fail this screening will be retested by the school district nurse and if any deficiency appears on the second testing parents will be notified of the results.

This Morning In Brief

The Nation

President Nixon has decided on his two nominees for the Supreme Court despite reports that the American Bar Association's judiciary committee pronounced the two unqualified to serve. The President announced on nationwide radio and television that he has selected Hershel H. Friday and Judge Mildred L. Lillie. Friday, 49, is a prominent municipal bond lawyer from Little Rock, Ark. Mrs. Lillie, 58, is judge of the California District Court of Appeals in Los Angeles. Both are Democrats.

Charles (Tex) Watson was sentenced to death in the gas chamber for the Sharon Tate-Leno LaBianca murders, making the sentence unanimous for the Charles Manson "family" members tried for the seven bloody slayings. Manson, 25, was refused a possible penalty of life imprisonment by the same jury of six men and six women that had convicted him of first degree murder and rejected his plea of innocent by reason of insanity.

The State

A Chicago-to-Peoria commuter airliner carrying at least 14 passengers and two crew members crashed when it hit a power line on an approach run to the Greater Peoria Airport. There were no survivors. A list of dead has not been released, according to the Federal Aviation Administration.

A workmen's compensation package providing increases in most areas of nearly 20 per cent but falling well below the levels sought by Democrats, has cleared the Illinois House.

Young men in Illinois have lost the chance to marry at 18 without their parents' consent. The Illinois House upheld Gov. Ogilvie's veto of a bill that gave 18-year-old men the same right that women have to wed at 18 without parental approval.

The World

A Hungarian correspondent reported from Peking that Chinese leaders are discussing political problems, and particularly Vietnam, with presidential advisor Henry A. Kissinger. The writer said Kissinger and Premier Chou-En-lai talked not only about "technical details" of President Nixon's forthcoming visit to Red China, but also the "political questions" connected with it.

Pablo Neruda, loved and admired as a poet but controversial as a Marxist politician and diplomat, won the 1971 Nobel literature prize.

Egyptian Vice President Hussein Shafie said that 800,000 Egyptian troops stand ready to embark on a "battle of destiny" by the end of the year to liberate Arab territories occupied by Israel.

The War

Another group of GIs refused to go on patrol last week in Vietnam — the same thing the men they were sent to replace did — until the defense commander explained why the patrol was necessary, the soldiers involved said. In action near Saigon, Communist gunners shelled the Tay Ninh airfield, killing at least four persons and destroying seven U.S. trucks. The Communists also attacked U.S. Fire Base Pace with rocket and heavy weapons fire.

The Market

Stocks attempted a late-session recovery but the rally fell short and the market closed lower for the seventh straight session. The Dow Jones Average slipped 0.80 to 854.85. Of the 1,679 issues traded, declines topped advances, 744-608, on the New York Stock Exchange. Volume was 14.9 million shares, down from 16.3 million the day before. Corning Glass lost another 4 1/2 points after slipping 14 the day before.

New Board To Map Goals

Hoffman Estates' newly organized environmental concerns board, within the next several weeks, will be expected to prepare and define both long and short range goals.

Initially the group, under guidance of Trustee Diane Jensen, will work in the areas of community relations, recycling and beautification, planning and development, and ordinance and legislation.

Ideas discussed at this week's meeting of the environmental committee, which serves in an advisory capacity to the village board, included possible dialog with local businessmen and members of the police department.

Talks with local merchants would stress current lack of beauty in the downtown area while police department discussions would focus on enforcement of existing ordinances dealing with problems of an environmental nature.

POLICE DEPARTMENT contact would be made through the village board while business interviews would be on a more direct level by environmental board members.

The group eventually plans to hold workshops and organize a program bureau making speakers and materials available to both schools, community organizations and individuals.

To promote further interest in recycling, the group would like to provide separate bins for collection of tin, paper, and bottles. Members hope containers of this type could be furnished by the village.

Liaison with the village plan commission has been established, and the environmental board plans to work closely with builders and developer "to prevent gross ecological damage."

Through an arrangement with the plan commission, the environmental body will be provided with a set of plans for all proposed development in the village.

All existing ordinances will be examined by the group from an ecological standpoint to determine whether laws now in force suffice. Members also plan to keep abreast of legislation at the state level, which may be helpful on the local scene.

Confusion Over Road Access Delays Third Fire Station

Construction of the third fire station in Hoffman Estates, to be located near Old Higgins Road, is being delayed by confusion over access across the now deteriorating highway.

Edward Kalasa, deputy fire chief, reported to trustees Wednesday night the right-of-way for Old Higgins is held by the state. He and officials of Robin Construction Co., which donated the fire hall site, did not realize they needed to apply for access rights across the road when they planned construction, he said.

They now must request that the state vacate part of the right-of-way, in order for them to use it. Construction now is waiting for the legal procedures in having the land vacated.

The station is to be built with the proceeds of a $500,000 bond issue approved by voters March 27. About half of the issue was for building costs, while the other half was for equipment. The station is to be on a one-acre site.

THE BOARD agreed to accept title to another section of land during the meeting, after chairman Mark Dick reported on a meeting he had with Park District Board Pres. Fred Weaver. The fire and park district are to split Chino Park, adjoining the existing village building, when the property is released by the village.

Dick said he and Weaver had agreed the fire district would accept a parcel extending 125 feet south from the rear of the Fire Station 1 site, which fronts on Flagstaff Lane. In addition, the fire district is to get a 30-foot driveway extending to a connecting road off Illinois Boulevard.

The board approved acceptance of the land. Weaver is to take the proposal to the park board, and then present it to the village board.

The fire trustees opened but took no action on bids on two new sedans for the fire department. The bids were referred to engineers for review to see if the autos conform to specifications.

The board also authorized Chief Carl Selke to purchase 2,000 feet of three-inch fire hose and 1,000 feet of 1½-inch fire hose, which he said likely will cost about $10,000. Chief Selke said he had tried to obtain bids on the hose prior to the meeting, but was unable to contact suppliers.

The board agreed to send two firemen to a fire service mechanics seminar Oct. 27-28 in Niles.

Are There Any Neil Simons Out There?

To encourage interest in the art of playwriting and to obtain original material for production, Schaumburg Festival Theatre will sponsor a one-act play-writing contest.

The contest, open to residents of all areas and all ages, will be held between Nov. 1 and Jan. 1.

First place winner will receive $50 and his play will be produced by the theatre group during the present season.

Second place winner will receive $30 and his production will appear during the 1971-72 season.

Third place winner will get $15 and fourth place winner will receive a $10 prize.

Scripts must be original and accompanied by signed affidavit.

They must be submitted in typed form and contain stage directions, character descriptions, proposed set design and furniture, prop and wardrobe lists.

Scripts must not have been previously produced by any amateur or professional group and must carry no copyright or other legal binder.

ONLY ONE entry is permitted per person and all entries must be received at contest headquarters no later than Jan. 1.

Winners will be notified by mail on or before next April 1, and in case of tie for first place, prize money will be equally divided among winners and both plays produced.

First and second place winners must be available for consultation and work on their plays during rehearsals and production.

All scripts will remain the property of Schaumburg Festival Theatre and cannot be returned.

Length of scripts must be confined so that they can be presented in a maximum of 1½ hours.

Applications for the contest may be obtained by calling 894-2380 or writing Schaumburg Festival Theatre, 308 Cloverdale Lane, Schaumburg, 60172.

No Objections To Sewer, Water Assessment

Residents who will benefit from installation of sewer and water lines near Schaumburg and Roselle roads this week offered no objection to a special assessment to pay for the project.

The project, to be completed within six to seven months, will cost approximately $207,000 and residents involved will pay $25.095 per equalized foot.

Their assessment will be paid off over a ten year period at seven per cent interest according to plans made by the Schaumburg Board of Local Improvements (BOLI).

The village will spend $36,000, to install a lift station, which is considered the public benefit portion of the water program.

Lines will be installed on Roselle Road at a point immediately east of Town Square Shopping Center and will extend northward to an area where Salt Creek crosses Roselle Road in Golden Acres Country Club.

Schaumburg Township Public Library and Bethel Baptist Church, both under expansion at present, will hook onto the system.

Audience Takes Part In Play At Library

When the puppet people return to the Schaumburg Township Library tomorrow, they'll encounter a witch and the audience will be called upon to help thwart her evil spells.

In a play, "The Enchanted Castle," the witch will get her just desserts, but later she returns to confound the puppets with some magic mix-ups in identity.

The puppet show to be shown at 10:30 a.m. and 2 p.m. is a monthly feature of the Library's Children's Department.

Children's librarian Noreen Brandt, said the puppet show is suitable for children from 3 to 12 and parents are welcome to attend.

There is no charge for admission to any of the library's programs. The library is located at 20 Library Ln., Schaumburg.

Pollution Law In Inverness, Too

by MARCIA KRAMER

What's a nice place like Inverness doing with a proposed environmental ordinance?

The quiet village is well known for its sweeping, carefully manicured lawns; its clean, winding roads; its fresh, unpolluted air; its $100,000-plus homes.

There's no industry in Inverness and not even any businesses.

So why an environmental ordinance? "That's just the point," says village board member A. James Valliere, who proposed the measure. "Pollution isn't just what the other fellow does. It's what we ourselves do."

He elaborated: "Even in a small community we have to set an example for ourselves that we're not burning things that contribute to air pollution or dumping things on vacant lots or emptying our swimming pools into creeks."

ALL THAT AND MORE would be prohibited under the proposed ordinance. The ordinance also covers noise, which could not surpass a "reasonable" but unspecified level in the suburb, which neighbors Palatine and Rolling Meadows.

"As a practical matter," Valliere said, "you can't call the police because of a transistor radio. You call the police if it's 3 o'clock in the morning and you can hear the Beatles six acres away because of outside loudspeakers or amplifying devices."

If a neighbor chooses to notify the police of a possible violation of the environmental ordinance, a written warning would be issued to the owner or occupant of the property.

A second warning would be in the form of a ticket requiring a court appearance. If the property owner is found guilty of violating the ordinance, he would be given a period of time to abate the offense, Valliere said, such as immediately for noise and 10 days for dumping.

If the offense is not abated, a fine ranging from $50 to $500 a day would be imposed.

Valliere pointed out the ordinance would retain home rule concerning the environment.

"The state Environmental Protection Act says if a local community does not provide an ordinance to enforce it, the state will. This way, we keep it at a local level," he said.

OTHER PROVISIONS of the proposed ordinance would continue to prohibit the burning of refuse, as stated in the Illinois Environmental Protection Act; allow the use of organic materials for gardening, but not inorganic materials; and make illegal the pollution of natural waters.

"The village planning consultant is concerned about polluting the creek and well water," Valliere said. "The general feeling is the creek is already on its way to being polluted."

The proposed ordinance was given a second reading at last week's village board meeting. The board set a public hearing for 8 p.m. Nov. 2 in the Village Fieldhouse, 55 Highland Rd.

Copies of the proposal are available from Village Clerk Sandra Johnson, 1850 Tweed Dr., between 8 and 9:30 a.m. and 1:30 and 3 p.m.

Pumpkin, Clowns To Give Candy

The Big Pumpkin and the Schaumburg Jaycees clowns will distribute trick or treat candies to Schaumburg youngsters Oct. 30 during the annual Halloween parade and party at the Civic Park and Jennings House in Schaumburg.

The Halloween party and parade are jointly sponsored by the Jaycees and the Schaumburg Park District. All children in the park district are invited.

The parade will begin at 4 p.m. Costumes will be judged and prizes awarded in the following age groups: Preschool to kindergarten; first and second grade; third and fourth grade; and fifth graders and older.

Civic Park paraders will march into the Jennings House Youth Center for Halloween party after the parade.

Ghosts and monsters will dwell in the spook house at Jennings House and those brave enough can tangle with the gruesome bunch, while others play games.

An apple bobbing contest is planned and the party will last to 8 p.m. Parents are requested to provide transportation for their children.

Park District Signup Continues To Oct. 30

Registration for fall and winter recreation programs offered by Hoffman Estates Park District will continue through Oct. 30, a park spokesman said this week.

Registration is being held from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. weekdays at Vogel Park Administration Building, 650 W. Higgins Rd. Offices will also be open from 9 a.m. to noon this Saturday and on Oct. 30, to accept registrations.

Programs and fees are listed in a detailed recreational brochure mailed to all residents of the park district last month. For information concerning programs, registration or fees, call 825-8800 between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. weekdays.

Representatives Of 3 Towns To Meet Tuesday

Group Seeks Headquarters For Youth Services Bureau

Representatives of Wheeling, Buffalo Grove and Prospect Heights youth groups will meet Tuesday in an effort to find a home for a proposed youth services bureau for the three communities.

The meeting, to be held at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in the Wheeling municipal building, will include representatives of the youth groups, which are seeking a $130,000 state grant.

Wheeling trustee Edward Berger said yesterday that a youth center "is something we have been needing for a long time."

Berger called the meeting but he said he had no specific plans for what will be discussed at the meeting, called at the request of the Wheeling Youth Commission, Help, Inc. and the Torch Community Mental Health Clinic.

Ruth Weider of Help, Inc. said yesterday the three organizations are looking for both an immediate location to serve as a temporary headquarters and for the long-range plan to acquire a permanent center.

SHE EXPLAINED that the three organizations are cooperating with the Village of Wheeling as well as other local groups and agencies in the project.

Richard Wynn, director of the Torch clinic, explained that since the proposal for the state grant is receiving its final consideration, the question of where the bureau will be housed needs to be answered.

Wynn said if the grant is approved the bureau will need location by Jan. 1 when it will receive the funds.

He said that included in the $195,000 budget for the program is $12,000 for acquiring a facility and $4,000 for renovation to put it into operation. Those funds are part of the 33 per cent of the funding expected to come from local contributions either of cash or of what Wynn calls "contributions-in-kind," such as donations of land for the center, building materials or labor.

HE EXPLAINED that the Illinois Law Enforcement Commission, which is considering a request for a $130,000 grant, wants to evaluate both temporary and long-range location proposals for the bureau as part of its consideration of the application.

Wynn had estimated earlier this month that the ILEC should have made a decision on the request by December.

The aim of the new program would be to prevent and solve adolescent problems involving delinquent behavior in the three communities. Programs would include establishment of a youth services center, providing counseling and emergency services to youth, use of community resources to combat youth problems and ongoing evaluation of the effectiveness of the program.

Firehouse For Youth Center?

Wheeling's main fire station may be one location under consideration as the headquarters for the proposed Youth Services Bureau.

Village officials last week talked of selling the fire station when a new station is constructed for the fire department in the next few years.

Village Fire Chief Bernie Koeppen has been asked to attend the Tuesday meeting to discuss the location for the youth center which was called by Trustee Edward Berger.

Consideration of the fire station building for youth work was first made earlier this year when the village considered housing the new Omnibus "hotline" in an office in the station. It was decided that the hotline should not be located in a public building, however.

However, once the new fire station is built, the old firehouse could be converted into a youth center.

Since the bureau is seeking donations not only of money, but of a site or building as part of the locally funded portion of the program, the bureau may well seek the fire station as its headquarters.

The meeting Tuesday is a meeting of the village board's "Streets, Public Buildings and Grounds committee," the same committee which discussed the fire station sale a week ago.

A CURIO SHOP in Wheeling is the location for a Spanish radio program featuring musician Ricardo Lumberaz and his two brothers. Lumberaz, a Northbrook resident, is a custodian at Nathaniel Hawthorne School in Wheeling.

Ricardo Lumberaz — The Musical Custodian

A musical custodian, the host of his own radio show, is working this year at Nathaniel Hawthorne School in Wheeling.

Although he's never had any formal musical training, Dist. 21 custodian Ricardo Lumberaz has been playing the saxophone for nearly 20 years in the eight-piece band which he and his two brothers helped to form.

The three brothers also host their own Spanish radio program, broadcast Monday through Friday over station WEAU in Evanston, and sponsor dances each Sunday at Chevy Chase Country Club in Wheeling.

And if that were not enough, Lumberaz also helps his wife operate a small curio shop, La Casa De Alegria, on Milwaukee Avenue in Wheeling. The shop caters to imported items from Mexico, the country of his forefathers. The family lives in nearby Northbrook.

LUMBERAZ SAID he first became interested in music while growing up in Texas.

"My father played the accordion and I learned some from him. I play by ear. I can't read music," he explained.

Lumberaz and his brothers Joe and Henry formed their own band in 1953, shortly after they came to the Chicago area from Texas.

"I came from Texas with my two brothers and sister because of the opportunities here. We were fancy free, and then we all got married after we got here and settled down. I like it pretty well here. When I first came it was hard to get used to the cold, but now when I go back to Texas I can't get used to the heat. I have good work here. I've been a custodian for 13 years, and it's good steady work," Lumberaz said.

Lumberaz and his brother Joe play both the alto and tenor saxophones, while Henry performs on the guitar. The band is named "Los Alegria," which means "happiness" in English.

SPECIALISTS IN polkas, boleros and a type of Mexican cha cha music, the band performs nearly every weekend at dances and parties throughout the Chicago area.

The Los Alegria band has cut many records on the Alegria record label during the years they have been together and many are played over the Lumberaz radio program, which originates from the Wheeling curio shop. The show is broadcast over station WEAU weekdays from 5 to 6 p.m. through a telephone hook-up between the shop and the radio station. The band interested the station manager in the program three years ago, and it's been on the air ever since.

Lumberaz said the band must devote many hours of rehearsal time to making a new recording.

"It's hard work, all right. This year I said would be my last year with the band. It's a real part-time job. But my daughter said, 'Oh, no Dad, you can't quit now after so many years.' And so I am still here."

The musical Lumberaz brothers may have yet another member follow in their footsteps.

Lumberaz' 14-year-old daughter has learned to play the organ and, reported her father, would like to become a singer with the band one day.

Water, Water Everywhere... But This Family Is Having A Drought

A family in Wheeling has to save up water to take baths.

The family, residents of the north-eastern section of the village that was annexed last year, has suffered a water shortage since August. Their private well is running dry.

Village water mains are only three houses away on the north and one house away on the south, and the village plans to extend those mains to the family's property soon.

In the meantime, the family has water problems and is perplexed about what to do to solve them.

MRS. ELDIE Eddleman, of 223 N. 6th St., explains the problem she and her husband face this way:

To eliminate the water problem she can have a new well sunk on their property. But she says village officials have told her that even if she does that the family will be assessed for the new water mains when the village installs them past her house.

Another alternative is for the family to have a temporary water main installed to their neighbor's property.

But the temporary main would cost $2,000, twice as much as a new well, and she would then have to connect to the permanent water main when it is constructed. She says she also would be assessed for the new main lines.

A third alternative is for the family to pay the cost of extending the main water line for the village past their home. But the cost of installing such a large main is far too costly, Mrs. Eddleman says.

She wants the village to agree not to assess her for the new water lines. Then she will go ahead and dig a new well to serve her property.

ACCORDING to Mrs. Eddleman village officials have refused to do that. They have said she can dig the well and that she won't have to tie into the village water mains. But they say she still will be assessed, she said.

Village public works director Larry Oppenheimer said yesterday he has no idea when the village might install the water main. Oppenheimer said that the decision on when to do the work is up to the village board.

Roger Stricker, administrative assistant to the village manager, said yesterday he understands acting Village Mgr. George Passolt is working on a solution to the Eddleman's problem.

Stricker disputed some of Mrs. Eddleman's statements. He pointed out that the village has never special assessed anybody for water mains.

STRICKER POINTED out that the Strong Street area has been in the village for less than a year and that the village has to give the work a priority in relation to the rest of the community.

He said he "wouldn't even hazard a guess" on when the water main work in the area of the Eddleman house might be completed, explaining that the village has to do the water main and sewer installation in the annexed area on an over-all program because to do the work piecemeal would be more costly.

Mrs. Eddleman explains that she doesn't see why the village annexed her family's house if it couldn't afford to provide the village services to the area.

She is worried that this winter the family will have heating problems because their home is heated with hot water baseboard heat.

In warm weather the family has run a hose to their neighbor's property for water. That will be impossible once cold weather sets in.

MRS. EDDLEMAN says she has been writing letters and talking to village officials about the problem since August. Most recently they have told her they are still discussing the problem and will contact her later, she says.

But Mrs. Eddleman is concerned that either a water line or a new well will have to be completed before the cold weather sets in for the winter.

The Eddlemans are the only family in the neighborhood who have this problem, Mrs. Eddleman says. Other neighbors have deep wells and can wait for the village water mains to be constructed.

"If we weren't in the village, I could just dig a well and that would be the end of it," she points out.

And as a result of being annexed, Mrs. Eddleman points out they will have to pay taxes to the village next year.

"The village never sent us a letter to tell us we had been annexed. They just wrote us to purchase vehicle stickers or we would get a ticket," she says, pointing out that she can't "give the village a ticket" for the problems it is causing her family.

This Morning In Brief

The Nation

President Nixon had decided on his two nominees for the Supreme Court despite reports that the American Bar Association's judiciary committee pronounced the two unqualified to serve. The President announced on nationwide radio and television that he has selected Hershel H. Friday and Judge Mildred L. Lillie. Friday, 49, is a prominent municipal bond lawyer from Little Rock, Ark. Mrs. Lillie, 56, is judge of the California District Court of Appeals in Los Angeles. Both are Democrats.

Charles (Tex) Watson was sentenced to death in the gas chamber for the Sharon Tate-Leno LaBianca murders, making the sentence unanimous for the Charles Manson "family" members tried for the seven bloody slayings. Manson, 25, was refused a possible penalty of life imprisonment by the same jury of six men and six women that had convicted him of first degree murder and rejected his plea of innocent by reason of insanity.

The State

A Chicago-to-Peoria commuter airliner carrying at least 14 passengers and two crew members crashed when it hit a power line on an approach run to the Greater Peoria Airport. There were no survivors. A list of dead has not been released, according to the Federal Aviation Administration.

A workmen's compensation package providing increases in most areas of nearly 20 per cent but falling well below the levels sought by Democrats, has cleared the Illinois House.

Young men in Illinois have lost the chance to marry at 18 without their parents' consent. The Illinois House upheld Gov. Ogilvie's veto of a bill that gave 18-year-old men the same right that women have to wed at 18 without parental approval.

The World

A Hungarian correspondent reported from Peking that Chinese leaders are discussing political problems, and particularly Vietnam, with presidential advisor Henry A. Kissinger. The writer said Kissinger and Premier Chou-En-lai talked not only about "technical details" of President Nixon's forthcoming visit to Red China, but also the "political questions" connected with it.

Pablo Neruda, loved and admired as a poet but controversial as a Marxist politician and diplomat, won the 1971 Nobel literature prize.

Egyptian Vice President Hussein Shafel said that 800,000 Egyptian troops stand ready to embark on a "battle of destiny" by the end of the year to liberate Arab territories occupied by Israel.

The War

Another group of GIs refused to go on patrol last week in Vietnam — the same thing the men they were sent to replace did — until the defense commander explained why the patrol was necessary, the soldiers involved said. In action near Saigon, Communist gunners shelled the Tay Ninh airfield, killing at least four persons and destroying seven U.S. trucks. The Communists also attacked U.S. Fire Base Pace with rocket and heavy weapons fire.

The Market

Stocks attempted a late-session recovery but the rally fell short and the market closed lower for the seventh straight session. The Dow Jones Average slipped 0.80 to 854.85. Of the 1,679 issues traded, declines topped advances, 741-609, on the New York Stock Exchange. Volume was 14.9 million shares, down from 16.3 million the day before. Corning Glass lost another 4 1/2 points after slipping 14 the day before.

SHIPBOARD FIRES, and how to fight them was the subject of a training session given recently to 50 cadets in the Wheeling High School Junior Naval Reserve Officer Training Corps program. The cadets fought simulated fires at the Great Lakes Naval Training Center's fire fighting training unit.

'Governor's Band' Receives Award

by TOM VON MALDER

"At attention, you guys."

White-gloved salutes replaced nervous shuffles and bored looks as Governor Richard B. Ogilvie walked down the double row of John Hersey High School Pomerets, the girls' drill team.

The some 50 girls, in their orange uniforms with brown trim and berets, met the governor as he arrived at the high school to present a trophy to the school's band.

Ogilvie arrived at the Arlington Heights school about 6:45 p.m. He was met by the Pomerets, school officials and special guests at the door. Inside, he stood through a playing of the National Anthem by the band.

Then there was the award, which was won last August during the band competition at the Illinois State Fair in Springfield. The Hersey band, under the direction of Donald Caneva, came in first over some 40 other bands from throughout the state. This made the Hersey band the "Governor's Band."

The award to the marching band was presented to Caneva and drum major Neil Firth of Mount Prospect. The ceremony took place in the school's gym, which was about a third full with band members and parents of band members.

In his remarks, Ogilvie said it was a "splendid band."

"I have had the pleasure of watching you perform at the All Star Football game this summer in Chicago," he said. He said he had unfortunately missed the competition in Springfield.

The governor congratulated the band for their "degree of discipline."

"I'm sure no one drafted you into this band, he told them.

After commending their "magnificent effort," Ogilvie presented the award. In return, Firth gave the governor a copy of the band's record and two boxes of candy. Sale of the candy represents the present band fund-raising project.

Caneva accepted the award by thanking the governor and speculating on what achievement would be next for the band. "There's always another contest to win, another excellent program to give," Caneva said.

Ogilvie then left, 13 minutes after he arrived. He had another appearance to make, this one at Arlington Park Towers.

Eat Out For Fund

The Wheeling-Buffalo Grove United Fund will receive half of the profits from sales at the McDonald's Restaurant, 188 E. Dundee Rd., Wheeling, on Sunday.

The event is part of the United Fund's campaign to raise $7,000 in the two villages.

'Trick Or Treat' For UNICEF

The Achim Lodge of the B'nai B'rith will sponsor a "Trick or Treat for UNICEF" drive in the Buffalo Grove-northern Arlington Heights area over Halloween.

The drive is designed to collect money for UNICEF - the United Nations International Children's Emergency Fund.

Children will be going door-to-door in their trick or treat costumes, but instead of asking candy, they will ask residents to give their spare change to UNICEF, according to Norm Cutler, vice president of the lodge and coordinator of the drive.

Interested persons can obtain collection kits at the North Point State Bank in the North Point shopping center at Rand and Arlington Heights roads, or from one of the area chairmen. To get a collection Berkely Square call 394-2522; in Northgate call 255-7450 and in the Strathmore area call 537-3036.

Cutler said, "Our decision to sponsor the drive was affected not only by our understanding of the worthwhile work which this organization (UNICEF) does, but also by our concern for our children."

"We read with horror the stories which appear each Halloween detailing the harm caused by some apparently disturbed individuals who put dangerous and foreign objects in the treats they dispense. Since our children do not suffer for a lack of sweets, we feel that a trick or treat for UNICEF program gives them a feeling of true accomplishment."

Burglars Loot Camping Van

Burglars cleaned out a camping van early yesterday morning at 100 Deborah Ln. in Wheeling.

Waukegan Man Injured By Truck

A Waukegan man working on the Checker Road repairs was struck and knocked into a ditch by a truck.

James Ahlstrom, 34, was reported in good condition in Condell Hospital, Libertyville with an injured left ankle.

Police said Glenn Savattaro, 28, of La Grange was backing his truck to unload road repair materials when it struck Ahlstrom, an employee of the Skokie Valley Asphalt Co.

Joyce Kilmer School Open House Tuesday

An open house will be held Tuesday beginning at 8 p.m. at Joyce Kilmer School in Wheeling. The program is being sponsored by the Kilmer PTA.

A short business meeting of the PTA will precede the open house. Following the meeting, visitors will be able to visit their children's classrooms and meet the teaching staff.

Examples of student work will be on display. Refreshments will be served in the school gymnasium at the conclusion of the program.

Preschool Story Hour Planned At Library

Registration is now open at the Wheeling Public Library for a series of preschool story hours that will be offered at the library next month.

There will be two story hour sessions for preschoolers each Tuesday in November. The first session will run from 9:30 a.m. to 10 a.m.; the second will be from 10:30 a.m. to 11 a.m.

Three and four-year-olds, as well as prekindergarten 5-year-olds will be eligible to participate in the story hours.

Parents should register their children in the program in person at the Wheeling Public Library, 860 Jenkins Ct., Wheeling.

Salesmen Sold On 'Coffee Twist'

For most working people, a coffee break is a time to relax, put business aside and have pleasant thoughts.

And generally, the only exercise a person gets during such a break is in raising and lowering his coffee cup.

But a group of Mendota, Ill., salesmen attending an annual conference this week in Arlington Heights got some real exercise during one of their coffee breaks.

Although a few were puffing pretty heavily afterwards, they didn't mind. In fact, they were looking forward to the next coffee break and more calisthenics.

The apparent reason for their enthusiasm was the Arlington Park Towers' version of Debbie Drake, 28-year-old Jan Passero, a waitress in the hotel's Tack Show Lounge.

ENTERING THE Towers' Rainbow Room Tuesday, where the 11 employees of the Conco/Spartan Tool Division, Mendota, were about to take a break in their sales conference, Jan, outfitted in a purple leotard, announced gaily, "It's exercise time!"

After their initial surprise, the salesmen, ranging in age from 21 to mid-60 and in build from trim to downright pud-gy, realized she was serious.

But they didn't seem to mind jogging in place, jumping jacks, deep knee bends, or even torso twists, et al., for 10 to 12 minutes. And they were indeed an attentive group — nary an eye strayed from the leader.

Jan herself was puffing pretty hard afterwards. "It was fantastic," she gasped. "And their expressions were priceless."

John O'Brien, division manager for Conco/Spartan, nodded. "This is what they'll go home remembering about this meeting," he said.

O'Brien said the idea originated in a magazine — announcing a new sales pitch, putting on a recording of "The Stripper," and bringing on a sweet young thing to lead out-of-shape men in calisthenics.

JAN, WHO LIVES in Mount Prospect, said she had never led an exercise group before, but her credentials are otherwise sound. She has been dancing since she was three. And, perhaps more pertinent, she weighed 216 pounds when her second child was born 18 months ago, and, through dieting and a mere 15 to 20 minutes of exercise each day, brought that down to 106 pounds, "give or take a few."

But the 13 salesmen she instructed at Conco/Spartan's first session last week and the eleven this week evidently weren't nearly as accustomed to regular exercise.

"You have to be like a drill sergeant to get these guys to get their knees up," Jan said. In fact, she added, "the 60-year-old guys did better than the younger ones."

John J. Jamison, assistant sales manager at the firm, commented that "there really is a purpose to the exercising. After the guys sit down all day for the conference, they get a bit sluggish."

EXERCISING during coffee breaks is not as likely to be embraced by employees as much as, say, the four-day work week, and Jamison said he did not expect the salesmen to continue the practice when they return to work.

But, he added with a wink, "I would very definitely say they'll be willing to do it again at our sales meeting next year."

And if the men had had enough energy left after this year's "coffee break," they probably would have agreed.

18 Months After Fire Truck Purchase

Who'll Pay For 'Big Red'? — That's $116,000 Question

Who's going to pay for "Big Red," Buffalo Grove's aerial ladder fire truck?

That's still the $116,000 question, 18 months after the village purchased the truck for the fire department.

Village officials say they will pay for the truck and then recover about half the $116,000 cost from the Buffalo Grove Fire Department, a volunteer group which is not under village board control. However, fire department officials say they won't pay.

In April of 1970, when the truck was delivered, the village entered into an agreement with the fire department to pay for the vehicle designed to fight fires in tall buildings.

Under the terms of the agreement, the village was to pay the first year's installment of $14,500. The board authorized payment at last Monday's meeting.

THE VILLAGE believes the agreement calls for the village to pay the $14,500 installment and an additional $50,000 with funds from a preannexation agreement.

Since the village does not operate a municipal fire department, it cannot use tax money to pay for the truck.

The Buffalo Grove Fire Department, Inc. is a private volunteer organization which provides fire protection to the part of the village south of Checker Road under a contract arrangement with the Wheeling Township Rural Fire Protection District. The rest of the village is protected by the Long Grove Fire Department.

If the village pays the $50,000 plus the $14,500, the fire department's share would be about $41,500. The village expects to pay the fire department's share initially and then recover the money from the department.

ACCORDING TO Trustee James Shirley, the village will keep the title to the truck until the fire department pays its share.

However, Fire Chief Wayne Winter said yesterday the department does not intend to pay any money for the truck.

"It does not belong to us. The village signed the order for it. It's their responsibility. As far as I'm concerned, the problem is solved," Winter told the Herald.

Winter said he interpreted the agreement to mean that the fire department would contribute money "only if they (the village) couldn't get it from builders."

The village expects the $50,000 shortly, but that is still $66,000 short of the purchase price. The village also does not intend to pay any more than the $50,000.

SHIRLEY HIMSELF isn't exactly sure of the implications of the contract and told the trustees Monday, "I think we have to determine the village's actual obligation with this thing."

He believes the fire department is obligated to repay the village and asked the trustees to determine "how or in what manner" the fire department will repay the village.

However, the village has accepted the responsibility to pay for the truck by signing the loan note and it must make the payments.

The provisions in the agreement for forcing the fire department to repay the village are hazy at best.

Village Atty. Richard Raysa told the trustees Monday he did not favor the wording of the agreement when it was drawn in 1970.

WHEN THE VILLAGE completes payments and retains the title as Shirley said, it will find itself in the peculiar position of owning a fire truck, but having no fire department.

It is conceivable that the village could prohibit the use of the truck by the fire department until the department begins to repay the village.

Despite the confusion, Village Mgr. Daniel Larson appeared optimistic about a solution. He said "Big Red" would be among the items in a village board discussion next Monday on formation of a municipal fire department.

A CURIO SHOP in Wheeling is the location for a Spanish radio program featuring musician Ricardo Lumbreraz and his two brothers. Lumbreraz, a Northbrook resident, is a custodian at Nathaniel Hawthorne School in Wheeling.

Open House Slated At Stevenson High

Open House for parents of Adlai E. Stevenson High School students will be held from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. on Tuesday.

Parents will meet in the auditorium for a brief welcome from Dist. 125 Supt. Harold Baner. An abbreviated class schedule will follow giving all parents an opportunity to visit the classrooms and teachers. Students will provide schedules in advance and student council members will be in the halls to direct parents in the building.

Ricardo Lumbreraz — The Musical Custodian

A musical custodian, the host of his own radio show, is working this year at Nathaniel Hawthorne School in Wheeling.

Although he's never had any formal musical training, Dist. 21 custodian Ricardo Lumbreraz has been playing the saxophone for nearly 20 years in the eight-piece band which he and his two brothers helped to form.

The three brothers also host their own Spanish radio program, broadcast Monday through Friday over station WEAW in Evanston, and sponsor dances each Sunday at Chevy Chase Country Club in Wheeling.

And if that were not enough, Lumbreraz also helps his wife operate a small curio shop, La Casa De Alegria, on Milwaukee Avenue in Wheeling. The shop caters to imported items from Mexico, the country of his forefathers. The family lives in nearby Northbrook.

LUMBRERAZ SAID he first became interested in music while growing up in Texas.

"My father played the accordion and I learned some from him. I play by ear. I can't read music," he explained.

Lumbreraz and his brothers Joe and Henry formed their own band in 1953, shortly after they came to the Chicago area from Texas.

"I came from Texas with my two brothers and sister because of the opportunities here. We were fancy free, and then we all got married after we got here and settled down. I like it pretty well here. When I first came it was hard to get used to the cold, but now when I go back to Texas I can't get used to the heat. I have good work here. I've been a custodian for 13 years, and it's good steady work," Lumbreraz said.

Lumbreraz and his brother Joe play both the alto and tenor saxophones, while Henry performs on the guitar. The band is named "Los Alegria," which means "happiness" in English.

SPECIALISTS IN polkas, boleros and a type of Mexican cha cha music, the band performs nearly every weekend at dances and parties throughout the Chicago area.

The Los Alegria band has cut many records on the Alegria record label during the years they have been together and many are played over the Lumbreraz' radio program, which originates from the Wheeling curio shop. The show is broadcast over station WEAW weekdays from 5 to 6 p.m. through a telephone hook-up between the shop and the radio station. The band interested the station manager in the program three years ago, and it's been on the air ever since.

Lumbreraz said the band must devote many hours of rehearsal time to making a new recording.

"It's hard work, all right. This year I said would be my last year with the band. It's a real part-time job. But my daughter said, 'Oh, no Dad, you can't quit now after so many years.' And so I am still here."

The musical Lumbreraz brothers may have yet another member follow in their footsteps.

Lumbreraz' 14-year-old daughter has learned to play the organ and, reported her father, would like to become a singer with the band one day.

Pending Measure Could Pull Village Out Of Sewage Business

If pending legislation in Springfield is approved, Buffalo Grove will no longer be in the sewage treatment business or have to spend $45,000 to update its Lake County plant to meet new anti-pollution standards.

A bill placing the responsibility for sewage treatment and disposal in Lake County on six subregional waste water districts will be considered by the Illinois Senate shortly.

If the bill becomes law one of the waste water districts would take over operation of the Buffalo Grove Lake County sewage treatment plant from the village and gradually phase it out of operation, Lake County Public Works Director Robert Deegan said.

DEEGAN TOLD the Herald yesterday Sen. Jack Kneupper, R-Elmhurst, the bill's sponsor in the senate, plans to introduce the bill to the senate floor.

Deegan said the Senator told him he will bring the bill to the floor "very shortly," with some added amendments designed to increase the bill's chances of passing.

The bill was introduced in the house last session by Rep. John Henry Kleine, R-Lake Forest. The bill was passed by the house, but was referred to the Senate Local Government Committee where it remained when the legislature adjourned.

The legislation would solve the problem of future waste disposal in the Lake County portion of Buffalo Grove. In the past, village expansion has been hampered somewhat by the lack of adequate sewage treatment facilities. Especially affected would be the commercial and apartment area developing on both sides of Rte. 83.

BUFFALO GROVE is currently considering several improvements in the Lake County plant, but is reluctant to spend the money because of the waste water district proposal.

If the bill passes, the village would then not have to pay for sewage treatment expansion or be concerned with updating the plant to meet the new anti-pollution standards that will go into effect next July.

Deegan said under the plan municipalities west of the Tri-State Tollway would drain their sewage into a central treatment plant on Milwaukee Avenue, north of Wheeling. The subregional district would then provide sewer interceptors to each of the new communities.

If the bill becomes law, the subregional districts would operate in much the same manner that the Metropolitan Sanitary District operates in Cook County. Deegan explained the districts would be governed by a board appointed by the county board. He said the board would be composed of one man from each of the subdistricts.

"The districts would have the power, by referendum, to sell general obligation bonds to construct treatment plants and interceptors for the district's they serve. The sale of these bonds would be subject to the approval of the county board before issuance," Deegan said.

Deegan said he feels the senate is considering the bill this session because "the problem of pollution brought the bill to the forefront."

Jaycees To Hold Las Vegas Night

The Wheeling Jaycees will hold their annual Las Vegas Night on Saturday, Nov. 6 at the Chevy Chase Country Club on Milwaukee Avenue north of Wheeling.

Las Vegas style games are played at the annual event from 7:30 p.m. until midnight.

Tickets are available from any Wheeling Jaycee or call Clete Fischer at 537-8013.

Persons attending the Las Vegas Night in western attire receive a bonus. Prizes donated by Wheeling businessmen will be auctioned off at the end of the evening.

This Morning In Brief

The Nation

President Nixon had decided on his two nominees for the Supreme Court despite reports that the American Bar Association's judiciary committee pronounced the two unqualified to serve. The President announced on nationwide radio and television that he has selected Hershel H. Friday and Judge Mildred L. Lillie. Friday, 49, is a prominent municipal bond lawyer from Little Rock, Ark. Mrs. Lillie, 56, is judge of the California District Court of Appeals in Los Angeles. Both are Democrats.

Charles (Tex) Watson was sentenced to death in the gas chamber for the Sharon Tate-Leno LaBlanca murders, making the sentence unanimous for the Charles Manson "family" members tried for the seven bloody slayings. Manson, 35, was refused a possible penalty of life imprisonment by the same jury of six men and six women that had convicted him of first degree murder and rejected his plea of innocent by reason of insanity.

The State

A Chicago-to-Peoria commuter airliner carrying at least 14 passengers and two crew members crashed when it hit a power line on an approach run to the Greater Peoria Airport. There were no survivors. A list of dead has not been released, according to the Federal Aviation Administration.

A workmen's compensation package providing increases in most areas of nearly 20 per cent but falling well below the levels sought by Democrats, has cleared the Illinois House.

Young men in Illinois have lost the chance to marry at 18 without their parents' consent. The Illinois House upheld Gov. Ogilvie's veto of a bill that gave 18-year-old men the same right that women have to wed at 18 without parental approval.

The World

A Hungarian correspondent reported from Peking that Chinese leaders are discussing political problems, and particularly Vietnam, with presidential advisor Henry A. Kissinger. The writer said Kissinger and Premier Chou-En-lai talked not only about "technical details" of President Nixon's forthcoming visit to Red China, but also the "political questions" connected with it.

Pablo Neruda, loved and admired as a poet but controversial as a Marxist politician and diplomat, won the 1971 Nobel literature prize.

Egyptian Vice President Hussein Shafie said that 800,000 Egyptian troops stand ready to embark on a "battle of destiny" by the end of the year to liberate Arab territories occupied by Israel.

The War

Another group of GIs refused to go on patrol last week in Vietnam — the same thing the men they were sent to replace did — until the defense commander explained why the patrol was necessary, the soldiers involved said. In action near Saigon, Communist gunners shelled the Tay Ninh airfield, killing at least four persons and destroying seven U.S. trucks. The Communists also attacked U.S. Fire Base Pace with rocket and heavy weapons fire.

The Market

Stocks attempted a late-session recovery but the rally fell short and the market closed lower for the seventh straight session. The Dow Jones Average slipped 0.80 to 854.85. Of the 1,679 issues traded, declines topped advances, 744-609, on the New York Stock Exchange. Volume was 14.9 million shares, down from 16.3 million the day before. Corning Glass lost another 4 1/2 points after slipping 14 the day before.

SHIPBOARD FIRES, and how to fight them was the subject of a training session given recently to 50 cadets in the Wheeling High School Junior Naval Reserve Officer Training Corps program. The cadets fought simulated fires at the Great Lakes Naval Training Center's fire fighting training unit.

'Governor's Band' Receives Award

by TOM VON MALDER

'At attention, you guys.'

White-gloved salutes replaced nervous shuffles and bored looks as Governor Richard B. Ogilvie walked down the double row of John Hersey High School Pomerets, the girls' drill team.

The some 50 girls, in their orange uniforms with brown trim and berets, met the governor as he arrived at the high school to present a trophy to the school's band.

Ogilvie arrived at the Arlington Heights school about 6:45 p.m. He was met by the Pomerets, school officials and special guests at the door. Inside, he stood through a playing of the National Anthem by the band.

Then there was the award, which was won last August during the band competition at the Illinois State Fair in Springfield. The Hersey band, under the direction of Donald Caneva, came in first over some 40 other bands from throughout the state. This made the Hersey band the "Governor's Band."

The award to the marching band was presented to Caneva and drum major Neil Firth of Mount Prospect. The ceremony took place in the school's gym, which was about a third full with band members and parents of band members.

In his remarks, Ogilvie said it was a "splendid band."

"I have had the pleasure of watching you perform at the All Star Football game this summer in Chicago," he said. He said he had unfortunately missed the competition in Springfield.

The governor congratulated the band for their "degree of discipline." "I'm sure no one drafted you into this band," he told them.

After commending their "magnificent effort," Ogilvie presented the award. In return, Firth gave the governor a copy of the band's record and two boxes of candy.

Sale of the candy represents the present band fund-raising project.

Caneva accepted the award by thanking the governor and speculating on what achievement would be next for the band. "There's always another contest to win, another excellent program to give," Caneva said.

Ogilvie then left, 13 minutes after he arrived. He had another appearance to make, this one at Arlington Park Towers.

Eat Out For Fund

The Wheeling-Buffalo Grove United Fund will receive half of the profits from sales at the McDonald's Restaurant, 188 E. Dundee Rd., Wheeling, on Sunday.

The event is part of the United Fund's campaign to raise $7,000 in the two villages.

'Trick Or Treat' For UNICEF

The Achim Lodge of the B'nei B'rith will sponsor a "Trick or Treat for UNICEF" drive in the Buffalo Grove-northern Arlington Heights area over Halloween.

The drive is designed to collect money for UNICEF—the United Nations International Children's Emergency Fund.

Children will be going door-to-door in their truck or treat costumes, but instead of asking candy, they will ask residents to give their spare change to UNICEF, according to Norm Cutler, vice president of the lodge and coordinator of the drive.

Interested persons can obtain collection kits at the North Point State Bank in the North Point shopping center at Rand and Arlington Heights roads, or from one of the area chairmen. To get a collection Berkeley Square call 394-2522; in Northgate call 255-7450 and in the Strathmore area call 537-3036.

Cutler said, "Our decision to sponsor the drive was affected not only by our understanding of the worthwhile work which this organization (UNICEF) does, but also by our concern for our children."

"We read with horror the stories which appear each Halloween detailing the harm caused by some apparently disturbed individuals who put dangerous and foreign objects in the treats they dispense. Since our children do not suffer for a lack of sweets, we feel that a trick or treat for UNICEF program gives them a feeling of true accomplishment."

Burglars Loot Camping Van

Burglars cleaned out a camping van early yesterday morning at 100 Deborah Ln in Wheeling.

John J. Wagner who lives at the address called police at 7:10 a.m. yesterday to report the thefts.

Wheeling Police said a rear seat unit in the camper which converted to a bed was taken. It was valued at $300.

Other items taken included a three-burner gas camping stove valued at $150, a custom made cabinet valued at $70, a folding table worth $50 and miscellaneous items such as wall panels, curtains, two sleeping bags and a fishing tackle box.

A neighbor told police he had been awakened early Thursday morning by a noise and had seen two men drive away from the parking lot in a panel truck similar to the camper.

Waukegan Man

Injured By Truck

A Waukegan man working on the Checker Road repairs was struck and knocked into a ditch by a truck.

James Ahlstrom, 34, was reported in good condition in Condeil Hospital, Libertyville with an injured left ankle.

Police said Glenn Savattaro, 28, of La Grange was backing his truck to unload road repair materials when it struck Ahlstrom, an employee of the Skokie Valley Asphalt Co.

Joyce Kilmer School

Open House Tuesday

An open house will be held Tuesday beginning at 8 p.m. at Joyce Kilmer School in Wheeling. The program is being sponsored by the Kilmer PTA.

A short business meeting of the PTA will precede the open house. Following the meeting, visitors will be able to visit their children's classrooms and meet the teaching staff.

Examples of student work will be on display. Refreshments will be served in the school gymnasium at the conclusion

Preschool Story Hour Planned At Library

Registration is now open at the Wheeling Public Library for a series of preschool story hours that will be offered at the library next month.

There will be two story hour sessions for preschoolers each Tuesday in November. The first session will run from 9:30 a.m. to 10 a.m.; the second will be from 10:30 a.m. to 11 a.m.

Three and four-year-olds, as well as prekindergarten 5-year-olds will be eligible to participate in the story hours.

Parents should register their children in the program in person at the Wheeling Public Library, 350 Jenkins Ct., Wheel-

New High School Policy Gives Pupils Freedom

by BETSY BROOKER

New limits of student freedom have been set at Palatine High School in Dist. 211.

A new policy implemented in the school this week has transformed the traditional study hall period into a free study period. Students are no longer confined to one room during their study period, but may move about the nonacademic area of the school and take advantage of a variety of school services.

Palatine High School is the second district school to adopt the new policy. A study hall option plan was introduced at Conant High School on a pilot basis last spring. The Dist. 211 School Board gave the "go ahead" to Palatine at a meeting last week.

ADOPTION OF THE new policy at Palatine was recommended by a committee of 10 teachers and administrators at the school. The committee examined the study hall option plan last spring.

In its report, the committee said: "Widespread agreement exists among administrators, teachers and students that the present system of required attendance in study halls no longer fulfills the educational needs of large numbers of students. Opportunities for study available through the present system are not being widely used, partly due to the aura of regimentation and compulsion which surrounds the system."

The committee believes the new policy will provide students with a variety of learning opportunities and will give them a social break in the school day.

Sophomores, juniors and seniors have from one to two free study periods each day. They may now use these periods for a variety of activities proposed by the committee. The only students who have no options during their study period are beginning freshmen, students on the failure list, and students who have a discipline problem. These students must attend a "compulsory study hall."

Options open to the other students during the study period include: socializing in the cafeteria; joining a group conference; visiting the library and attending a voluntary quiet study hall. The students may also participate in various services, such as tutoring; make-up tests; attend educational presentations, such as movies and counsel with teachers.

ACCORDING TO Palatine Principal Leonard Newendorp, "the new program will not disrupt the regular classes. The activities available to the students during their study periods are confined to one central area." This area includes the library and study halls, located above the cafeteria in the new wing of the school. The two areas are connected by a stairway, so students will not have to pass regular classrooms in moving from one area to another.

Newendorp cited the opportunity for more student service as one of the biggest advantages of the study hall option plan. The committee suggested students tutor other students and that students assist teachers.

The committee also proposed that the student council serve as a clearinghouse for service opportunities. "By contacting department chairman, guidance counselors and other key personnel the council could identify needs for student services. The council could then recruit students to fill these needs."

Another highlight of the new plan is the group discussions option. A room has been set aside for this purpose and the committee has proposed dividing the room into conference areas with partitions.

For the student with failing grades, the committee has proposed "how-to-study" seminars in addition to student tutors. These students would be released from the compulsory study hall to receive help in their studies.

A roving supervisor will be assigned to each period to keep order. A set procedure has been established for penalizing misconduct. A student may appeal a penalty up to the school principal.

Motor Fuel Tax Fund Used For Traffic Lights

The Palatine Village Board has approved the appropriation of $47,000 from motor fuel tax funds to purchase and install permanent traffic signals at Smith and Colfax streets.

Installation of the lights will be coordinated with the paving and road improvements to be made on Colfax west of Smith to Quentin Road, although no date has been set for the work.

Although some question was raised on the high cost of the traffic signals, Mayor Jack Moodie explained Monday night that the village paid $36,000 for full signalization at Palatine and Rohlwing roads four years ago.

The $47,000 is only an estimate of the cost. The board's action authorized the appropriation of $47,000, although actual bids on the project may be lower.

Court determination of the percentage of special assessment and public benefit for the Colfax Road improvement project must first be established before the signal lights can be installed.

The village board recommended in June the project be financed through 70 per cent public benefit from general village funds and 30 per cent special assessment on the property owners along Colfax Street.

Besides the lights on Smith and Colfax, the village will also get a temporary traffic signal at Palatine Road and Smith, which is presently being installed by the Metropolitan Sanitary District (MSD). The light will accommodate traffic that is being rerouted from Colfax Street during the MSD sewer installation work being done on Colfax.

MSD, and not Palatine, is paying for the temporary Smith-Palatine light.

MYBAMALION, GEORGE Bernard Shaw's play which was later adapted to the popular musical, "My Fair Lady," will be presented this weekend at Fremd High School. Kate Ferry, left, as Eliza Doolittle, chats with Pat Ormerod, who plays Mrs. Hill, in a recent dress rehearsal.

Performances will be at 8 tonight, and tomorrow night in the school cafeteria. Reserved seats are $1.50, general admission, $1. The show is being directed by Stephanie Lawrence, drama coach at the school.

Condominium Mix Change Requested

Developers of the Willow Creek complex at Rohlwing and Northwest Highway have asked the Palatine Village Board to allow a change in the mix of condominiums to increase the number of three-bedroom units from 75 to 100.

Allan Grossman, architect for Centex-Winston, Corp., developers of Willow Creek, told the board the change in the mix would not change the total number of units planned for the project but would increase the overall room count.

Grossman said that since Centex-Winston has converted from apartments to condominiums in Willow Creek, there has been a greater demand for units with more rooms.

"Renters will tolerate smaller units because they know that when the lease expires they can change," he told the board. In condominium purchase, the home is permanent and people expect more for their money, he said.

THIS HAS BROUGHT a demand for additional rooms, such as dining rooms, libraries, dens and guest rooms not allowed in the present mix established by village ordinance, he said.

"We're running out of a saleable product," Grossman said. "It's hard to get rid of a one-bedroom place."

Although the change would increase the number of rooms, Grossman said a survey of the present Willow Creek residents showed few school-age children would live in the development.

"We've been getting a lot of older people and empty nesters," Grossman

Charge Man With Theft Of Chair

A 22-year-old man was arrested by Palatine police early yesterday and charged with the theft of a restaurant chair.

Michael Garrod, 153 W. Carlton Ave., Palatine, was arrested at 12:15 a.m. outside Imperiale's Restaurant, 38 S. Northwest Highway.

Police said he was putting a black wrought iron chair with red cushions into his car.

Imperiale's owner Pat Puccia, who called police, said the $80 chair belonged to the restaurant.

Garrod was ordered to appear Nov. 18 in Cook County Circuit Court, Arlington Heights, on the charge.

Health Care Must Improve, Ogilvie Says

Gov. Ogilvie told an assembly of Illinois hospital administrators last night that state health care is a "19th century system which cannot function to meet the needs of the 20th and 21st centuries."

As guest speaker at the annual dinner of the Illinois Hospital Association at the Arlington Park Towers, Ogilvie said an improved medical program involves efficient financing. He made it clear that the present state funding system in which hospitals have been receiving $99 per day for services costing only $88 must be changed.

"There will be year-end reconciliation with your actual costs," he told the officials. Ogilvie also cited the increasing costs of Medicaid in Illinois which have grown from $81 million in 1966 to an estimated $435 million in fiscal 1972.

"OUR COSTS HAVE stripped away any increases in productivity."

Partly as a result of the Medicaid failures, Ogilvie said per-day hospital costs rose from $48 per day in 1966 to $88 in 1971.

"The overall burden of welfare has forced us to sharply curtail vital state initiatives in many other areas, especially education," he said.

Ogilvie estimated a $12 million a year savings to taxpayers if the hospital stay of each welfare patient is reduced by one day while also maintaining quality patient care.

HE CITED THE support of the Illinois Hospital Association in creation of statewide trauma centers which he predicted will save hundreds of lives. The establishment of the trauma programs, Ogilvie said, required Illinois hospitals to "look at themselves in the context of the communities they serve" and to shed the point of view that they are self-contained institutions.

He asked for leadership from Illinois hospital administrators in improving state health care.

Cartoon Festival Monday At Addams

A cartoon festival will be held Monday for youngsters at Jane Addams School, 1020 E. Sayles Dr., Palatine.

The 90-minute show is to begin at 1:30 p.m. Admission is 35 cents for children. Adults will be admitted free. Preschool youngsters may attend if accompanied by an adult.

The cartoons are sponsored by the school PTA. School will not be in session Monday because of Veterans Day.

Stewardship Rally Slated At Church

Trinity Lutheran Church in Rolling Meadows will hold its first annual stewardship rally at 5 p.m. Nov. 7.

The evening will begin with a supper and then feature inspiration and entertainment. A skit will be put on by the youth in the congregation.

During the informational part of the program, the elementary and preschool children will see a Walt Disney film. Babysitting service will also be provided for very small children.

Reservations for the stewardship rally can be made by calling the church.

This Morning In Brief

The Nation

President Nixon's surprise nominations of William H. Rehnquist and Lewis F. Powell Jr., to the Supreme Court caught the Senate off guard. Chairman James O. Eastland, D-Miss., of the Judiciary Committee acknowledged he did not even know Powell. Rehnquist, 47, a Republican and former lawyer from Phoenix, Ariz., is chief legal counsel in the Justice Department and a staunch advocate of balancing the rights of society against those of criminal suspects. Powell, 64, a Democrat, is former president of the American Bar Association with a reputation of support for improved public education.

Charles (Tex) Watson was sentenced to death in the gas chamber for the Sharon Tate-Leno LaBlanca murders, making the sentence unanimous for the Charles Manson "family" members tried for the seven bloody slayings. Manson, 25, was refused a possible penalty of life imprisonment by the same jury of six men and six women that had convicted him of first degree murder and rejected his plea of innocent by reason of insanity.

The State

A Chicago-to-Peoria commuter airliner carrying at least 14 passengers and two crew members crashed when it hit a power line on an approach run to the Greater Peoria Airport. There were no survivors. A list of dead has not been released, according to the Federal Aviation Administration.

A workmen's compensation package providing increases in most areas of nearly 20 per cent but falling well below the levels sought by Democrats, has cleared the Illinois House.

Young men in Illinois have lost the chance to marry at 18 without their parents' consent. The Illinois House upheld Gov. Ogilvie's veto of a bill that gave 18-year-old men the same right that women have to wed at 18 without parental approval.

The World

A Hungarian correspondent reported from Peking that Chinese leaders are discussing political problems, and particularly Vietnam, with presidential advisor Henry A. Kissinger. The writer said Kissinger and Premier Chou En-lai talked not only about "technical details" of President Nixon's forthcoming visit to Red China, but also the "political questions" connected with it.

Pablo Neruda, loved and admired as a poet but controversial as a Marxist politician and diplomat, won the 1971 Nobel literature prize.

Egyptian Vice President Hussein Shafel said that 800,000 Egyptian troops stand ready to embark on a "battle of destiny" by the end of the year to liberate Arab territories occupied by Israel.

The War

Another group of GIs refused to go on patrol last week in Vietnam — the same thing the men they were sent to replace did — until the defense commander explained why the patrol was necessary, the soldiers involved said. In action near Saigon, Communist gunners shelled the Tay Ninh airfield, killing at least four persons and destroying seven U.S. trucks. The Communists also attacked U.S. Fire Base Pace with rocket and heavy weapons fire.

The Market

Stocks attempted a late-session recovery but the rally fell short and the market closed lower for the seventh straight session. The Dow Jones Average slipped 0.80 to 854.85. Of the 1,679 issues traded, declines topped advances, 744-609, on the New York Stock Exchange. Volume was 14.9 million shares, down from 16.3 million the day before. Corning Glass lost another 4 1/2 points after slipping 14 the day before.

Yvonne Storer

Going away parties are nice. But have you ever heard of one being held in a moving van? Ken and Tina Barry of Winston Park were totally surprised when an Atlas Van Lines moving van pulled up in front of their home on Saturday evening recently. The driver told them he had orders to pack their things and load that evening. He then asked the stunned Barrys to inspect the interior of the van. When the doors were opened the couple were greeted by their friends and neighbors who had decorated the van with chairs, tables, lights, and a well-stocked bar.

Ken and Tina joined their friends inside the van and were driven around the block to Bill and Kathy Ritter's home at 1058 E. Plate Dr. in front of which the party was held. Kathy said it was a very easy party to clean up, because they just hosed down the van.

The Barrys are now living in Massachusetts. However, I'm sure they'll never forget their wonderful friends and the unique going-away party given for them.

I THINK I'M looking forward to Halloween. But I keep remembering last year. I dressed myself in some of the most ridiculous and decrepit garb I could find. I put some horrendous green, yellow and blue paint on my face and fixed my hair Phyllis Diller style (which, admittedly, isn't too unusual for me). Then I and my eight Cub Scouts went trick or treating. As we walked down the street from one house to another passing other goblins, I was horrified that they all greeted me with "Hi, Mrs. Storer." "How are you, Yvonne?" What a blow! This year I shall go as myself — probably terrorize the neighborhood.

When the day or evening for trick or treating is announced, do remember to alert your children to the safety measures they should take. And inspect all the candy they bring home. If they are out after dark, please have some light clothing on them so they will be seen by drivers. And have a safe and happy Halloween.

Leisure Club Will Hold Fashion Show

The Palatine Leisure Club will hold a luncheon and fashion show next Wednesday.

A bus will leave the parking lot of the Palatine Savings and Loan Association, 100 W. Palatine Rd., at 11:30 a.m. for Mangam's on Beverly Lake.

The club's regular meeting will be at 11 a.m. Tuesday in the committee room at the bank.

Christian Science Board Member Talks

John Wyndham, a member of The Christian Science Board of Lectureship, will speak Monday in Palatine.

Wyndham will lecture on "Do We Think, or Just Think We Think?" at 8 p.m. in the First Church of Christ, Scientist. He contends that when people relate thought more closely to God, they find answers to individual and world problems.

who have interesting hobbies or collections. The Lake Louise PTA is planning ahead for their January meeting in which they would like to display all types of hobbies which might interest their members and the fifth and sixth graders of the school.

If you would like to be of help to Mrs. Lish, call her at 358-3746. She will be very glad to hear from you.

Wondering what to do Saturday or Sunday? Our family decided to see some fall foliage last weekend, so we took a chance and drove north into Wisconsin. The trees were not spectacularly beautiful (we hear that's the case in most places this year) but the ride was pleasant. If you, like us, have not lived here long, you might enjoy seeing the small Illinois and Wisconsin towns which constitute the heartland of America.

We drove north on Rte. 12 to Rte. 50 and on several back roads through picturesque towns such as Antioch, Grayslake, Burlington and Lake Geneva, then back onto Rte. 12. Returning, we turned off Rte. 12 to McHenry and finally got on the Northwest Highway through Woodstock, Crystal Lake and Fox Lake. We finished our tour in Barrington, enjoying a nice meal at a local restaurant.

Along the way, we stopped at farm stands, a root-beer drive-in, a candy store (where they make the product on the premises) and a woolen mill. Of course, the inevitable "pit stops" had to be made, but we highly recommend a several hour drive into the surrounding countryside. Perhaps you will be able to forget such mundane things as meetings, mortgages, and mooching relatives. It's worth a try!

Remember to call me at 358-1025 for your new items to appear right here.

EVEN SPOOKS have to practice their act, as Paul Veerman demonstrates with this mirror. He is a member of Campus Life, a high school religious group, currently converting the old Central School, Central Road and Main Street, Mount Prospect, into a haunted house which the public can tour starting tomorrow.

Speakout

Love That Warm Autumn Weather

It's not every October that you don't have to worry about what you did with last year's boots and woolen gloves.

But so far, it's been an unusually warm autumn. And local residents, in a Speakout poll yesterday, generally approved of the mid-60-degree weather.

"I think it's just marvelous," said Mrs. Margaret Nelson, 1313 Rand Rd., Arlington Heights. "I don't know what we've done to deserve this good weather, but I'm enjoying every minute of it."

Melissa Roser, 14, of 1915 E. Lillian Ln., Arlington Heights, said she likes the warm weather because she can still garden.

Mike Skinner, 4003 S. Wilke Rd., Rolling Meadows, said that if it weren't for the warm weather, he wouldn't have been able to go on a picnic or play basketball or tennis this late in the year.

Ten-year-old Joe Miller, 9 S. Forest, Palatine, likes warm weather "because I can keep my turtles outside in the swimming pool." In addition, he said, he can still play outdoors.

One Palatine woman said she liked the warm weather but feared there would be a cold winter because of it. "It seems that if you have a nice fall, it's followed by a bad winter," she said.

Cathy Stabing, 7, of 1503 W. Miner St., Arlington Heights, likes the weather just the way it is. "Because I can play games outside." Her favorites are tag and jumping rope.

Kathy Weber, of 2205 Hawk Ln., Rolling Meadows, agreed. "We can go more places when it's like this," the Rolling Meadows High School student said. "Usually when it's cold, we stay in the house."

Bingo Is Slated In Area Sunday

What apparently is the first legal Bingo game to be played in the Northwest suburbs since the game was legalized Oct. 1, will take place Sunday night at the Maine Township Jewish Congregation, 8800 Ballard Rd., Des Plaines.

Don Kirshner, officer of the congregation's Men's Club which is sponsoring the game, said, "As far as we know it's the first to be played."

Only two other groups in the Northwest suburban area to date are known to have applied for licenses to operate Bingo games.

The Buffalo Grove Fire Department has received its license from the state and is planning to initiate its bingo operation during the first week of November.

The Elk Grove Village Elks Lodge No. 2423 applied for a license in September,

but was notified two weeks ago the request had been refused because the lodge has not been in existence the five years required by law.

KIRSHNER SAID the weekly Bingo games will be held from 8:30 p.m. until 11:30 p.m., each Sunday through at least the remainder of the year. He said the series of games originally was planned to begin Oct. 31, but was moved up to this Sunday because of a favorable response.

Kirshner said he believes the congregation can realize a profit from the games, despite opinions expressed by many groups that the new law is too restrictive.

"We wouldn't be planning to go ahead with it if we didn't think we could make money," Kirshner said. He declined to explain the basis for his disagreement with other groups and added only the money would go to charity. He said there would be a regular jackpot of $100 plus a secondary prize, called a "blackout" jackpot.

"We'll call 50 numbers and give away $50 to a winner," Kirshner explained.

"IF THERE IS no winner the first week, we'll call 51 numbers the next week and raise the jackpot to $60. We'll just keep doing that until someone wins," Kirshner said.

Kirshner said the group began talking about running Bingo games in July and started working on the project when the governor signed the bill later in the month.

"There are a million and one things to get done," said Kirshner, who even traveled to New York City to observe how games were operated there.

He said workers for the games will be dressed in blazers and straw hats and refreshments will be served. Door prizes will be awarded.

Kirshner said the group will be able to accommodate about 600 people at the hall and will have to turn away any more than that number.

"I hope that's what happens," he said.

Suzuki Students Play Way Into Hearts Of Community

by KURT BAER

If the proof of music lessons can be said to be in the playing, then hundreds of Arlington Heights children and parents this week heard a musical testimonial to the wonders of the Suzuki method of violin instruction.

Suzuki's "Talent Education" program has been active in Arlington Heights for just two years, but in that short time youngsters have played their way into the hearts of the community making the Suzuki program one of the most popular in the school district.

Ten visiting musicians from Japan, aged seven to 12, came to Arlington Heights to demonstrate just how much the revolutionary instructional method can accomplish, and it's safe to say that nearly everyone who saw them was duly impressed.

Playing through classical compositions by Bach, Vivaldi and Beethoven with professional-like precision, the Japanese children had come a long way from the torturous bars of "Twinkle, Twinkle Little Star."

During the violin workshop session, Japanese instructor Mitsumasa Denda, working with an Arlington Heights preschooler, Melissa Blaker, showed how, in a matter of minutes, even a three-year-old can be taught how to hold the violin correctly and securely.

Michael Teng, 4, another Arlington Heights Suzuki student, played an intelligible rendition of the twinkling star classic that held the attention of parents and peers alike.

"GENERALLY, a young student will stay on 'Twinkle, Twinkle' for three to six months," Denda told the audience.

"It's never the children, but the parents that get tired of a piece," quipped Betty Haag, a Suzuki teacher in Arlington Heights who recently returned from Japan where she worked with Shinichi Suzuki, developer of Talent Education.

The Japanese youngsters demonstrated several of the learning drills they go through with their instructor. Marching in a circle while playing the prelude from Vivaldi's Concerto in A minor, the children enjoy an off-beat variation on musical chairs.

The object of the game is for each child to be in the same spot at the end of the piece as he was at the beginning.

Instructor Denda explains that the game builds a sense of rhythm and concentration, but to the kids it is also just plain fun.

IN JAPAN, EVERY lesson begins with a formal bow between teacher and student. It is an ancient symbol of the student's respect for the knowledge and talent of his instructor.

Although students here forego this tradition, there is in Arlington Heights, perhaps now more than ever, a similar kind of respect for the Suzuki method and the love of music it can bring to a child.

Caravan Of Cars To Open Chest Fund Drive Here

An automobile caravan through Rolling Meadows this Sunday will open the 1971 Community Chest fund drive.

The Community Chest has set a goal of $8,500 this year, and city residents have already received letters asking for pledges of $10 or more from each family.

The $10 request represents $1 for each of the 10 local agencies that benefit from the campaign.

The format of the fund drive has been changed this year. All solicitation is being done by mail. Carmen Vinezeano, campaign chairman, said door-to-door bell ringers have been eliminated because so many volunteers are tied up with other phases of the charity drive.

"We had seen the handwriting on the wall some time ago," Vinezeano said, "when we found it harder to get ward captains and volunteers, even though there are still many who would do it if asked."

"An indication of mail-ins last year was very encouraging. So we want every one of our people in Rolling Meadows to know about our decision to go by way of the mail."

Letters and pledge cards have been sent to all Rolling Meadows residents, businesses and industries, Vinezeano said. Those who wish to contribute can either fill in the pledge card or send a check in the return envelope that has been provided.

THE CAMPAIGN gets its official start Sunday when the caravan winds through town to the corner of Meadow Drive and Kirchoff Road, where the Community Chest Rocket sign will be placed under the city's weather leaf.

The rocket will chart the daily course of the campaign toward the $8,500 goal.

Vinezeano said the money collected will be distributed among 10 agencies after a decision by the local directors "as to the groups with the most need." The groups serving Rolling Meadows residents will receive the largest shares of the money, he said.

The agencies that receive funds from the campaign are the Clearbrook Center for the Retarded, in Rolling Meadows; Nurses Locker, Girl Scouts, Boy Scouts, and Northwest Mental Health Assn. in Arlington Heights; and Family Service, Northwest Homemaker, Salvation Army, Campfire Girls and United Service Organization.

Last year the drive netted $7,000, with a $6,000 goal. Most of the money came from residents. Industry's total last year was $800, but Vinezeano says he's sure that will increase.

Industrial chairman this year is Frank Carroll. Every industry and business in Rolling Meadows is being asked to support the fund drive, Vinezeano said.

This will be the fifth Community Chest drive in Rolling Meadows. The $8,500 goal is higher than any previous year.

No More Left Turns At Golf-Algonquin

Motorists accustomed to making left turns at the intersection of Rte. 58 (Golf Road) and Rte. 62 (Algonquin Road) will have to find an alternate route after Monday morning.

The state highway department plans to post "No Left Turn" signs at the intersection after the Monday morning rush hour so it can complete construction work.

A spokesman for the highway department said Nov. 15 is the target date for completion of the improvements. But until such time as the signs are removed, motorists will be prohibited from making a left turn from any direction.

Tots Play, Hear Stories

Twenty preschool children gathered at the Rolling Meadows Library this Wednesday for the first session of the preschool story hour.

The students heard a story and played games for an hour.

"We try to bring in the educational aspect and teach the children while they are having fun," said Mrs. Virginia Connell, librarian, of the special hour which runs until Dec. 15.

Registration has ended for the fall preschool story hour, but a second will be started in February or March.

The library is also conducting a story hour on Thursdays for students in grades one through six. The story hour runs from 4 to 4:45 p.m. Enrollment is not limited at this age level.

'Headache' Loss Brings On Another

On Wednesday, builder Don Paul had a "headache." On Thursday he didn't and that gave him another one.

Thieves took about $500 worth of construction materials and equipment — including a 200-pound "headache" ball — from the Salt Creek Bridge building site on Rte. 62 in Rolling Meadows early Wednesday morning.

Paul, the construction foreman, said the thieves stole the 200-pound iron ball with a hook on it that is used on cranes, a three horsepower motor and parts from another motor, and about 100 two-by-fours.

The theft was discovered yesterday morning when the site was opened for the day's work. Paul said the equipment had been chained down, but that didn't stop the thieves.

The equipment belongs to the Schless Construction Co. of Batavia. The company is building the Salt Creek Bridge.

Chief Lewis Case of the Rolling Meadows police department said yesterday afternoon that none of the property had been recovered and no arrests had been made.

One Ecology Day Deserves Another—2nd Set Oct. 30

Encouraged by the success of last month's Ecology Day, Rolling Meadows will run a second cleanup and recycling campaign Saturday, Oct. 30.

Residents with recyclable trash—paper, glass containers and cans — can bring it to the drop-off point at the city garage, 3200 Central Rd., between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m. Oct. 30.

Volunteers will be on hand to help collect the recyclables, and city equipment will be used to compact the trash and transport it to recycling plants in Chicago.

On Ecology Day last month, more than 400 Rolling Meadows residents hauled 28,700 pounds of recyclable material to the city garage. In all, 11,100 pounds of glass, 18,000 pounds of paper and 1,700 pounds of cans were collected.

Volunteer organizations realized $215.80 from the sale of the trash to the recycling plants.

BOB IANNAONE, a member of the city's Recycling-Environment-Beautification committee, which is coordinating the program, said the guidelines for this month's collection will be the same as last month.

All cans must be rinsed and separated according to their metal composition. Glass containers or bottles should be rinsed and separated by color. Metal rings from twist tops should be removed from the bottle necks.

Newspapers should be bundled, and magazines are not acceptable.

Iannaone said if Ecology Days continue to be successful, there will be one scheduled for November and another for January, 1972. He said he hopes the program can become a regular monthly event, supplemented by educational bulletins dealing with the environment. The bulletins would be published in the city newsletter.

Fun Time School Plans Changed

Schedule changes have been made for the fun time school and wrestling programs offered by the Rolling Meadows Park District.

The fall session of fun time school will start Oct. 30 at the sports complex. It will meet from 9:30 a.m. to noon. The 12 week program is open to all first through third grade students, and includes craft projects and organized games.

Wrestling, open to all fourth through eighth grade students, will meet on Thursdays at the sports complex from 7:30 to 8:45 p.m. The program is instructed by Carl Cove and begins Oct. 28 and meets weekly until March 23.

Registration for these programs can be made at the Park District Office, 1 Park Meadow Pl.

Cartoon Festival Monday At Addams

A cartoon festival will be held Monday for youngsters at Jane Addams School, 1020 E. Sayles Dr., Palatine.

The 90-minute show is to begin at 1:30 p.m. Admission is 35 cents for children. Adults will be admitted free. Preschool youngsters may attend if accompanied by an adult.

The cartoons are sponsored by the school PTA. School will not be in session Monday because of Veterans Day.

This Morning In Brief

The Nation

President Nixon's surprise nominations of William H. Rehnquist and Lewis F. Powell Jr., to the Supreme Court caught the Senate off guard. Chairman James O. Eastland, D-Miss., of the Judiciary Committee acknowledged he did not even know Powell. Rehnquist, 47, a Republican and former lawyer from Phoenix, Ariz., is chief legal counsel in the Justice Department and a staunch advocate of balancing the rights of society against those of criminal suspects. Powell, 64, a Democrat, is former president of the American Bar Association with a reputation of support for improved public education.

Charles (Tex) Watson was sentenced to death in the gas chamber for the Sharon Tate-Leno LaBianca murders, making the sentence unanimous for the Charles Manson "family" members tried for the seven bloody slayings. Manson, 25, was refused a possible penalty of life imprisonment by the same jury of six men and six women that had convicted him of first degree murder and rejected his plea of innocent by reason of insanity.

The State

A Chicago-to-Peoria commuter airliner carrying at least 14 passengers and two crew members crashed when it hit a power line on an approach run to the Greater Peoria Airport. There were no survivors. A list of dead has not been released, according to the Federal Aviation Administration.

A workmen's compensation package providing increases in most areas of nearly 20 per cent but falling well below the levels sought by Democrats, has cleared the Illinois House.

Young men in Illinois have lost the chance to marry at 18 without their parents' consent. The Illinois House upheld Gov. Ogilvie's veto of a bill that gave 18-year-old men the same right that women have to wed at 18 without parental approval.

The World

A Hungarian correspondent reported from Peking that Chinese leaders are discussing political problems, and particularly Vietnam, with presidential advisor Henry A. Kissinger. The writer said Kissinger and Premier Chou-En-lai talked not only about "technical details" of President Nixon's forthcoming visit to Red China, but also the "political questions" connected with it.

Pablo Neruda, loved and admired as a poet but controversial as a Marxist politician and diplomat, won the 1971 Nobel literature prize.

Egyptian Vice President Hussein Shafel said that 800,000 Egyptian troops stand ready to embark on a "battle of destiny" by the end of the year to liberate Arab territories occupied by Israel.

The War

Another group of GIs refused to go on patrol last week in Vietnam — the same thing the men they were sent to replace did — until the defense commander explained why the patrol was necessary, the soldiers involved said. In action near Saigon, Communist gunners shelled the Tay Ninh airfield, killing at least four persons and destroying seven U.S. trucks. The Communists also attacked U.S. Fire Base Pace with rocket and heavy weapons fire.

The Market

Stocks attempted a late-session recovery but the rally fell short and the market closed lower for the seventh straight session. The Dow Jones Average slipped 0.80 to 854.85. Of the 1,579 issues traded, declines topped advances, 744-608, on the New York Stock Exchange. Volume was 14.9 million shares, down from 16.3 million the day before. Coming Glass lost another 4 1/2 points after slipping 14 the day before.

Bratwurst and liquid refreshments will be served at the Red Garter Night at St. Colette's Church hall Saturday at 9 p.m. Prizes will be awarded for costumes, but if you don't want to wear a costume, don't stay away. The Father's Mustache Banjo Band will be on hand to play all favorites.

If you haven't ordered your tickets, ($2 per person) you can do so by calling Bob Ulbrich at 255-3829.

SPEAKING OF St. Colette's, chairs from the church hall are being sold. If you're short of chairs and would like more information, please call Walter Petersen at 259-1638.

IF YOU HAPPEN to see some high school kids wearing crazy hats and purple and white, you can be sure they attend Rolling Meadows High School. Today is Hat and Color Day, and Honor the Coaches and Athletes Day.

SINCE WEDNESDAY, when Round-up Week began, the student council, sponsored by David Zemek, has sponsored Honor the Teachers Day, a candy hunt, a scavenger hunt, Wear Your Favorite Color Day, Class President's Day, and the mystery mustang.

The mystery mustang is one student from each class who is named as the mystery mustang. The object is for the other students to try to find out who the mystery mustang is.

A parade will kick off the game between Wheeling and our sophomore Mustangs at 8 p.m. The JV teams will play at 8 p.m. Both games will be played at Rolling Meadows.

The Mustang Boosters will be providing coffee and selling purple and white knit hats for $2.50 each. Also Booster buttons will be available to all members.

Our Rolling Meadows High School band will present their first half time show at the game between Wheeling and the Mustangs this evening. The band along with the new drill team, sponsored by Betsy Cutler, physical education teacher at our high school will form diamonds on the field. Then the band will form a trumpet and feature the trumpet.

section of the band. For the Mustang Fight Song, the band will form an "M" for Mustangs while playing.

The band members will be wearing purple sweatshirts and white trousers for the games until their new uniforms, which have been ordered, arrive.

Homecoming Week will end with the semi-formal dance entitled "Beginnings," that will be held Saturday evening at the high school cafeteria from 8-11 p.m.

Mittens, scarves and caps are among some of the many hand-made items available at the Bazaar sponsored by the Golden Agers Club. The bazaar will be held on the Rolling Meadows Shopping Center mall both Friday from 10 a.m. to 9 a.m. and on Saturday from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. If they haven't sold everything by then.

The ladies from the club have been busily knitting ponchos, slippers and many other hand made items, according to Mrs. Caroline Becker, secretary of the club.

The proceeds from the bazaar will be used to help defray the cost of the bus for the group's outings.

When asked about their membership drive, Mrs. Becker said there have been some new members join their club in the past few weeks but at present time there are only about six men members. If you know anyone or you yourself are over 50 and would enjoy meeting once a week at the city hall to talk, knit, play cards or go on outings to plays, nursing homes, bakeries, please call Mrs. Becker at CL 9-1238 or drop in at the city hall on Wednesdays from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m.

EVEN SPOOKS have to practice their act, as Paul Veerman demonstrates with this mirror. He is a member of Campus Life, a high school religious group, currently converting the old Central School, Central Road and Main Street, Mount Prospect, into a haunted house which the public can tour starting tomorrow.

Speakout

Love That Warm Autumn Weather

It's not every October that you don't have to worry about what you did with last year's boots and woolen gloves.

But so far, it's been an unusually warm autumn. And local residents, in a Speakout poll yesterday, generally approved of the mid-50-degree weather.

"I think it's just marvelous," said Mrs. Margaret Nelson, 1313 Rand Rd., Arlington Heights. "I don't know what we've done to deserve this good weather, but I'm enjoying every minute of it."

Melissa Roser, 14, of 1915 E. Lillian Ln., Arlington Heights, said she likes the warm weather because she can still garden.

Mike Skinner, 4008 S. Wilke Rd., Rolling Meadows, said that if it weren't for the warm weather, he wouldn't have been able to go on a picnic or play basketball or tennis this late in the year.

Ten-year-old Joe Miller, 9 S. Forest, Palatine, likes warm weather "because I can keep my turtles outside in the swimming pool." In addition, he said, he can still play outdoors.

One Palatine woman said she liked the warm weather but feared there would be a cold winter because of it. "It seems that if you have a nice fall, it's followed by a bad winter," she said.

Cathy Stubing, 7, of 1503 W. Miner St., Arlington Heights, likes the weather just the way it is, "because I can play games outside." Her favorites are tag and jumping rope.

Kathy Weber, of 2205 Hawk Ln., Rolling Meadows, agreed. "We can go more places when it's like this," the Rolling Meadows High School student said. "Usually when it's cold, we stay in the house."

John Wyndham, a member of The Christian Science Board of Lectureship, will speak Monday in Palatine.

Wyndham will lecture on "Do We Think, or Just Think We Think?" at 8 p.m. in the First Church of Christ, Scientist. He contends that when people relate thought more closely to God, they find answers to individual and world problems.

Dodge Colt 2-door coupe

Introducing the most car for your money. DODGE COLT.

The Colt comes in four different models: 2-door coupe, 2-door hardtop, 4-door sedan and station wagon.

To show you what a bargain a Colt is—all that good stuff you see up there in the little pictures is standard—on all models.

The flow-through ventilation, disc brakes, adjustable steering column, incredibly efficient engine, trunk-lid antenna (except the wagon)—they're all standard.

Of course, so are the variable-ratio steering and the four headlights (instead of the two you get on a lot of small cars). And the fully synchronized, floor-mounted, 4-speed gearbox. (We think it's the easiest shifting transmission in the industry.)

See the new little Dodge Colt today, at your nearest Dodge Colt dealer's. We think you'll agree with us. For a little car, it's a lot of car.

Site For Youth Center Will Be Discussed

Representatives of Wheeling, Buffalo Grove and Prospect Heights youth groups will meet Tuesday in an effort to find a home for a proposed youth services bureau for the three communities.

The meeting, to be held at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in the Wheeling municipal building, will include representatives of the youth groups, which are seeking a $130,000 state grant.

Wheeling trustee Edward Berger said yesterday that a youth center "is something we have been needing for a long time."

Berger called the meeting but he said he had no specific plans for what will be discussed at the meeting, called at the request of the Wheeling Youth Commission, Help, Inc. and the Torch Community Mental Health Clinic.

Ruth Weider of Help, Inc. said yesterday the three organizations are looking for both an immediate location to serve as a temporary headquarters and for the long-range plan to acquire a permanent center.

SHE EXPLAINED that the three organizations are cooperating with the Village of Wheeling as well as other local groups and agencies in the project.

Richard Wynn, director of the Torch clinic, explained that since the proposal for the state grant is receiving its final consideration, the question of where the bureau will be housed needs to be answered.

Wynn said if the grant is approved the bureau will need location by Jan. 1 when it will receive the funds.

He said that included in the $185,000 budget for the program is $12,000 for acquiring a facility and $4,000 for renovation to put it into operation. Those funds are part of the 33 per cent of the funding expected to come from local contributions either of cash or of what Wynn calls "contributions-in-kind," such as donations of land for the center, building materials or labor.

HE EXPLAINED that the Illinois Law Enforcement Commission, which is considering a request for a $130,000 grant, wants to evaluate both temporary and long-range location proposals for the bureau as part of its consideration of the application.

Wynn had estimated earlier this month that the ILEC should have made a decision on the request by December.

The aim of the new program would be to prevent and solve adolescent problems involving delinquent behavior in the three communities. Programs would include establishment of a youth services center, providing counseling and emergency services to youth, use of community resources to combat youth problems and ongoing evaluation of the effectiveness of the program.

A JOHN HERSEY High School band member waits for Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie's arrival at the Arlington Heights school last night. Ogilvie presented the trophy honoring the band's first place showing at the Illinois State Fair competition last August. Band director Donald Caneva accepted the award.

Hersey Band Gets Honor From Ogilvie

by TOM VON MALDER

"At attention, you guys."

White-gloved salutes replaced nervous shuffles and bored looks as Governor Richard B. Ogilvie walked down the double row of John Hersey High School Pomerets, the girls' drill team.

The some 50 girls, in their orange uniforms with brown trim and berets, met the governor as he arrived at the high school to present a trophy to the school's band.

Ogilvie arrived at the Arlington Heights school about 6:45 p.m. He was met by the Pomerets, school officials and special guests at the door. Inside, he stood through a playing of the National Anthem by the band.

Then there was the award, which was won last August during the band competition at the Illinois State Fair in Springfield. The Hersey band, under the direction of Donald Caneva, came in first over some 40 other bands from throughout the state. This made the Hersey band the "Governor's Band."

The award to the marching band was presented to Caneva and drum major Neil Firth of Mount Prospect. The ceremony took place in the school's gym, which was about a third full with band members and parents of band members.

In his remarks, Ogilvie said it was a "splendid band."

"I have had the pleasure of watching you perform at the All Star Football game this summer in Chicago," he said. He said he had unfortunately missed the competition in Springfield.

The governor congratulated the band for their "degree of discipline."

"I'm sure no one drafted you into this band, he told them.

After commending their "magnificent effort," Ogilvie presented the award. In return, Firth gave the governor a copy of the band's record and two boxes of candy. Sale of the candy represents the present band fund-raising project.

Caneva accepted the award by thanking the governor and speculating on what achievement would be next for the band. "There's always another contest to win, another excellent program to give," Caneva said.

Ogilvie then left, 13 minutes after he arrived. He had another appearance to make, this one at Arlington Park Towers.

Campus Life Haunted House Opening

Ghosts, Ghouls Lurk In Shadows

Goblins, ghosts and ghouls await residents tonight as Campus Life opens its haunted house in Mount Prospect.

Members of Campus Life, a high school religious group, have been working to convert the basement and first floor of old Central School, Main Street and Central Road into a spook house. Paul Veerman, Campus Life spokesman, estimates it cost $2,500 to transform the school into a chamber of horrors.

Veerman said he expects about 10,000 people to tour the house during its seven-day run. The house will be open from 7 p.m. to 11 p.m. tonight and tomorrow. It will reopen Tuesday until Oct. 30. Open hours are from 7 p.m. to 10:30 p.m. weekdays and 7 p.m. to 11 p.m. weekends. Veerman said the house may be open Halloween, depending on the demand.

Last year during four days of operation, the haunted house was toured by more than 4,000 people. Another 3,000 were turned away.

FEATURES OF THE frightening event will include a spider room, Dracula's Den, a fog room, a live boa constrictor and a gorilla room. Children under seventh grade are not allowed and seventh and eighth graders must be accompanied by an adult.

"This is mostly for high school age," explained Veerman. "One year we let junior high school age kids in without parents and they ripped the place apart. They were so afraid they struck back against it."

Admission charge is $1.25 at the door and $1 if tickets are purchased before the event from area Campus Life organizations. Tickets can also be purchased by calling the Campus Life office at 259-5144.

Veerman advised visitors to wear old clothes "because they'll have to crawl around." He said partitions have been used to create small rooms and a route through the building.

In two previous years, the scary activities have been held in old, about-to-be destroyed homes in Arlington Heights.

Veerman said there are no plans for Central School, which has been rented by Campus Life, to be torn down, however.

"The day after the house closes we will return it to its original state," he said. "The building is electrically sound and we will just be using our electrical things for effect."

THE MOUNT PROSPECT Fire Department has inspected the house to make sure it complies with fire regulations. Two fire guards will be on duty each night, according to Fire Chief Larry Fairitz.

Veerman said the haunted house project is conducted all over the country as part of a national Campus Life program. He said in the previous three years, the local organization has not made any money on the project. "It just gives the kids something to do and promotes Campus Life," he said.

He said that any profits from the project would go toward a new staff and club programs. The Campus Life office in Arlington Heights serves the Northwest suburbs, North Shore suburbs, Lake County and McHenry County. The organization has clubs in Dist. 211 and 214 high schools. The group's formal name is the North Area Youth for Christ.

Bike Commuters Warned

Commuters who bicycle to the Chicago and North Western Rwy. station in Mount Prospect are being warned by police that many of them are parking in violation of the village ordinance.

Mount Prospect Acting Police Chief John Savage said numerous bicycles are being chained to trees, signposts and parking meters. These are all violations he said. The bicycles should be parked and properly chained to the bicycle racks provided by the public works department.

Around the Mount Prospect depot there are three bicycle racks for commuters. There is one rack by the main depot, one by the car wash and one in the west parking lot. Each rack holds up to 50 bicycles.

ALTHOUGH SAVAGE commended the bike riders for their efforts to reduce pollution and automobile parking problems, he said they should remember that bicycles are subject to the same rules as automobiles. The bicycle "Rules of the Road" can be obtained by writing the secretary of state's office in Springfield.

Savage also said that all bicycles owned by Mount Prospect residents have to be licensed. The licenses, which are free, can be picked up at the Municipal Building, 112 E. Northwest Hwy.

Rummage Sale For Hotline

A rummage sale to benefit the Hotline project in Wheeling, Buffalo Grove and Prospect Heights will be held tomorrow at 105 Wilshire Dr., Wheeling.

The sale will run from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. and is sponsored by HELP, Inc., an organization of local residents.

Items to be sold include toys, games and clothing. All items will be sold at half price.

A surprise clearance will be held from 5 p.m. to 6 p.m. during the rummage sale. Bags of items will be sold at $1 a bag.

The Hotline program in the three communities provides a telephone number referral to agencies able to handle social, medical, emotional or related problems.

Car Stolen From Railway Station

A 1964 station wagon was reported stolen sometime Wednesday from a downtown Chicago and North Western Rwy. commuter parking lot. The owner, Victor O. Herman, of 523 N. Elm St., told police the car was valued at $800.

This Morning In Brief

The Nation

President Nixon's surprise nominations of William H. Rehnquist and Lewis F. Powell Jr., to the Supreme Court caught the Senate off guard. Chairman James O. Eastland, D-Miss., of the Judiciary Committee acknowledged he did not even know Powell. Rehnquist, 47, a Republican and former lawyer from Phoenix, Ariz., is chief legal counsel in the Justice Department and a staunch advocate of balancing the rights of society against those of criminal suspects. Powell, 64, a Democrat, is former president of the American Bar Association with a reputation of support for improved public education.

Charles (Tex) Watson was sentenced to death in the gas chamber for the Sharon Tate-Leno LaBianca murders, making the sentence unanimous for the Charles Manson "family" members tried for the seven bloody slayings. Manson, 25, was refused a possible penalty of life imprisonment by the same jury of six men and six women that had convicted him of first degree murder and rejected his plea of innocent by reason of insanity.

The State

A Chicago-to-Peoria commuter airliner carrying at least 14 passengers and two crew members crashed when it hit a power line on an approach run to the Greater Peoria Airport. There were no survivors. A list of dead has not been released, according to the Federal Aviation Administration.

A workmen's compensation package providing increases in most areas of nearly 20 per cent but falling well below the levels sought by Democrats, has cleared the Illinois House.

Young men in Illinois have lost the chance to marry at 18 without their parents' consent. The Illinois House upheld Gov. Ogilvie's veto of a bill that gave 18-year-old men the same right that women have to wed at 18 without parental approval.

The World

A Hungarian correspondent reported from Peking that Chinese leaders are discussing political problems, and particularly Vietnam, with presidential advisor Henry A. Kissinger. The writer said Kissinger and Premier Chou-En-lai talked not only about "technical details" of President Nixon's forthcoming visit to Red China, but also the "political questions" connected with it.

Pablo Neruda, loved and admired as a poet but controversial as a Marxist politician and diplomat, won the 1971 Nobel literature prize.

Egyptian Vice President Hussein Shafat said that 800,000 Egyptian troops stand ready to embark on a "battle of destiny" by the end of the year to liberate Arab territories occupied by Israel.

The War

Another group of GIs refused to go on patrol last week in Vietnam — the same thing the men they were sent to replace did — until the defense commander explained why the patrol was necessary, the soldiers involved said. In action near Saigon, Communist gunners shelled the Tay Ninh airfield, killing at least four persons and destroying seven U.S. trucks. The Communists also attacked U.S. Fire Base Pace with rocket and heavy weapons fire.

The Market

Stocks attempted a late-session recovery but the rally fell short and the market closed lower for the seventh straight session. The Dow Jones Average slipped 0.80 to 854.85. Of the 1,679 issues traded, declines topped advances, 744-699, on the New York Stock Exchange. Volume was 14.9 million shares, down from 16.3 million the day before. Corning Glass lost another 4 1/2 points after slipping 14 the day before.

Taking colored slides, movies, or Polaroid snapshots is a popular hobby in suburbia. However, one local couple has put this interest in amateur photography to a special use — helping deaf and hard of hearing children.

When their son, along with other deaf children, was assigned part-time to a regular kindergarten class at a local school, Bob and Barbara Lunaburg were concerned. They recognized that many regular classroom teachers are not prepared to handle children with a hearing impairment. And so they decided to make a slide presentation to help teachers understand these children.

The result was "Stones Fall Softly on Velvet," a series of slides with a synchronized tape recording. Bob and Barbara shot scenes in a doctor's office, around their home, at the Northwestern University clinic, at a place where ear molds are made, and at Prospect Heights Community Church, where neighborhood children helped set up a mock classroom scene.

Since its completion, "Stones Fall Softly on Velvet" has been shown to teachers at schools with hearing impaired children, nurses who work with deaf people, high school students who are thinking about going into special education, and special education teachers.

based on the Lunaburgs' slides. "I'm happy to see anything that brings publicity to the plight of deaf children," says Barbara.

"BEYOND SILENCE" is the title of the couple's next project. This recently completed slide presentation focuses on the work being done at the Northwestern University clinic, which their son attends. It is now being used by the university for promotion purposes.

In his spare time, Bob has also invented and constructed an interesting variety of devices to help make learning fun for deaf children at the university clinic. One is an electric candle, designed to help children learn to blow. Another is a "light machine," which children use to reproduce patterns of light. With another device, youngsters selecting a correct answer are rewarded with a clown lighting up.

Now the Lunaburgs are planning still another slide series. This one will be for SLIDES (Suburban Low Incidence Development Exemplary Services), which serves blind, deaf, and multiply handicapped children.

"Wings of Gold" were recently presented to Navy Lieutenant Paul Christiansen at Chase Field Naval Air Station, Beaville, Texas. This designation as a naval aviator followed 18 months of intensive ground instruction and flight training. Lt. Christiansen is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Christiansen of 303 N. Pine St.

Trustee Recovers Purse, Gets T-Bone

Many wives of the trustees accompanied their husbands to Peoria last weekend for the Illinois Municipal League Conference. Included among them was Florence Richardson, wife of Errol F. Richardson, the newest trustee. A would-be-thief grabbed Mrs. Richardson's purse and took off down the street. However, he was not alone. Anderson was in close pursuit. So close that the thief finally threw the purse at Anderson.

Anderson's reward was the only T-bone steak the restaurant had that evening, according to Mayor Robert D. Teichert who told the story at Tuesday night's board meeting.

IT TAKES BOTH Dennis, left, and Jeffrey Witte to handle this 100-pound pumpkin. But they're hoping to get a head start on the Mount Prospect Plaza Pumpkin Days. Seven tons of pumpkins will be given away Saturday morning. A cash register receipt from a Plaza store is all that is needed to get a pumpkin. Children can then enter their carved pumpkins Oct. 27 through Oct. 30 in the Scanda House pumpkin carving contest at the Plaza, Rand and Central roads, Mount Prospect.

ICE House To Be Operating By November

The Mount Prospect ICE House will be in full operation by Nov. 1 with all seven of its volunteer counselors handling cases, according to Jackie Christensen, social therapist.

She said three of the seven counselors are already handling cases. The counselors are Steve Neff, Delight Eilering, Lonna Radunsky, Ray Giese, Rosemary McDonough, Pat Reardon and Carol Hamilton.

The ICE House provides counseling on marriage problems, family problems and problems of children in schools. The center is sponsored by the Community Action Plan, a community-wide effort to meet social problems. There is no charge for the services at the center, 214 S. Emerson St. The telephone number is 394-0400.

Mrs. Christensen also said the center had received contributions of $200 from

Continue Search For Illegal Aliens

by WANDALYN RICE

Immigration agents will continue raids on the industrial area of Elk Grove Village and surrounding communities in their search for illegal aliens, according to Robert Germain, deputy district director for the U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service.

"We will be back, but we don't want to say when we're coming," Germain said yesterday. A Wednesday afternoon raid resulted in the arrest of 37 persons in Centex Industrial Park.

Ten more persons were arrested later Wednesday night in DuPage County south of Elk Grove Village, he said. Seven women who were picked up were released on their own recognizance and the men were to be sent back to Mexico by bus last night, he said.

The women all had children and other family members in the area, Germain said, and will be given the opportunity to return to their native lands voluntarily. None of the men arrested had families in the area, he said.

GERMAIN REPEATED his statement that seven employees of Field Container Corp., 1500 Nicholas Blvd., were picked up in the raid, although company officials deny it.

"We took three from the plant and the rest were picked up on the street on the way to work," Germain said.

Phillip Cooper, financial vice president for the firm, said only one illegal alien was taken from the plant and added that two others might have been picked up on the street.

"They came into our plant and interrogated 10 or 12 of our people and they took two from the plant, but they sent one back because he was a citizen," Cooper said.

Germain said agents entered some other plants in the industrial park, which he did not name, and received "good cooperation" but added that officials at Field have not been cooperative with the service.

"Field will not let us look at their employee records. Other companies let us examine their records. Generally, companies are cooperative because they do not want aliens there," he said.

GERMAIN SAID his agents try to make most of their arrests on the street because "we don't like to go into plants and disrupt their operations."

Cooper said his company has not supplied records because "what would that prove except that they have Spanish-sounding names?" he said. "They want us to harass our people who are here legally."

Cooper added that the company does not knowingly employ illegals and checks Social Security cards, which can be obtained without proof of citizenship.

"The government has the power to stop these people at the Social Security offices, but they don't," Cooper said. "They are trying to put the burden on the companies and we don't have the way to prove citizenship."

Field, which manufactures cardboard boxes, employs about 250 persons, about 70 or 80 of whom are of Mexican or Puerto Rican descent, Cooper said.

No law prevents companies from employing illegal aliens.

Passage Of Bill Could Mean $200,000 Loss To Maryville

Gov. Ogilvie's recent $80 million cutbacks in state welfare expenditures, which are expected to be approved by the current General Assembly in Springfield, will mean a loss of $200,000 for the 400 residents of Maryville Academy, 1150 N. River Rd., Des Plaines.

According to Jack LaMotte, Maryville's public relations director, 75 per cent of the funds used to support the dependent children of the academy come from the state and 25 per cent from the Catholic Charities of the Archdiocese of Chicago.

LaMotte said Maryville had been promised 78 per cent instead of a 75 per cent funding from the state this year, the result of many applications and petitions from Maryville asking for more aid to meet the rising cost of living and the cost of needed building improvements.

This promised increase would have amounted to $200,000, which LaMotte said was to be used for new educational and recreational programs and additional staff members at Maryville.

GOV. OGILVIE'S veto of certain appropriations in the welfare budget means Maryville will only get the usual 75 per cent funding from the state and plans for the extra money will have to be cancelled.

Catholic Charities, which has 2,000 dependent children who are wards of the state under its care, will lose $600,000, due to a cutback in rate reimbursement for full-time child care by welfare agencies, he said.

LaMotte said Maryville officials are "extremely disappointed" about the cutbacks. "As usual, the children will be the ones who suffer," he said.

The $200,000 was also to be used for items of immediate need, LaMotte said, such as television sets and clothing.

He said the academy needs about 19 television sets in good working order. Many of the sets they now have there, he said, are very old and their parts cannot be replaced.

Maryville children also need clothing and to meet that need, LaMotte said, letters have been sent to local merchants requesting the use of clothes which did not sell in their stores. He said Sears and Roebuck Co., Montgomery Wards and Carson Pirie and Scott and Co. have already responded to this request and are supplying Maryville children with new clothing.

From The Library

by LAURIE ROSSI

Some authorities are saying we have nearly reached the stage of zero population growth. People wanting to adopt a child are encountering longer waits than they've ever had to before.

The Mount Prospect library has some good books for those contemplating adoption, or for those who have already adopted. You'll find the selection of books on adoption at the library current and helpful.

"The Children" deals primarily with slightly older children, who are commonly considered hard to place. The author is himself an adoptive father of two Korean girls. He is an author of many books and plays, one of which was adopted for the musical stage as "I Do! I Do!" Since his interest lies mainly with foreign children, the book slants toward children of different national backgrounds.

Information on adoption agencies, procedures and laws in the 50 states, addresses of public agencies, nonsectarian agencies, and others classified by state and church affiliation can be found in "How to Adopt a Child." It is helpful for a person serious about adopting to know how old the child must be to give consent (in Illinois it is 14; in other states, 10 years). How long the petitioner must have resided in the state could also be important.

The factor that convinced Dr. Joseph G. Ansfield, associate professor of psychiatry at the Chicago Medical School, to write a book on the adopted child was the number of his psychiatric patients who had been adopted. He strongly advises never telling a child he's adopted.

"Always remember he's your own and never forget he's adopted" is the advice of the author of "Adoption and After," who takes a different view. You'll want to explore everyone's views and come up with a suitable one or combination of ones to suit your family.

New books at the library are Hildegard Knef's "A Gift Horse," "Report on a Life," "They Said it Couldn't be Done — The Incredible Story of Bill Lear," "The Heirs of the Kingdom," "The Bell Jar," and "Addie Pray."

Library hours are 9-9 weekdays, 9-5 Saturdays, and 2-5 Sundays.

Brothers Promoted To Eagle

Two brothers this week became the first members of Boy Scout Troop 44 to be promoted to the rank of Eagle Scout.

The two, 16-year-old Victor and his 14-year-old brother Wayne, were promoted during a court of honor held Tuesday at Park View School, 805 N. Lee St., Mount Prospect. Following the court of honor the two went to the Mount Prospect Village Hall where they were introduced at a village board meeting.

Victor and Wayne are the sons of Mr. Ted Tanabe of 905 Sumac Ln., Mount Prospect. Victor is a junior at John Hersey High School in Arlington Heights, and Wayne is a freshman there.

The two have been Boy Scouts about 3½ years according to Troop Scoutmaster Oliver Libman. Among the requirements for promotion to the Eagle rank is a community service project. As their project the two, working together cleaned up several area creeks and roadside areas in the Mount Prospect area.

43 Applications For Firemen Posts

Do $10,430-a-year jobs go begging in Mount Prospect?

Mount Prospect currently is advertising to fill six patrolmen and six firemen positions at that starting salary. According to some reports Mount Prospect is having trouble finding men for those jobs.

But according to Fire Chief Lawrence Pairitz, that is not correct. "We are in pretty good shape," Pairitz said.

Marian Woodward, secretary for the fire and police commission and the person who handles the applications, said she has received 43 firemen applications so far.

Mrs. Woodward said that she has handled "approximately twice as many" firemen applicants this time as compared with last time and about the same number of police applicants.

The exams will be held at 9 a.m. Oct. 30 at Prospect High School, 801 W. Kensington Ave., Mount Prospect. Further information may be obtained at the Municipal Building, 112 E. Northwest Hwy., Mount Prospect.

Charge Area Man

Thefts Reported

Thieves broke into the Peace Reform Church, 955 S. Meier Rd., and Pesche Florist Shop, 605 E. Golf Rd. Tuesday night in Mount Prospect.

Police who believe the two thefts are connected, said the church office was ransacked, with a $125 stereo set taken and a $25 attache case broken. A cash register, believed to contain between $40 and $50 was taken from the florist shop.

A 35-year-old Des Plaines man was arrested this week by Mount Prospect police and charged with two counts of taking indecent liberties with a child. Police said Thomas Hacker, also known as Thomas Edward, of 920 Beau Dr., Des Plaines, was arrested Monday and released on $5,000 bond. He will appear Tuesday in Niles Court.

Both cases involved juveniles, therefore police would reveal no further details.

Improved Health Care Is Needed, Ogilvie Declares

Gov. Ogilvie told an assembly of Illinois hospital administrators last night that state health care is a "19th century system which cannot function to meet the needs of the 20th and 21st centuries."

As guest speaker at the annual dinner of the Illinois Hospital Association at the Arlington Park Towers, Ogilvie said an improved medical program involves efficient financing. He made it clear that the present state funding system in which hospitals have been receiving $99 per day for services costing only $88 must be changed.

Village Officials Plant Burning Bush

Village officials yesterday planted a burning bush in front of the Mount Prospect Municipal Building, 112 E. Northwest Hwy.

The bush was presented to Mayor Robert D. Teichert at Tuesday night's village board meeting by the Mount Prospect Garden Club. The bush is known for its fiery red foliage in autumn.

Already the village has rows of burning bush planted along the railroad right-of-way and more will be used in the beautification project at the railroad station. The work is being done cooperatively by the Mount Prospect Junior Woman's Club, the Garden Club, the Woman's Club and the village's public works department.

"There will be year-end reconciliation with your actual costs," he told the officials. Ogilvie also cited the increasing costs of Medicaid in Illinois which have grown from $81 million in 1966 to an estimated $435 million in fiscal 1972.

"OUR COSTS HAVE stripped away any increases in productivity."

Partly as a result of the Medicaid failures, Ogilvie said per-day hospital costs rose from $49 per day in 1966 to $88 in 1971.

"The overall burden of welfare has forced us to sharply curtail vital state initiatives in many other areas, especially education," he said.

Ogilvie estimated a $12 million a year savings to taxpayers if the hospital stay of each welfare patient is reduced by one day while also maintaining quality patient care.

HE CITED THE support of the Illinois Hospital Association in creation of state-wide trauma centers which he predicted will save hundreds of lives. The establishment of the trauma programs, Ogilvie said, required Illinois hospitals to "look at themselves in the context of the communities they serve" and to shed the point of view that they are self-contained institutions.

He asked for leadership from Illinois hospital administrators in improving state health care.

A JOHN HERSEY High School band member waits for Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie's arrival at the Arlington Heights school last night. Ogilvie presented the trophy honoring the band's first place showing at the Illinois State Fair competition last August. Band director Donald Caneva accepted the award.

Hersey Band Gets Honor From Ogilvie

by TOM VON MALDER

"At attention, you guys."

White-gloved salutes replaced nervous shuffles and bored looks as Governor Richard B. Ogilvie walked down the double row of John Hersey High School Pomerets, the girls' drill team.

The some 60 girls, in their orange uniforms with brown trim and berets, met the governor as he arrived at the high school to present a trophy to the school's band.

Ogilvie arrived at the Arlington Heights school about 8:45 p.m. He was met by the Pomerets, school officials and special guests at the door. Inside, he stood through a playing of the National Anthem by the band.

Then there was the award, which was won last August during the band competition at the Illinois State Fair in Springfield. The Hersey band, under the direction of Donald Caneva, came in first over some 40 other bands from throughout the state. This made the Hersey band the "Governor's Band."

The award to the marching band was presented to Caneva and drum major Neil Firth of Mount Prospect. The ceremony took place in the school's gym, which was about a third full with band members and parents of band members.

In his remarks, Ogilvie said it was a "splendid band."

"I have had the pleasure of watching you perform at the All Star Football game this summer in Chicago," he said. He said he had unfortunately missed the competition in Springfield.

The governor congratulated the band for their "degree of discipline."

"I'm sure no one drafted you into this band, he told them.

After commending their "magnificent effort," Ogilvie presented the award. In return, Firth gave the governor a copy of the band's record and two boxes of candy. Sale of the candy represents the present band fund-raising project.

Caneva accepted the award by thanking the governor and speculating on what achievement would be next for the band.

"There's always another contest to win, another excellent program to give," Caneva said.

Ogilvie then left, 13 minutes after he arrived. He had another appearance to make, this one at Arlington Park Towers.

'Cabaret' To Perform Old Melodrama

An old-fashioned melodrama will be presented at the upcoming meeting of the Mount Prospect Historical Society. The Cabaret group of the Village Theater will present the one-act play, "Ye Gad, What a Cad," or "Virtue Triumphs over Villainy."

Members of the group are Northwest suburban residents. Many of the actors make their own costumes and scenery.

The meeting will start at 8 p.m. Monday in the Fountain Room of the Mount Prospect Country Club, 600 S. See-Gwun Ave., Mount Prospect. The public is invited. Refreshments will be served at the end of the meeting.

Police Chief Is Lone Open Post

The recent appointment of a village engineer leaves Mount Prospect Village Mgr. Robert J. Eppley with only one spot left to fill — that of police chief.

Eppley had promised the village trustees he would name the new chief by Nov. 1. However, this week Eppley said he is having difficulties in keeping that promise.

"I have been running into some difficulties with the President's wage freeze," Eppley said yesterday. "I have asked for and will take at least until Nov. 13 to make the appointment."

The Nov. 13 date is when the current 90-day freeze on wage and price hikes ends. Currently, the position of police chief carries a salary of $17,200.

Eppley said that if he did raise the police chief's salary, he would have to also raise Fire Chief Lawrence Fairitz's salary as the two are tied by ordinance.

The position of police chief was vacated Aug. 13 when Chief Newell Edmond retired to move to Florida. Police Lt. John Savage has been serving as acting chief since that time.

Eppley said he has made no definite choice on a successor as yet. However, he did say that four members of the present police force have submitted application for the job. "They have taken the polygraph and psychological tests, and I am still awaiting the results," he said.

Campus Life Haunted House Opening

Ghosts, Ghouls Lurk In Shadows

Goblins, ghosts and ghouls await residents tonight as Campus Life opens its haunted house in Mount Prospect.

Members of Campus Life, a high school religious group, have been working to convert the basement and first floor of old Central School, Main Street and Central Road into a spook house. Paul Veerman, Campus Life spokesman, estimates it cost $2,500 to transform the school into a chamber of horrors.

Veerman said he expects about 10,000 people to tour the house during its seven-day run. The house will be open from 7 p.m. to 11 p.m. tonight and tomorrow. It will reopen Tuesday until Oct. 30. Open hours are from 7 p.m. to 10:30 p.m. weekdays and 7 p.m. to 11 p.m. weekends. Veerman said the house may be open Halloween, depending on the demand.

Last year during four days of operation, the haunted house was toured by more than 4,000 people. Another 3,000 were turned away.

FEATURES OF THE frightening event will include a spider room, Dracula's Den, a fog room, a live box constrictor and a gorilla room. Children under seventh grade are not allowed and seventh and eighth graders must be accompanied by an adult.

"This is mostly for high school age," explained Veerman. "One year we let junior high school age kids in without parents and they ripped the place apart. They were so afraid they struck back against it."

Admission charge is $1.25 at the door and $1 if tickets are purchased before the event from area Campus Life organizations. Tickets can also be purchased by calling the Campus Life office at 258-5144.

Veerman advised visitors to wear old clothes "because they'll have to crawl around." He said partitions have been used to create small rooms and a route through the building.

In two previous years, the scary activities have been held in old, about-to-be destroyed homes in Arlington Heights.

Veerman said there are no plans for Central School, which has been rented by Campus Life, to be torn down, however.

"The day after the house closes we will return it to its original state," he said.

"The building is electrically sound and we will just be using our electrical things for effect."

THE MOUNT PROSPECT Fire Department has inspected the house to make sure it complies with fire regulations. Two fire guards will be on duty each night, according to Fire Chief Larry Fairitz.

Veerman said the haunted house project is conducted all over the country as part of a national Campus Life program. He said in the previous three years, the local organization has not made any money on the project. "It just gives the kids something to do and promotes Campus Life," he said.

He said that any profits from the project would go toward a new staff and club programs. The Campus Life office in Arlington Heights serves the Northwest suburbs, North Shore suburbs, Lake County and McHenry County. The organization has clubs in Dist. 211 and 214 high schools. The group's formal name is the North Area Youth for Christ.

Bike Commuters Warned

Commuters who bicycle to the Chicago and North Western Rwy. station in Mount Prospect are being warned by police that many of them are parking in violation of the village bicycle ordinance.

Mount Prospect Acting Police Chief John Savage said numerous bicycles are being chained to trees, signposts and parking meters. These are all violations he said. The bicycles should be parked and properly chained to the bicycle racks provided by the public works department.

Around the Mount Prospect depot there are three bicycle racks for commuters. There is one rack by the main depot, one by the car wash and one in the west parking lot. Each rack holds up to 50 bicycles.

ALTHOUGH SAVAGE commended the bike riders for their efforts to reduce pollution and automobile parking problems, he said they should remember that bicycles are subject to the same rules as automobiles. The bicycle "Rules of the Road" can be obtained by writing the secretary of state's office in Springfield.

Savage also said that all bicycles owned by Mount Prospect residents have to be licensed. The licenses, which are free, can be picked up at the Municipal Building, 112 E. Northwest Hwy.

This Morning In Brief

The Nation

President Nixon's surprise nominations of William H. Rehnquist and Lewis F. Powell Jr., to the Supreme Court caught the Senate off guard. Chairman James O. Eastland, D-Miss., of the Judiciary Committee acknowledged he did not even know Powell. Rehnquist, 47, a Republican and former lawyer from Phoenix, Ariz., is chief legal counsel in the Justice Department and a staunch advocate of balancing the rights of society against those of criminal suspects. Powell, 64, a Democrat, is former president of the American Bar Association with a reputation of support for improved public education.

Charles (Tex) Watson was sentenced to death in the gas chamber for the Sharon Tate-Leno LaBianca murders, making the sentence unanimous for the Charles Manson "family" members tried for the seven bloody slayings. Manson, 25, was refused a possible penalty of life imprisonment by the same jury of six men and six women that had convicted him of first degree murder and rejected his plea of innocent by reason of insanity.

The State

A Chicago-to-Peoria commuter airliner carrying at least 14 passengers and two crew members crashed when it hit a power line on an approach run to the Greater Peoria Airport. There were no survivors. A list of dead has not been released, according to the Federal Aviation Administration.

A workmen's compensation package providing increases in most areas of nearly 20 per cent but falling well below the levels sought by Democrats, has cleared the Illinois House.

Young men in Illinois have lost the chance to marry at 18 without their parents' consent. The Illinois House upheld Gov. Ogilvie's veto of a bill that gave 18-year-old men the same right that women have to wed at 18 without parental approval.

The World

A Hungarian correspondent reported from Peking that Chinese leaders are discussing political problems, and particularly Vietnam, with presidential advisor Henry A. Kissinger. The writer said Kissinger and Premier Chou-En-lai talked not only about "technical details" of President Nixon's forthcoming visit to Red China, but also the "political questions" connected with it.

Pablo Neruda, loved and admired as a poet but controversial as a Marxist politician and diplomat, won the 1971 Nobel literature prize.

Egyptian Vice President Hussein Shafat said that 800,000 Egyptian troops stand ready to embark on a "battle of destiny" by the end of the year to liberate Arab territories occupied by Israel.

The War

Another group of GIs refused to go on patrol last week in Vietnam — the same thing the men they were sent to replace did — until the defense commander explained why the patrol was necessary, the soldiers involved said. In action near Saigon, Communist guerrillas shelled the Tay Ninh airfield, killing at least four persons and destroying seven U.S. trucks. The Communists also attacked U.S. Fire Base Pad with rocket and heavy weapons fire.

The Market

Stocks attempted a late-session recovery but the rally fell short and the market closed lower for the seventh straight session. The Dow Jones Average slipped 0.80 to 854.85. Of the 1,679 issues traded, declines topped advances, 744-699, on the New York Stock Exchange. Volume was 14.9 million shares, down from 16.3 million the day before. Corning Glass lost another 4 1/2 points after slipping 14 the day before.

Taking colored slides, movies, or Polaroid snapshots is a popular hobby in suburbia. However, one local couple has put this interest in amateur photography to a special use — helping deaf and hard of hearing children.

When their son, along with other deaf children, was assigned part-time to a regular kindergarten class at a local school, Bob and Barbara Lunenburg were concerned. They recognized that many regular classroom teachers are not prepared to handle children with a hearing impairment. And so they decided to make a slide presentation to help teachers understand these children.

The result was "Stones Fall Softly on Velvet," a series of slides with a synchronized tape recording. Bob and Barbara shot scenes in a doctor's office, around their home, at the Northwestern University clinic, at a place where ear molds are made, and at Prospect Heights Community Church, where neighborhood children helped set up a mock classroom scene.

Since its completion, "Stones Fall Softly on Velvet" has been shown to teachers at schools with hearing impaired children, nurses who work with deaf people, high school students who are thinking about going into special education, and special education teachers.

Recently the staff of the Midwest Regional Media Center for the Deaf in Lincoln, Neb., became interested in the slide show. The center is now planning to make a film for national distribution.

based on the Lunenburgs' slides.

"I'm happy to see anything that brings publicity to the plight of deaf children," says Barbara.

"BEYOND SILENCE" is the title of the couple's next project. This recently completed slide presentation focuses on the work being done at the Northwestern University clinic, which their son attends. It is now being used by the university for promotion purposes.

In his spare time, Bob has also invented and constructed an interesting variety of devices to help make learning fun for deaf children at the university clinic. One is an electric candle, designed to help children learn to blow. Another is a "light machine," which children use to reproduce patterns of light. With another device, youngsters selecting a correct answer are rewarded with a clown lighting up.

Now the Lunenburgs are planning still another slide series. This one will be for SLIDES (Suburban Low Incidence Development Exemplary Services), which serves blind, deaf, and multiply handicapped children.

"Wings of Gold" were recently presented to Navy Lieutenant Paul Christiansen at Chase Field Naval Air Station, Beville, Texas. This designation as a naval aviator followed 18 months of intensive ground instruction and flight training. Lt. Christiansen is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Christiansen of 303 N. Pine St.

Trustee Recovers Purse, Gets T-Bone

Many wives of the trustees accompanied their husbands to Peoria last weekend for the Illinois Municipal League Conference. Included among them was Florence Richardson, wife of Errol F. Richardson, the newest trustee. A would-be-thief grabbed Mrs. Richardson's purse and took off down the street. However, he was not alone. Anderson was in close pursuit. So close that the thief finally threw the purse at Anderson.

Anderson's reward was the only T-bone steak the restaurant had that evening, according to Mayor Robert D. Teichert who told the story at Tuesday night's board meeting.

Continue Search For Illegal Aliens

by WANDALYN RICE

Immigration agents will continue raids on the industrial area of Elk Grove Village and surrounding communities in their search for illegal aliens, according to Robert Germain, deputy district director for the U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service.

"We will be back, but we don't want to say when we're coming," Germain said yesterday. A Wednesday afternoon raid resulted in the arrest of 37 persons in Centex Industrial Park.

Ten more persons were arrested later Wednesday night in DuPage County south of Elk Grove Village, he said. Seven women who were picked up were released on their own recognizance and the men were to be sent back to Mexico by bus last night, he said.

The women all had children and other family members in the area, Germain said, and will be given the opportunity to return to their native lands voluntarily. None of the men arrested had families in the area, he said.

GERMAIN REPEATED his statement that seven employees of Field Container Corp., 1500 Nicholas Blvd., were picked up in the raid, although company officials deny it.

"We took three from the plant and the rest were picked up on the street on the way to work," Germain said.

Philip Cooper, financial vice president for the firm, said only one illegal alien was taken from the plant and added that two others might have been picked up on the street.

"They came into our plant and interrogated 10 or 12 of our people and they took two from the plant, but they sent one back because he was a citizen," Cooper said.

Germain said agents entered some other plants in the industrial park, which he did not name, and received "good cooperation" but added that officials at Field have not been cooperative with the service.

"Field will not let us look at their employee records. Other companies let us examine their records. Generally, companies are cooperative because they do not want aliens there," he said.

GERMAIN SAID his agents try to make most of their arrests on the street because "we don't like to go into plants and disrupt their operations."

Cooper said his company has not supplied records because "what would that prove except that they have Spanish-sounding names?" he said. "They want us to harass our people who are here legally."

Cooper added that the company does not knowingly employ illegals and checks Social Security cards, which can be obtained without proof of citizenship.

"The government has the power to stop these people at the Social Security offices, but they don't," Cooper said. "They are trying to put the burden on the companies and we don't have the way to prove citizenship."

Field, which manufactures cardboard boxes, employs about 250 persons, about 70 or 80 of whom are of Mexican or Puerto Rican descent, Cooper said.

No law prevents companies from employing illegal aliens.

Passage Of Bill Could Mean $200,000 Loss To Maryville

Gov. Ogilvie's recent $60 million cutbacks in state welfare expenditures, which are expected to be approved by the current General Assembly in Springfield, will mean a loss of $200,000 for the 400 residents of Maryville Academy, 1150 N. River Rd., Des Plaines.

According to Jack LaMotte, Maryville's public relations director, 75 per cent of the funds used to support the dependent children of the academy come from the state and 25 per cent from the Catholic Charities of the Archdiocese of Chicago.

LaMotte said Maryville had been promised 75 per cent instead of a 75 per cent funding from the state this year, the result of many applications and petitions from Maryville asking for more aid to meet the rising cost of living and the cost of needed building improvements.

This promised increase would have amounted to $200,000, which LaMotte said was to be used for new educational and recreational programs and additional staff members at Maryville.

GOV. OGILVIE's veto of certain appropriations in the welfare budget means Maryville will only get the usual 75 per cent funding from the state and plans for the extra money will have to be cancelled.

Catholic Charities, which has 2,000 dependent children who are wards of the state under its care, will lose $600,000, due to a cutback in rate reimbursement for full-time child care by welfare agencies, he said.

LaMotte said Maryville officials are "extremely disappointed" about the cutbacks. "As usual, the children will be the ones who suffer," he said.

The $200,000 was also to be used for items of immediate need, LaMotte said, such as television sets and clothing.

He said the academy needs about 19 television sets in good working order. Many of the sets they now have there, he said, are very old and their parts cannot be replaced.

Maryville children also need clothing and to meet that need, LaMotte said, letters have been sent to local merchants requesting the use of clothes which did not sell in their stores. He said Sears and Roebuck Co., Montgomery Wards and Carson Pirie and Scott and Co. have already responded to this request and are supplying Maryville children with new clothing.

IT TAKES BOTH Dennis, left, and Jeffrey Witte to handle this 100-pound pumpkin. But they're hoping to get a head start on the Mount Prospect Plaza Pumpkin Days. Seven tons of pumpkins will be given away Saturday morning. A cash register receipt from a Plaza store is all that is needed to get a pumpkin. Children can then enter their carved pumpkins Oct. 27 through Oct. 30 in the Scanda House pumpkin carving contest at the Plaza, Rand and Central roads, Mount Prospect.

ICE House To Be Operating By November

The Mount Prospect ICE House will be in full operation by Nov. 1 with all seven of its volunteer counselors handling cases, according to Jackie Christensen, social therapist.

She said three of the seven counselors are already handling cases. The counselors are Steve Neff, Delight Ellering, Lonna Radunsky, Ray Giese, Rosemary McDonough, Pat Reardon and Carol Hamilton.

The ICE House provides counseling on marriage problems, family problems and problems of children in schools. The center is sponsored by the Community Action Plan, a community-wide effort to meet social problems. There is no charge for the services at the center, 214 S. Emerson St. The telephone number is 394-9400.

Miss Christensen also said the center had received contributions of $200 from the Des Plaines Rotary Club and $20 from the Shuey Music Education Center in Mount Prospect. She added that $200 will be received from the Elk Grove Township and $900 from the Northwest Mental Health Center in Arlington Heights.

The center's hours are Tuesday and Thursday from 1 p.m. to 3 p.m. and Wednesday, Friday and Saturday from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Present Sacred Music

The "Heirborn," a mixed ensemble from Trinity College in Deerfield will present a sacred music concert Sunday at the Cumberland Baptist Church, 1500 E. Central Rd., Mount Prospect. The program starts at 7 p.m. Admission is free.

Improved Health Care Is Needed, Ogilvie Declares

Gov. Ogilvie told an assembly of Illinois hospital administrators last night that state health care is a "19th century system which cannot function to meet the needs of the 20th and 21st centuries."

As guest speaker at the annual dinner of the Illinois Hospital Association at the Arlington Park Towers, Ogilvie said an improved medical program involves efficient financing. He made it clear that the present state funding system in which hospitals have been receiving $80 per day for services costing only $38 must be changed.

"There will be year-end reconciliation with your actual costs," he told the officials. Ogilvie also cited the increasing costs of Medicaid in Illinois which have grown from $81 million in 1966 to an estimated $435 million in fiscal 1972.

"OUR COSTS HAVE stripped away any increases in productivity."

Partly as a result of the Medicaid failures, Ogilvie said per-day hospital costs rose from $49 per day in 1966 to $88 in 1971.

"The overall burden of welfare has forced us to sharply curtail vital state initiatives in many other areas, especially education," he said.

Ogilvie estimated a $12 million a year savings to taxpayers if the hospital stay of each welfare patient is reduced by one day while also maintaining quality patient care.

HE CITED THE support of the Illinois Hospital Association in creation of state-wide trauma centers which he predicted will save hundreds of lives. The establishment of the trauma programs, Ogilvie said, required Illinois hospitals to "look at themselves in the context of the communities they serve" and to shed the point of view that they are self-contained institutions.

He asked for leadership from Illinois hospital administrators in improving state health care.

PLAYING TOGETHER, Arlington Heights youngsters join with a group of Japanese children in a musical recital during Wednesday's Suzuki violin workshop. The Japanese visitors were in Arlington Heights for a concert sponsored by the Suzuki Parents Association of Arlington Heights. "Talent Education," a revolutionary new instructional method developed by Shinichi Suzuki, has been offered in Arlington Heights Dist. 15 schools for the past two years.

Proof Of Playing Is In Lessons

Way To Heart Is Through Suzuki

by KURT BAER

If the proof of music lessons can be said to be in the playing, then hundreds of Arlington Heights children and parents this week heard a musical testimonial to the wonders of the Suzuki method of violin instruction.

Suzuki's "Talent Education" program has been active in Arlington Heights for just two years, but in that short time youngsters have played their way into the hearts of the community making the Suzuki program one of the most popular in the school district.

Ten visiting musicians from Japan, aged seven to 12, came to Arlington Heights to demonstrate just how much the revolutionary instructional method can accomplish, and it's safe to say that nearly everyone who saw them was duly impressed.

Playing through classical compositions by Bach, Vivaldi and Beethoven with professional-like precision, the Japanese children had come a long way from the torturous bars of "Twinkle, Twinkle Little Star."

During the violin workshop session, Japanese instructor Mitsumasa Denda, working with an Arlington Heights preschooler, Melissa Blaker, showed how, in a matter of minutes, even a three-year-old can be taught how to hold the violin correctly and securely.

Michael Teng, 4, another Arlington Heights Suzuki student, played an intelligible rendition of the twinkling star classic that held the attention of parents and peers alike.

"GENERALLY, a young student will stay on 'Twinkle, Twinkle' for three to six months," Denda told the audience.

"It's never the children, but the parents that get tired of a piece," quipped Betty Haag, a Suzuki teacher in Arlington Heights who recently returned from Japan where she worked with Shinichi Suzuki, developer of Talent Education.

The Japanese youngsters demonstrated several of the learning drills they go through with their instructor. Marching in a circle while playing the prelude from Vivaldi's Concerto in A minor, the children enjoy an off-beat variation on musical chairs.

The object of the game is for each child to be in the same spot at the end of the piece as he was at the beginning.

Instructor Denda explains that the game builds a sense of rhythm and concentration, but to the kids it is also just plain fun.

IN JAPAN, EVERY lesson begins with a formal bow between teacher and student. It is an ancient symbol of the student's respect for the knowledge and talent of his instructor.

Although students here forego this tradition, there is in Arlington Heights, perhaps now more than ever, a similar kind of respect for the Suzuki method and the love of music it can bring to a child.

Builder Says Housing Needed Here

The head of a not-for-profit development corporation seeking to build moderate-income housing in Arlington Heights defended his corporation's project in a speech Tuesday night in Prospect Heights.

Salvatore Ferrera, executive director of the Metropolitan Housing Development Corp. of Chicago, said there is need for moderate-income housing in the Northwest suburban area. He contended the group's proposed site for moderate-income townhouses in Arlington Heights is a good one.

Ferrera's speech, to about 20 persons, was at Grace Lutheran Church, Euclid and Wolf roads, Prospect Heights.

The proposal to build moderate-income housing on land adjacent to St. Viator High School was rejected by the Arlington Heights Village Board, 6-1. The proposal had called for the construction of 190 units including 100 one-bedroom and 48 two-bedroom units. The remaining units would be of the three and four-bedroom variety.

Ferrera explained that the Arlington Heights project, called Lincoln Green, "was designed for families where the head of the household is working, but in a lower paying job. Industrial and hospital workers, possibly even teachers and various municipal and government workers — that's who this program is aimed at."

FERRERA SAID "The need for moderate-income housing is here. We look on this as a service to the community." He pointed out that a great deal of industry has moved to the suburbs and brought with it a labor force that needs the type of housing his corporation builds. He said that for lack of such housing in this area, industrial workers have to travel long distances to their jobs. This, he said, results in an undue amount of employee turnover.

Ferrera said the Arlington Heights Viator site was especially good for the project because it was relatively close to the village's downtown shopping district and transportation facilities. He pointed out that a site such as the Viator land was more suited to a moderate-income project than unincorporated land (such as that in Prospect Heights) because it was close to transportation and shopping facilities.

Ferrera said that currently his corporation is looking for another Arlington Heights site "with the cooperation of the village." He added, "If we can't find another spot, our final option, like that of any developer, would be to go to court" to get the Viator land renamed.

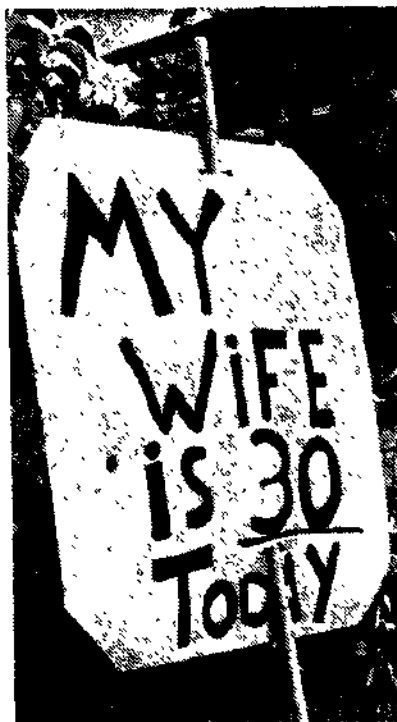

THE ROBIN HOOD LOOK. Village Forester Irwin Page is really into his job. He showed up at Wednesday night's meeting of the Environmental Control Commission (ECC) dressed entirely in green.

WHO CAN I TURN TO? During Tuesday's committee of the whole meeting, a village board member said residents don't know how accessible the trustees are and often times, don't even know their names and thus don't know where to go to get a question answered. Countering that opinion, Trustee Ralph Clabour said, "I found two this Saturday who knew where to go."

ROCK-A-BYE-BABY: One of the suggested items for improving public relations between citizens and the village board was to tape village board meetings so they could be played back later. Village Pres. Jack Walsh asked, "Who suggested that? Someone who wanted the tapes for a nursery to lull someone to sleep?"

SHE MAY BE 30 today (but he may be divorced tomorrow) — The sign pictured below was posted in a yard yesterday at the northeast corner of Thomas Street and Yale Avenue in Arlington Heights. A local resident who called the Herald about the sign told us to get a photographer there quickly before the presumably unsuspecting wife saw it and took it down.

MISSION IMPOSSIBLE: While discussing the hiring of a community relations coordinator, village board member Alice Harms said the public relations man in Peoria is paid about $20,000 a year. Village President Jack Walsh countered with, "Yeah, but he has a

Veterans Day Service In Downtown Area

A Veterans Day service will be conducted Monday in downtown Arlington Heights.

Arlington Post No. 961, Veterans of Foreign Wars, will lead the ceremonies, beginning at 10:45 a.m. at the village flag pole on Davis Street between Dunton and Evergreen streets.

Col Edward Mills, U.S.A.F.R., will speak, and the 45th artillery brigade will present the colors.

Mayor John J. Walsh will attend the service, as well as the American Legion commander of Merle Guild Post No. 208 and members of the Arlington Post.

Meetings This Week

The Autumn Bike Tour sponsored by the village of Arlington Heights will begin at 9 a.m. Saturday. The tour is open to all residents who should bring their bicycles and meet in the parking lot to the south of the Municipal Building, 33 S. Arlington Heights Rd. In case of inclement weather, the tour will be delayed until Oct. 30.

This Morning In Brief

The Nation

President Nixon's surprise nominations of William H. Rehnquist and Lewis F. Powell Jr. to the Supreme Court caught the Senate off guard. Chairman James O. Eastland, D-Miss., of the Judiciary Committee acknowledged he did not even know Powell. Rehnquist, 47, a Republican and former lawyer from Phoenix, Ariz., is chief legal counsel in the Justice Department and a staunch advocate of balancing the rights of society against those of criminal suspects. Powell, 64, a Democrat, is former president of the American Bar Association with a reputation of support for improved public education.

Charles (Tex) Watson was sentenced to death in the gas chamber for the Sharon Tate-Leno LaBianca murders, making the sentence unanimous for the Charles Manson "family" members tried for the seven bloody slayings. Manson, 25, was refused a possible penalty of life imprisonment by the same jury of six men and six women that had convicted him of first degree murder and rejected his plea of innocent by reason of insanity.

The State

A Chicago-to-Peoria commuter airliner carrying at least 14 passengers and two crew members crashed when it hit a power line on an approach run to the Greater Peoria Airport. There were no survivors. A list of dead has not been released, according to the Federal Aviation Administration.

A workmen's compensation package providing increases in most areas of nearly 20 per cent but falling well below the levels sought by Democrats, has cleared the Illinois House.

Young men in Illinois have lost the chance to marry at 18 without their parents' consent. The Illinois House upheld Gov. Ogilvie's veto of a bill that gave 18-year-old men the same right that women have to wed at 18 without parental approval.

The World

A Hungarian correspondent reported from Peking that Chinese leaders are discussing political problems, and particularly Vietnam, with presidential advisor Henry A. Kissinger. The writer said Kissinger and Premier Chou-En-lai talked not only about "technical details" of President Nixon's forthcoming visit to Red China, but also the "political questions" connected with it.

Pablo Neruda, loved and admired as a poet but controversial as a Marxist politician and diplomat, won the 1971 Nobel literature prize.

Egyptian Vice President Hussein Shafat said that 800,000 Egyptian troops stand ready to embark on a "battle of destiny" by the end of the year to liberate Arab territories occupied by Israel.

The War

Another group of GIs refused to go on patrol last week in Vietnam — the same thing the men they were sent to replace did — until the defense commander explained why the patrol was necessary, the soldiers involved said. In action near Saigon, Communist gunners shelled the Tay Ninh airfield, killing at least four persons and destroying seven U.S. trucks. The Communists also attacked U.S. Fire Base Pace with rocket and heavy weapons fire.

The Market

Stocks attempted a late-session recovery but the rally fell short and the market closed lower for the seventh straight session. The Dow Jones Average slipped 0.80 to 854.85. Of the 1,679 issues traded, declines topped advances, 744-689, on the New York Stock Exchange. Volume was 14.9 million shares, down from 16.3 million the day before. Coming Glass lost another 4 1/2 points after slipping 14 the day before.

SWEEEPING LEFT END is speedy Nancy Skarzynski of Arlington Heights who led the senior class to a football victory over the juniors in the Sacred Heart of Mary High School homecoming football game. Crunching tackles and a powerful defensive line spearheaded the senior attack. The second annual homecoming game was played at Pioneer Park in Arlington Heights as a sequel to the St. Viator homecoming festivities last week. The seniors won 20-0.

It's Powder Puff Football

Seniors Bust Through To Victory

by DOUG RAY

The girls of Sacred Heart of Mary High School had their femininity on the football field Wednesday.

They took the field at Pioneer Park in Arlington Heights for the annual homecoming game which pitted the senior class against the juniors. As the lone athletic contest of the year for the all-girl Catholic high school, both teams came prepared to play tackle football.

Dressed in everything from sweatshirts to actual football jerseys, and most with headbands to keep their long hair from hampering their efficiency, the coin toss was won by the seniors. It was a sign of things to come the rest of the game.

The seniors elected to receive the kickoff and Pam Graczyk raced down the sidelines to the junior's 45-yard line. The seniors, only a few plays later, scored the first points of the game as Graczyk bulled her way through a determined junior defense. Mary Ellen Golden split the uprights with the extra point kick and made the score 7-0.

THE SENIORS SCORED again just before half-time on a pass play to Nancy Skarzynski. The score was 13-0.

At the half girls simulated a marching band and crowned the 1972 homecoming queen Miss Kathy Meersman, a senior.

But the real excitement was during the second half, when the junior offense began to move downfield. Blonde-haired Maureen Schlegel led the attack as she fought off tacklers and almost scored the juniors' first points. The offense began to sputter and the ball was again in the hands of the mighty seniors.

Theresa Griffith ran for 50 yards into the end zone, springing the ball to the ground in excitement just like the pros do. Her excitement was premature, however, as the officials who are male teachers of the school called a penalty and the score was called back.

THE FINAL POINTS of the game were scored by the class of '72 making it a 20-0 senior victory.

The girls were "ready to quit" when the game was over and undoubtedly this morning they feel the effect of the bruising tackles and the hard ground.

Although the juniors lost the game, next year they plan "to win it all," says Coach Cathy Perrone. "We are going to eat a lot more and bring shoulder pads next time," she laughed.

They will have one advantage next year. The girls will be seniors, and the senior class always wins.

Solicitor Warning Signs Available Soon

Signs warning solicitors not to ring the doorbell will not be available until at least next week at the finance department of the Municipal Building, 33 S. Arlington Heights Rd.

The signs were ordered soon after the passage of a solicitors ordinance during the Oct. 4 meeting of the Arlington Heights Village Board. The local law allows residents to post a sign stating "No solicitors or peddlers invited." For the purpose of uniformity, the village ordered signs to be printed and will make them available at cost.

Kenneth Bonder, finance director, said he is expecting the signs from the printers next week at the earliest, and added his office will be closed Monday, Veterans' Day. He said clerks have been taking the names and addresses of residents who have come in to request the signs. The residents will be mailed a notice when the signs do come in and are available.

BONDER ADDED the ordinance is considered to be in full effect as of yesterday. If residents have complaints about solicitors, they may call his department or the police department. Bonder's department will keep a record of all the registered solicitors licensed to operate in the village.

The local law requires that anyone who solicits or peddles within the village must have a license. Applications for the license may be made at the Municipal Building and require payment of a $10 fee.

In addition, the ordinance restricts solicitors or peddlers from calling on any local resident who has the "No solicitors or peddlers invited" sign posted near the main entrance of the residence.

The law states these signs must be weatherproof, at least three by four inches in size and the letters shall be at least one-third inch in height.

The law applies to all people who sell items from door to door, including not-for-profit organizations which may request a waiver of the $10 fee.

TIME RESTRICTIONS in the law include no soliciting or peddling being allowed before 9 a.m. or after 8 p.m. six days a week, with no selling allowed on Sundays. The only exemption is for calls arranged by a prior appointment with the customer.

Fines for violating the ordinance are set at not less than $5 and not more than $500.

'Governor's Band' Receives Award

by TOM VON MALDER

"At attention, you guys!" White-gloved salutes replaced nervous shuffles and bored looks as Governor Richard B. Ogilvie walked down the double row of John Hersey High School Pomerets, the girls' drill team.

The some 50 girls, in their orange uniforms with brown trim and berets, met the governor as he arrived at the high school to present a trophy to the school's band.

Ogilvie arrived at the Arlington Heights school about 6:45 p.m. He was met by the Pomerets, school officials and special guests at the door. Inside, he stood through a playing of the National Anthem by the band.

Then there was the award, which was won last August during the band competition at the Illinois State Fair in Springfield. The Hersey band, under the direction of Donald Caneva, came in first over some 40 other bands from throughout the state. This made the Hersey band the "Governor's Band."

The award to the marching band was presented to Caneva and drum major Neil Firth of Mount Prospect. The ceremony took place in the school's gym, which was about a third full with band members and parents of band members.

In his remarks, Ogilvie said it was a "splendid band."

"I have had the pleasure of watching you perform at the All Star Football game this summer in Chicago," he said. He said he had unfortunately missed the competition in Springfield.

The governor congratulated the band for their "degree of discipline."

"I'm sure no one drafted you into this band," he told them.

After commending their "magnificent effort," Ogilvie presented the award. In return, Firth gave the governor a copy of the band's record and two boxes of candy. Sale of the candy represents the present band fund-raising project.

Caneva accepted the award by thanking the governor and speculating on what achievement would be next for the band. "There's always another contest to win, another excellent program to give," Caneva said.

Ogilvie then left, 13 minutes after he arrived. He had another appearance to make, this one at Arlington Park Towers.

'Prairieville, USA'

Price Now At $5

Arlington Heights residents may still place their orders for a copy of Daisy Paddock Daniels' "Prairieville, USA" the history of Dunton, and save 33 percent over the post-publication price.

Nov. 15 is the last date for the special $5 purchase price.

"Prairieville, USA" is the history of Arlington Heights from the time of the French and Indian Wars to the present. All proceeds from the sale of the book will benefit the Arlington Heights Historical Society.

Order blanks for the book are available at Arlington Heights Federal Savings and Loan, Arlington Heights Memorial Library, Bank and Trust Co. of Arlington Heights, First Arlington National Bank and Paddock Publications' general offices, 217 W. Campbell St.

Environmental Panel Defers Tree Suggestion

The Arlington Heights Environmental Control Commission (ECC) Wednesday night deferred decision on a possible recommendation that citizens be allowed to specify that larger trees be planted next to their homes if they are willing to bear the additional cost.

Irwin Page, village forester, told the commission the citizen option proposal would mean more work for the village, but he thought such a program would be workable.

Page said the village now spends $25 for a two-inch, bare-root tree, planted with a one-year guarantee. He said that if residents were given an option to buy a bigger tree, the difference between what the village spends and the cost of the larger tree would have to be prepaid by the resident.

The commission agreed it was not sufficiently sure about just how many residents might be interested in participating in such a program, and it decided to hold up any specific recommendation to the village board.

PAGE SAID the village plants about 1,000 trees every year, and last season lost about 2 per cent of its bare-root plantings.

He said that in Park Ridge, where residents are required to bear a portion of the tree planting cost, the city plants about 300 trees every year.

Page added he thought Arlington Heights would either have to stick with its present policy, or go to a system where residents are automatically assessed for their share of the cost.

Most Kids Are Still Pretty Nice

Isn't it time we all stopped knocking the kids so much? Sure there are the relatively few that might be considered bad, but a great many youngsters patronize our pharmacy and the great majority of them are pretty decent. They go through stages and fads, but if we think back we did just about the same things.

We feel that most of today's youngsters will grow up into responsible adults. They will be concerned with things that we currently worry about such as parenthood, good health and drug abuse. The people in our pharmacy really enjoy serving our younger customers.

YOU OR YOUR DOCTOR CAN PHONE US when you need a delivery. We will deliver promptly without extra charge. A great many people rely on us for their health needs. We welcome requests for delivery service and charge accounts.

YOU'RE NOT ALONE: During this week's public hearing on a request for a liquor license, one applicant said he didn't think members of the village board's public health and safety committee were being very nice. One village board member explained, "We're not picking on you — we're like this with everybody."

NOTHING'S IMPOSSIBLE: Members of the Arlington Heights Park Board have discussed the possibilities of moving an old, vacant barn (if they could find someone to donate one) to the district's farm and garden park in south-eastern Arlington Heights. At its last board meeting, members said it might be difficult to move an old barn and Park Treasurer Roger Burke said, "Well, you know they moved the London Bridge to Arizona."

A HORSE OF A Different Color: Officials at Arlington Park recently were casually discussing the possibility of filling in the infield at the race track and sponsoring polo matches there on Sunday afternoons. Look out, Oak Brook, here we come!

Bingo Is Slated In Area Sunday

What apparently is the first legal Bingo game to be played in the Northwest suburbs since the game was legalized Oct. 1, will take place Sunday night at the Maine Township Jewish Congregation, 8800 Ballard Rd., Des Plaines.

Don Kirshner, officer of the congregation's Men's Club which is sponsoring the game, said, "As far as we know it's the first to be played."

Only two other groups in the Northwest suburban area to date are known to have applied for licenses to operate Bingo games.

The Buffalo Grove Fire Department has received its license from the state and is planning to initiate its bingo operation during the first week of November.

The Elk Grove Village Elks Lodge No. 2423 applied for a license in September,

but was notified two weeks ago the request had been refused because the lodge has not been in existence the five years required by law.

KIRSHNER SAID the weekly Bingo games will be held from 8:30 p.m. until 11:30 p.m., each Sunday through at least the remainder of the year. He said the series of games originally was planned to begin Oct. 31, but was moved up to this Sunday because of a favorable response.

Kirshner said he believes the congregation can realize a profit from the games, despite opinions expressed by many groups that the new law is too restrictive.

"We wouldn't be planning to go ahead with it if we didn't think we could make money," Kirshner said. He declined to explain the basis for his disagreement with other groups and added only the money would go to charity. He said there would be a regular jackpot of $100 plus a secondary prize, called a "blackout" jackpot.

"We'll call 50 numbers and give away $50 to a winner," Kirshner explained.

"IF THERE IS no winner the first week, we'll call 51 numbers the next week and raise the jackpot to $60. We'll just keep doing that until someone wins," Kirshner said.

Kirshner said the group began talking about running Bingo games in July and started working on the project when the governor signed the bill later in the month.

"There are a million and one things to get done," said Kirshner, who even traveled to New York City to observe how games were operated there.

He said workers for the games will be dressed in blazers and straw hats and refreshments will be served. Door prizes will be awarded.

Kirshner said the group will be able to accommodate about 600 people at the hall and will have to turn away any more than that number.

"I hope that's what happens," he said.

Illegal Landfill Is Possible

A bureaucratic mix-up may mean Arlington Heights is operating its sanitary landfill without a state permit.

Darryl Kenning, head of the village health department, said at Wednesday night's meeting of the Arlington Heights Environmental Control Commission (ECC) that the village has received a letter from the state Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) advising it that it did not have the required permit to operate the landfill.

Kenning said the village would move immediately to apply for the permit and added the mix-up appears to have happened when the EPA was created out of the Illinois Department of Public Health about a year and a half ago.

Kenning said the village applied in 1969 for a landfill permit from the department of public health, but that it now appears EPA is requiring the village apply for another permit from the new agency.

Church Art Festival Slated Saturday

Our Saviour's Lutheran Church in Arlington Heights will sponsor its third annual art festival Saturday.

The festival, featuring hobby exhibits and various collections, along with drawings and paintings created by members of the congregation, will be from 9 a.m. to 7 p.m.

At 2 p.m., Nels Johansen of Des Plaines will demonstrate wood carving. Some of his carvings also will be on display.

No More Left Turns At Golf-Algonquin

Motorists accustomed to making left turns at the intersection of Rte. 58 (Golf Road) and Rte. 62 (Algonquin Road) will have to find an alternate route after Monday morning.

The state highway department plans to post "No Left Turn" signs at the intersection after the Monday morning rush hour so it can complete construction work.

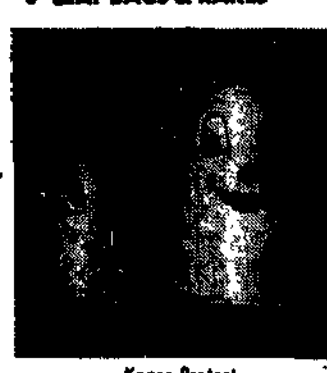

A spokesman for the highway department said Nov. 15 is the target date for completion of the improvements. But until such time as the signs are removed, motorists will be prohibited from making a left turn from any direction.

Low Rent For Senior Citizens

City Will Seek Federal OK For Lee, Ashland Housing

The City of Des Plaines will push for federal approval of a site at the southeast corner of Lee Street and Ashland Avenue for a multi-story low-income apartment building for senior citizens.

Des Plaines Mayor Herbert Behrel announced yesterday that a decision to seek U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) approval was made Wednesday night by aldermen during a special closed session of the city council.

The near-downtown site was chosen because city officials feel it qualifies for federal subsidy under government guidelines, which require a site to be near transportation and shopping, according to Behrel. Costs for the land acquisition must also be below a federally set maximum of $1,000 per planned apartment unit, or $128,000 for the 128 units, planned for the Des Plaines building.

The city will ask the Cook County

Housing Authority (CCHA), developers of the proposed building, to contact HUD and arrange for an appraisal of the site before it can be approved.

The proposed site is now occupied by several residences, a gasoline station and the Borkenhagen Refrigeration building. The land would have to be purchased from several owners, including the Mandas family, before the buildings could be torn down, the mayor said.

BEHREL INDICATED that the proposed apartment building would be nine stories, similar to an apartment building proposed earlier this year for a 1.9 acre park site, across from Central School, 1528 Thacker St., which the city was unable to purchase.

The city has been examining the possibility of senior citizen housing since 1963. Polls by the city indicated a great interest by many senior citizens in the low-rent public housing project.

Behrel had backed use of the Thacker site because he thought it was ideally located near shopping and transportation, but Des Plaines School Dist. 62, the Thacker site owner, decided it might need the land for future use.

The city also met opposition from the Central School PTA and second ward aldermen, because some residents felt the Thacker site should remain a park, to provide needed recreation space.

VICTOR WALCHIRK, director of the CCHA which would construct and operate the proposed building, has examined the sites which were under consideration and found them acceptable under federal standards.

Walchirk has said two factors affect site selection—cost of the land and proximity to shopping and transportation.

Federal guidelines on site selection include nearness to shopping, medical services, transportation, community facilities and churches.

Study Need For Planner

by LEON SHURE

A Des Plaines City Council committee has begun to study the need for a full-time city planner.

The council's building, control and inspection committee, headed by Ald. Daniel Bonaguidi (7th), is examining planning departments in other suburbs and weighing the advantages of hiring a full-time planner against the possible greater costs to the city.

Ald. Bonaguidi hopes to present recommendations to the council Nov. 15 on whether the city should consider creating a new planning department or continue to rely on outside planning consultants.

In council discussion last Tuesday night, several aldermen took opposite sides on the question of a full-time planner. Ald. Joseph Szabo (1st) said he thought the "city is big enough, and has enough growing pains to need someone fulltime who can make sure that growth is orderly."

Other aldermen, like Ald. Robert Hinde (4th), who has headed the council's finance and insurance committee, said they were not yet convinced that the extra cost would bring sufficient benefit to the city.

DES PLAINEs, which has quadrupled in population since 1950 to more than 57,500 residents, has employed city planning consultants several times in the last few years.

The City of Des Plaines spent about $30,000 between 1967 and 1969, as its share of a federally backed $93,000 study for a comprehensive plan, which is now facing council study before adoption. In 1970, the city paid $1,643 for planning consultant fees, according to City Comptroller Duane Biletz and City Clerk Eleanor Rohrbach.

Major products from private consultants was a three-volume proposed comprehensive city plan, intended to set priorities and plans for Des Plaines until 1990, when city population will be about 90,000. Consultants also helped to develop concepts for higher-density apartment zoning for the downtown area.

At the same time, the Des Plaines Redevelopment Assn. and the Des Plaines Tomorrow Corp., both private groups, have been planning and making recommendations for downtown redevelopment — with the largest single project being a multi-million-dollar, two-block-wide, enclosed shopping mall.

ONE ADVANTAGE of hiring a full-time planner would be more direct city supervision, Bonaguidi said. In the past, city officials have had to prod consultants to get the information needed, and a feeling has existed that the city might not be getting its money's worth, according to the hours the consultants say they have worked, Bonaguidi included.

The main disadvantage would be the cost of hiring a consultant, possibly giving him an assistant, hiring a secretary and finding office space for the new department, Bonaguidi said.

In neighboring Arlington Heights, which has a population of about 65,000, city planner Joseph Kesler works full-time for the village, with the aid of a full-time assistant, a full-time draftsman and a clerical staff.

Kesler, who has a master's degree in city planning, is paid $14,000 yearly, his assistant, who also has a master's receives $9,000 as junior city planner, and the draftsman, an architect, receives $8,000.

Kesler was hired several years ago, and his main responsibility has been to create a comprehensive village plan, he said. His job is divided into three parts.

He serves as the technical consultant for the Arlington Heights Plan Commission, which makes recommendations to the village board on zoning.

HE WORKS WITH developers to try to improve the quality of their plans, he said, and to make sure the plans are consistent with existing subdivision rules. He answers questions from residents and gives advice on the best use of land, for consistency and continuity of village efforts in development, he said.

His biggest job is creating a new city plan. This includes studies of population growth, traffic, community facilities, development of the central business district, improvement of services, other special problems and finding means of carrying out city plans.

He feels that the size of his staff, three persons and clerical help, is the absolute minimum for a city with a population between 50,000 and 75,000.

The Buffalo Grove Fire Department has received its license from the state and is planning to initiate its bingo operation during the first week of November.

The Elk Grove Village Elks Lodge No. 2423 applied for a license in September, but was notified two weeks ago the request had been refused because the lodge has not been in existence the five years required by law.

KIRSHNER SAID the weekly Bingo games will be held from 8:30 p.m. until 11:30 p.m., each Sunday through at least the remainder of the year. He said the series of games originally was planned to begin Oct. 31, but was moved up to this Sunday because of a favorable response.

Kirshner said he believes the congregation can realize a profit from the games, despite opinions expressed by many groups that the new law is too restrictive.

"We wouldn't be planning to go ahead with it if we didn't think we could make money," Kirshner said. He declined to explain the basis for his disagreement with other groups and added only the money would go to charity. He said there would be a regular jackpot of $100 plus a secondary prize, called a "blackout" jackpot.

"We'll call 50 numbers and give away $50 to a winner," Kirshner explained.

"IF THERE IS no winner the first week, we'll call 51 numbers the next week and raise the jackpot to $60. We'll just keep doing that until someone wins," Kirshner said.

Kirshner said the group began talking about running Bingo games in July and started working on the project when the governor signed the bill later in the month.

"There are a million and one things to get done," said Kirshner, who even traveled to New York City to observe how games were operated there.

He said workers for the games will be dressed in blazers and straw hats and refreshments will be served. Door prizes will be awarded.

Kirshner said the group will be able to accommodate about 600 people at the hall and will have to turn away any more than that number.

"I hope that's what happens," he said. Thus far, the state has been disappointed at the low number of applicants for Bingo licenses.

Some state legislators already are pushing for more liberal laws to allow more groups to hold bingo games and to allow larger prizes to be awarded.

Even some municipalities throughout the state had indicated interest in holding games before the law was passed limiting the games to certain groups.

Beer, Bratwurst, Fun Highlight Oktoberfest

Beer, bratwurst and fun will be on tap this week end at the second annual Oktoberfest of the Des Plaines Chamber of Commerce and Industry.

The festivities, which will begin tonight at Spiegler's parking lot on the east side of Lee Street north of Prairie Avenue, are being presented in cooperation with the Des Plaines Jaycees.

Food, beer, pretzels and cider will be featured, along with the Bavarian Melodya German Band. The Oktoberfest will run from 4:30 to 11 p.m. tonight and from 11 a.m. to 11 p.m. tomorrow.

Man Hurt As Seven Tons Of Fertilizer Hit Him

A 33-year-old Des Plaines man was injured Wednesday morning when an estimated 14,000 pounds of lawn fertilizer bags fell on him at a Des Plaines farm supply store.

The man, Michael Mueller, 33, of 969 Lee St., Des Plaines, was admitted to Lutheran General Hospital. A spokesman at the hospital said the man was listed in fair condition with back injuries.

Des Plaines police said the accident occurred in a storeroom at the Lake Cook Farm Supply Co., 997 Lee St. where Mueller is employed.

Two co-workers, Roger J. Hahnfield and Richard Wanless, reportedly told police they and Mueller were restacking the bags of fertilizer when the accident occurred.

Hahnfield said he shouted a warning to Mueller when the stack, estimated to weigh seven tons, began to fall, but the man was unable to move out of the way. Hahnfield said Mueller was bending when the fertilizer struck him on the back and legs.

Hahnfield reportedly told police the men were restacking the fertilizer because they believed it had been improperly and hazardedly stacked.

This Morning In Brief

The Nation

President Nixon's surprise nominations of William H. Rehnquist and Lewis F. Powell Jr., to the Supreme Court caught the Senate off guard. Chairman James O. Eastland, D-Miss., of the Judiciary Committee acknowledged he did not even know Powell. Rehnquist, 47, a Republican and former lawyer from Phoenix, Ariz., is chief legal counsel in the Justice Department and a staunch advocate of balancing the rights of society against those of criminal suspects. Powell, 64, a Democrat, is former president of the American Bar Association with a reputation of support for improved public education.

Charles (Tex) Watson was sentenced to death in the gas chamber for the Sharon Tate-Leno LaBianca murders, making the sentence unanimous for the Charles Manson "family" members tried for the seven bloody slayings. Manson, 25, was refused a possible penalty of life imprisonment by the same jury of six men and six women that had convicted him of first degree murder and rejected his plea of innocent by reason of insanity.

The State

A Chicago-to-Peoria commuter airliner carrying at least 14 passengers and two crew members crashed when it hit a power line on an approach run to the Greater Peoria Airport. There were no survivors. A list of dead has not been released, according to the Federal Aviation Administration.

A workmen's compensation package providing increases in most areas of nearly 20 per cent but falling well below the levels sought by Democrats, has cleared the Illinois House.

Young men in Illinois have lost the chance to marry at 16 without their parents' consent. The Illinois House upheld Gov. Ogilvie's veto of a bill that gave 18-year-old men the same right that women have to wed at 18 without parental approval.

The World

A Hungarian correspondent reported from Peking that Chinese leaders are discussing political problems, and particularly Vietnam, with presidential advisor Henry A. Kissinger. The writer said Kissinger and Premier Chou-En-lai talked not only about "technical details" of President Nixon's forthcoming visit to Red China, but also the "political questions" connected with it.

Pablo Neruda, loved and admired as a poet but controversial as a Marxist politician and diplomat, won the 1971 Nobel literature prize.

Egyptian Vice President Hussein Shafai said that 800,000 Egyptian troops stand ready to embark on a "battle of destiny" by the end of the year to liberate Arab territories occupied by Israel.

The War

Another group of GIs refused to go on patrol last week in Vietnam — the same thing the men they were sent to replace did — until the defense commander explained why the patrol was necessary, the soldiers involved said. In action near Saigon, Communist gunners shelled the Tay Ninh airfield, killing at least four persons and destroying seven U.S. trucks. The Communists also attacked U.S. Fire Base Pace with rocket and heavy weapons fire.

The Market

Stocks attempted a late-session recovery but the rally fell short and the market closed lower for the seventh straight session. The Dow Jones Average slipped 0.80 to 854.85. Of the 1,679 issues traded, declines topped advances, 744-908, on the New York Stock Exchange. Volume was 14.9 million shares, down from 16.3 million the day before. Corning Glass lost another 4 1/2 points after slipping 14 the day before.

ELK GROVE VILLAGE POLICE Lt. Harry Walsh escorts park. Seven women were among 36 arrested Wednesday afternoon.

Continue Search For Illegal Aliens

by WANDALYN RICE

Immigration agents will continue raids on the industrial area of Elk Grove Village and surrounding communities in their search for illegal aliens, according to Robert Germain, deputy district director for the U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service.

"We will be back, but we don't want to say when we're coming," Germain said yesterday. A Wednesday afternoon raid resulted in the arrest of 37 persons in Centex Industrial Park.

Ten more persons were arrested later Wednesday night in DuPage County south of Elk Grove Village, he said. Seven women who were picked up were released on their own recognizance and the men were to be sent back to Mexico by bus last night, he said.

GERMAIN REPEATED his statement that seven employees of Field Container

Corp., 1500 Nicholas Blvd., were picked up in the raid, although company officials deny it.

"We took three from the plant and the rest were picked up on the street on the way to work," Germain said.

Phillip Cooper, financial vice president for the firm, said only one illegal alien was taken from the plant and added that two others might have been picked up on the street.

"They came into our plant and interrogated 10 or 12 of our people and they took two from the plant, but they sent one back because he was a citizen," Cooper said.

Germain said agents entered some other plants in the industrial park, which he did not name, and received "good cooperation" but added that officials at Field have not been cooperative with the service.

"Field will not let us look at their employee records. Other companies let us examine their records. Generally, companies are cooperative because they do not want aliens there," he said.

GERMAIN SAID his agents try to make most of their arrests on the street because "we don't like to go into plants and disrupt their operations."

Cooper said his company has not supplied records because "what would that prove except that they have Spanish-sounding names?" he said. "They want us to harass our people who are here legally."

Cooper added that the company does not knowingly employ illegals and checks Social Security cards, which can be obtained without proof of citizenship.

"The government has the power to stop these people at the Social Security offices, but they don't," Cooper said. "They are trying to put the burden on the companies and we don't have the way to prove citizenship."

Field, which manufactures cardboard boxes, employs about 250 persons, about 70 or 80 of whom are of Mexican or Puerto Rican descent, Cooper said.

No law prevents companies from employing illegal aliens.

Oakton College To Use Maine North's Gym

Oakton Community College students will be allowed to use gymnasium facilities at Maine North High School in Des Plaines as a result of action taken Monday night by the Maine Township High School Dist. 207 board.

Members voted to let Oakton students and coaches use the spectators' gym, the wrestling room and locker room facilities from now until February anytime Maine North students and coaches are not using them.

Oakton will be charged a $10 fee each time they use the facilities to cover the cost of electricity and the use of equipment.

BOARD MEMBER Roy Makela suggested a study be made to determine if $10 will adequately cover the costs to Maine North of serving the Oakton students.

Board member Michael Bartos, who voted against the Oakton use, said he was in favor of sharing Maine's facilities but not at a loss of money. Based on his experience as a teacher at Triton and Harper junior colleges, Bartos said $10 is too low a fee to charge.

According to Robert Wells, Maine North principal, $10 is all Oakton can afford to pay at this time. Because Oakton has no permanent campus yet, its students and coaches must make use of outside facilities for its sports program.

Fire And Ambulance Calls Show Increase

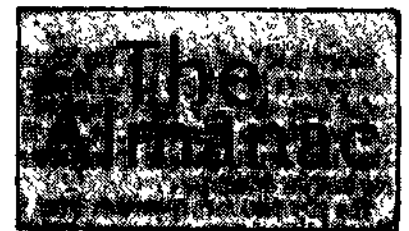

The first nine months of 1971 saw a slight rise in the number of emergency fire and ambulance calls, according to figures released this week by Fire Chief Frank Haag.

The city fire department's three stations responded to a total of 1,339 calls, a rise of about five per cent from the 1,441 responses in the same period last year.

Total ambulance calls, which represent 60 per cent of all fire department alarms, rose from 865 in the first nine months of 1970 to 912 in the same period this year, an increase of about 5 per cent.

Fire department figures also list seven citizens burned or injured in fires, up from six last year, and 11 firemen injured, compared to eight in the same period last year.

Fire loss for buildings and their contents remained below last year's level, with a total loss of $181,327, compared to $286,502 for the same period in 1970. Loss from vehicle fires was $21,045, compared to $17,025 last year.

Missing 'Headache' Leads To Another

On Wednesday, builder Don Paul had a "headache." On Thursday he didn't and that gave him another one.

Thieves took about $500 worth of construction materials and equipment, including a 200-pound "headache" ball, from the Salt Creek Bridge building site on Rte. 62 in Rolling Meadows early Wednesday morning.

Paul, the construction foreman, said the thieves stole the large iron ball and hook, which is used on cranes, a 3-horsepower motor and parts from another motor, and about 100 two-by-fours.

The theft was discovered yesterday morning when the site was opened for the day's work. Paul said the equipment had been chained down, but that that didn't stop the thieves.

The equipment belongs to the Schless Construction Co., Batavia. The company is building the Salt Creek Bridge.

Chief Lewis Case of the Rolling Meadows police department said yesterday afternoon that none of the property had been recovered and no arrests had been made.

Obituaries

Lloyd M. Griffin

Lloyd M. Griffin, 55, of 433 Harding Ave., Des Plaines, a chief industrial engineer for O'Bryan Inc., Chicago, died Wednesday in Holy Family Hospital, Des Plaines, following a long illness.

Funeral services will be held at 1:30 p.m. Saturday in Vanhof Funeral Home, Grand Rapids, Mich. Burial will be in Rosedale Cemetery, Grand Rapids.

Funeral arrangements were made by Oehler Funeral Home, Des Plaines.

Surviving are his widow, Ruth, nee Haberman; three daughters, Mrs. Nina Leider of Chicago, Mrs. Karen Florczak of Streamwood and Darlene Griffin; two sons, Gary and Roger Griffin, all at home; mother, Mrs. Mabel Griffin of Hastings, Mich.; and two brothers, Lawrence and Wesley Griffin, both of Michigan.

Aid Cuts Cost Maryville $200,000

Gov. Ogilvie's recent $80 million cutbacks in state welfare expenditures, which are expected to be approved by the current General Assembly in Springfield, will mean a loss of $200,000 for the 400 residents of Maryville Academy, 1180 N. River Rd., Des Plaines.

According to Jack LaMotte, Maryville's public relations director, 75 per cent of the funds used to support the dependent children of the academy come from the state and 25 per cent from the Catholic Charities of the Archdiocese of Chicago.

LaMotte said Maryville had been promised 78 per cent instead of a 75 per cent funding from the state this year, the result of many applications and petitions from Maryville asking for more aid to meet the rising cost of living and the cost of needed building improvements.

This promised increase would have amounted to $200,000, which LaMotte said was to be used for new educational and recreational programs and additional staff members at Maryville.

GOV. OGILVIE'S veto of certain appropriations in the welfare budget means Maryville will only get the usual 75 per cent funding from the state and plans for the extra money will have to be cancelled.

Catholic Charities, which has 2,000 dependent children who are wards of the state under its care, will lose $600,000, due to a cutback in rate reimbursement for full-time child care by welfare agencies, he said.

LaMotte said Maryville officials are "extremely disappointed" about the cutbacks. "As usual, the children will be the ones who suffer," he said.

The $200,000 was also to be used for items of immediate need, LaMotte said, such as television sets and clothing.

He said the academy needs about 19 television sets in good working order. Many of the sets they now have there, he said, are very old and their parts cannot be replaced.

Maryville children also need clothing and to meet that need, LaMotte said, letters have been sent to local merchants requesting the use of clothes which did not sell in their stores. He said Sears and Roebuck Co., Montgomery Wards and Carson Pirie and Scott and Co. have already responded to this request and are supplying Maryville children with new clothing.

Seek Zoning For Historical Commission Operation Here

City Atty. Robert DiLeonardi will appear before the Des Plaines Zoning Board of Appeals Nov. 15 to ask for zoning changes to enable the newly-created historical preservation commission to operate.

City Atty. DiLeonardi announced at Tuesday night's city council meeting that he had filed petitions seeking zoning ordinance amendments.

The council created a seven-member commission Sept. 20, which is designed to "designate and control" use of historical sites.

The changes would create a special zoning for historical sites, the H-1 classification. Once a site is designated H-1 by the city council, no building permit can be issued to alter, demolish, or allow other construction on the site until the new commission studies and approves the proposed changes.

ONLY THE COURTS could overrule the proposed commission in its decisions on building permits, according to the proposed zoning ordinance amendments.

Des Plaines Mayor Herbert Behrel has promised to appoint members to the new commission soon. According to the ordinance which created the commission, it will include one member of the city plan commission, one member of the Des Plaines Historical Society, a registered architect, one licensed real estate broker, and three members at large "who have demonstrated an interest and appreciation of the history of Des Plaines."

CREATION OF the new commission was suggested by historical society officials, when the city's oldest building, Rand Mill, Mmer Street and River Road, was threatened with destruction to make room for apartment buildings.

Society officials are now working to receive permission from the site owner to move the mill. Officials have also suggested several dozen other sites in Des Plaines which they feel are of historical value.

Horse-Drawn Carriage For Homecoming Queen

The queen's carriage will be drawn by a team of horses in the Elk Grove High School homecoming parade today.

The parade is scheduled to start at 2:30 p.m., right after coronation ceremonies at the high school. Besides the queen's carriage, the parade will include the marching band, pom pom squad and club cars.

The equestrian club will have three horses in the parade and the ecology club will drive a truck loaded with newspapers to be recycled, George Ergang, public relations director, said.

The parade will start at the back parking lot of the school, proceed on Elk Grove Boulevard to Ridge Avenue, Ridge to Laurel Street, Laurel to Charing Cross Road, and Charing Cross back to the high school at Arlington Heights Road and Elk Grove Boulevard.

The annual bonfire was to come off as scheduled last night despite a mischievous act by one student who started the fire prematurely yesterday afternoon.

The student set fire to the cardboards stacked up behind the school, and village firemen had to be called to extinguish the blaze. More cardboard was to have been collected for another bon fire last night.

Friday night the Elk Grove Grenadiers will play Conant High School in the homecoming football game. Junior varsity games will begin at 6 p.m. The varsity game will follow.

An informal dance will follow the football game Friday night. Saturday a semi-formal dance will be held from 8 to 11 p.m. at the school.

A PIROUETTE FOR Paula Vogel requires a little concentration at a Des Plaines Park District Saturday morning ballet class. Beginners and advanced dancers may participate for a $5 fee. Classes are held at 9 and 10 a.m. at the Rand Park fieldhouse in Des Plaines. The first session of ballet lessons ends Dec. 4 and the second session will last from Jan. 8 through March 11. Interested first through sixth graders may sign up at the park district office, 748 Pearson St., Des Plaines.

Nab 7 Mexicans On Immigration Charges

Seven Mexican-American men, reported to be illegal immigrants, were turned over to immigration authorities yesterday after they were arrested by Des Plaines police.

Patrolman Paul Giovannoni said he stopped a car driven by Benton L. Yerkey, 34 of Mundelein for an alleged traffic violation about 1:30 a.m., at Lee Street and Prairie Avenue.

The patrolman said the seven Mexican-American passengers were questioned by Patrolman Ralph Tovar, who speaks Spanish, and it was determined the men had entered the country illegally.

Improved Health Care Is Needed, Ogilvie Declares

Gov. Ogilvie told an assembly of Illinois hospital administrators last night that state health care is a "19th century system which cannot function to meet the needs of the 20th and 21st centuries."

As guest speaker at the annual dinner of the Illinois Hospital Association at the Arlington Park Towers, Ogilvie said an improved medical program involves efficient financing. He made it clear that the present state funding system in which hospitals have been receiving $99 per day for services costing only $88 must be changed.

"There will be year-end reconciliation with your actual costs," he told the officials. Ogilvie also cited the increasing costs of Medicaid in Illinois which have grown from $81 million in 1966 to an estimated $435 million in fiscal 1972.

"OUR COSTS HAVE stripped away any increases in productivity." Partly as a result of the Medicaid failure, Ogilvie said per-day hospital costs rose from $40 per day in 1966 to $68 in 1971.

"The overall burden of welfare has forced us to sharply curtail vital state initiatives in many other areas, especially education," he said.

Ogilvie estimated a $12 million a year savings to taxpayers if the hospital stay of each welfare patient is reduced by one day while also maintaining quality patient care.

HE CITED THE support of the Illinois Hospital Association in creation of statewide trauma centers which he predicted will save hundreds of lives. The establishment of the trauma programs, Ogilvie said, required Illinois hospitals to "look at themselves in the context of the communities they serve" and to shed the point of view that they are self-contained institutions.

He asked for leadership from Illinois hospital administrators in improving state health care.

'Anything Goes' At Maine North Nov. 11, 12, 13

The music and drama departments of Maine North High School in Des Plaines will present the musical "Anything Goes" at 8 p.m. Nov. 11, 12 and 13.

Des Plaines students Ellen Strba, 1989 Big Bend Dr. and Richard Dillon, 1150 River Rd. are among the cast members now rehearsing for the 1930 Broadway musical.

Jill Greenwald, 3640 Culver St. and Claudia Ahrens, 1824 Rand Rd. are Des Plaines students who will assist director Jack Olander with the show's technical preparations.

Maine North's orchestra, under the direction of Walter Wolodkin, will play Cole Porter's musical score for the show. O. D. Premeo of the school's music department will serve as musical director.

Technical director will be teacher Roger Kleinfeld. Sue Tobiansky, another Maine North teacher, will design the costumes and Dolores Howard, teacher, will be the choreographer.

Lead roles for "Anything Goes" will be played by Glenview students Ann Bartolotta, Andi Flaxman, Greg Polcyn, Brad Coles and Joe Lechner.

Other roles will be played by Glenview students Nadine Johnson, Wendy Morgan, Ron Elliott, Joe Schlanger, Cathy Adinolfi and Geoff Holmes and Niles students Sandie Dribin and Janet Goldman.

Other student workers helping Olander will be Sher Watts, Kathy Papajohn, Pat Boelke and Lori Schoendherr, all of Glenview.

Maine North's Fine Arts Booster Club will sponsor the musical.

Pollution Gives Way To Tradition

The traditional homecoming bonfire will apparently be held as scheduled at Elk Grove High School Thursday night.

The bonfire will be held at the high school at dusk with permission from Elk Grove Village Fire Chief Allen Hulett.

Members of the homecoming committee at the school had earlier expressed concern that permission would not be granted because either the state or county air pollution authority would object.

Yesterday, however, Hulett said, "We expect they are going to have their bonfire. We are planning on it."

The bonfire will be followed by a powderpuff football game between junior and senior girls. This year, for the first time, the girls will play tackle football.

On Friday at 1:45 p.m., the homecoming queen will be crowned and a parade through the village will follow at 2:30 p.m.

Five senior girls are candidates for queen. One will be elected by a vote of the student body. The candidates are Madeline Austin, Sue Romano, Susan Jackson, Karen Pristinger, and Maria Guila.

Friday night the Elk Grove Grenadiers will meet the Conant High School football team in the homecoming game. The game will be followed by an informal dance.

Saturday, the last day of homecoming activities, will feature a semi-formal dance from 8 to 11 p.m. in the school.

The homecoming parade will include the queen's floats and cars representing clubs from the high school. The Elk Grove marching band will also participate.

Charge Area Man

A 35-year-old Des Plaines man was arrested this week by Mount Prospect police and charged with two counts of taking indecent liberties with a child. Police said Thomas Hacker, also known as Thomas Edward, of 920 Beau Dr., Des Plaines, was arrested Monday and released on $5,000 bond. He will appear Tuesday in Niles Court.

Both cases involved juveniles, therefore police would reveal no further details.

The Colt comes in four different models: 2-door coupe, 2-door hardtop, 4-door sedan and station wagon.

To show you what a bargain a Colt is—all that good stuff you see up there in the little pictures is standard—on all models.

The flow-through ventilation, disc brakes, adjustable steering column, incredibly efficient engine, trunk-lid antenna (except the wagon)—they're all standard.

'Spookhouse' Ends 25-Year Reign

After successfully and enjoyably managing and having a "SPOOKHOUSE" for twenty-five years, our family, the Julius Froehlicher, have decided we would give it up of course we are unhappy about it as it has been a tradition with us, but in discussing it after all these years, we have decided that after twenty-five years with changing times, and changing neighborhoods, much has had to be considered, one especially was the parking problem, the danger of children being run over from the excitement, etc.

Therefore this is why we are writing to you, to thank you for all the past cooperation, the publicity, pictures etc., printed in your paper, and for the wonderful photographers you sent over, who explained why they liked hanging around they were having as much fun, as the crowds attending. It was in 1946, that WBBM sound effects dept. helped us to get the ball a rolling as they knew what we wanted to do to make others happy, from then on in we were on our own. It was last year 1970, the crowds lined up had to wait thirty to forty-five minutes, and it was cold, but our young folks, and adults did not seem to mind. There were five hundred who registered in the wall paper book, we used for each year. This wall paper book will be a long time MEMO to us along with the many, many pictures, etc., we have in our album. Along too, with a tape recording of our very own, to keep us informed for years to come.

Though I will not name you personally, we wish to thank some of our businessmen, neighbors, and friends, who on several occasions helped us to make our "Spookhouse" the funhouse it was. You know whom you are, and we want you to know that BELIEVE us when we say without you it could not have been the success it was. It was a great deal of work but it was well worth it, as we made many, many adults as well as children happy.

We hope too, in the twenty-five years we have inspired some of you that when you grow up, or as you are growing up, try to make someone happy each day of the year, as we firmly believe that when you "GIVE OUT LOVE" you get "LOVE" in return, again we say "THANKS TO ALL" for being so cooperative for these past twenty-five years.

Federal Spending Is Key To Inflation

When you start figuring out how many pennies an American dollar is worth in purchasing power, your conclusion depends on what year you chose in which you believed that the dollar was worth a hundred cents. If your base year was 1839, then a dollar in 1971 would be worth about 21 cents. If you assumed a dollar to be worth one dollar in 1942, as in a recent study by the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, then a 1971 dollar will buy 41 cents worth of merchandise and by the year 1998, your dollar will be worth 18 cents.

Just about the time we are ready to conclude that dollar bills are cheaper than wallpaper and are getting ready to use money to decorate the living room, some economist will come up with a more recent year to hang the 100 cent dollar on, and we can start to be fooled all over again.

Nevertheless, the Chamber study does give some interesting facts, in case the value of the dollar shrinks as predicted. They point out how much you will have to earn or pay, just to equal the same amount in terms of today's 42 cent dollars.

$7,200 wages in 1971 will have to be $16,800 in 1998. A $3,000 car will cost $7,000. A $25,000 home will cost $58,000.

$4,000 in college tuition will cost $9,400. A $25 pair of shoes will be priced at $58, and so on.

Despite the insistence of writers who say that the reasons for inflation are manifold, I think we must realize that the main reason for the decline of the dollar's value has been federal spending — specifically, deficit spending.

The interest on the national debt in 1971 will be $21 billion; a figure that defies imagination, until interpreted in everyday terms. $21 billion is the equivalent of the combined income of 2,231,000 average American families. It could buy $20,000 homes for 983,000 low-income families — more than the combined population of Detroit and Houston. It could give poor families more than twice what the proposed Family Assistance Plan would cost the government. And it could give the average family a refund of $294 on its federal income tax.

Statisticians provide us with many more figures which lead to only one conclusion — that if government were in any other business it would be considered bankrupt. The condition of bankruptcy has a profound effect on our lives, our security and our futures; yet only a few citizens appear to be concerned about it.

There is no easy way to achieve a reversal of the trend. But the least we can do is let the big spenders know how we feel about inflation; let our representative in Congress know that we are fed up with fiscal irresponsibility and a shrinking dollar.

The dollar will continue to shrink until deficit spending our government becomes unpopular. And such spending will not be unpopular as long as states, municipalities and people in general continue to look to Washington as a source of funds, handouts and matching grants to support their pet projects.

The only way I can think of to stop inflation is to convince voting citizens that excess federal spending is burning away the value of their earnings and savings. This in turn could result in a public demand that Washington become fiscally responsible, and a removal of the big spenders from office.

Religion Doesn't Belong In Schools

I would like to thank Mrs. Julia Jones for giving her views on teaching religion as a history course in public schools. In a previous letter I asked the question, "What would the devout think of such a history course?" Also prayer in the public schools?

In answer, Mrs. Jones speaks of the resurrection of Jesus Christ, and further, urges me to read a book on the virtues of Christianity, etc. I must now confess that I am guilty of "Christian-baiting" in asking the questions. The point Mrs. Jones proved for me is that religion is a purely personal and private matter that belongs in the home, church and private schools.

For a public school teacher to propagate Jesus as being unique and exclude the life of Buddha, Moses, Mohammed, Gandhi, et al, would be a disservice to the student and to our secular society. This is a country made up of many different faiths, where we are free to worship (or not worship, as we choose). Neither religion, or non-religion, should be taught in public schools and Mrs. Jones surely proved it by speaking exclusively in favor of Christianity and ignoring all the other faiths.

Mrs. Jones further states that myself, and other non-Christian people are only "semi-educated because we do not accept Jesus as a unique saviour, or Christianity as our religion. Afraid she'd get quite an argument on that from the dedicated rabbi, Buddhist monks, Moslems, Hindus and the like.

Think it bears repeating — As I stated in my previous letter, "I somehow get the feeling that the backers of the prayer issue think God is American, Christian, white and is living in a well-to-do suburb." Is He, Mrs. Jones?

Homeowners' Patience Tried

Sandra J. Browning's "Eye on Arlington" column of Oct. 13 requires an apology to the citizens of Arlington Heights. It is not the homeowners who "try the patience of hired and elected village officials." It is the opposite!

The homeowners have elected those village officials. Miss Browning had better refer to the basic concept of our democratic form of government, before she attacks the residents for expressing their inalienable rights. She has lost sight of the fact that those officials can be voted out of office by homeowners who "fight tooth and nail."

Her suggestion, which she claims to be the "only conceivable way" for the concerned residents to maintain their property values, is to buy the undeveloped property, and do what they want with it. Property owners do not buy up property to save their neighborhoods. They attend hearings and express themselves, because they believe in the democratic way. They believe they have the right to be heard, as well as the "planners." The Village of Arlington Heights is responsible to its citizens, and must listen.

Miss Browning should have read your editorial which appeared on page 10 of the same issue, wherein officials of a neighboring village were taken to task for ignoring the rights of the citizenry.

I doubt that Miss Browning's specious argument will affect the judgment of the officials, or change the homeowner position. Her first requirement to write a newspaper column should have been to attend a civics class.

Record Set Straight

The article concerning teacher salaries in the Oct. 11 Herald reported District 59's situation, in part, inaccurately. Teachers here negotiated a general salary increase of 3%. As in several of the other districts there is also a schedule which provides longevity increases; in District 59's case, 4%. Thus, the maximum increase a teacher might receive is 7%. The arrangement is quite similar to the other districts reported.

The other inaccurate statement concerned the length of negotiations and the presence of a federal mediator. Negotiations were completed in just over three months, not five as stated, and no mediators were needed nor used.

I wish that letters to the editor had the same impact as a news story does upon your readership. I believe, though, that news stories, particularly those which compare data from one system to another are far better remembered than such letters as this.

The purpose of this letter is to set the record straight for all those interested and to take this opportunity to thank you for the generally excellent coverage of School District 59.

Board's Choice Praised

Congratulations to Gene Artemenko on his appointment to the Board of Education. District 214 made a wise choice. Gene has been involved in the local educational scene for the last 5 years. He was a former President of District 59 Board of Education, a member of 214's "Committee of 75" and the Founding President of Elk Grove High's Teacher-Parent Council.

The Board could have let its appointment powers lapse and held a special election at the taxpayers' expense. This would have been the easy way out considering the pressures which were being exerted to force the appointment of an Elk Grove Village resident.

It was heartwarming to see the Board rise above this petty regional fractionalization. It is also interesting to note that the voices that were demanding the appointment of "our" representative are the same ones who decry any suggestion that Elk Grove be modified to an ad-hoc representative form of government.

They insist that representatives who are elected at large and represent "all" the people will do a better job than those who are elected by and represent only a fraction of the people.

Why then, Gentlemen do you insist on having our "Alderman" on the Board of Education. Do representatives who represent "All" the people only exist in Village Government. Nay, I say. The person you recommended as "Our" representative would also have been a fine choice and would have been an able spokesman for "All" the residents of 214.

Senior Citizens Deserve Tax Relief

Your thoughtful editorial titled "Older Citizens Deserve a Break" again focuses attention on a subject worthy of further serious consideration.

While I do not presume to speak for all Senior Citizens I am aware that even the so called small gestures you mention, are welcome. But these do not touch upon one of the greatest problems facing many retired Home Owners in our village and surrounding area.

This briefly is the inequity of our present so-called Real Estate taxes.

I doubt that any resident of our community will quibble over the cost of actual village and township services such as Police, streets, garbage collection, Parks, Recreation, Health, Administration and so forth. These seem fair, necessary and reasonable. Certainly these pertain directly to home ownership.

What many Senior Citizens do view with apprehension is the approximately 80% of their Real Estate taxes being levied for schools.

During the some 40 years that we have been residents of this school district we have been assessed and have paid in school taxes alone considerably more than the total original cost of our present home. For which our one child received some 10 years of grade and High School education which culminated some 25 years ago.

Since that time we have contributed to the cost of educating thousands of other children. Which up to the time of my retirement, we willingly paid.

Now on a fixed income with inflation and steadily increasing school and educational costs we watch our "Real Estate" taxes spiral upwards year after year. From some 75-80% of which we receive few if any direct benefits.

I am sure there will be repercussions to the suggestion that your editorial headline include some tax relief from the continual school taxes after age 65. For when it becomes a question of losing one's home, because of burgeoning school taxes, or receiving some well deserved relief from this seemingly unfair burden, I believe older citizens in general, will agree that saving one's home should take precedence. Surely this is one break that older citizens have earned.

Burning Of Diseased Trees Is Defended

Your editorial regarding the urgency of continuing the operation of the Forest Preserve District's sites for the disposal of trees infected with Dutch Elm disease was very much appreciated.

The Forest Preserve District is most concerned with the preservation of our environment and the District's holdings are one of the finest amenities of the Metropolitan area. However, proper safeguards must be instituted to make certain that the eco systems are preserved. In the event provisions are not made to dispose of the infected trees in the most practical manner epidemic conditions will certainly arise resulting in the destruction of the Elm population. The District alone has one million, four hundred thousand elm trees within its holdings, and the elm tree is the principal parkway tree in the municipalities. To permit the destruction of these trees would be a reprehensible tragedy.

Environmental protection programs must be evaluated to make certain that the supposed protection isn't more damaging than the action that is being prohibited. The programs must be placed on the environmental scales.

It must be realized that under good combustion conditions that the burning of trees results in carbon dioxide (which is used by plants in the normal process of photosynthesis) moisture, and minute quantities of carbon monoxide. No sulfur dioxides, nitrous oxides or P.A.N., etc., is emitted. From the foregoing, it is quite evident that the scales balance most favorably to burning the diseased trees as opposed to losing the trees to disease because proper sanitation programs cannot be practiced.

Pardon the lengthy dissertation, but the District is convinced that it has the right program and your fine support is sincerely appreciated.

Teachers' Wage Request

For the past six months, I have been reading with increasing interest the developments concerning salary negotiations between the Board of Education and the teachers of School District 54. I have been a teacher in this district for the past 6 years.

Mr. Rudd, you seem to believe, that in order to protect the taxpayers of this district, you cannot afford to "offer" more than a $250 increase in the starting salary, while at the same time, you attempt to take from teachers benefits which they already have. Does this reflect your evaluation of the teachers of District 54?

Your main concern seems to be economics, the taxpayers' money. It has been mentioned, on more than one occasion, that there is an abundant supply of teachers. Do you really want quantity for our children, not quality, or are you using this as a scare tactic? Is this why the District prefers to hire more inexperienced than experienced teachers, since they would save money in salaries?

Pay us a living wage, and we would not have to work a second job at night. In the school where I am employed, approximately twelve teachers have second jobs. Would you care to take a survey of the other twenty-one schools to determine how many teachers hold two jobs in order to merely exist?

Many of us have families, and we do like to spend some time with them. This means that preparation for classes suffers, and extra learning activities which should be done are not. If we were paid a decent salary, two incomes would not be

Restaurant Zone Endorsed

I read in the October 13 Rolling Meadows Herald that a Ponderosa Steak and Pizza House restaurant had plans to build here on land they want annexed to Rolling Meadows and they are also asking for a liquor license.

I think it's great. I've wished for a long time that Ponderosa Steak House was in our town. I've met many of our town's people at the one in Des Plaines.

Let's face a fact. They put out a steak dinner that most of us in the Meadows can afford to take our families to once in awhile. And their Tuesday family night is only 99 cents for a steak (rib eye) dinner which you can't beat.

The Pizza Hut is also a good idea. Right now we only have one pizza restaurant in town which isn't that good. Most of the kids travel to Rand Road to pizza places and those who don't have cars are stuck with the only one in town.

I am writing this because in the article was a statement that I hope will not happen again. "The project will be located very near the Holly Lane homeowners and there will be objections from the adjacent home owners."

This time let's consider how many home owners in the Meadows will benefit from these places instead of just how few people, who everytime someone plans to build something on the land near their homes they start yelling. And they get their way and it's left vacant.

Could they have a hidden privilege that their wishes are always granted?

The way I see it, they choose to move near a busy section of town. If they didn't want commercial type businesses near their homes they should have bought away from the main street of town.

Back when the state decided to widen Route 53 they didn't care that the people affected by it didn't want it. They just came along and did it.

It was not only farm land I'm talking about, it was a beautiful home and grounds. We had bought our home behind them, which is now Frontage Road.

I do hope our officials don't wash out these places for a few choice home owners.

You say we have a Mr. Steak Restaurant on Route 62. Take a look at their prices and what is offered. It doesn't compare with what Ponderosa has for the money.

St. Viator Marriage Course Is Popular

Offer 'Sex And The Single Senior'

by KURT BAER

Seniors at St. Viator Catholic High School in Arlington Heights are learning a little more than everything they always wanted to know about sex, and three St. Viator teachers are finding the boys aren't afraid to ask.

It's all part of a newly designed marriage course being offered at the high school this year under a team-teaching arrangement involving a priest, an athletic coach and a married woman.

The students have been probing human sexuality and marriage in all its various dimensions.

"Human sexuality is the core of human personality and relationship.

"Sex has human meaning only in terms of relationship and love.

"MARRIAGE IS A responsible expression of Christian love."

These are the three fundamental premises the seniors are asked to evaluate through their reading and discussion.

"We try to help the kids go from the marriage level to their own dating level," says Bernice McCarthy, one of the teachers, who admits she is sometimes hampered in class by the absence of other females.

All three of the course instructors come to the subject of sex and marriage with different beliefs and experiences, and a unanimous opinion among the students or the faculty is rare.

The course is divided into seven units of study:

- Sexuality, development and developmental psychology.
- Masculinity-femininity, physiological, psychological and cultural.
- Interpersonal relationships, affection, friendship, eros, love; heterosexuality, homosexuality.
- Community, celibacy, sacramentality of marriage.
- Choosing a partner
- Husband, wife & family, mutual relationships, parental roles, contraception, abortion, divorce.

A RECENT CLASS devoted to sex and friendship brought students face to face with the weighty problem of whether sex can be enjoyed by itself, without love or even lasting friendship.

Taking off from a passage in Albert Ellis' "Sex and the Single Man," Mrs. McCarthy asks the students if they first can visualize couples living according to the book's premise that sex is for pleasure with society, morality and responsibility reduced to mere inconveniences.

The seniors' replies make it clear that, from movies, books and television, as well as perhaps personal experience, the boys find it easy to understand such an arrangement, but at the same time most of them say they cannot believe that a relationship based solely on sex could last.

"Man was put on earth to do more than just enjoy himself," one student says.

Another student brings up Neil Simon's play, "The Star Spangled Girl," where two lovers are attracted to each other like "one hippopotamus to another with no questions asked."

"In the play, sex is treated as 'strictly business,' and I can imagine this as a very stable, almost healthy relationship," the boy says.

And so the discussion continues with a necessarily strong reliance on episodes from books, movies and television.

"SEVERAL OF THE students have suggested that in the future we put more emphasis on dating than marriage," Mrs. McCarthy said. "Right now that's where they're at and many of them are looking for very specific answers to their own personal problems."

She believes the team-teaching approach has had several advantages over a single instructor. Each teacher has

'Spooks' Prepare To Scare Haunted House Visitors

The spooks are getting ready to greet residents who come to the annual Campus Life haunted house when it opens Friday in Mount Prospect.

But the residents won't be children. Children below the seventh grade are not allowed to visit the house's horrors. And those in seventh and eighth grade must be accompanied by a parent.

"The house is mostly for kids of high school age," said Paul Veerman of Campus Life. "One year we tried junior high school age kids without parents and they ripped the place apart. They just couldn't take it, and they struck back against it."

Veerman said Campus Life members are currently working to convert old Central School, Central Road and Maine Street, into a haunted house. The house will be open from 7 p.m. to 11 p.m. on Friday and Saturday. It will open again on Oct. 26 and be open from 7 p.m. to 10:30 p.m. each day until Thursday. On Friday and Saturday, people can tour the house from 7 p.m. to 11 p.m. Veerman said the house may stay open on Sunday, depending on the demand.

'Roving Counselor' To Join Staff At Harper College

Counseling service at Harper College in Palatine is leaving the office to rove about the campus.

Employment of a "roving social therapist-counselor" was approved by the Harper Board of Trustees last week. The counselor will be a graduate of a social therapy program at Forest Hospital in Des Plaines. He will also hold a B. A. degree.

Hiring a roving counselor is the first step in a plan to expand the counseling service at Harper. According to Robert Lahti, college president, "the counseling staff is on one road now."

"The counselor goes to his office and sits there from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. We need a combination approach to counseling both from the office and from the campus at large. We should concentrate more on preventing a problem than on repairing it afterwards."

"Traditionally, a lot of students don't seek out counselors," added Guerin Fischer, vice president of student affairs. "If we take a counselor and send him out to the social areas of the campus, he can talk to students he might not otherwise meet."

As a graduate student, the roving counselor will be classified a "paraprofessional." The "professional" counselors at Harper have completed the necessary graduate courses. Fischer pointed out that, "we can reach more people for less money by hiring a paraprofessional."

Before approving the proposal, several trustees questioned the advisability of using a paraprofessional for the new program. Trustees Jessalyn Nicholas and Gene Nugent proposed using the new roving approach with the present counseling staff. Trustee Ross Miller pointed out that a Forest Hospital student might get a "shrink" stigma. In the final vote Nicholas was the only trustee to turn down the proposal.

Lahti told the trustees it would be advantageous to use a paraprofessional because "young people would be dealing with young people. In addition, the paraprofessional can take some of the load off the regular counseling staff."

Builder Says Housing Needed Here

The head of a not-for-profit development corporation seeking to build moderate-income housing in Arlington Heights defended his corporation's project in a speech Tuesday night in Prospect Heights.

Salvatore Ferrera, executive director of the Metropolitan Housing Development Corp. of Chicago, said there is need for moderate-income housing in the Northwest suburban area. He contended the group's proposed site for moderate-income townhouses in Arlington Heights is a good one.

Ferrera's speech, to about 20 persons, was at Grace Lutheran Church, Euclid and Wolf roads, Prospect Heights.

The proposal to build moderate-income housing on land adjacent to St. Viator High School was rejected by the Arlington Heights Village Board, 6-1. The proposal had called for the construction of 190 units including 100 one-bedroom and 48 two-bedroom units. The remaining units would be of the three and four-bedroom variety.

FERRERA SAID "The need for moderate-income housing is here. We look on this as a service to the community." He pointed out that a great deal of industry has moved to the suburbs and brought with it a labor force that needs the type of housing his corporation builds. He said that for lack of such housing in this area, industrial workers have to travel long distances to their jobs. This, he said, results in an undue amount of employee turnover.

Ferrera said the Arlington Heights Viator site was especially good for the project because it was relatively close to the village's downtown shopping district and transportation facilities. He pointed out that a site such as the Viator land was more suited to a moderate-income project than unincorporated land (such as that in Prospect Heights) because it was close to transportation and shopping facilities.

Ferrera said that currently his corporation is looking for another Arlington Heights site "with the cooperation of the village." He added, "If we can't find another spot, our final option, like that of any developer, would be to go to court" to get the Viator land rezoned.

Survey Shows A Need For Housing

A survey of the Elk Grove Village labor force has found that a need exists for low- and moderate-income housing in that village.

The survey estimated a current need of 1,055 low income and 922 moderate-income housing units.

Low income was defined as $600 or less a month and moderate income, $600 to $1,000 a month.

Dr. John Lucas, of Harper College in Palatine, estimated the working force at 22,000 in the industrial area of the village. The figure was provided by the Department of Labor, taken from a 1966 report.

The survey, however, included commercial and industrial segments of the community in addition to municipal employees and workers at Alexian Brothers Medical Center. The school districts were not included in the survey.

ALMOST 700 persons were surveyed with the results showing there are 34 low-income and 30 moderate-income families who would like to move to Elk Grove Village.

Median income of men surveyed was $9,108 a year and of women, $6,396 a year. Total family income among males who responded $11,700 and among females, $12,600 a year.

In addition to the survey of employees, 54 business organizations responded to a survey of businesses. This survey showed the median annual income at $7,635.

Lucas said the firms surveyed were "fairly representative," and added the survey was a good sampling when asked by village housing commission member Joseph Wellman.

Wellman earlier expressed some disappointment with the survey, but upon talking with Lucas, Tuesday changed his mind. He agreed the survey was good.

Wellman headed the survey committee which worked for one year on the project. Survey statistics were submitted to Lucas several weeks ago for his interpretation. Lucas is director of planning and development at the college.

The seven-member housing commission will now use the survey results in making a recommendation to the village board on the need for low and moderate-income housing.

The housing commission serves as an advisory body to the village board, having been formed in June, 1970, in the wake of a housing controversy that followed the deaths of three children in unincorporated Elk Grove Township in November, 1969.

Its purpose is to define and establish housing needs and recommend a housing program to the village board.

The Amazing Kreshkin

A Man Who Doesn't Want To Be Limited

THOUGHT-READING and suggestion, integral parts of Kreshkin's performances, take a great deal of concentration by both Kreshkin and his audience.

by DOROTHY OLIVER

I first got to know Kreshkin in my pre-work days when nothing short of a tornado alert could tear me away from my favorite afternoon television program, "The Mike Douglas Show." Kreshkin was the tall, thin, frequent guest who was introduced with superlative adjectives and bounded on stage with a mile-a-minute demonstration of thought-reading, telepathy and ESP.

He was fascinating to watch — but that was television. You may want to believe what you're seeing but you won't swear to it.

In person Kreshkin leaves no doubt that he is legitimate. When he appeared in front of the Town Hall audience last spring he thought-read Social Security numbers, dates, events, names and numbers. The audience loved him for his humor, honesty and incredible mental abilities.

LAST WEEK THIS Kreshkin fan sat across the table from him at the Black Ram Restaurant in Des Plaines. Our interview was sandwiched in between appearances at Marshall Fields stores, (including the one at Woodfield), television and radio appearances. Kreshkin was in town to promote and explain "Kreshkin's Krystal" which he created and which is being distributed to major department stores by the SM Company.

There sat the former George Kresge of West Caldwell, N.J., whose interest in the field began at 5, who read the entire psychology department of the adult branch of his hometown library by the age of 10, was performing as a magician and hypnotist by the age of 11, developed his ESP powers with the children's game of "Hot and Cold," holds an A.B. degree in psychology and reads 7,000 words a minute.

KRESKIN (HIS LEGAL name since the age of 18) has described himself as a conservative in an extravagant field. He firmly denies the existence of a hypnotic trance (and has offered $20,000 to anyone who can scientifically prove such a trance does exist), arguing that a hypnotized person is fully awake and aware of what is happening. He attributes hypnotic "tricks" to the power of suggestion and substantiates his belief by including it in his performance.

Those that claim to be reincarnated, more likely have genetic memory and telepathy, according to Kreshkin. A psychic receiving vibrations from an object is probably receiving telepathic messages from its owner, he feels.

Kreshkin prefers to call himself hypersensitive or hypernormal rather than psychic. His thought-reading does not happen automatically and is never used socially.

"I learned a good lesson when I was a senior in high school. I was using ESP all the time, experimenting with my friends. When the phone would ring I'd pick it up and say, 'Hi, John' and then there'd be this dead silence on the other end of the phone. Within a half a year my friends were becoming up-tight.

"I REALIZED THAT this was not a desirable relationship. It was not an equal way to communicate with people. I can play a game of pinocchio with my friends and they will never give it a second thought that I might be using ESP."

On rare occasions Kreshkin will receive others' thoughts automatically. Generally the conditions are controlled, and the other person is cooperating when he uses telepathy. He practices with people, practices meditation and rehearses experiments mentally to "keep toned."

His performance is fast-paced ("I have a high metabolic rate. I eat five meals a day and don't gain a pound"), humorous and casual. But Kreshkin takes his work and his field very seriously.

"Too many people in this field believe God is dead and they've taken his place. I believe that these abilities are extremely natural forces. God gave us these abilities. I treat it casually because I don't want to talk down to my audience."

"RIGHT NOW ESP is being studied out of the laboratory. It has gone through stages. At first it was treated reportorially, then it was tested in the laboratory situation. Now it is being taken out."

"ESP is studied not because of what it can do for mankind but rather because it is a part of man and we don't know enough about it. It can't be taught yet, but if people have it you can make them aware of it."

Kreshkin's Krystal is designed to do just that. He describes it as a "scientific curiosity," devoid of hocus-pocus, the supernatural or the occult. It consists of a crystal base and a ball on the end of a gold chain.

The ball swings like a pendulum over the base and by swinging back and forth answers "yes," swinging sideways answers "no" and by swinging in a circle answers "I don't know" or "I don't want to answer." Kreshkin emphasized that the Krystal does not foretell the future, solve problems or diagnose illness. Instead it is designed as a technique to help people develop their thought process, concentration, ability to meditate and as a test for ESP.

KRESKIN'S STRONG background in psychology played a part in developing the Krystal and is used extensively in his work. "It has helped me to sophisticate the field. It is a great foundation as long as it doesn't limit me. I often feel that education can be a limiting thing if a person allows it. One of the blessings I had as a teen was that I didn't know there was a limit. I would grow and experiment."

Kreshkin has placed no limits on his future either. He has television, radio and personal appearance bookings for the next 54 weeks. He is currently filming his own syndicated television show, "The Amazing World of Kreshkin," which will be released in March. Someday he hopes to have a family, write and get into new areas of his field, but he never intends to stop performing.

"I like people," he said with a smile. "I couldn't stand the pressure and the time involved if I didn't love my work."

Film Star Glad He Switched

Glenn Ford Happy In TV

by DICK KLEINER

HOLLYWOOD—(NEA)—The men who run the TV networks are no dummies, even though sometimes it may look that way. There's method in their murky programming.

They know, for example, just who watches — "demographics" is what they call the science of measuring the type of audience they get. And demographics these days indicates that there are a lot of older folks glued to the millions of living room theaters.

Perry Lafferty of CBS once told me that, given a choice between Dustin Hoffman and Glenn Ford as a series star, he wouldn't hesitate — he'd sign up Ford, because the bulk of the audience would rather see him.

So he went out and did just that. Now Glenn Ford is starring in "Cade's County" and it looks like Lafferty knew what he was doing — "Cade's County" smells like a hit.

LIKE MANY other top movie names, Ford turned down many TV bids before he actually succumbed.

"I could kick myself," Ford says, "that I didn't do this three years ago. I'm having fun."

He says when he finally made the decision to try TV, they gave him a choice of three formats — a doctor, a lawyer or a western sheriff. He took the last.

"I didn't want to spend my whole working day in a hospital," he says, "and, as for the lawyer show, there were too many long speeches."

Ford is famous around Hollywood, and always has been, for cutting his own dialogue. He believes that most movies are too talky, and he has a rule of thumb — no speeches over four lines.

"I'm still cutting my speeches down," he says. "The four-line maximum still holds. And I've been giving a lot of my speeches to other actors."

AN OFT-REPEATED story around town is that Ford — as well as the other movie-into-TV actors, such as James Garner, James Stewart and Rod Taylor — have made the move because of lack of movie work. Ford says that isn't true, as far as he is concerned.

"I decided to do a TV show now," he says, "because I was tired of hotel rooms. I could be working in features right now — but in Yugoslavia or Mexico or somewhere. I've been traveling almost steadily since '67, and I'm tired."

GLENN FORD

"With this, I'm only 10 minutes away from home."

He says that TV is "where the action is today." And he isn't particularly worried about whether or not he makes it — although, obviously, he'd rather it was a success than a failure.

"But if it fails," he says, "I can't see it hurting me any more than some of the miserable pictures I've done."

SAM CADE, the county sheriff he plays on the series, is, he says, a composite of all the western characters he's ever done.

"When I said I'd do it," he says, "they ran off all my westerns, and took a bit from each."

He says he hasn't been surprised at anything he's found in TV shooting, except for one over-all bit of amazement — that it can be done as well as it has been done in the time they have.

"We have a great crew," he says. "With this crew, we could do a full-length feature in one-third the usual time."

Another surprise, he says, is that everything "is first class." The show has handsome sets and costumes and top-line guest stars. But, when you dig a little, that isn't so surprising after all.

"Cade's County" is 20th Century-Fox's big one, and they are rumored to be spending more on it than on all the studio's other TV shows ("Room 222," "Nanny and the Professor" and "Arnie") combined.

You could say Donald O'Connor was born in a trunk, he entered show business at such an early age.

O'Connor made his stage debut at the age of five days when his father, a vaudeville performer, carried him out on stage and introduced him to the audience. As soon as Donald could walk, he joined the family act.

"Each of us kids made $25 a week for performing," said the comedian who opened in "The Seven Year Itch" at Arlington Park Theatre this week. "In vaudeville it was profitable to have children."

For O'Connor, who was born on the northwest side of Chicago, playing in Arlington Heights is almost like coming home.

"ACTUALLY HOME was just where the kids were born," he softly laughed. "While in vaudeville, our headquarters were New York, Chicago or Los Angeles. I consider my real hometown Danville, Ill., because that is where my Dad's brother settled. Do you know I have only one cousin that has left there?"

Formerly a circus acrobat, Father O'Connor entered vaudeville when the circus started dying out. Donald, the youngest of the children, joined the act with his three brothers and three sisters in a routine consisting of singing, dancing, comedy and acrobatics, all groundwork for O'Connor's later career.

Except for his mother who, he said, "is still swinging in California," O'Connor is the only one left of the act, his sisters and brothers all having passed away.

The versatile comedian-actor, who has made well over 100 films, was first discovered by Paramount Pictures while doing a benefit in Los Angeles. He was signed for the role of Bing Crosby's kid brother in "Sing You Sinners," a movie which led to a term contract.

"IN ONE YEAR I made 13 pictures," said O'Connor. "I was four feet nine inches when I made 'Sing You Sinners' and they wanted to get as much out of me while I still looked like a kid."

"The same thing happened at 17 when I was the Elvis Presley of my day. They made as many pictures as they could before I went into the service."

Of his favorites he lists the comedy series of "Francis," the talking mule, which O'Connor labels "unusual unique pictures." He also mentioned "Call Me Madam" in which he starred with Ethel Merman, "Singing in the Rain" and "of course, all my big musicals," he added.

O'Connor, who has now participated in about every form of show business, said of his career, "I like to do anything in the business as long as I don't have to stay with it too long. I like to go on ... but of course, there is nothing like a live audience."

O'CONNOR PRESENTLY spends a lot of time with Golden Products with which he is affiliated, a company that sells directly to the consumer and that is both nationally and internationally located.

"We make biodegradable, non-pollutant non-toxic cleansing agents for home and industry," he said. "We also make such items as shoe polish, car waxes and we are even beginning a line of custom-made bras."

To relax O'Connor plays golf or writes.

THOUGH QUITE cordial throughout the interview, O'Connor intermittently looked as though his mind was wandering ... around the hotel and back into the theater. "People ask me if I feel O.K. I'm only thinking," he said, "and I haven't yet seen a person who smiles while he thinks, have you?"

With only a week of solid rehearsing before opening each production, the pace at Arlington Park is fast and furious. And this is the first time O'Connor has done "The Seven Year Itch."

"I'm used to fast changes and playing different characters," he said. "That's why I'm going to enjoy this role."

Because of his appearance at Arlington O'Connor was forced to turn down an invitation by President Nixon to perform.

"I feel pretty smug," he brightened. "It's not every day you can turn down the President."

A Future For Every Child Is UNICEF Card Sale Goal

UNICEF greeting cards and calendars will be sold by the Des Plaines League of Women Voters.

The world wide sale of UNICEF cards is an important source of income for the Nobel Peace Prize-winning United Nations Children's Fund. The Fund is entirely dependent upon voluntary contributions from governments and individuals.

Now celebrating its 25th Anniversary, UNICEF is assisting needy youngsters in 112 countries.

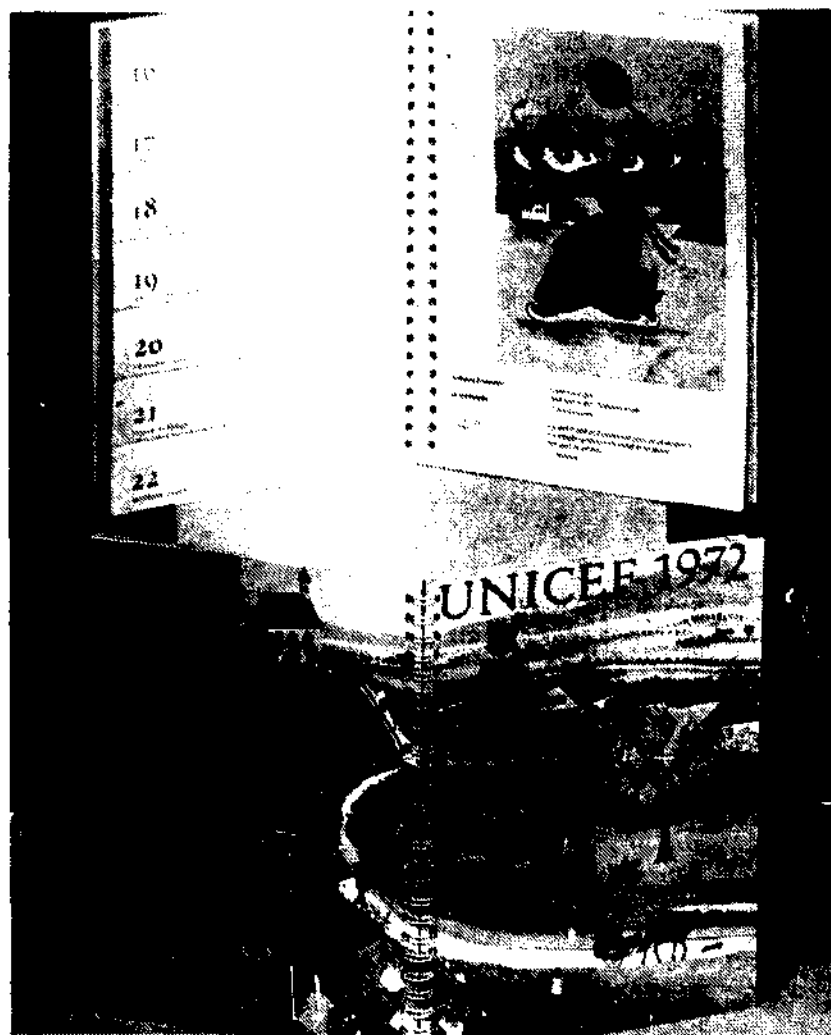

Ranging from a naive turn-of-the-century Christmas scene by H. Arthur Haskins to a special series of five medieval masterpieces from the Vatican Art Collection, the new UNICEF card collection reflects diverse national, cultural and religious sources of support for the Children's Fund.

CARDS ARE PACKAGED 12 to a box and priced at $2. The Vatican series is available for $3 a box and "special editions" at $2.50 a box. The calendars come in either French/English or Spanish/English editions and cost $2.50.

"A Future for Every Child" is the slogan for UNICEF's silver anniversary year. Individuals can help them achieve this goal.

For further information or to place orders interested persons are asked to contact Mrs. Edward Prell, 1153 Margret, Des Plaines, 298-6903. Cards and calendars will be available until Christmas.

THE 1972 UNICEF engagement calendar has 55 reproductions contributed by artists from 27 countries. The calendar's theme "A Child Of Joy" has been interpreted in various media for inclusion in the calendar. Cards and calendars are on sale now through the League of Women Voters of Des Plaines.

Shuffle And Shoppe With Juniors

"Shuffle and Shoppe" is a party and boutique, the major fund-raising project for the Des Plaines Junior Organization, Illinois Federation of Women's Clubs, will be held Thursday, Nov. 4, 8 p.m., at the Itasca Country Club.

Proceeds will go to Clearbrook Center for the Retarded, Northwest Mental Health Association and the Illinois Kidney Foundation. Tickets at $2.50 are available through the Junior Women's Club of Des Plaines by calling Mrs. Wesley Hackett, 824-7988, before Thursday Oct. 28.

"Reservations will be taken when tickets are purchased," said Mrs. Hackett, the Des Plaines club's Seventh District representative. "We can set up tables of four for bridge or tables of six or more for whatever games guests would like to play. We'll accept reservations for whatever number you'd like at your table."

AT THE BOUTIQUE, guests can get an early start on Christmas shopping. There will be stuffed animals, felt hangings, corduroy poinsettia plants, crocheted rings, stained kitchen plaques, candle holder rings and other items. Des Plaines Juniors are donating hand-made knitted goods, hand-made Christmas tree ornaments and home-made preserves to the pre-holiday sale.

Mrs. Lester Peters, past president of the Des Plaines Juniors, currently serves as assistant junior director of the six-club district which includes Mount Prospect, Arlington Heights, Streamwood, Rolling Meadows and Elk Grove. District ways and means chairman and coordinator of the card party-boutique is Mrs. Rudolph Schneider of the Rolling Meadows club.

Open Five Homes For Hobby Walk

A Hobby House Walk is the unique event being planned by St. Stephen's Rosary & Altar Society on Tuesday, Nov. 2. Members, guests and all interested women in the Des Plaines area are invited to tour four Des Plaines homes and one Mount Prospect home, viewing the hobbies and collections displayed in each one.

A wide variety of displays and demonstrations will include such things as carnival glass, cake decorating and sugar molds. The walk will take place during the hours of 11 a.m. and 4 p.m.

Tickets are $2 each, and include cake and coffee. Additional information may be obtained by calling Mrs. D. Fisher, chairman, at 824-8538, or Mrs. M. Scully, co-chairman, at 827-1041.

Next On The Agenda

KAPPA DELTA

"Time to Learn Macrame" is the theme of the next meeting of the Northwest Suburban Alumnae Association of Kappa Delta Sorority. Mrs. J. Littell, a crafts instructor in the Maine South night school program, will present the program. Area Kappa Deltas wishing to attend should call Mrs. Robert Drugan at 253-7678.

The meeting will be held Monday at 8 p.m. in the home of Mrs. Louis Tomsik, 821 Sumac, Mount Prospect. Co-hostesses for the evening will include Mrs. Thomas Meier, Palatine, and Mrs. James Tomsik, Buffalo Grove.

NURSES ROUNDTABLE

"Kidney Transplants — A Success Story" is the subject to be discussed by Dr. Olga Jonasson, co-director of organ transplants, University of Illinois Hospital, when she addresses the Northwest Nurses Roundtable next Wednesday.

The meeting, which begins at 8 p.m. will take place at Lutheran General Hospital, Park Ridge. All area registered nurses are invited to attend.

Dr. Jonasson is also associate professor of surgery, Abraham Lincoln School of Medicine, University of Illinois College of Medicine; attending surgeon, Cook County Hospital and University of Illinois Hospital; and attending physician, Veterans Administration West Side Hospital.

The Northwest Nurses Roundtable is comprised of members of 14 area nurses clubs in the northwest suburbs. Further information is available through Mrs.

Edwin Nolan, president, at 437-0439 or 437-0500.

GAMMA PHI BETA

A demonstration of flower arranging is on the agenda for the October meeting of Northwest Suburban Alumnae Chapter of Gamma Phi Beta. Frank Uzen, who recently opened a new flower and gift shop, "Frank of Arlington," in Arlington Heights, will give the demonstration at the 8 p.m. meeting next Wednesday.

The meeting will be held in the home of Mrs. Frank Mleko, 8 Princeton Court, Arlington Heights. Co-hostesses will be Mrs. Oakley Dowling, Elk Grove, and Mrs. Alvin Reitz, Prospect Heights.

The group will entertain their husbands at a "Las Vegas Night" party Saturday, Nov. 6. New alumnae in the area may call the chapter president, Mrs. Reitz at 296-4333.

The Home Line

Dear Dorothy: I received some no-stick Teflon cookware as a wedding present 18 months ago. It sticks now and I can't even fry eggs in the skillet. The Teflon in the bottom of the large saucepan is changing color. Can these coatings turn "bad?" — Mrs. Joyce Maurer.

No, you can't say "bad," even though a buildup of stains can lead to a loss of the non-stick properties of Teflon. All appliances need occasional attention in the way of good cleaning. Put a mixture of 2 tsp. baking soda, ½ cup household bleach and 1 cup of water in each of the pans and let boil for 5 to 10 minutes. After this, wash thoroughly, rinse and dry. Then wipe the skillet out with salad oil before using again.

Dear Dorothy: I read with interest the report that said dogs could be allergic to those three-month flea collars. Our poodle began having what the vet thought were epileptic fits. Since he wanted to know how often she had the spells, I began marking the calendar. It finally dawned on me that each time tied in with a new collar and lasted for three or four days, then never recurred until the next collar. On our own, we quit using the collars and to this day, three years later, she has not had a single spell. That's really being allergic. —

Mrs. D. W. Wollesen.

Dear Dorothy: Have always wanted an electric warming tray but the thought never became reality until recently. I've been nursing my new baby on demand. No sooner did someone bring up my lunch then the baby decided it was feeding time. As you know, even a toasted cheese sandwich isn't appetizing when it's cold. The electric warmer kept whatever was brought — for lunch or dinner — at the exact temperature it was when brought to me. A luxury, yes, but inexpensive enough to enjoy without qualms. — Mrs. John Mathews.

Students Learn Without Books

by WANDALYN RICE

Nineteen students from High School Dist 214 spent the summer working with a "bookless curriculum" and now may have the chance to continue it throughout the year.

Elk Grove High School teacher Edward Whitcombe originated the program last summer for 14 students with reading problems and five "normal readers." For six weeks they worked with tapes, movies and field trips to explore the problems of ecology and technology.

"The objective is to take a kid who feels cheap because he can't read, break down his barriers and make him feel he can contribute something worthwhile," Whitcombe, who also teaches remedial reading, said.

The summer program was successful in getting the students involved in their projects, he said. In a few weeks he will set up a district-wide program for the rest of this school year.

THE ORIGINAL idea was to have the normal readers help the ones with problems, but that plan didn't last long this summer, he said. "Everybody got busy and the leadership revolved between the kids who could read and the one with problems."

The program used tapes of books, many of which Whitcombe recorded himself, films and field trips to a horse farm, oil refinery, United Air Lines, a coal mine and a number of other places.

All the field trips related in some way to the study of the environment, he said, and students tape recorded their impressions of each trip.

Because the program didn't require the students to read, it exposed them to many ideas and experiences they could not have in ordinary classes. "Most of these kids can think real well if we give them the information in the right way," Whitcombe said.

A booklet entitled "Summer Journal — Research for Learning" contains the students' remarks, originally recorded on tape and then transcribed.

EACH FIELD TRIP is described from several points of view. Opinions on a trip through the telephone company ranged from "pretty good," to "a big bore, just all the machines. I expected more people than machines."

The program is not designed to aid reading skills, Whitcombe said. Regular remedial reading programs must go along with it to improve skills.

The program instead helps to eliminate the students' feelings of guilt because of their problems and may suggest methods they can use in regular classes, he said.

Or, as one boy observed on tape, "The class was interesting because I could understand what it was about."

League Strength Down The Line; Warriors In Another Rugged Test

by LARRY MLYNCZAK

Central Suburban League football has never been better. This is the observation of many high school football followers as the season crosses the midway point this weekend.

Al Carstens, the head football coach at Maine West, is among those who agree.

"There are plenty of strong teams in this league this year," the coach said. "I think that the league has more strength all the way down the line; probably more than it ever has."

Carstens and Warriors should know as well as anybody since Maine West, which really does have a respectable football team, has an 8-4 record.

On Saturday, the Warriors will face another one of the stronger contenders in the CSL as they visit Deerfield at 2 p.m. The Maine West losses have come at the hands of:

Arlington — which has a 4-1 record and is a primary championship contender in the Mid-Suburban League and owns a 21-0 victory over the Warriors.

Maine South — which has a 3-2 record and both of its losses came when the team was not at full strength due to injuries. The Hawks defeated the Warriors 14-8.

Niles North — which has a 2-2 record but it has lost its last two games without quarterback Keith Schirmer, one of the best in the conference. Niles North trimmed the Warriors 21-20.

Glenbrook North — which has a 4-0-1 record, including a 27-7 win over the Warriors, and is considered one of the best teams in the Northwest suburbs.

And now, Deerfield. Deerfield opened the season with a 21-6 victory over Highland Park before being thrashed, in a listless game, 36-3 by Niles West. Deerfield has since beaten Maine North 28-22, Niles North 21-0 and New Trier West 28-0.

"Deerfield is very big once again," Carstens said. "Most of its line goes around 210 pounds and this year they have a bit more quickness than they've had in the past."

"every year it seems Deerfield gets the big kids. I wonder what they feed them up there."

Deerfield's offense, which has been getting better with every week, is spotlighted by quarterback John Oberrieder, wingback Jeff Goffo, tailback Tim Strawberry and fullback Tom Brown.

The host team will use the Winged "T" offense most of the time and will try to get Goffo, perhaps the quickest member of the Deerfield squad, around the end on sweeps.

Maine West has had two weeks to recover from the physical beating it took from rugged Glenbrook North and has just about everyone healthy for Saturday's clash.

Frank Mitchell, who has completed 23 out of 48 passes for 306 yards, will be the starting Warrior quarterback. Ron Siska, the team's second leading ball carrier, will start at tailback with Scott Smith at fullback and Frank Darras at wingback.

Craig Zaleski and Doug Dalbke, each with seven receptions this fall, will start at end with Steve and Dave Rumsis at tackle, Leon Popowski and Ralph Gilbertson at guard and Bob Carlson at center.

Carstens plans to two-platoon this week and will have on his defensive unit Phil Vaccaro and Kevin Richardson at end, Tom Collins and Dave Doerschner at tackle, Jim Michalak at middle guard, Ed Mueller and Jeff Liggett at linebacker, Roger Blumer and Todd Weidner at cornerback and Dalbke and Howard Koontz at safety.

THE BEST IN Sports

Despite Deerfield's size, Carstens does not feel that the Warriors will have to throw the ball to move the ball.

"Maine North proved that Deerfield could be run on," the Warrior mentor said. "At the same time, Maine North showed that you could pass on Deerfield."

"Of course, Deerfield has played a couple of games since then and it looks like they improved."

"It seems we'll have our work cut out for us."

Boilermakers Handle Illini In Grid Action

The Boilermakers outdueled the Illini 18-7 in one of the featured Mount Prospect Midget Football Association games involving Des Plaines area youngsters.

Chuck Arredia went into the end zone on a 20 yard sweep, Mike Burdi found paydirt on a two yard plunge and Bruce Jacobs tallied on a 50-yard quarterback sneak.

John Kruzlock, Dave Giel, Steve Schnur, Kevin Quinn, Steve Norman, Keith Draper, Tony Loessi, and Mike Lucasny all deserve mention for their defensive work.

The vastly improved Bruins beat the Buckeyes, 13-6. Backs Steven Anderskow and Steve Frank swept the end for six-pointers, and Mark Lee added the 13th point. Jay Nitch and Bob Magnus displayed great defensive pursuit. Chris Klein recovered a fumble and zig-zagged for 25 yards. Brad Kay, Barry Asin, Doug Meyer and Tom Brenner were the other top offensive players.

The ever-improving Lions blanked the Bears 13-0 as quarterback Gary Radey figured in all of his team's scoring with two aerials to end Dan Kunkle for a 30 yard TD and a pointafter, and an eight yard TD sweep.

The Jets didn't fare as well as other area clubs, falling to the Browns 6-0. Bobby Morris, Bob Okuma, and Scott Hamelberg led the hard-charging Jet defensive unit. Greg Jacobs held the other team at bay with his punting. QB Tony Modro called on halfbacks Ron Woods and Danny Egesdal to grind out the tough yardage.

The Raiders suffered an 18-6 loss to the Redskins. Head Coach George Kruty's squad scored on a 40 yard fake punt pass from Ed Hendron to Doug Shattuck. Backs Ken Kriske and Robert Tolley rambled for big yardage behind the blocks of Brian Harvey and Greg Ochab. Don Wiora, Bill Martin, and John Hayes played well on defense.

North, South At East

by LARRY MLYNCZAK

Get out your fourth grade geography books and read this over slowly: Maine North will play Maine South at Maine East.

Now get out our book which lists all of the great rivalries in high school football and add this one:

Maine North vs. Maine South. It could develop into one of the better rivalries around starting tonight at 8:00.

Tonight's game should be one of the more closely contested in the Central Suburban League.

Both teams have 3-2 records. Both teams have shown offensive punch.

Both teams have shown defensive strength.

Maine North, in average scores, has a three-point differential over its five opponents, 22-19.

Maine South, in average scores, also has a three-point differential over its five opponents, 19-16.

Maine South opened the season with a 35-24 victory over Mid-Suburban League North Division leading Wheeling. After a 14-8 win over Maine West, the Hawks were hit by injuries and lost to Hersey 7-0. Maine South then whipped Glenbrook South, with surprising ease, 31-4. Last week the Hawks lost to Central Suburban League leading Glenbrook North, 25-14.

The Hawks have a balanced offensive attack with four capable ball carriers in quarterback Brad Karnstedt, halfbacks Brian Nagle and Pat McNamara and fullback Tony Rodham. McNamara and Rodham lead the team in yardage.

Karnstedt, an average passer, has better than average receivers to throw to in 6-5 Tom Spicer and Jay Rasmussen.

The Hawks have fairly good size in the offensive line which has been a consistent unit. The mainstay on the line is 220-pound tackle Paul Gustafson, a bona fide all-star.

At the ends on Maine North's offensive line will be Bob Allen and Brian Bradfield. Allen has caught only four passes but they have picked up 122 yards.

Ron Dietz and Greg Polan will get the starting call at tackle, Jim Pinas and Bob Aloisio will start at guard and Mark Smith will get the nod at center. Aloisio will start for Greg Gunderson who sustained an injury last week.

Gary Hills, who has accumulated 681 yards in total offense in five games, will again be the starting quarterback. Hills has completed 28 out of 62 passes for 409 yards and carried the ball 46 times for 272 yards.

Mike Dean, who has picked up 481 yards rushing (just under 100 yards per game), will start at tailback with Mike Cranshaw, a powerful blocker, at fullback, Les Leroard, who has caught 19 passes for 317 yards, will be the starting wingback.

The Norsemen defensive unit, which really is much better than what it showed in giving up 40 points to Niles West last weekend, will have Mike Petersen and Keith Karafotas at end, John Kern and Steve Boucher at tackle, Tom Trammola at middle guard, Cranshaw and Mark Harloff at linebacker, Curt Schmidt and Jim Szabo at cornerback and Leroard and Mickey Drews as safety.

Maine North opened the season with two straight wins, 30-7, over Thornwood and 20-8 over Schaumburg. After losing in the closing minutes to Deerfield 26-22, the Norsemen came back to beat New Trier West in the closing minutes 18-14.

Last week, against powerful Niles West, the Norsemen lost 40-20. The score was not indicative of the closeness of the game since Maine North trailed by only 25-20 with six and a half minutes remaining in the game.

Since both Maine North and Maine South expect to be better than last week, tonight's contest should be a very close contest, indeed.

Confusion About A Title

Were These Headaches Necessary?

AT A LUNCHEON counter recently, a football fan who is extremely interested in the Mid-Suburban League began shooting questions at this writer on the mess the divisional setup has brought.

Based on what information that has been released and on certain heresay (since not too much has been released) I came up with the following answers to the following questions.

Q — Since Wheeling has already beaten Arlington and Arlington has beaten Hersey, wouldn't there be a three-way tie for first place if Hersey beats Wheeling in their game a couple of weeks from now?

A — Based on won-loss records alone, there would be a three-way tie provided none of those three were upset by any other team. Wheeling, Arlington and Hersey would have 3-1 records.

Q — Has the Mid-Suburban League established a means in which to break the three-way tie in the North Division and determine who will play the South Division champion?

A — Up until a meeting which was held Tuesday, the Mid-Suburban League established a formula to break two-way ties. No provision was made for three-way ties. If two teams were tied, the winner of the game between those two teams would be the North Division champ. If those two teams tied in their game, then the team with the most total yards would be the North Division champ.

Q — You mean, up until Tuesday no provision was made for a three-way tie? Wasn't a three-way tie ever taken into consideration before that time?

A — Apparently not.

Q — What provisions were made for the three-way tie at Tuesday's meeting?

A — The provisions were not released from the league. The league simply would not tell the press so that the press, in turn, could tell the readers who would certainly be interested in the provisions.

Q — Were any reasons given for not giving out the provisions?

A — One Mid-Suburban League spokesman said that it was suggested by more than one school not to release the information.

Q — What do you think the league will do about it? Do you have any information from the Tuesday meeting on what the league could possibly do about the three-way tie?

A — This is all conjecture on my part, but I think that the Mid-Suburban League will revert back to total offense of the three teams in the games in which they played each other. The total offense of Arlington against Wheeling and Hersey, the total offense of Wheeling against Arlington and Hersey, and the total offense of Hersey against Arlington and Wheeling will be added up. The league champion may be decided by the yards gained from these totals.

Q — You mentioned that only total offense will be used. What if two of the teams had to play in the rain which would cut down on total offense?

A — Apparently, from the information I've pieced together, it's tough luck against those teams who had to play in the wet weather.

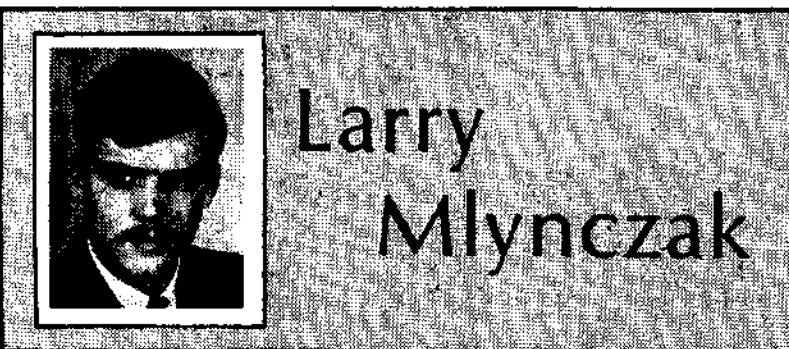

Q — What if one of the teams was a defensive minded team which used its best athletes on defense? I know of a number of teams which do that.

A — Though there is nothing wrong with a defensive minded team — don't forget, Notre Dame University is one — that defensive team will be hurt in this formula. In other words, Hersey could get hurt as much as anybody.

Q — Then the team which bases its success purely on offense has the advantage?

A — Probably yes.

Q — Why is it that only total offense would probably be used? What about the team which has good specialty teams and gets good runbacks on kickoffs and punts?

A — It is true that if the specialty teams do their jobs, the offensive unit does not have to travel as far for a touchdown. But then, that could cut down on total offense. That, indeed, hurts the teams with good kickoff return and punt return units.

Q — Doesn't that seem kind of silly?

A — You said it, I didn't.

Q — Then there is the case of the team which takes advantage of opportunities on defense. What happens to those yards gained on an interception or a recovered fumble?

A — Apparently, they would be completely disregarded. Perhaps the best thing a team could do after intercepting a pass would be to fall down and then allow the offense to get as many total yards as possible.

Q — Doesn't that seem kind of silly?

A — You said it, I didn't.

Q — It seems that statistics are very important in each of these games. Who keeps these statistics?

A — Paddock Publications' sports writers who attend the games.

Q — Does the league consider these the "official" statistics?

A — A vote of the league's athletic directors stated three years ago that Paddock's statistics would be the league's "official" statistics.

Q — What if there was no Paddock Publications to keep the league's statistics?

A — The league would be in real trouble.

Q — How accurate are these statistics?

A — Each of Paddock's sports writers take painstaking care to make the statistics as accurate as possible. Of course, there is always an element of human error involved as there is in everything else.

Q — I have heard that there have been discrepancies between Paddock's statistics and those kept by the individual schools. Is this correct?

A — Yes it is, but there are reasons. You can have 20 guys on the sidelines keeping statistics and you could have 20 different total offense figures. Over 120 plays in a game, if you're off by a mere inch on every play, your statistics are off three yards.

Q — What would happen if a team would miss the championship by three yards? Would they accept these "official" totals?

A — I'm afraid they would have to.

Q — Do you mean to say that a player's four years of hard work toward a championship could be thrown out the window because, inadvertently, someone's statistics were off by one inch per play?

A — That's right.

Q — That just doesn't seem proper.

A — Yes, but what other way is there to do it since the league has it set up that way.

Q — It seems that the Mid-Suburban League has had more problems in the divisional setup than it's worth.

A — Right again.

Q — I've read where the Central Suburban League is going to the divisional setup. Aren't they making a mistake based on what the Mid-Suburban League has gone through?

A — The Central Suburban League could very well be doing so.

Q — When the Mid-Suburban League made up the two divisions, why didn't it explore all of the possibilities? A three-way tie after four games does not seem all that far fetched. It could possibly happen and it may.

A — The league, apparently, did not think of everything.

Q — Well, who should have investigated all of this?

A — The league's athletic directors.

Q — What do they have to say about this mess?

A — One athletic director said, "We're learning from mistakes."

Q — Well, aren't athletic directors supposed to have all the experience and know-how in such matters? Isn't that why they are hired as athletic directors, because they have the background and knowledge to run a school's athletic program and run a league?

A — I'm sure that is part of the criteria why a man is hired as an athletic director.

Q — Well, it sure seems to me that the athletic directors have sure blown the whole situation by not investigating all of the possibilities when they drew up the two divisional setup.

A — You said it, I didn't.

Battles For Top Spots Continue

The high school football season moves into another weekend with another full schedule of conference title contenders scrapping for the top spot.

The Mid-Suburban League South Division lead is certainly up for grabs as is the Suburban Catholic Conference top spot.

CONANT AT ELK GROVE

The host Grenadiers will attempt to hold on to first place in the South Division against a potentially dangerous Conant contingent. The contest will begin at 8 p.m.

Elk Grove stands alone in the lead after trimming Forest View 23-22 last week. The Grenadiers own South Division wins over Prospect (14-0), Glenbard North (44-0) and Forest View. In non-conference play, Elk Grove downed Addison Trail 26-6 and lost to Hersey 10-0.

Conant has been improving in recent weeks and won its first game of the season last Saturday, 21-8 over Schaumburg. Two weeks ago, the Cougars lost to Forest View 14-13 at a time when Forest View was undefeated. In its first three weeks, Conant lost to Lake Park 20-8, Arlington 22-6 and Glenbard North 9-7.

Quarterback Jeff Stewart directs Elk Grove's running-minded offense and has gained 253 yards, fifth in the Mid-Suburban League. His rushing average is an incredible 8.4. Other leading backs for the Grenadiers are Jim Leopardo, Frank Taucher and Scott Bental.

Conant's leading offensive threats are quarterback Bob Atkocaitis and running backs Jim Swegles and Terry Stenger. Atkocaitis has completed 21 out of 48 passes for 214 yards, Swegles has carried 53 times for 216 yards and, last week, Stenger ran for 100 and passed for 25 yards.

FOREST VIEW AT PROSPECT

The Winner of this 8 p.m. contest on the Knights' field will either remain in second place or, if Elk Grove loses to Conant, move into a tie for first place in the South Division.

The loser will be knocked out of title contention.

Forest View won its first four games of the season, 16-4 over Maine East, 8-7 over Fremd and 20-0 over Schaumburg, 14-13 over Conant before losing to Elk Grove.

Prospect opened with three straight losses, 27-13 to Barrington, 42-14 to Wheeling and 14-9 to Elk Grove, before beating Schaumburg 7-0 and Glenbard North 31-12.

Both are 2-1 in the South Division and trail Elk Grove's 3-0 record.

Pacing the Falcon attack has been Mike Pryor who has struck 101 times for 586 yards against Mid-Suburban League competition.

Brian Bergen is one of the main players that Forest View's defense will have to watch. Bergen, a talented apd, has caught 13 passes for 185 yards.

ST. JOSEPH AT ST. VIATOR

St. Viator will attempt to add to a four-game winning streak tonight on the Forest View High School field at 8:00.

After losing 12-0 to Hersey in the opener, the Lions have come back with a 29-0 win over Taft, a 35-16 whipping over St. Patrick, a 10-8 trimming over Notre Dame and a 34-15 triumph over St. Francis DeSales.

St. Joseph, meanwhile, has beaten Marian Central 15-14, topped Bishop McNamara 44-0, topped Carmel 28-20, got whipped by St. Patrick 40-0 and lost to Notre Dame 8-0.

The running and passing of Stan Bobowski, the ball carrying of Joe Bombicino, the kicking of Frank Cliggett and a strong defense has carried the Lions past four straight foes.

S. Viator leads the Suburban Catholic Conference all by itself with a 3-0 record while St. Joseph is 1-2.

HOLY CROSS AT NOTRE DAME

Holy Cross will bring an explosive offense, a rugged defense, a 4-1 record and a Chicagoland Area rating on to the Notre Dame field tonight at 8:00.

The Crusaders opened by whipping Rockford Baylan 26-0 and Schurz 42-0. After being clipped 7-2 by Mariet, another Chicagoland Area rated team, Holy Cross has come back to down Carmel 28-0 and St. Patrick 21-4.

In its five games, the Crusaders have tallied 111 points and yielded only 13.

Notre Dame has yielded only three touchdowns in winning four of its last five games but the offense has not kept pace. Last week against St. Joseph, not one of the better defensive units around, the Dons scored only eight points. And that touchdown came on a returned pass interception by John Lund.

The Dons, the busiest football team in the state, have a 5-3 record. They defeated Farragut 13-0, lost to New Trier East 33-7, defeated Lane Tech 14-8, lost to Sullivan 20-6, defeated St. Francis DeSales 20-0, defeated Thornwood 34-13, lost to St. Viator 10-8 and defeated St. Joseph 8-0.

Both Suburban Catholic Conference

clubs have 2-1 records and trail St. Viator by one game. The winner will either remain in second place or move up to first place if St. Viator loses this weekend. The loser would be out of SCC championship contention for the time being.

MAINE EAST AT RIVERSIDE-BROOKFIELD

Riverside-Brookfield will be home with its once proud defensive unit Saturday at 2 p.m. against the Demons.

In its first four games, Riverside-Brookfield allowed only four touchdowns. But last week the Bulldogs were whipped by highly regarded Hinsdale Central 48-0. Before last weekend, the Bulldogs blanked Morris West 9-0, blanked Proviso West 7-0, were topped by Glenbard West 21-14 and downed by York 7-2.

Maine East, meanwhile, has a 12-game losing streak, five of those losses coming this year — to Forest View 18-0, to LaGrange 32-6, to Downers Grove North 55-2, to Glenbard West 42-4 and to Proviso West 26-7.

Riverside-Brookfield won last year's meeting 12-7 in the closing minutes in a game which was considered Maine East's best of the season by many observers.

TRITON AT HARPER

This junior college grid clash will be held at Fremd High School in Palatine on Saturday night at 7:30.

Harper will bring a 1-4 mark into the contest while Triton will bring in a winning mark. Triton is considered to have one of the best junior college contingents in the Chicago area.

ARCHITECT'S CONCEPTION shows part of the 324-unit Huntington Commons apartment complex to be built at Elmhurst and Huntington Commons roads, Mount Prospect. The units are slated for persons of moderate income with rents ranging from $207 to $310. The Illinois Housing Development Authority is providing financing for the project through the sale of tax-exempt securities. Kenroy Inc. owns the land; Littlestone Co. of Chicago is the developer.

Dixon Paints Grim Financial State Picture

by MARCIA KRAMER

State Treasurer Alan J. Dixon outlined a grim picture of Illinois finances to members of the Arlington Heights Lions Club Tuesday night.

"Unless we begin to economize on the state level, we're going to be in real trouble next year," the Belleville Democrat said.

"The plain fact is the new income tax (enacted two years ago) has already been sopped up. Government has grown and expanded to use it all.

"We are in a position where I would have to indicate and anticipate a serious deficit next year."

Dixon suggested that part of the increased government spending is due to the General Assembly's switch to annual, rather than biennial, sessions two years ago.

"Somehow," Dixon said, "when legislatures meet more often, they manage to spend more money."

HE JOKINGLY said he was reminded of the adage, "No man's life, liberty or property is safe when the legislature is in session."

According to Dixon, the Illinois legislature appropriated $4.7 billion in its last biennial session two years ago.

The first appropriation in annual sessions amounted to $4.4 billion, and an additional $5 billion was okayed in the fiscal year which ended in June. This amount is expected to total $5.9 billion by the end of the year, Dixon said.

The figures represent an increase of 250 per cent over the two-year period, he said, and he added, "We hope the administration and our friends in the legislature take a very close look at the money they spend."

"Our projections based on the first quarter (of the current session) show that if we get every break — the economy stays stable or hopefully improves and the revenues expended do not exceed the largest anticipated amount — we'll end the year with a balance of $106 million," Dixon said.

Now, more individuals, both in sales and the professional field, are learning the same thing.

Often it costs no more to lease than to buy.

If you have good credit and trade vehicles every three years or less, you may find it advantageous to lease.

100 Students In Area For 'Congress'

About 100 students from 12 Chicago-area high schools will meet at Arlington High School this weekend for the 1971 student congress.

Attending will be representatives from: Arlington High School, Evanston Township High School, Highland Park High School, Hinckley-Big Rock High School, Holy Trinity High School, John Hersey High School, Lake Forest High School, Maine Township High School West, New Trier East High School, New

Trier West High School, Oak Park and River Forest High School and St. Ignace College Prep.

The student congress, which will run Friday and Saturday, is a mock legislative session during which the students form political parties and debate legislative proposals.

FIFTY-SIX pieces of proposed "legislation" will be discussed in the fields of foreign affairs, state and local government, welfare and economics.

Included in the area of foreign affairs are mock bills to withdraw American troops from West Germany, intervene in the Northern Ireland conflict, sever ties with South Africa, restrict the activities of the Central Intelligence Agency, and extend prosecution in cases of war atrocities.

State and local issues include: The elimination of political influence from horse racing, prison reform and the breakup of racial concentration in housing.

The public welfare sessions will deal with the legalization of marijuana, the prohibition of wiretaps and the abolition of the draft.

In economics, students will discuss uniform funding of schools, discontinuation of foreign aid and the use of wage-price controls, among other topics.

The congress is sponsored by the Arlington High School chapter of the National Forensic League.

Sessions will be held Friday evening from 7 to 9:30 and Saturday from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. in the school's Bristol Theater. The public is invited to attend.

Failures Get 2nd Chance

Students failing at Harper College in Palatine are going to be given a second chance before they are expelled.

In the past, failing students were notified via a computer that they were no longer enrolled at Harper College.

Last week, the Harper Board of Trustees voted to place failing students on probation before they are dismissed.

The college determines which students are failing by comparing their grade point to their credit hours. For example, if a student taking 12 credit hours during his first semester earns only a .91 grade point average, he is failing.

Guerin Fischer, vice president of student affairs, recommended the policy change saying, "our intent is not to be liberal but to be consistent with community college philosophy." Fischer surveyed other colleges in the area and discovered that "they all allowed a student to go on probation at least once before dismissal."

"A student shouldn't be dismissed without having access to a counselor or a teacher first," added Fischer.

Jehovah's Witnesses Assembly Scheduled

The recently acquired Assembly Hall of Jehovah's Witnesses at 7857 S. Ashland Ave., Chicago, will be the site of an important three day ministerial assembly Oct. 29 to 31.

According to Hans Schiller, presiding minister of the Des Plaines-North Congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses, at 334 S. Mount Prospect Rd., Des Plaines, almost 900 minister-delegates from eight congregations, Algonquin, Barrington, Des Plaines, Elgin North and South Units, Grayslake, Palatine and Spring Grove, will gather at the weekend assembly.

About 1,100 persons are expected for the final day of the assembly, which will be highlighted Oct. 31, at 3 p.m. by a talk titled "Can You Live Forever — Will You?"

All regularly scheduled meetings for the Des Plaines-North Congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses will not be held the weekend of Oct. 29-31.

Chevrolet...

A car for all reasons

Tom Todd...

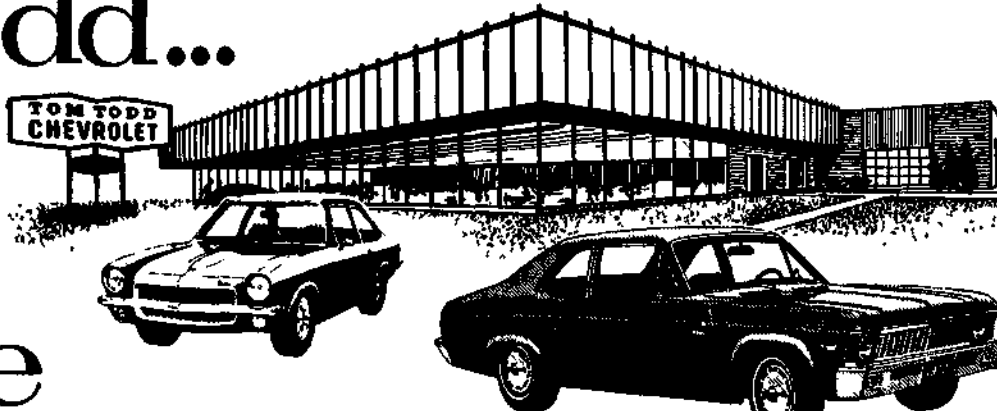

A dealer for one

Satisfaction.

Probably the single most important reason why a wise car buyer selects one dealership over all the others.

Like satisfaction in knowing that a large, professional service organization is ready to help you, now! Not "maybe next Thursday."

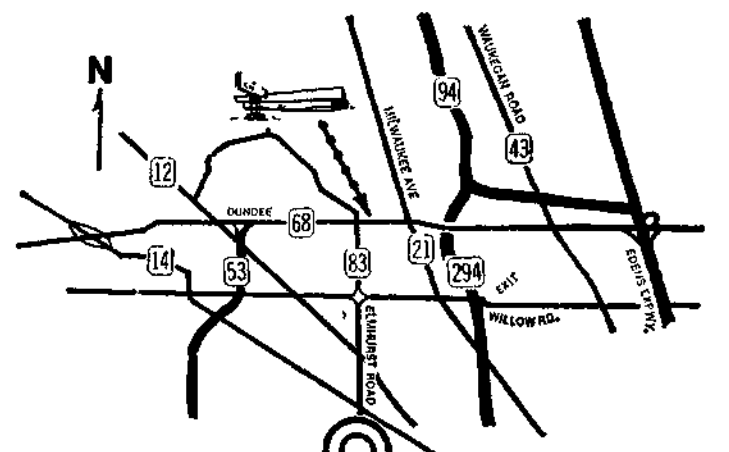

Or, like the satisfaction you get in being treated as a valued customer by people who are genuinely interested in keeping you as a friend.

Tom Todd Chevrolet invites you to see all the new 1972 Chevrolets. Pick out the one you like... for whatever the reasons. And, this time, drive away satisfied.

It's a great feeling for a change.
